County Turns Down Navy Airport Lease

After a stormy hour and half meeting Friday morning, the dispute between the Navy and the Aransas County Commissioners' Court is about where it started a week ago Monday, except for the fact that the county will not receive any Navy maintenance money. The Commissioners' Court refuses to give the Navy an extension on its present lease; the Navy asserts that it intends to use the field under an old AP-4 agreement for touch and go landing.

The court announced its decision after a public hearing at which Fulton residents voiced their complaints against the proposed low flying planes and representatives of the Navy explained the need of the field in the training program of this area.

Before announcing the court's decision, County Judge John Wendell told the group he was informed the Navy "can use the field jointly on a touch-and-go basis without our consent and without any payment to us." Judge Wendell added that he suspected the information is correct.

The Navy's position was explained by Col. John Howard, staff plans officer, and Capt. H. H. Barton, chief of staff of the Advanced Training Command.

"We asked for an open hearing to give you an insight into our problems and our need of the airport," Barton said. "We did not come to give you an ultimatum."

M. W. Cochran, suggested that the Navy construct a new field, but Captain Barton pointed out that orders for this would have to come from some authority over him, and that in the meantime it would still be necessary to use the Aransas County Airport. Construction of such a field as Cochran had suggested would cost between

You don't have to be there, they say, to collect the freezer if you win. It will be held for you and you will be notified. Benefits from this will go towards civic beautification, the Jaycee-Ettes say, and urge you to contact one of them for your chances.

SCHOOL CHILDREN are rescued by civil defense workers at Chattanooga, Tenn., from flood waters which had marooned their school bus. Even harder hit were the three states of Kentucky, Virginia and West Virginia, where 31 counties were declared a major disaster area and allocated $900,000 in Federal Civil Defense Administration disaster funds. The money will pay for emergency restoration of more than 300 bridges, as well as temporary repairs to roads, schools, and other public facilities destroyed or damaged by flood waters. Get-Acquainted Day Is Success

Over 400 attended the "George Clark Get-Acquainted Day" which was held Sunday at Live Oak Country Club.

The event which was held to honor the club's first president and to help new members to get acquainted was staged by various committees under the guidance of Dr. Fred Chastain, Aransas Pass dentist, who acted as chairman.

Starting at 1:30 p. m. putting and chipping contests, horseshoe pitching and dart throwing started the afternoon's activities. Following these a golf tournament for ladies and men was held with the threesome of Messers Lowe, Beck and Beardsley winning with a net score of 102.

Following the awarding of prizes a chicken barbecue supper, prepared under the direction of Hal Parks and his assistants was served.

Non-golfers enjoyed the bridge and canasta games in addition to taking advantage of the club's swimming pool.

Richardson and Bass Obtain Engineer's Mud Island Work Permit

Richardson and Bass have obtained a permit from the U. S. Engineer's office at Galveston to operate in Blind Pass, between Mud and St. Joseph's Islands, across the bay from Rockport, where they propose to construct two fills and two bulkheads at the above location.

The fills would extend from St. Joseph Island and Mud Island 190 feet from the shore of each toward the center of Blind Pass. At the ends of both fills the bulkheads having a top elevation of 7 feet would be constructed. A clear opening of 100 feet between the bulkheads would be left. A barge would be placed in the opening between the bulkheads during periods of use. A tug would be standing by during these periods to remove the barge when required for passage of vessels. The bulkheads and fills would be removed and the waterway left clear approximately 100 days after completion.

Expanded Program of Fisheries Research Begun

An expanded program of fisheries research in the Gulf of Mexico got underway this week when the MV Silver Bay sailed from Pensacola with U. S. Fish and Wildlife scientists aboard, bound for the coasts of Louisiana and Texas.

The Silver Bay, a conventional North Atlantic-type dragger, will supplement the fisheries exploration carried on for the past five or six years by the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service with the Oregon, first under Stewart Springer, and later under direction of Harvey Bullis.

Francis J. Captiva, who has been Bullis' second-in-command, will be detached to direct the work of the 96-foot Silver Bay as it works in conjunction with the Oregon to develop new fishing grounds in the Gulf of Mexico.

During the present cruise the Silver Bay will carry on experimental fishing off Texas and Louisiana, in depths of 20 to 100 fathoms, where an attempt will be made to determine feasibility of fishing for red snapper with conventional and modified New England trawls.

The Oregon, on one of its last trips, made some catches of snapper by this method, and if it can be perfected it will mean a marked change in the red snapper fishery which traditionally has been carried on by hook and line.

The cruise will last two weeks.

Merchants Committee of C of C Meets with Jaycees On Xmas Decoration

The merchants committee of the Chamber of Commerce and the Christmas Lighting and Decorations Committee of the Jaycees held a joint meeting at the Chamber building Monday night to discuss decorating the Rockport-Fulton area for the Christmas holidays and to lay tentative plans. The cooperation of the merchants, whose business is directly affected, will be sought as well as those just interested in seeing the area in a festive spirit for the season. Another meeting will be held Tuesday, June 5th for more definite plans.

200 Race Cars to Run Here July 4

Drag Races To Be Staged At Airport Will Draw Over 2000 People From Texas Cities, Including Many Outstanding Cars and National Champions

Over 200 of Texas speediest cars will converge on Rockport for drag races at the Aransas County Airport on July 4, according to Don Atkinson, president of the Corpus Christi Timing Association, who concluded arrangements with the Aransas County Commissioners' Court for use of the airstrip.

The races will be sanctioned by the Alamo Timing Association, of San Antonio, a member of the American Hot-Rod Association, and will be run under the rules and classifications used nationally. "We are anxious to make this an outstanding success and an annual affair," Atkinson said, "and we are particularly happy to have made arrangements for the use of the Aransas County Airport. Its 4500-foot runways give us plenty of room for warming up and stopping, as all races will be a quarter mile from a standing start. These runways here far exceed the minimum safe length requirements of the national organization."

Atkinson said that from the preliminary response he expects at least 200 cars to take part in the races, which start at 7:00 a. m. and continue most of the day.

There will be about 75 from Corpus Christi, he said, including a number of outstanding ones.

Melvin Bevely is entering his roadster which set a record for the flying mile at Bonneville Flats, Utah last year, when it averaged 153.910 miles an hour on a two-way run, and which holds strip records at Salt Lake City, San Antonio, Laredo, Edinburg, Houston, and New Braunfels.

Willie Schumacher, who set national records at Great Bend, Kansas, last year for the C Gas Class will be there; so will D. L. Sartin, who mopped up at the same meet in the B Open Gas; and Ken Atkinson's customized '52 Ford, written up in many of the national magazines, powered with

Teachers Here Get $399 Raise

Teachers in the Aransas County Independent School District will receive a $399 next year, which will place them $250 above the salary schedule recently set by the state.

A beginning teacher with a B. A. degree, under the state law, draws $3204.00, while one with a master's degree starts at $3729.00.

Before the recent legislature passed this law, which raised teachers everywhere a blanket $399 a year, the Aransas Independent School District paid $250 base above the old Gilmer-Aikin scale, and will continue to pay the $250 a year over the new base.

This $250 is added to the scale recently set up by the legislature, as outlined above.

The school board, in other action Friday, tentatively agreed to accept the gymnasium, Rockport Elementary, and the Junior High School, on the recommendation of the architects, Lynn Evans and Roy Abbott, and the consulting engineer, Bill Miller.

Annual Beach Party For Cubs To Be Held June 22

The annual beach party at Port Aransas for Cub Scouts of the Mustang District and their parents will be held Saturday, June 22nd, it was announced today by Joe Oile, District Cub Chairman and L. G. Carpenter, Cubmaster of Pack 29 of Port Aransas.

Oile said that the leaders, cubs and parents of Pack 29 of Port Aransas have been hosts to the affair for the past three years. All cubs and parents planning to participate will gather at the Aransas Pass Causeway gate at 2:45 p. m., to be escorted to the ferry landing in a group. Fishing party charter boats will then take all cubs and parents on a short boat trip, they will then proceed to the beach for a carefully supervised swim.

Following the swim the entire group will play games and have a wiener roast. All food and soft drinks will be furnished by the Port Aransas Cub Pack leaders and parents of the cubs. The only thing participants are asked to bring will be wiener roasting forks. Some 250 cubs and parents attended last year and more are expected for this one.

Aransas Test Drills 10,200

Gety Oil Co. (Tidewater Oil Co.) No. 1 State Tract 124, Aransas County wildcat 3 1/2 miles northeast of Rockport in Aransas Bay, was drilling below 10,200 feet with mud logger attached on the slotted 10,500-foot test.

Drilling below 9,416 feet on a 9,800-foot permit was underway at Slick Oil Corp. of Houston No. 1 K. E. Werland, wildcat nine miles northeast of Gregory in Section 52, Sixth Addition to Taft Farm Lands. No information has been released on drillstem tests at the project.

ROTARY CLUB MEETS

Visiting Rotarians Wednesday were Bill Krausse, Fredericksburg, Alex Johnston, Corpus Christi, Harlan Powell, Dallas, and Judge John Miller. Other visitors were Dewey Edgin, Wichita Falls, and Claude Cook, Dallas.

The club looked at a film from the Fish and Game Commission procured for the occasion by Claude Matthews.

Alcoa To Start Unloading Ore By Next April

Captain C. R. Butler, marine superintendent for Alcoa's giant aluminum plant now building at Point Comfort, told Aransas County Navigation Commissioners that it would be next April before ore boats from Cabo Rojo, Dominican Republic, would begin unloading at the Aransas County Navigation District's facility at Harbor Island.

The port, which is designed for trans-shipment of ore from the ocean-going carriers to barge lines for final delivery to the Point Comfort plant, is now under construction, and Captain Butler said that a sixteen-inch dredge was now ready to operate, cutting out the main channel, leading from the Port Aransas-Corpus Christi Waterway to the Alcoa docks.

Dredging will be completed about the last of November, he said, and then the pile drivers will move in to construct the dolphins to which the ore-carriers will moor, and between which the barges will operate, being loaded by cranes on still other barges, which are being constructed at this time by the company.

The trip for the ore carriers from Dominica will take about 4 days, according to Butler, and then it will take approximately 80 hours to unload the 30,000 ton ships which will be the mainstay of the fleet. In addition, there will be a number of 10,000 tonners when the operation is under full swing.

Twelve barges will be used, handled two at a time, by Federal Barge Lines tugs, which think that the round trip between Harbor Island and Port Lavaca will consume about 70 hours.

The original movement will be 60,000 tons a month, Butler said, and will travel on one 32,000 ton ship and on a 30,000-tonner. In the second month of operation, tonnage will be stepped up by addition of a Liberty ship to the fleet to approximately 70,000 tons of Bauxite, and the final figure, delivered monthly, will be about 140,000 to 150,000 tons.

The company has made plans to continue this method of handling the shipments until 1963, Butler said, because company officials feel that will be at least that long before the Matagorda Ship Channel is ready for use and the great ore boats will be able to unload in the turning basin at Point Comfort.

These ships, Butler said, are registered under Liberian, Panamanian and Norwegian flags, and will continue to operate under.

Saint Joseph's Is An Island Empire

St. Joseph's is an island empire ruled by one of the world's richest men — Sid Richardson. Hence, although one of the few areas along the Atlantic and Gulf coasts suitable for public recreation because of the scenic quality of its magnificent beaches and windswept sandhills, there is little chance that it will ever be thrown open to such development, despite State Representative Cory's recent bill introduced into the Texas legislature.

Twenty-one miles long and from one to five miles wide, it is separated from Matagorda by Cedar Bayou, best known for its associations with Lafitte, and cut off from the mainland by Mesquite and Aransas Bays. On the south it is divided from Mustang Island by Aransas Pass which, from the earliest times, has been the principal passage from the Gulf into the bays of Aransas and Corpus Christi.

The island's white sand beaches and sculptured dunes seem to fit the description left by Cabeza de Vaca of the place where he and his Indian masters turned back toward the mainland, crossing the bay on a reef towards high, white cutbanks which many people think are those that rim Copano Bay.

St. Joseph's Island has also been identified as a part of the one called Culebra (Snake) Island by Diego Ortiz Parrilla, who was also the first to name Corpus Christi Bay, and to give detailed descriptions of Mustang, St. Joseph's and Matagorda Islands and of Copano (Santo Domingo) Bay.

One of Lafitte's bases was on Culebra Island, which was composed of Matagorda and St. Joseph's.

By skillful navigation a good-sized bark could be coned through Cedar Bayou which, in those days, was known only to the pirate and his followers. They maintained a kind of fort on the southwestern corner of the island, where they could repair their vessels in safety, supply them with wood and water, and divide the spoils of their piratical forays.

However, the pirates were long gone when, just after the Texas revolution, cattlemen and seafaring men and their families took over the site and founded the city of Aransas Wharf, opposite the site of the present lighthouse. This remained a prosperous port until its destruction in the Civil War.

From these early times, tales of treasure have descended — those of Lafitte and another character named Vinson taking precedence over all others — but in recent years the island has been used as a ranch and hunting preserve, dominated by the huge Richardson home, with its airstrip and wharves.

The house itself looms against the landscape in its setting of salt cedars, and part of it was furnished by the island beaches. Tropical hardwoods cast ashore by the waves were cured, then sawed to make lumber for parquet floors and furniture made on the place at the time the house was built.

In it, Richardson has housed a fabulous collection of paintings, largely by two great western artists — Remington and Charles Russell — an number of magnificent bronzes also by Remington.

On the ranch, Richardson is rapidly approaching the goal of an all-purebred Santa Gertrudis herd, as the result of a program begun before World War II.

He has advanced so far that he has two single-sire herds well established, and has started another.

Richardson began his breeding program to combat conditions on St. Joseph Island which, under normal moisture conditions is good range, but which, under adverse conditions, can be rough. He wanted to develop cattle that would do well under almost any circumstances.

His first program called for crossing Brahman bulls with short-horn cows, but he wasn't completely satisfied with this and in 1947 bought his first Santa Gertrudis. With this he launched the project of up-grading into an all-Santa-Gertrudis herd, the type of program for which the island is ideally situated.

In the upgrading program, Richardson now has fourth and fifth cross Santa Gertrudis that have been classified by officials of the Santa Gertrudis Breeders International.

The project on the ranch moved ahead so rapidly that Richardson is now in position to exercise a great deal of selectivity in choosing breeding heifers and a trip to the island from the Cedar Bayou end is an impressive sight. In pastures farthest away from headquarters are kept herds at the bottom of the crossbreeding program — first cross cows and heifers, and each successive pasture contains crosses higher up the ladder.

Between 1600 and 2000 cows are on the island, all of them involved in the program, which, in another four or five years will produce an all-purebred Santa Gertrudis herd.

It's A Real
Cool Dish

Ice cream sodas are a real cool dish, the origin of which is lost in legend. A story from the City of Brotherly Love says that Philadelphia was the discoverer, but like claims have issued from Boston, Detroit, Evanston, Illinois, Newton, Massachusetts, and a Texas version that modestly credits the Lone Star Street with being the originator of this fizzing, nose-tickling medley of ice cream, syrup and soda water.

There is no doubt that the number of sodas sipped annually pales into insignificance beside the 4 billion ice cream cones that decorate the facade of young America, but comparing a cone to a soda is a whole lot like comparing a Model T to the latest thing in hot rods. The soda sales saturation point, as one ice cream company spokesman explained it, is limited only by a certain inelasticity of weekly allowances and not by the wishful thinking of youth.

Ice cream first made its appearance in the written records during the time of Louis XIV of France, and from there made its way across the English Channel, where Charles I tried to corner the market. However, the story goes, a talkative cook either gave away, or sold, the recipe.

No statue was erected to him, or to the unknown emigrant who later carried the formula to America, but to them really goes the credit for this American concoction which, in those days, was still several centuries away.

Dolly Madison was the first to serve ice cream in the White House, but even she never thought of handing the frozen concoction a shot in the arm with a little carbonated water, which was first used in Philadelphia by Townsend Speakman. He spiked the fizzing beverage with fruit juice and thus launched the soft-drink industry. Speakman's discovery lends credence to the statement that the ice cream soda was invented in the Quaker city, at an affair honoring Benjamin Franklin's semi-centennial.

The sundae came along a few years later, when an inventive confectioner circumvented a blue law against selling sodas on Sundays by pouring some syrup over ice cream, and calling the dish a Sunday Soda. Out of respect for the Holy Day the spelling was later changed to sundae, saving our ancestors' consciences.

St. Louis spawned the ice cream cone during its World's Fair. Dish were in vogue at the time for serving the dainty delectable, but a shortage of plates prompted Ernest A. Hamwi to draw on his resources — mainly a stack of Zalabia that wasn't selling like the hot cakes that it was. Hamwi rolled one of the wafer-thin waffles into a cone, baked it, stuck in a dollop of ice cream, and the small fry went crazy.

But romance, while all right in its place, has given way to progress and the research laboratories of the scientists. Learned studies have been made to decide the proper shape for soda glasses to assume the right amount of swirling action to blend the syrup and carbonated water.

Another important question that has been settled by research is whether folks dig into a soda from the top or the bottom. In the summer, when it's hot, most people sip the soda water first, then slurp up the ice cream. Come winter, the spoon replaces the straw, and the consuming public first lades the foam off the top, then attacks the ice cream, leaving the soda water till last.

But, whatever the manner of attack, the American public will imbibe, eat, slurp, or wallow, in 600,000,000 gallons of the frozen delicacy in 1957.

Cortez Led First American Gold Rush

Cortez led the first gold rush in America when he was captain of the army of conquistadores that over-ran Mexico, exterminated all of the Aztecs he didn't enslave, and conquered Tenochtitlan, as Mexico City was then known.

All these facts are so well-known that they have almost become folklore, but not so many people are aware of the fact that the doughty Spaniard was also the first, and perhaps only, freshwater admiral Mexico has ever known, and certainly the first naval officer in America to command a fleet on one of the continent's fresh water lakes.

Indeed, had it not been for the presence of a master shipwright, Martin Lopez, in the Cortez entourage there is considerable question in the mind of historian C. Harvey Gardiner whether the great captain would have been able to conquer the devoted Montezuma and his Mexican minions.

To one who has flown over the great plain that now surrounds Mexico City, where the floating gardens of Xochimilco are almost the only reminder that this was once a great lake bed, the idea that a naval engagement should have been fought here to settle the fate of a nation is fantastic.

As the plane drops in toward the landing field, with the great bulks of Ixtacihuatl — the White Woman — and the farther distant Popocatepetl dominating the landscape, it is greeted by a barren plain, with the City of Mexico in the distance. To reconcile this scene with those described by Cortez and by his historians is a difficult task.

But Gardiner has done his work well, and in his book, Naval Power in the Conquest of Mexico, published late last year by the University of Texas Press, Cortez, Lopez, and the many other participants in the venture of creating and using a navy in the midst of the New World mountains and forests are seen as real personalities, and the Indian defenders are revealed as complex, if barbaric, human beings, fighting (to them) almost God-like visitants from another world, facing odds so huge that few modern men would care to gamble against them.

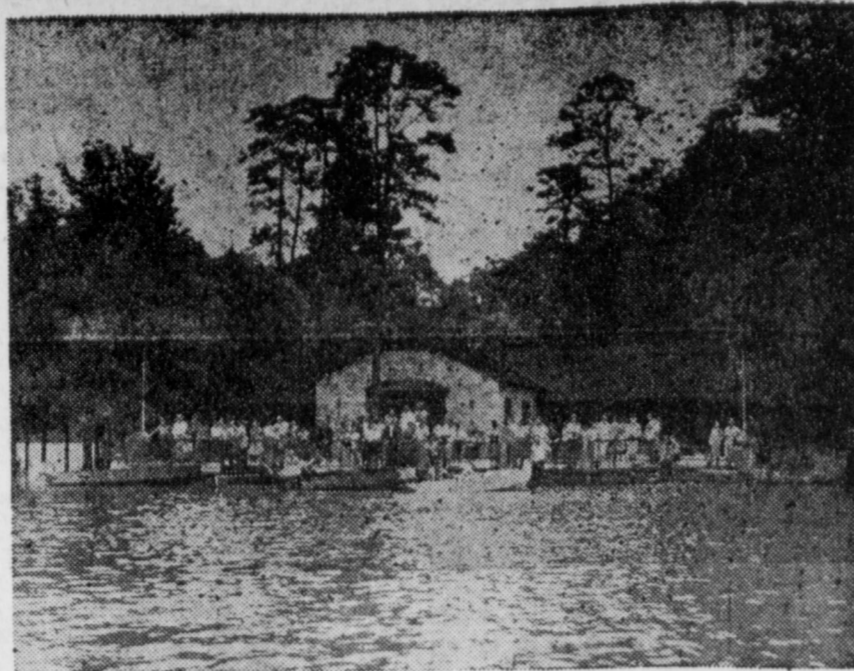

Of course, the Aztecs were fighting for survival, and there is no bitterer driving force than this.

The fleet was no sea-going navy, and the brigandines were powered by paddles as well as sails, but, with them and his crew of landlubbers, Cortez mounted the first amphibious landing ever to be recorded in the New World, and by this landing turned the tide of battle in his favor.

A nice thing about Gardiner's book is the fact that much of the narrative is told in the actual words of the men engaged in the operation. The author, who is with the history department of Washington University, in St. Louis, has done tremendous amount of research on the story, or rather the history, for it is a factual as an old shoe, but that doesn't keep the book from being intensely readable as well.

On the basis of hitherto unexplored historical material found in various libraries of Mexico and gathered painstakingly in six or seven trips to Mexico, he has reconstructed little-known period of intense historical interest in America.

Mrs. M. Goodman of Miami, Fla. arrived by plane Monday morning to visit with her daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Carter and son. She plans to return home sometime in August.

HUNTSVILLE STATE PARK is on a paved park road that leaves U. S. Highway 75 six miles south of Huntsville. The park now has a 300-acre lake behind a dam that was rebuilt last year. The spillway of the original dam was washed out by a heavy flood in 1940. Its replacement was financed by selling timber selectively cut in the park's 2,000-acre forest. During the idle period the lake was expertly managed to get the best fishing. It was opened to fishermen June 1, 1957. Photo by Frank Dobbs, Huntsville.

Park of the Week Huntsville State Park

Huntsville State Park, opened for fishing on June 1, is practically a new recreation area offered to the public by the Texas State Parks Board. The 2000-acre park in a wonderful forest setting is not new. It has been little used, however, since November 24, 1940, when a twelve inch rainfall on the watershed of the three streams feeding into Lake Raven washed out the spillway of the original dam. A new dam resigued to combat the causes of the 1940 failure was completed last year, but it was not until the recent heavy rains over Texas that the lake again filled.

Meantime, advantage was taken of the drought to prepare the lake for ideal fishing conditions. Harmful acid growths in the lake bed were removed. A scattering of beneficial growth was left to aid fish propagation. All rough fish in the small stream coursing through the lake bed were killed. The lake then was restocked with black bass, bream and crappie. Using information furnished by soil tests conducted by Texas Agricultural and Mechanical College, the lake was fertilized under direction of the Game and Fish Commission. Test catches were taken from time to time. Then the experts set June 1 for fishing to begin. Temporarily there will be a catch limit of five bass. Restrictions on boating and swimming, needed to help fish growth, and the catch limit will be relaxed as conditions justify the changes.

A paved road leading from U. S. Highway 75, six miles south of Huntsville, is one of the most attractive park drives in the state. Timber was marketed from the park forest to finance the dam rebuilding but no trees were cut along the roadway nor in the used areas of the park.

The recreation building, with a terrace overlooking the lake, is one of the best designed structures of the initial state park installations. It has been maintained throughout the idle period of the park.

At nearby Huntsville are the Sam Houston Shrine and memorial museum, Houston's grave and relics connected with his life activities.

These Forty Years!

Forty years ago, in June of 1917, the Humble Company received its charter from the State of Texas.

The Company was formed through a merger of the properties of a number of independent oil operators. Its founding brought together a remarkable group of men who occupy an important place in the annals of the oil industry:

R. S. Sterling and his brother, F. P. Sterling, the principal organizers of Humble Oil Company from which the present company acquired its name; W. S. Farish and R. L. Blaffer composing Blaffer and Farish; H. C. Wiess with assets from Paraffine and Reliance Oil Companies; Walter W. Fondren and C. B. Goddard, producers; and L. A. Carlton and E. E. Townes as lawyers.

All of these men contributed greatly in adopting the principles, in shaping the policies, and in laying out procedures that have guided the Company's progress through these forty years. Their influence will survive as long as the Company continues.

They possessed courage and business judgment. They established high standards of performance. They built a strong organization of competent men and women.

The Company, as it stands today, is a tribute to the leadership, the vision, and the work of its founders.

But it is doubtful that these men, with all their foresight, visualized the changes that have occurred in the oil industry since 1917, or the size and complexity of Humble's present operations, or the extent of the Company's contributions through the years to the progress of our society.

To all who have made those contributions possible—employees, customers, shareholders and the people of the states in which the Company operates—Humble extends its thanks.

A. Y. WOFFORD WRITES LETTER TO APPEAR IN STATE PARKS MAGAZINE

A. Y. Wofford, manager of Goose Island State Park, has recently written a letter, to appear in the State Parks Board Magazine S-Parks, on managing a salt water state park. He says, "Managing a state park on the salt waters of the Texas Gulf Coast is very interesting work. Every day some different problem arises."

"Most people that visit the park come primarily to fish and oyster. Some of them have never fished in salt water, but you don't have to talk to them but a few minutes to know whether they're old hands at Gulf fishing."

"Regardless of how busy you are, be sure that someone connected to the park talks to these people if they are not familiar with the coast. Give them advice on where to go, how to fish, and when to get there, for fishing in salt water is different day by day. One day they may be biting on the flats; next time it may be the reefs that are paying off."

"To make patrons of our park happy, we try to have everything they need for a nice outing. In the busy season, when our park is crowded with people, and we see a car packed with equipment looking for a place to camp, we go to him and help find a place, explaining that we are crowded, but that we want him to have a good time, and will do everything we can to make his stay pleasant."

"We point out where fishing is good, and spend a few minutes making him and his party feel welcome. This is as good an advertisement as you can give the state parks."

Mr. Dewey Wilson of Brownsville is visiting in Rockport this week.

H. G. Smith Funeral Held Last Sunday

Funeral services for Hammon G. (Ham) Smith, 90, Aransas County's oldest native resident, were held Sunday at his home at 4 p. m. The Rev. Asa Franklin Avant, pastor of First Methodist Church, and the Rev. Arnott Ward, pastor of First Presbyterian Church officiated.

Burial was in the Rockport Cemetery with Cage-Marshall Funeral Home in charge.

Smith died Saturday at his home after an illness of several weeks. He was the son of Capt. and Mrs. Francis M. Smith, who were among the earliest settlers in the area. He was born where the Carbon Black Plant is now located.

As a youth he worked on a ranch near the present town of Premont, driving cattle to market for several years.

Smith later moved to Corpus Christi where he worked as a carpenter for a short time. He then went to Fulton as an employee for the Hall Packing Co.

In 1892 he married Nina Olivia Canavero and moved to the Black Jack Peninsula where he managed a small truck farm. He returned to Fulton twelve years later and from there moved to Rockport, but kept his home in Fulton.

During World War I, Smith set up a transfer and service car business in connection with a filling station. He operated the station until 1952 when he turned it over together with a small grocery he had acquired to the management of his daughter, Sarah Belle.

Smith was a member of the Methodist Church.

Survivors are four sons, Austin, Lloyd and Somer, all of Rockport, and Thomas H., of Houston; three daughters, Sarah Belle, Mrs. Alvin Brundrett and Mrs. Fred Diederich, all of Rockport; two sisters, Mrs. Robert Everett of Austin, and Mrs. Charles Merrilweather of Laredo; 17 grandchildren, 26 great-grandchildren, and five great-great-grandchildren.

Pall bearers were grandsons and great-grandsons Charles, Travis, Gary, Gene, and Jackie Smith, Lyle Diederich, Gerald Brundrett, and Charles Garrett.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Wendell returned Thursday after a 10 day business trip to Houma, La. They also visited relatives in New Orleans.

DISABLED PERSONS SHOULD APPLY NOW

Workers who have been disabled for six months or more should file an application to protect the rights they have earned under the Social Security Act, says Leroy H. Fuhrmann, Field Representative of the Social Security Administration. These provisions apply only to those workers who have credit for work under the law during at least five of the ten years just before the onset of the disability. At least one and one-half years of this credit must be in the three-year period just before the disability began.

"Disability insurance benefits will be payable beginning July of this year to those workers who are at least 50 years old, and have established a record of their disability," Fuhrmann said.

The disability must be of such a nature that it can be medically determined that the worker is unable to engage in any substantial work.

Workers who are less than 50 years of age, and meet the other requirements can freeze their social security record as of the time their disability began. This freezing means that the period of the worker's disability will be excluded from his record in computing the benefits payable to him later, or to his family in case of his death. In some instances, it will prevent the loss of all rights to

RETIREMENT TEST EXPLAINED

It is not necessary to stop work completely in order to receive social security retirement insurance. Carl Touchet, Field Representative of the Corpus Christi office of the Social Security Administration, says that any person who is otherwise eligible to the payments can earn up to $1200 a year and still draw all of his social security checks for that year.

Those who earn more than $1200, but do not earn more than $2080 a year may be entitled to payments for one or more months. Even if total earnings exceed that amount, payments may be made for those months in which a beneficiary does not work in his own trade or business, or earn wages of more than $80. After age 72, the retirement test does not apply at all.

"If you have retired, or if you are planning to retire soon, it is important that you understand the retirement test under the Social Security Act," Touchet says. "Some people may be losing benefits due to a lack of knowledge of the retirement test. Some others may have to refund benefits that they receive for one or more months which they are not entitled to because they earn more than the $1200 which the retirement test permits.

"Any working beneficiary who has a question concerning his right to the old-age and survivors insurance should get in touch with the social security office, 530 South Water Street, Corpus Christi," he said. "We have a booklet 'How Earnings Affect Social Security Payments' which will be mailed to anyone who requests it."

About Your Health

Ausin — The Big Three in America today are reserpine, chlorpromazine, and meprobamate. They are tranquilizing drugs — so-called "happy pills."

Americans last year spent well over $150 million for various types. A single drug company reported the sale of 30 billion tablets during the first 10 months of 1956, and indicated that sales were expected to double in 1957.

Scientific studies indicate that the drugs have great value in the treatment of some types of mental illness, but when healthy people, for no other reason than that they had a bad day at the office or that the children have been unusually noisy, begin eating them like popcorn, an insidious danger is in the making.

Like other valuable drugs, tranquilizers can be harmful physically and mentally. Medical researchers have reported that in some cases there is a tendency toward habit formation. In a few cases unpleasant side reactions have occurred. Some users have been depressed rather than calmed. Calm users have become excited. Some reactions have been severe enough to require hospitalization and extensive treatment. And only time can tell whether prolonged use will permanently damage the nervous system.

Last September, some 700 of the nation's foremost authorities on mental illness met to discuss tranquilizers and some of the problems their wide usage had raised. The conference concluded that the drugs do evidently relieve tensions in mentally disturbed persons, but for every research team reporting positive results, another reported failure in trying to duplicate those results.

Certain tranquilizers influence the release of a body chemical called serotonin — a hormone found most heavily concentrated in the brain. What the chemical does is not yet fully understood, but present belief is that it acts as a switch to turn moods on and off by sending impulses of good or bad feeling along the pathways of the central nervous system. Enough serotonin in the brain might actually be a factor in sanity. When the role of this hormone is fully known we may have the final answer as to how certain tranquilizers produce their effects.

More than a dozen tranquilizers are already on the market. Some are used very beneficially in hospitals; others by private physicians in their practice. All are potentially powerful medical tools. But it will take time — perhaps years — to test them thoroughly.

Until that day comes, all of us would do well to remember that a certain amount of tension and anxiety is a part of normal life. Peace of mind and zestful living do not yet come in pills. It comes from having our problems and working to solve them. In any event the so-called tranquilizers should only be taken under the direction of physician.

Variety News

Susie Odoms dropped in Walker's for socks, said she could get more for her money at Walkers. Thanks Susie.

Believe it or not, the most popular items sold at Walkers for Fathers Day were practical things such as shirts, billfolds, handkerchiefs and neckties. Looks like the small fry know more about shopping than some of us think.

Anyone knowing a recipe for jelly fish please call "Wild Bill" at 489. Seems that is all he has been able to catch here lately.

Comic books are still on sale at Walkers, 3 for 19c.

Little Ronnie Hensley from Aransas Pass received a gift from his grandmother last week, it was a toy zebra, one of the many wind up toys in Walkers toy department. Ronnie wanted to know what made its tail turn so fast.

A last years June bride was overheard saying "it, all starts when you sink into his arms and ends up with your arms in the sink".

Last week we mentioned Mrs. Dora Rodriguez was in looking at baby clothes for her grandchild. We failed to mention it is yet an expected event. So for those who have been asking for the baby's name — sorry, you will have to wait until it is born.

Did you know that since Walker's latest expansion which allowed so much more display space, the toy section is now four times as big as it was last year? Plans are that we will have as big a toy display this year for Santa to choose from as can be found in many large cities.

A recent visitor to our city was overheard to say, "this is the best town on the gulf coast, it has natural air conditioning". That soundes like a satisfied fisherman with a good catch.

Flash — Another new line has been added to Walker's ever growing stock. We now have a complete assortment of the always popular PYREX WARE. You can now get almost as many cooking gadgets made of glass as you can made of metal. Some folks claim the grub tastes better cooked in glass. In case you don't believe that, we have the metal cook pots too.

Last Saturday was a heart warming day at Walker's, the store was full of little ones shopping for Fathers Day gifts. Some had as little as five cents to spend and others had much more. One thing they all seemed to have in common was the desire to show Daddy their love and affection with a gift regardless of its material value. One little fellow buying a billfold, said "Daddy doesn't have any money to put in it, but I bet he's gonna like it anyways".

Another youngster cut grass all day to earn the money for a wreath for his Father's grave.

Orders have been placed for a new line of back to school dresses, we will soon have the famous Goldie Kiddie dress. Sizes one to six X to sell at $1.98 and $2.98.

ROCKPORT DUPLICATE BRIDGE CLUB

There were eight tables in play last Thursday night at the Women's Club building. The winners North and South were: 1st: Mrs. Stewart and Mrs. Naper. 2nd: Mrs. Hare and Mr. Naper. 3rd: Mrs. Richardson and Mrs. Morrow. The winners East and West were: 1st: Mrs. Whitely and Miss McFall. 2nd: Mr. and Mrs. Heath. 3rd: Mrs. Rice and Mrs. Clendingen. Each week more and more bridge players are attending and finding that playing the Duplicate Boards around the room are improving their bridge. Comparing the difference in bidding and playing of the hands improves their bridge much better than lessons. The Club, under the sponsorship of the Woman's Club extends a cordial invitation to all visitors to Rockport desiring to play bridge. The new time of playing is 7:30 p. m. every Thursday night. If you need a partner phone Rockport 6364 and list your name. The Club has applied to the American Contract Bridge League in New York for a franchise and sanctions to award fractional Master Points each Thursday and full Master Points on the third Thursday of each month. Remember, mark your calendar that every Thursday night at 7:30 p. m. at the Women's Club is Bridge night. Town of Lamar. Estate of G. C. Peyran to J. J. AIRPORT LEASE

$2 million and $4 million he said. Robert L. Harrel, asked why it was not possible to send the planes using the Rockport field to some other Navy Auxiliary field in the region. To this Captain Barton answered that it had been done. In May, he said, no planes had used the Rockport field, as they had been routed elsewhere. However, he stated, this had brought about saturation of the air above other fields, and fostered dangerous flying conditions, with the result that it had become necessary to return to Rockport.

Fulton protests were summed up by Cochran, realtor, and former city manager of Corpus Christi. He said that there was no question of a definite loss to the resort area from the Navy's use of the field for practice landings. Cochran said tourists check into the resort motels, the Navy starts flying, and the tourists check out.

Cochran also reiterated the claim that the noise disrupts classes at the Fulton Elementary School during the school months. "We can fix that school problem this quick," said Barton, snapping his fingers. "We didn't know about that, but now we do, we can change our flight pattern and not come within two miles of the school."

The chief of staff said a thorough study will be made and that flight patterns will be adjusted to give the least interference possible. He said a thorough search of headquarters turned up only one letter of complaint and that was from an individual concerning planes flying over the writer's residence.

Cochran suggested a left turn off the southeast runway rather than a right would eliminate a lot of the interference as would the use of the north-south runway for the practice landings when weather permits.

The Navy has been using the airport under a lease-contract since June, 1951. The commissioners refused in April to extend the contract after the protest of a large delegation of residents of the adjacent resort area.

Under the lease terms, the Navy pays its pro-rata share of operations costs, based on its percentage of weight-frequency use. The lease contract set a maximum annual payment of $5,000. Judge Wendell said the annual payment runs less than half the maximum amount.

Judge Wendell said that the present contract would not be renewed when it expired on June 30, and that this was the decision of the commissioners. He said that he was of the opinion that the Navy could probably enforce its demands for use of the field, but that they would have to do it without the consent of the commissioners.

Eighteen citizens, from Fulton attended Friday's meeting, and at times the discussion was rather heated. During a portion of the meeting the words undemocratic, non-constitutional and Russian were freely used by Fulton residents, who, at one time, united in a chant of "No Contract." They openly applauded the court's decision, even after the Judge had explained that the Navy would use the field without payment to the county.

No contract was granted, and the next move is up to the Navy, which was represented at the hearing by Captain Barton, Colonel John Howard, Planning Officer, Staff, Advanced Training Command, Mr. Charles E. Capron, Realty Officer, Mr. Lee C. Clark, Realty Officer, Lieutenant Zirzow, Assistant Public Works Officer, and Commander James Stacey, PIO Officer.

Letter To The Editor

This is an open letter to the taxpaying citizens of Fulton, Texas who are, or may be inclined to allow outside interests with an eye on profit, to sell them a bill of goods that their grandchildren will be paying for.

First, in Fulton, we have oceans of fine water around the 60-70 foot level, which, is and always will be good water. I believe Rockport City water is also from this fine strata. So, until their water is condemned let's keep our fine wells. Of course, many people have 18 to 22 foot wells. I would not recommend, and you would have a hard job forcing them on a water and sewer system they could not afford.

I suggest the many relatives in Fulton of Seadrift folks contact them and find the plight they have gotten themselves in. They would give their all to get out from under the load of debts and taxes. I invested my 30 cents in Fulton after a three month's stay in Seadrift with their odorous city owned disposal plant in the center of town. Just be glad you live in Fulton. Let's not ruin one of the last nice places left on the Texas Coast.

E. C. Weber.

a '57 super-charged Cadillac engine. All these boys are from Corpus Christi, but there are other national champs on the way from San Antonio and Houston.

The Poor Boys Club and the Alamo Timing Association from San Antonio are bringing at least 40 cars, along with other clubs from San Antonio. The Greater Houston Timing Association has promised a number of its best cars and drivers.

Other clubs from South Texas include the Laredo Road Runners, with 8 or 10 cars; the Rio Grande Valley Timing Association, with between 20 and 30; the Rock town Rebels, with 8 or 10; a number from Victoria; and eight or ten from Austin.

The thirty or forty trophies will be awarded by Miss Barbara Martin, a Corpus Christi girl well-known in the area as winner of many beauty contests.

There will be six stock car classes, Atkinson said, classified on the basis of weight to horse power, and anyone having an older model car that he wants to tune and run would have just as much chance as anyone else on this basis.

Other classes besides those for stock cars will be classified on weight per cubic inch, and in this group, he said, are four classes of stock cars, with big race motors.

Besides these, there will be six classes of motorcycles, and three classes of altered coupes and sedans. "We also intend to run all of the fuel classes, including those burning nitro and different fuel mixtures, along with three classes of street roadsters, three classes of modified roadsters, three classes of gas roadsters and the retail fast class that will be your regular dragsters. There will also be three classes of sport cars and a four-cylinder class.

"The four fastest cars and the fastest motorcycle will run, also."

Registration will start at 7:00 a. m., time trials will begin at 7:30 a. m. and last till noon, and elimination will begin at 1:00 p. m. and last all afternoon.

Atkinson says that every precaution will be taken to operate the meet safely. Sergeant Floyd Graham, of the Corpus Christi Police Department, will be in charge of safety rules and regulations, and he will be assisted by a number of off duty Corpus Christi patrolmen. Graham and his men, Atkinson said, will work closely with the Aransas County Sheriff's department.

There will be complete insurance coverage, he said, by the Continental Insurance Company, and policies will be carried giving $300,000 coverage for accident and $100,000 bodily injury and public liability. All minors must have a signed release from their parents to be allowed to participate. There is special insurance for drivers and people in the pit area, which will be open to the public during the noon hour when all activity will cease.

The Rockport Lions will serve barbecue and hot dogs at the airport, and a regular barbecue dinner at the Lions barbecue pit in Rockport.

Fulton Lions Club Meets Monday Night

The Fulton Lions Club met Monday night at their hall. About twenty guests attended the meeting to hear a report by Engineers Donoho and Cross, of San Antonio on the estimated cost of sewer and water facilities for Fulton. Their estimate was a maximum of $380,000.

Representatives of The First of Texas Corporation, bond buyers, reported that present valuation in the district did not offer sufficient collateral for the issuance of revenue bonds to finance construction of all the system at this time.

The Civic Affairs Committee is asking for a further analysis and study of cost and the benefit to the Fulton area of sewer and a programmed schedule of installation over a five year period.

Young Folks Have Skating Party

A group of 40 young folks, were taken to Corpus Christi Friday night for a skating party at the Gulf Skating Rink.

Chaperones who went along and furnished transportation were Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Clinton, Mr. and Mrs. William Parker, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Etheridge, Mrs. Johnnie Wright and George Kendall.

JOHNNIE WRIGHTS ENTERTAINED WITH HOUSE WARMING

Mr. and Mrs. Johnnie Wright were honored with a house warming by a group of their friends last Thursday night.

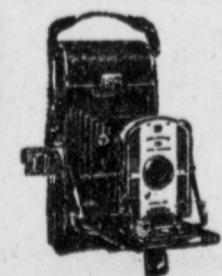

Cake, punch and coffee was served to 74 guests.
