First District 31A Game Here Friday

The Aransas County Pirates open their bid for district 31A honors tomorrow night at home when they take on the West Oso Bears in a district ball game.

This game appears to be a toss-up. Although the Pirates have lost their first two games, they are rated on even terms for this game. The Bears won their game last week over Calallen by a score of 13-12. This will be the first meeting of these two clubs in several years. The last time they played one another, the West Oso team won by a score of 14-0.

Coach Borchert is having to cure his boys of a good case of "fumbleitis," a disease that has hurt them tremendously in their first two games. Physically, the Pirates are in good shape. This will be the beginning of eight district ball games that will come to a climax in the last game of their district play when they take on the all powerful Bishop Badgers.

Salt Creek Accident Injures Two, Tuesday

Two men were injured, one critically, when their car went out of control 18 miles north of here at 1 p. m. Tuesday and overturned three times.

Treated at Memorial Hospital in Corpus Christi were Airman James Pinkerton, 25 of 715 Fourteenth in Corpus Christi; and Hymie Davis, 65, no address.

Davis was admitted to Memorial in critical condition with multiple fractures, including a broken arm and pelvis.

Deputy Sheriff D. S. Mundine said the accident occurred at Salt Creek north of the Copano Bay bridge. Mundine said the car failed to negotiate a curve near the end of the bridge, went out of control and overturned.

Davis, a hitchhiker, was thrown from the car and was found quite a distance from the wreckage. Pinkerton fell from the car at about the time it quit rolling. Mundine said. Damage to the auto was extensive.

AUTO INSPECTION DATES ANNOUNCED

The Texas Public Safety Commission has set Sept. 15, 1956, to April 15, 1957, as the period during which automobiles and other motor vehicles must be inspected under provision of the state's motor vehicle inspection law.

Col. Homer Garrison, Jr., director of the Texas department of public safety, said in announcing the commission's action that motorists should avail themselves of the opportunity to have their autos inspected as soon after September 15 as possible in order to avoid the inconvenience and delay which is usually associated with the end of the seven-month period by the "logjam" of car owners who wait until just before the deadline to have their vehicles safety checked. George W. Busby, chief of the DPS motor vehicle inspection division, stated that the more than 4,200 licensed inspection stations in the state would have sufficient supplies of stickers on hand by the starting date and would be equipped to check vehicles without delay.

Progress Comes To Rockport

Progress has arrived in Rockport. No longer are we to be left uninformed as to the whereabouts of various citizens of our community. If they play golf; leave the city; or are out for a night on the town the rest of us will know exactly where to find them, even if we can't.

In the old days you picked up a phone, rang your number and, if it didn't answer within a reasonable time, hang up and went on about your business, with the mental reservation to call later, if you really wanted whoever you were calling.

It was a simple and uncomplicated sort of thing, that saved everyone a lot of headaches. You rang; you couldn't get 'em; and you let it go at that, preserving a little of the old, leisurely life of South Texas.

Nowadays, progress has hit with a bang, and on several phones in town, if the owner or his secretary isn't there, you are treated to a detailed description of his whereabouts (if he wants you to have 'em). Otherwise the mechanical marvel at the other end says, in the voice of the man called, where he ain't.

Bell telephone scientists have a lot of things to answer for and apparently this is one of 'em.

The evangelist for the revival will be the Rev. J. W. Mason of Beeville, Texas. He is associational missionary of the Blanco Baptist Association of the Baptist General Convention of Texas. His major work is with the Latin American churches and missions in this area. Rev. Mason has enjoyed a varied ministry. He has served as minister of music and education, as a pastor, and as a missionary. Last year he conducted a preaching mission in Cuba. He has served pastorates in Westlaco and at Crystal City in Texas.

The Rev. Jesse Morales, pastor of the local Latin American Baptist Mission, will direct the music for the revival. He is a senior student at the University of Corpus Christi.

Preceding the services at 7:10 each night there will be special prayer groups. Beginner and Primary children will meet for Booster Band. The Juniors, Intermediates and young people, adult men and women will also have group meetings.

The Nursery of the church will be open for all of the services with two competent nursery workers in attendance.

MAJOR D. L. GRAFF HERE ON HOUSING SURVEY FOR RADAR

Major D. L. Graff, commanding officer of the 747th Aircraft Warning Squadron, Ellington Field, who has supervision over the Rockport radar site until it has been placed in commission, was in town Friday morning, to conduct a survey of the types of housing available for members of the Air Force when they are stationed here. Accompanying the major was Staff Sergeant G. Mager, official Air Force photographer who took both inside and outside views of the property offered for rent in the area.

Major Graff said that the survey came in response to a call from Brigadier General William P. Nuckole, commanding the 33rd Air Defense Division, under whose charge these units in Texas are placed. The survey, Major Graff said, would be flown to a top level meeting at Colorado Springs this past Monday, as that the overall picture could be studied at headquarters.

The Air Force has already indicated that nine housing units will be built in Rockport this coming year, and that eighteen more will be built in 1958. These will provide accommodations for 27 families.

However, Major Graff pointed out, past experience has shown at other similar bases, approximately one hundred families will require housing, which, if this site holds true to form, will make 67 families that will need housing of one sort or another, mostly in the middle range of rents.

Asked if he believed the government would build more than the 27 units already mentioned, the Major gave it as his opinion that it was unlikely.

Ernest Simmons, Scripps Biologist, Visits In City

Ernest Simmons, who did most of the Game and Fish Commission's research on passes some years ago, and who recently left that organization to go with Scripps Institute of Oceanography at La Jolla, Calif., stopped off to visit his wife's mother, Mrs. Nora Casey, of Rockport, Tuesday night.

Simmons was on his way from the Mississippi Delta, where he had been one of a party exploring the role of tidal flats and organic matter on the deposit of sediments. Interestingly enough, Simmons said, they were using Carbon 14, the so-called atomic clock, to date the deposits in the delta.

The research Simmons is doing is part of a long range program mapped out by the American Petroleum Institute and carried on by Scripps along the Texas and Louisiana coasts since 1950. Much of the work was done in Mesquite, San Antonio, and Aransas Bays, and on St. Joseph and Matagorda Islands. The result of this and other projects along the Louisiana coast will, in time, lead to a better understanding of the mechanics of oil deposition.

The Scripps' research has led to the publishing of a large number of scientific papers on this coast, on basic marine problems. These papers, although they deal with many of the biological aspects of the bays and Gulf, are not well known, at least to the general public, because they were printed in various oil and geological journals. However, they contain a vast mass of data on this coast, products of some of the top scientists of the country.

Mr. and Mrs. S. F. Jackson attended a meeting of the Presbytery this week in San Antonio. and is for the purpose of selecting a new board of directors to guide the Fund's affairs during 1956-57.

The nominating committee, consisting of Emory Spencer, Ed Beasley, Charles M. Roe, Jr., and Colonel J. W. Porter, has selected the following slate:

James Sorenson, Jr.; Ernest Jones; Tom Roper; Ellis Clark; Mrs. Seth Steele; Emory Spencer; E. T. White; Jack McDavid; and Dr. H. F. Elliott.

However, Mrs. Steele was particularly call attention to the fact that other nominations may be made by letter.

The budget, as set at the meeting of the Board of Directors this week, amounted to approximately $8000, and will be divided among the following agencies:

Girl Scouts, $1449.00; Red Cross, $1562.00; Boy Scouts, $1300.00; Gonzales Warm Springs Foundation, $600.00; Crippled Children's Hospital, $300.00; Aransas County Youth Council, $350.00; Aransas County Junior Youth Council, $150.00; U. S. O., $200.00; Aransas County Emergency Corps, $513.00; Cerebral Palsy, $50.00; United Fund Operating Fund, $1000.00; Contingency Fund, $526.00.

What Is Fallout?

Diagram illustrating fallout effects: 1. EFFECT OF PARTICLE SIZE (WIND AND INITIAL HEIGHT ASSUMED CONSTANT) showing large particles falling fast and close, small particles falling slowly and far. 2. EFFECT OF WIND (PARTICLE SIZE ASSUMED CONSTANT) showing constant weak wind vs strong wind. 3. EFFECT OF HEIGHT (WIND AND PARTICLE SIZE ASSUMED CONSTANT) showing particles from lower part falling sooner and closer, particles from upper part falling longer and farther.

FACTORS AFFECTING FALLOUT distribution over countryside downwind from a nuclear blast are the size of the earth particles carrying the radioactivity, their altitude and the speed and direction of the wind. Generally, in the United States, the winds which would dominate the direction of fallout would be the strong, usually west-to-east winds at about 40,000 feet. For this reason, the Federal Civil Defense Administration warns that only weather experts, with their methods of tracking high-altitude winds, can predict with reasonable accuracy the area to be affected by fallout. Men with radiation monitoring instruments are also required to determine whether an area is "safe" from radio active fallout after a nuclear attack. (FCDA Photos)

NATIONAL BUSINESS WOMEN'S WEEK - 1956

Seems like Americans observe all kinds of weeks — so many in fact that it's usually pretty hard to keep track of them. But this week of Sept. 23 through Sept. 29 is different — probably because it honors such a large and important group of people. This is National Business Women's Week, which was founded in 1928. The people it honors are the 20 million women who are working in America today. The fact that there is a week set aside to pay tribute to these women is the results of work done by the oldest and largest organization of business and professional women in the country — The National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, Inc.

This federation was founded in 1919 at the request of the Secretary of War because World War I had shown there was no central organization through which to reach business and professional women vitally needed in times of national emergency to fill key jobs. There were only 212 women at that first group meeting in St. Louis. Today there are 170,000 women in 48 states, Hawaii, and Alaska, who make up the federation.

In 1930, BPW took the lead in founding the International Federation of BPW Clubs which has federations in 20 countries. All members of the BPW club are also members in the international organization. Today there are more than 700 different businesses and professions represented in the federation. It has members ranging from mayors to plumbers. The only woman senator, Margaret Chase Smith, of Maine, is a BPW member.

Having BPW clubs in 3,300 different communities makes it possible to gear each club's programs to the top vocational and interests of women in it's particular town. The local club is in favor of Senator Irving Ives' legislation bill to provide equal pay for equal work without discrimination because of sex. This club also sponsors an annual Red Cross donation dinner in January and a senior student loan in May.

The federation set up a foundation in Washington this year as a central source of information to women, to business men, editors, and scholars, who are constantly calling for answers on subjects related to women and comparative studies of the status of women in other parts of the world. The Research Center will conduct special studies in the effects of automation problems of retirement and legal and economic status of women in business and the professions.

The federation does not align itself with any political candidate because it is bi-partisan. The women are urged to vote, be good citizens, not part-time citizens. —Contributed.

First Baptist Church Holds Reception For Mission Pastor

A reception was held at the First Baptist Church of Rockport, on Wednesday evening, September 19, for Rev. and Mrs. Jesse Morales. The event was occasioned by the recent marriage of Rev. Morales to the former Miss Aida Gonzalez of Aransas Pass.

Reverend Morales brought the devotional at the regular prayer service of the church. After the prayer service the honorees were greeted by members of the church and the Latin American mission, where he is serving as pastor. The group then moved onto the lawn where a gift was presented to them by the Woman's Missionary Society of the church. Several items of groceries were presented to them in an old fashioned "pounding."

Rev. W. D. Broadway, pastor of the church, said a few words to the guests and the church. He said, "We are indeed fortunate to have these two choice young people working with us in our mission..."

Refreshments were served to those present by members of the Woman's Missionary Society. Mrs. Mable Thompson, and Mrs. W. S. Coaker served as the committee in charge of arrangements.

Canadian Waterfowl Build-Up Impressive

An impressive build-up of waterfowl in the Canadian nesting grounds is elating the spirits of gunners. Harvesting is general in the prairie provinces, where most ducks nest, but heavy rains, thunderstorms, and hail, the latter quite severe in parts of Alberta and southern Manitoba, have caused damage to crops and waterfowl.

According to Ducks Unlimited, the Manitoba picture has improved considerably. Many new broods appeared in August, and biologists report the best duck population in the last fifteen years. This augurs well for the Mississippi Flyway.

Saskatchewan weather and water conditions have continued favorable, and this province is turning out the prize duck crop of the year.

Alberta will do as well as last year in spite of a large drouth area in the south; flooding in the Hanna area (within 100 miles of the drouth), and hailstorms just northwest of that. Central and northern parts of the province have produced a fine duck crop, offsetting the reduction in the south.

All of which points to better hunting in Texas this fall.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Close and sons are here on their vacation visiting Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Close and Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Hart and friends.

Yellow Fever, Gone For Half a Century, Still Poses Threat to Texas

Texas hasn't had a case of yellow fever in almost half a century, but, with the dread disease on the move through the jungles of Central America, health authorities are none too happy with the situation. They haven't had a case in that long a time, and they never want another, so they're taking precautions.

According to a recent release by the Texas State Health Department, federal, state, and county authorities are all on the lookout, and mosquito hunts have been carried on along the Rio Grande Valley, and at least as far north as San Antonio.

Moreover, Mexican government officials are reportedly making preparations for a nation-wide survey, with an eye towards intensive mosquito-control measures.

For years, yellow fever has been considered the exclusive ill fortune of urban communities, carried by a mosquito called Aedes aegypti, a house pest, that readily breeds in towns anywhere water collects and stagnates. Control this species of mosquito as they did on the Panama Canal and the yellow fever virus was whipped—or so everyone thought.

Then, in 1932, scientists of the Rockefeller Foundation, working in Brazil, came up with a new outbreak, carried by an entirely different species, Haemagogus spegazzini, or "blue mosquito," which didn't live in towns, but in the upper part of the jungle. Here these insects fed at will on monkeys, and perhaps on other animals and birds of the tree-tops, varying their diet now and then with some jungle worker to which, like the monkeys, they gave yellow fever.

Because of their habits, control of these mosquitoes was almost impossible, and so they passed the virus on from monkey to monkey, and from jungle to jungle, for once one of them bites an animal that is infected, that mosquito carries the yellow fever until he (or she) dies, and can transmit it. Thus the wave of fever spread from Brazil north through Venezuela, on up into Panama and Central America, until, at the moment, it is in the monkey population of Guatemala. From there the logical course of advance is north across the Yucatan Peninsula and along the Mexican Gulf Coast to Texas.

Brownsville and Matamoros authorities were well aware that the Valley offers excellent territory for large scale breeding by Aedes, and a year ago the forest-loving Haemagogus had been discovered in the area by scientists of the Gorgas Memorial Laboratory.

breeding in holes in trees that contained water.

As a consequence, early this summer, they called a conference of both state and U. S. Public Health officials, along with members of the Pan-American Sanitary Bureau, the International Cooperation Administration, and the Mexican Ministry of Health.

Four crews were organized—one for each side of the river to search out Aedes, another team on each side to seek out Haemagogus. Two hundred and fifty-six houses were inspected in Brownsville, 428 in Matamoros, while the other two crews waded thorny thrush, probing dozens of tree holes for mosquito eggs and larvae.

Evidence of the house-loving Aedes was found in two places, but the survey Haemagogus was inconclusive.

Senior Engineer Frank Von Zuben, who led the team for the State Health Department, put it like this:

"Although typical mosquito breeding was not found, it is my opinion that further study is needed. A heavy distribution of insecticides via crop dusting planes was taking place throughout the Rio Grande Valley on both sides of the boundary and this may have accounted for scarcity of mosquitoes.

"Since Brownsville and Matamoros are side by side, and since two breeding places for Aedes were found in Matamoros, the whole area is suspicious until we can make a better evaluation of it."

September, Von Zuben feels, would be the ideal time to make the re-check.

Meanwhile, a yellow fever mosquito study is in progress in San Antonio under direction of the City Health Department, and a Pan-American Sanitary Bureau specialist has been assigned to do similar work at various spots along the border.

It has been 117 years since the first epidemic of yellow fever hit Galveston, and nearly half a century since a case has been known in the state, yet the virus still poses a threat to Texas, and only unending vigilance will keep it out.

WATER, WATER, EVERYWHERE. Chief Aquatic Biologist Bill Tompkins of the Massachusetts fish and game service has told the New England Waterworks Association that public water supplies should be opened to fishing. He maintains that with increasingly efficient water-treatment methods, sanitary considerations can no longer be called the main reason for keeping the reservoirs closed. — William W. Davises Continue European Tour

This week, Captain and Mrs. Bruce Davis continue their European tour, eventually arriving in the south of England, where they take ship for the continent again.

Captain Davis' letter, written to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Davis, says:

At Kirkcubright, near Ainsworth, we visited the Church of Cuthbert, where one of Mary's auditors, George Rutherford, was schoolmaster and reader. He was summoned before the High Commission in 1636 and commanded to leave his position. His brother was that famous divine, Rev. Samuel Rutherford, born in Roxburghshire in 1600. He served as Professor of Divinity at Saint Mary's College, St. Andrew's University and in 1643-1647 was one of the five Scotch ministerial commissioners to the Westminster Assembly in London which framed the Westminster standards of the Presbyterian Church.

In 1651 he was rector of the University. At the restoration (1660) his book Lex Rex, was burned and he was cited before the Court of High Commission. Cast into prison, he died before he could appear. His last words were, "Glory, glory dwelleth in Emmanuel's lands." There is a large statue of him at Ainsworth and some years ago when the church he preached in was being enlarged bricklayers or masons went on a strike in protest that the church should not be altered. We wanted to visit Davises where some of her other ancestors

Suit in trespass to try title and for damages alleging that on or about the 1st day of January, 1956, the plaintiff was lawfully seized and possessed in the following described land and premises, situated in the City of Aransas Pass, Aransas County, Texas, holding and owning the same in fee simple, to-wit:

 By WRETHA B. JOHNSON, Deputy.

SHOULD HAVE STAYED HOME—W. B. Warren, 85, of Flint, Mich., decided to straighten his car out while backing out of the garage. In the process, he ruined one lawn, two garages and three cars. After sliding his car onto the lawn, he lost control while trying to regain the driveway and hit his own garage, after which the car careened into his neighbor's garage, and pinned a sports model against a larger sedan.

tors came from. One was the Rev. Joseph Alleine who was born here in 1634 and married his cousin, Theodosia Alleine, brother of William Alleine (1614-1677) the saintly Vicar of Blandford, and daughter of Richard Alleine, rector at the Manse in Ditcheat, Somersetshire, England.

Rev. Joseph Alleine studied at Poulshot, entered Lincoln College, and graduated in 1653. He worked with the grandfather of John Wesley (founder of Methodism). Cast into prison he was released but returned to his work despite the Five Mile Act. He was flung in again and died November 17, 1668. He wrote many works and his alarm to the unconverted sold many thousands of copies in colonial America.

From Lancaster we came southward to Warwick where we visited the Cathedral and castle. Our next visit was the home of Shakespeare at Stratford-upon-Avon. From here we drove to Northamptonshire to visit Sulgrave Manor, George Washington's ancestral home. This was of particular interest—Mary is related to the granddaughter of Martha Dandridge, Mary Randolph Custis, who became the wife of Gen. Robert E. Lee. Martha was a widow when she married Gen. George Washington. This is through the Bolling family.

Passing by way of Oxford we came again to London. After making the Tower we visited Buckingham Palace and Westminster Abbey. We enjoyed an evening service at St. Paul's Cathedral and Sunday morning the boys attended church with me at Westminster Abbey. We also toured the parliament building, the House of Lords and Commons. The buildings including Big Ben suffered during the war and are still being repaired.

The day prior to leaving I visited a little church, Allhallows Church, Barking by the Tower. It is built on Roman ruins and has been in operation since 675. The blitz did some damage but it still stands near the Tower of London. Here are buried some of Mary's Bolling ancestors.

Our departure day we witnessed an impressive ceremony at Buckingham Palace. The entire guard came out in their bright uniforms. The state carriage carried the King of Iraq to Guild Hall—escorted by the Queen's Mounted Life Guards. The Irish went by wearing their kilts. The boys were thrilled to death.

After leaving London we went to Gravesend where is located St. George's Church. Here in a vault beneath the floor, where the aisle reaches the front pews, lies the body of Pocahontas. The church was on the condemned list in 1948 but in 1952 with the help of American money was rededicated as the "Chapel of Unity" and is in the process of being restored. After her marriage to John Rolfe, Pocahontas came to London, was presented to the Queen at Court, where she made a big splash and had embarked to return home in 1617 when she died aboard ship. Her body was removed at Gravesend where she was buried.

Her granddaughter, Jane Rolfe, married the first Bolling to emigrate to America and incidentally Mary's ancestor, Col. Robert Bolling was born in London 26 Dec., 1646, and was baptized at the parish Church of Allhallows, the one I visited in London. It is his grandfather who is buried here. He arrived in Virginia the 2 Oct., 1660. His second wife was Anne Stith, daughter of Major John Stith. From this Robert Bolling many famous Americans and British descend including Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, Lady Mountbatten, and Lord Baden-Powell. His family connected itself with the families of Washington, Jefferson, Marshall, Randolph and many other famous Virginia families including the Harrisons, Taylors and Taylors.

Mrs. Carl Hardin and Mrs. Jack Roberts visited in Abbeville and Berwick, La. last week. Mrs. Hardin visited with her daughter, Mrs. Leroy Domaschk. Mrs. Roberts visited with her daughter, Mrs. Roger Weems who returned home with her to visit for a while.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bracht, Fred Jr., Mr. and Mrs. James Bracht and Alan and Mr. and Mrs. Casper Kutach and Bradley attended a barbecue at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Isaacks and Jimmie of Gregory in honor of Mrs. James Bracht on her birthday.

Landmark of Early Aransas County Being Torn Down

A landmark of early Aransas County is being torn down to make way for a more modern structure. The building, referred to by pioneer settlers as "the Old Hall House," was built in 1872, only a year after Aransas County was born, in the days when

Morgan Line steamships called regularly at Rockport, and Fulton, a mile to the northward, was the packing center of the south. W. S. Hall had established the first and most successful of these canneries, for in eight years of operation the plant slaughtered 40,000 head of cattle, and, at its peak, utilized over 11,000 annually.

As befitted a packing baron and associate of Colonel George W. Fulton, Hall built a tall, two-story residence, with hand-carved columns across its front, on 20 acres of land purchased from the Colonel. Inside there were eight high-ceilinged rooms, two baths, great halls, and a wide, winding staircase.

Oldtimers in Rockport and Fulton still dreamily relate stories of hospitality and lavish entertainments, when orchestras were brought in from New Orleans via the Morgan steamers for dancing, and delicacies for the meals came in on the same boat. Then the tall windows of the great house among the live oaks were golden with the light of whale oil lamps, and southern belles and their beaux strolled slowly through the expansive grounds.

But not everything was playtime and romance in that early day Fulton, where five packeries and a tannery kept most of the inhabitants busy from dawn to dusk. Besides the packing of beef and the tanning of hides, thousands of huge turtles were brought ashore for canning, and turtle and oyster soup, famous for their flavor, were shipped all over the United States.

In 1888, the old San Antonio and Aransas Pass railroad arrived in Rockport, the canneries closed, and Hall sold his home to a man by the name of Barney Gibbs, who promptly turned it into the Shell Hotel.

Gibbs also purchased the two-story sleeping quarters formerly used by employees of Hall's packing company and moved it, along with the office and other smaller buildings, to his property. Here the larger structure was established at the rear of the hotel for servants' quarters, while the smaller cottages, placed on either side, served for extra tourist accommodations.

Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Browder took over the management about 1903, and at least two other operators were in charge of the hostelry prior to the advent of Colonel Frank P. Holland, mayor of Dallas, editor, founder and publisher of Texas Farm and Ranch and Holland's Magazine, and originator of the State Fair of Texas.

Holland, with a group of business and professional men from Dallas, formed the Oak Shore Club, which became both a summer and winter vacation spot for the members.

In 1916, Captain and Mrs. Andrew Sorenson took over the establishment and, since it was no longer a clubhouse, it became known as the Oak Shore Inn, a tourist resort, well-remembered for the large parties taken care of during duck hunting season.

The property suffered considerable damage during the 1919 hurricane and the tourist business received a set back, so, in 1920, the Sorensons sold it to P. E. McElwrath, of Corsicana. He added a third story to the original Hall home, so that he might better entertain his large class of boys from the Corsicana Methodist Sunday School whom he brought down to the coast for summer vacations.

In 1940, Sidney Freeborn, of San Antonio and Live Oak County purchased the property, and on adjoining grounds built the tourist court known as Forest Park Cottages. Freeborn, whose father was a San Antonio banker, spent a great deal of his boyhood in Rockport and Fulton and now, upon complete demolition of the old house, plans to erect a modern home where he and his wife, and their children and grandchildren, may enjoy life to the fullest among the live oak trees he loves so much.

Big Tree Written Up In Houston Chronicle

The Big Tree has scored again, this time in an article by Pete Gilpin in the Houston Chronicle. Gilpin's article, which is adorned by two excellent pictures of the tree, which in turn is decorated by three Rockport girls, Georgia and Lou Benningfield and Ann Schoonover, says:

"That figure of speech about the height of a Georgia pine may some day find its horizontal counterpart in 'broader than a Texas oak'."

One look at the 2000-year-old Lamar oak in Goose Island State Park near Rockport and the tree's sprawling breadth will easily convince the visitor of that.

And, despite its great age, the Texas Parks Board has estimated that the huge oak may stretch its life span for another 2000 to 3000 years.

There was fear a couple of years ago that the Tree (and make that with a capital T) was about to die. But special examination showed that this arboreal giant lacked only a proper water and nutrient supply to continue flourishing.

A wire fence has been built around it, its construction caused by the unthinking vandalism of souvenir hunters who broke off bits of its branches.

Dwarfing its neighboring trees, the Big Tree appears to have an air of majestic solemnity, lending belief to legends that have grown up. They say the Lamar Oak (named for the nearby community of Lamar) was the gathering place where Karankawa Indians held their councils. And later it is reputed to have been used by white men for a hangman's tree.

And if the oak could talk, it's a good bet that it could add plenty of tales to the things which took place about it.

Towering 80 feet in the air, it has a 32-foot girth with a 140-foot crown spread. And it's a living proof that there must have been some mighty husky acorns about 2000 years ago.

School Spirit

The 1956-57 school year is here. Summer vacations have ended and now we must return to try to make this year the best.

In order to make this year the best, our school must have school spirit. School spirit is not limited to football and other sports. It pertains to all school activities. Holding an office in a club or class, helping on the school paper or annual, or playing sports, all help in building good school spirit.

Last year, Aransas County High School had the best school spirit that it has ever had before. This was done by all members of the student body participating actively in one or more school activities.

School spirit can determine the standards and interest of the student body. If a school has poor school spirit, the students won't work to raise the standing of the school, but if there is school spirit the students want to work to make their school the best.

CHANGES AFFECT SOCIAL SECURITY FOR WOMEN

Women no longer have to be 65 years old in order to draw retirement social security benefits. One of the changes in the new law permits women to start drawing these benefits at age 62, beginning as early as November of this year.

This provision affects wives whose husbands are drawing social security benefits, widows and dependent mothers of insured persons, and women who have established their own social security earnings account by having worked in employment or self-employment covered by the Social Security Act. Wives and women workers will have their benefit slightly reduced permanently, if they choose to get benefits at an earlier age. There is no reduction for widows, and dependent mothers.

The first benefit checks under these provisions will be for the month of November, 1956. However, application for these benefits may be filed at any time from now on, and as late as November of 1957, without any loss, since applications are retroactive up to 12 months.

Women interested should write their social security office giving their name and address, account number, and account number of their husband. Women workers should also state whether they are employed or self-employed. The address of the social security office for this area is 530 South Water Street, Corpus Christi, Texas.

The next article regarding your social security and the effect of the new amendments as enacted by Congress will explain how cash disability payments may be paid to totally disabled persons at age 50 or later.

WRECK KILLS CORPUS CHRISTI YOUTH

A 19-year-old Corpus Christi youth died of injuries from an accident near Rockport Saturday. Edgar D. Moran, 4914 Joan, died in Memorial Hospital about 15 minutes after being taken there by ambulance from the scene of the accident about 4 1/2 miles west of Rockport on Farm Road 881.

Injured in the accident with Moran was Billy Hoskinson, 19, of Portland. According to hospital attendants, Hoskinson suffered head lacerations and possible chest injuries.

Deputy Sheriff D. S. Mundine who investigated the accident for the Aransas County department, said Moran apparently lost control of his 1955 sedan while attempting to make a sharp curve. Mundine said that Moran was thrown out of the car as it overturned a number of times near the curve. He was found some 100 feet from the wreckage, Mundine said.

Moran was a 1955 graduate of W. B. Ray High School. He was a student at Del Mar College and was a member of the First Baptist Church.

Survivors include his parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Moran; one brother, Gary Bob Moran; two grandmothers, Mrs. Edith Moran of Chilton, Texas, and Mrs. E. L. Phillips of Waco.

Lou Benningfield of San Antonio was home over the weekend visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Benningfield.

By JACK BAUGHMAN

Everyone recognizes that the automobile plays an important, but indirect, part in harvesting the annual wildlife crop by transporting sportsmen to and from the hunting fields. But comparatively few give much thought to the devastating wildlife toll the automobile itself takes on America's highways.

"Sure, everybody who drives on highways or rural roads sees the dead bodies of rabbits, opossums, skunks, and other game species but generally accepts these occurrences as natural tragedies of the road with no thought of the total effect," says John D. Mitchell, manager, commercial sales division, Remington Arms Company, Inc.

"Certainly sporting firearms, next to Nature itself, are the most important tools in harvesting the annual wildlife crop. This is proper as the kill is clean and the meat is seldom wasted. But game killed on the highways by automobiles is almost always a total loss, a loss that mounts in importance because most of these deaths occur during the breeding and rearing seasons.

While no accurate figures are available, and it would be hardly possible to obtain them, it would be no exaggeration to say the total for the entire country runs into staggering numbers. The Kentucky State Division of Game and Fish released some figures several years ago that might well apply to any similar period. These figures are admittedly incomplete as a few of the 108 observers in all districts of the state were not employed during the entire eight months' of the survey. But they show that 13,267 edible game birds and animals are killed on Kentucky highways during two-thirds of that year. These figures do not include the toll taken from the state's population of red and gray foxes, skunk, mink, or song birds, not generally considered as part of the sportsman's larder.

"If Kentucky's conservative figures were to be used as a measuring stick for the whole country and thus multiplied by 48, the loss in edible game to highway deaths would be well over 600,000 game birds and/or animals for the period. Disregarding the remaining four months of the year and using 600,000 as a total, which would certainly be an ultra-conservative figure, this represents a considerable poundage of delicious and highly-prized meat lost to the sportsman's table through the carelessness of thoughtless drivers.

"The rabbit was the greatest sufferer from this toll. This is to be expected for this species has a wide range and its inclination to cross highways and even play in them is well known. The opossum was next in misfortune, which is in line with observations made in other states. A few deer fell victim to collisions with automobiles.

"It would be again conservative to estimate this meat loss at 1,200,000 pounds, or two pounds to the bird or animal. Placing a value of $2 per pound it would bring this monetary figure close to $2,500,000. Personally, I believe doubling these figures down the line would give a more accurate picture.

"In this analysis no consideration has been given the loss in clean, healthful sport to the hunter or in breeding stock to wildlife resources, either of which is a more important item than the actual loss in edible meat. The considerate motorist will do well to scan these figures with a thoughtful eye. If they cause him to slow down the next time he sees game in the road ahead, he will be making a contribution to his own pleasure, the pleasure of sportsmen and conservationists in general, and, in a small way, to the nation's economy. And he could be saving his own life!"

Every reputable manufacturer of modern firearms takes every precaution possible to see that the products of his plant are safe to shoot. The smokeless powders with which shells and cartridges are loaded today generate higher pressures than the old black powders of yesteryears. This is one of the numerous reasons why the so-called Damascus barrels are no longer safe for the gunner to use.

COLORED CHURCH TO HOLD REVIVAL

The Colored Church of God invites the public to a revival to be held through this coming Saturday, September 22, at 8:00 p.m.

In order to make sure that every new barrel is able to withstand far heavier pressures than those occasioned in the firing of ordinary sporting loads, "proof loads" are fired in it before it leaves the factory. These are special high pressure test loads, made on special order only, with a combination of powder, shot or bullet to give pressures from 25% to 50% above the average of the heaviest commercial or military load furnished for the pistol, revolver, rifle or shotgun. The specifications for these "proof loads" are established by the Sporting Arms and Ammunition Manufacturers' Institute. At least one "proof load" is fired in each gun before acceptance. This is an assurance to the consumer that the gun is safe enough to withstand the pressures obtained in the heaviest standard loads.

Each arms company has its own symbol or mark which shows the gun has been tested with "proof loads." The "proof load" method of testing guns originated many years ago in England and is still in use there. All guns sold here must pass the rules and regulations prescribed by the London Proof House and the Birmingham Proof House. "Proof marks" are easily identified by the average sportsman. Other letters, figures and cabalistic markings appearing on the barrels or receivers are parts of each individual company's code and have little meaning to anyone other than the gunmakers themselves.

NAVY SETS DECEMBER 8 FOR ANNUAL NROTC EXAM

VAdm. James A. Holloway, Jr., Chief of Naval Personnel, announced today that the 11th annual national competitive examinations for the Navy's Reserve Officer Training Corps will be given to interested high school seniors on December 8. Application forms are now available and must be received before November 17.

Designed to supplement the officer output of the Naval Academy, the NROTC program makes it possible for a young man to earn a commission while studying at the civilian college of his choice which has an NROTC unit. All tuition, fees and books are furnished by the Navy, and the student receives an annual retainer of $600 for four years. During the summers the student goes on fascinating training cruises as a midshipman. After completing the usual four year college course, he is commissioned in the regular navy or Marine Corps and goes on active duty with the Navy's far-flung fleets. For those who apply and qualify, immediate assignment to flight training will open new careers in naval aviation.

High school seniors and graduates between the ages of 17 and 21 may qualify for the NROTC aptitude test. Those who make a qualifying score will be given a rigid physical exam early in 1957. From the pool of qualified young men remaining in competition, approximately 2,000 will be selected to begin their naval careers next September.

The NROTC college training program is also open to enlisted men on active duty with the Navy and Marines. Separate quotas are established for applicants from within these services.

Application forms are available at all high schools, colleges, Navy Recruiting Stations or from the Chief of Naval Personnel, Washington 25, D. C.

Fulton Lions Meet Monday Night, Plan Fish Fry for Sunday

The Fulton Lions held their regular meeting on Monday night, and decided to give a fish fry to reward all those who helped at the fish fry on Labor Day by allowing them to bring their wives.

If you've followed us this far, the fish fry that will be given to reward the fish fryers will be near Mills Wharf, on the cement slab, between 5 and 7 p. m. on Sunday afternoon, Sept. 23, and, according to Chester Barre, secretary of the club, fried fish will be served to the fish fryers and their assembled ladies.

Other business included appointment of committee members to look into the possibility of establishing a scholarship to aid some young man or woman who is studying to become a teacher. On this committee are Chester Barre, James Calhoun, Zeph Riquette, Matt Scott, Ernest Jones, and D. T. Oliver.

Caspary and Wendell have pioneered in designing the newest and most modern crew boat to operate anywhere on the Gulf coast. Powered with two 600 h. p. General Motors diesels, the Whirlaway, a 93-footer, is capable of a speed of 20 1/2 miles an hour, and will cruise at 18 miles an hour with engines turning up only 1600.

Rockport Firm Pioneers In Building Fastest, Most Comfortable Crew Boat

A local firm, Caspary and Wendell, is the designer and operator of the fastest and most modern crew boat yet built for offshore drilling operations. Maximum speed with minimum power was the goal set for the company's new Whirlaway, a fast-stepping 93-footer that provides air conditioning and airplane seats for crew comfort.

The big, fast-paced crew boat, rivaling the finest yacht in construction and performance, recently made 20.5 miles an hour in shakedown runs with an overload of major oil company officials aboard. Placed in service, carrying a crew offshore to an Arkansas Fuel and Oil Company rig out of Port Aransas, the Whirlaway lives up to its name, and makes the run in a little over an hour, while older-type craft take up to two hours and a half. Main power for the big hull is supplied by two diesels, mounted in tandem, and delivering 1200 horsepower to the twin screws. Drilling crews riding the boat are cared for in air-conditioned comfort in a cabin that can hold up to thirty, seated in airplane type seats originally designed for luxury airliners. A three-ton air conditioner cools the main cabin, wheelhouse, and the boat crews' sleeping quarters.

Of all-steel construction, the crew boat is 93 feet overall, with a 20-foot beam and a normal draft of five and a half feet when fully loaded with its own crew, passengers, 12,400 gallons of diesel fuel, 1000 gallons of drinking water, and freight which is carried in a cargo hold measuring 21 x 10 x 7 feet.

The craft was designed by Platzer, of Houston, and has all the latest aids to navigation. The main power units supply electricity for lights, heat, galley, air-conditioners, radio telephone, and radar.

A sister ship has been built by Platzer for the Standard Oil Company of Texas. The Chevron, as this one is known, is also operated by Caspary and Wendell, for Standard.

WILD BLUE YONDER.

Four geese bagged by Missouri hunters have been identified as crosses between the wild Canada goose and the common, domestic gray goose. The oddity is not in the cross, which has been known in captivity, but in the migration—the first on record of crossbreeds migrating with wild birds. — Tom McAllister, Portland (Oreg.) Oregon Journal.

Mrs. W. A. White of Colorado City, Texas was here for a week on business and visiting friends.

INSURANCE PAYABLE TO SOME WHO WORK AFTER AGE 65

Some retirement insurance payments are available to any insured worker of age 65 or more who does not earn more than $2080 in a year. H. M. Cleveland, District Manager of the Social Security Administration in Corpus Christi believes that some older workers may be losing benefits because they are not familiar with the social security retirement test.

"The retirement insurance can be paid for all months of a year in which the entitled applicant between age 65 and 72 does not earn more than $1200," Cleveland explained. "The benefits will be paid if the earned income does not exceed the permitted amount. The emphasis here is on 'earnings'—that which one works for," he said.

"If the amount earned is between $1200 and $2080 in a year, some of the monthly payments may still be paid. Even when the yearly earnings are more than $2080, the insurance is payable for those months of the year in which the beneficiary does not work in his own business or does not earn wages of more than $80.

"After an eligible worker reaches age 72, there is no retirement test, and the payments are made for all months after that even though the beneficiary continues to work full time.

"A person must have worked between a year and a half and ten years at some time since 1936 in employment or self-employment on social security jobs to be fully insured," he said. "The required time depends upon the age of the individual worker."

Cleveland says that benefits are never paid automatically. An application must be filed before any old-age and survivors insurance can be paid. He invited all eligible persons to get further information about the Social Security Administration, 530 South Water Street, Corpus Christi, Texas.

DOUBLE ASSIST.

Good catches of big white perch way ahead of the season in Bridgeport harbor are credited to warm exhaust water from the condensers of a power house. This also is thought to provide good summer blue-fishing. — Carl Michelin, Bridgeport (Conn.) Sunday Herald.

Rockport Ornithologist to Reissue Booklet On Birds of Texas Coast

Mrs. Jack Hagar, Rockport's nationally-known ornithologist, whose portrait appeared in the September 10th issue of Life, is re-issuing her "Checklist of the Birds of the Central Coast of Texas," which first appeared in 1952. This will be welcome news for bird-lovers everywhere in this country and Canada for, in this little, sixteen-page booklet Mrs. Hagar has summarized the results of 22 years of bird watching in the Coastal Bend of Texas—a record of premier scientific value.

In it she has recorded nearly 500 species of Texas birds—almost 400 of them having been seen at Rockport!

During these years, ornithologists everywhere have learned to rely on her absolutely accurate, factual reporting, and professional scientists all over the country unhesitatingly depend upon her knowledge.

Mrs. Hagar has seen birds that the casual watcher never glimpses. Twice she has noted these far-flying wanderers, yellow-billed tropic birds, inhabitants of the far reaches of the Sargasso Sea; twice, after tropical storms from the eastward, she has reported flamingoes borne to the Texas coast on the roistering winds.

European widgeon, strayed from England's shores; harlequin ducks from the Bering Sea; a Wurdeman's heron from Louisiana; and even that king of American songsters, Townsend's solitaire, all appear on her list, though far from their usual haunts.

And when she reported a fall migration of 3000 ruby-throated hummingbirds shortly after she came to Rockport, she added an observation that meant a western extension to their migratory route.

The old maps show them leaving the United States through the Mississippi Valley, hopping off over the delta and huddling the Gulf of Mexico to land in Yucatan. Mrs. Hagar's observations showed that the birds were smarter than the map-makers! Why go across, the ruby-throats said, and take all that risk, when it's so much easier to loaf down the western side of all that water, and never even get our feet wet?

Few amateurs have upset as many preconceived theories about migration routes or have added as many birds to their state's list as have Connie Hagar.

One of her latest finds in Texas is the cattle egret, a small, white bird native to Asia and Africa, which looks much like a small, domestic goose when seen from a distance. In those countries these egrets are a common sight, feeding alongside cattle and buffalo on insects the animals stir up.

These birds mysteriously appeared in South America some 20 years ago, but authorities have never learned how they crossed the ocean. Three years ago, cattle egrets just as mysteriously appeared in the United States, along the eastern seaboard, and have since been found breeding in Florida.

The three seen by Mrs. Hagar are the first ever listed from Texas. However, if the ornithologists are right in their predictions, it will be only a few years until the birds are permanent inhabitants. The Texas cattle country, experts say, is ideally suited to the egrets' needs.

Mrs. A. L. Holland and Mrs. W. D. Henderson went to Denton Saturday to take Mary Fay Clark who will attend T.S.C.W. While there Mrs. Holland visited with her nephew, Robert Thomas, of Meadville, Penn., who attends North Texas State Teachers College.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Stephens and Jimmie of Austin spent the weekend in the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Glass.

TELEPHONE TALK

by Bob Watson, Manager

Visit Again By Telephone

At this time of year, vacations are over for most of us. And I suppose if you're like me, you are already looking forward to next year's. But it's a good thing to remember that those miles that took you hours to cover on your trip can melt away in seconds with a Long Distance call.

That way, you can thank your friends or relatives by telephone for all the fun you had during your vacation visit. They'll appreciate it, and will enjoy hearing your voice again.

Or maybe you met friends on vacation. There's really no better way of keeping in touch with them than by a friendly Long Distance call.

Rates are lower after 6 p.m. every weekday, and all day Sunday. This makes it easier to recall the happy vacation days all year long. Remember, too—call by number . . . it's twice as fast.

Why Run? Just Reach

Some time ago, I heard a good slogan for extension telephones. It was, "Why run for the telephone when you can reach for it?" It makes sense, too. You arrange furniture and appliances in your house so that they'll be convenient for you. Why not carry this convenience over to your telephone service?

Most homes could use an additional telephone. The kitchen and bedroom seem to be the most popular spots for families now enjoying life with two telephones.

The cost is small for an extension. An installation charge of $2.00, and the monthly rate of $1.00 can make you a "two telephone family."

Looking Up Words

You know, people sometimes use words for years before finding out exactly what they mean. Usually, they're pretty close, but it never hurts to dust off the old dictionary and look up a word.

I did it the other day to find the definition of "value." We talk about value of service a lot in the telephone business, and I wanted to know once and for all just exactly what "value" meant.

In simple terms, it means "real worth." So if you stop and think a minute about how much the telephone does for you, we think you'll agree we're not misusing the word "value" when we talk about telephone service.

For, you see, a good part of the "real worth" of telephone service is the telephone's ability to help you do more things easier day after day.

Call by number. It's twice as fast.

Aransas Pass Wins Over Pirates

The Aransas County Pirates were defeated by the Aransas Pass Panthers last Friday night in the first few minutes of the game. The score, 15-7.

The Panthers got two points before the game was ever started. They were awarded a safety, when on the opening kick-off, the ball was touched before it rolled out of the end zone. A few plays later, the Pirates fumbled deep in their own territory, losing the ball. After a number of unsuccessful attempts, the Panthers finally punched the ball over to give them an 8-0 lead. Once again, the Pirates lost the ball to the Panthers, this time on the Pirates' own three-yard line. Three plays later, the Panthers sneaked it across for a touchdown and led 15-0.

The whole first half was dominated by the visitors, by virtue of the fumbles committed by the home team. The Pirates had the ball only 14 times the first half. Ordinarily, a team will run about 30 or 35 plays in a half.

The second half was a different story as the Pirates held the visitors to a standstill and took advantage of one of their fumbles on their 12-yard line. Three plays later, Tommy Bradshaw passed 4 yds. into the end zone to Billy Shaver for a Pirate touchdown. Eugene Satsky added the extra point. In addition to the touchdown pass, Ray Washington, caught two passes that helped spark the Pirates' drives.

The game saw some fine defensive work on the part of Tommy Bradshaw. Jerry Iles, center, also turned in a fine defensive game as well as having a good night on offense. The whole Pirate line from tackle to tackle played good defensive ball that held the visitors in check.

fishing with Eddie Edmonson, brought in 66 trout.

Fred Christilles fished John Zeller, San Antonio, on last Thursday. Zeller threw the little ones back, keeping only eight that would run between two and three pounds each. Over the weekend he had Dr. Dave Oliver, Dr. McComb, and Dr. Schwartzberg, of San Antonio, who caught 64 trout. Monday he had Mr. and Mrs. Everal West, Fulton, who strung 34 specks. Wednesday he fished E. L. Owens, Irving, Rev. Cook, Dallas, and Rev. Morney, Dallas. They caught 166 specks.

Hu Johnson, on Thursday last, fished Elmer Cullers and party, Austin, who came in with 96 trout. On Friday he fished Mr. and Mrs. D. O. Harris and H. E. Harris, Dallas, and Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Matthews, New Braunfels, coming in with 61 fish. Saturday he had Dr. and Mrs. William Altman and party, Dallas, who caught 27 fish. Monday he fished Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Roger, Houston, who caught 84, and on Tuesday he had Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd G. Cracknell, San Antonio, who strung 147.

Curly Floyd said that Karl Kutzer, Rockport, A. B. Goodwin, Fort Worth, Sam Davidson, Austin, and W. E. Turnage, Austin, fished last Saturday and Sunday, and strung 115 fish.

Willie Close fished Hap Yarter, San Antonio, last Wednesday and Thursday. On the first day they caught 28; on the second 70 specks. Saturday he had Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence and party, Seguin, and they strung 75; Sunday he fished Mr. Comer and party, who tallied with 65 trout. Monday he fished Mr. and Mrs. Smith, Seguin, and Mrs. Frost, San Antonio, and the party brought in 55 nice fish. Tuesday, Eddie Herbsleb and party, San Antonio, fished with Willie and they waded, bringing in 15 reds, one of which went close to ten pounds.

Wednesday, Willie took a day off, and took Mrs. Close and his son Freddie and his wife fishing. Mrs. Close said they caught two nice reds, of which hers, weighing ten and a quarter pounds was the biggest, and brought back a tub full of crabs.

MRS. CORBIN ILL Mrs. Evans Corbin, of Ingleside, the former Isabel Jackson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. F. Jackson, was taken to the hospital in Sinton this week, and was operated upon this morning. Mr. and Mrs. Jackson are in Ingleside while Mrs. Corbin is in the hospital.

MIXED BAG. Three Fort Scott hunters came home with two ducks, two quail, four rabbits—and a 1-lb. bass. One of the ducks fell into a pond, and one of the hunters, borrowing a casting rod from a nearby farmhouse to retrieve it, caught the bass on his first cast.—Bob White, Topeka (Kans.) Capital.

UNCIVIL DEFENSE. Cause of the heavy fish kill on a 70-mile stretch of the Ohio River a year ago was found to be the acid in millions of gallons of water emptied into the river from an abandoned clay mine. Civil defense authorities had proposed the mine as an air-raid shelter.—Hal H. Harrison, Pittsburgh (Pa.) Post Gazette.

Mr. and Mrs. Curtis McNabb of Corpus spent the week end with her parents Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Close.

Mrs. Chas. Shirley has returned from a visit to the valley.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Livingston and daughter of Pettus visited with Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Garrett over the weekend.
