Enrollment For First Day Up Over Last Year

Enrollment in all schools in the Aransas Co. Independent School District and in the Sacred Heart Catholic School is considerably over that a year ago.

At Sacred Heart, classes have reached an all-time high, and every unit in the County system has shown advances ranging from 2 at Fulton and 44 at Rockport.

According to Superintendent J. D. Gray, Fulton scholars numbered 119 this year against 117 last; Rockport tallied 497 against 453; the junior high school, 183 against 158; and at the senior high school there are 204 against 182 last year.

Supt. Gray emphasized the fact that these figures were for the first day of school only, and that additional scholars were already coming in. He believes, he said, that approximately 150 more pupils will register this year in all grades than did last.

Last year's first day enrollment was 910; this year it was 1003; and he expects it to reach approximately 1060 before the end of the year.

LOCAL CHAMBER JOINS, PRAISES TOURIST GROUP

The chamber of commerce Tuesday night endorsed the Coastal Bend Tourist Association and its efforts to bring tourists to the Coastal Bend and pledged continued support of the CBTA.

President James Jarboe said the chamber's board of directors voted unanimously to take a membership in the CBTA.

This recognition follows a recent surge of interest by Rockport and Fulton businessmen in the CBTA. For the past month many Rockport citizens have joined the organization.

Mrs. Mary Juergens, manager of the chamber, told the directors that there is no competition between the CBTA and chambers of commerce but that the CBTA just does on a wide scale what the area chambers cannot do alone.

Mrs. Juergens said that the purpose of the CBTA is to get the vacationers on the road to the Coastal Bend, and then it was up to the individual chambers to get their share of the business.

The proposed amendment to the State Constitution whereby the state would be permitted to advertise was discussed and further explained. The chamber had previously endorsed this measure.

In other action, the directors discussed possibilities of starting some sort of annual affair, a festival of some sort, such as other South Texas towns have.

Mrs. Juergens told the board that there were two new members: Jackson's Sign Company and Geo. D. Roberts.

President Jarboe said that a labor survey of the area would be made in October.

Ticket Sales Pushed By Booster Club

The Athletic Booster Club is pushing the sale of reserved seat tickets this week, according to John Cron, secretary of the organization, who says that the money from this forms a backlog insuring that the school will not lose money on operation of the stadium.

Sheriff A. C. Shivers, president of the organization, has these tickets for sale, and they may be purchased from him. There is no advance in price over these tickets that may be purchased at the gate, but purchase of such tickets insures that the holder will always have a seat, although the rest of the grandstand is full to overflowing.

A meeting of the Boosters Club will be held Saturday morning, September 6, at the First National Bank, at 10 a.m., according to Shivers, and he urges that anyone interested in belonging attend this meeting. Refreshments will be served.

In addition to other business, the Boosters' plans for a barbecue to be held on September 20 will be completed at the Saturday morning meeting.

a handle was once fastened by rawhide.

Back in WPA days, when archeologists explored a shell mound on Bill Johnson's farm out at Peat's Bend, they found five human skeletons and one belonging to a child.

These red men made tools of shells, bones, and horns, and one of the most interesting discoveries in this mound was a pipe or cloud-blower about eight inches long, fitted with a mouthpiece made from a bird's leg bone.

They used grinding stones, probably for grass seeds and acorns, and they made hammers and adzes from the central portions of big conch shells.

In the piles of shell about the camp, 17 different varieties of shellfish were identified, and these were apparently their chief food. But there were bones of javelina, deer, buffalo, rabbits, various rodents, drum fish, porpoises and shore also found.

Besides these the Indians that used the mound as a camp site left behind them are remains of coon, coyotes, gophers, turtles (both land and snapping), trigger fish, a northern bird—the loon—and various ducks.

And these Indians were great traders or travelers, because, although stone of any kind is very rare along the Texas coast, a fairly large number of stone tools occur in Aransas County sites.

They made baskets, and sometimes these were waterproofed with asphalt gathered from oil seeps along the coast. They are believed to have made dugout canoes, and to have used skins for clothing, sewing them together with sinews for thread and needles and awls made of bones.

These Indians, according to University of Texas scientists, lived here before Columbus came to America, but, by the time Mabeza de Vaca made his journey along the coast, crossing the bays from St. Joseph to Lamar, a new tribe had supplanted them, and they had disappeared.

Indians Once Swarmed Here

Time was when Live Oak Peninsula was swarming with Indians, for over 200 ancient campsites have been found in the area.

Mr. Harry Traylor says that when he was mayor of Rockport a road was cut along the shore of the bay on the mainland west of Frandolig's Island, and the work uncovered many piles of oyster shells left by the tribesmen.

The shell ridge south of town, from the old Heldenfels shipyard to about where the new harbor will soon begin at the Cove was once a favorite gathering ground. In olden times, when shell from this ridge was used to pave the streets of Rockport, arrowheads were frequently found, and Mr. A. L. Bruhl, long time druggist here, once saw boys kicking a skull along the beach that came from this area.

Frandolig's Island, once the home of Napoleon Bonaparte Frandolege, after which it was named, was another spot famed for its Indian arrow points and bits of pottery, and, further north, Goose Island formed the first part of a chain of islands and submerged reefs over which the Indians traveled to St. Joseph's afoot.

Mrs. Manch Brundrett, who was born in Lamar, remembered the time when Indians used to use this migration route, and so did the late John Brundrett. Mr. George McLester also used to say that he had found many an arrowhead and bit of broken pottery there, before the great 1919 storm swept over the island.

Victor Bracht, founder of the Bracht family in this area, told the U. S. Senate in the 70's that there were Indian mounds and burials along Salt Creek. At Live Oak point archeologists have found, from time to time, the remains of many an Indian campfire. Members of the Dorthy family who lived there in the 80's used to pick up all sorts of Indian remains.

"Pug" Mullinax is a long time resident of Rockport, and during the course of many years he has accumulated a collection of a thousand or more arrowheads, and other artifacts.

One of his most prized items is a flint blade about seven inches long, shaped a good deal like a chef's chopping knife. On an upper corner is a short tank to which

In last week's Pilot we were mistaken in naming Murray Mobley as a participant in an altercation in the Aransas County Court-house, during the trial of Tommy Summerlin. It was Bill Mobley, not Murray, who engaged in the fist fight. Our apologies to Murray.

Mr. and Mrs. Volney Cavitt and son, Joe, have returned to Fulton and are living at the home of Mrs. M. E. McDonald, which they occupied for two years. They report a good vacation, a month of which was spent at their home in McGregor, the other two months in Colorado Springs and places of interest in California. They also visited Carlsbad Cavern enroute back to Texas.

Dear Friends:

I want to express my sincere appreciation to all the people of Aransas, Bee, Live Oak, McMullen and San Patricio Counties for your expression of confidence in electing me your District Attorney. Without the dedicated assistance of many, many of you throughout the District, I would not have received a majority.

I most humbly solicit your assistance in continuing efficient, impartial and just law enforcement in our District. Without your help as interested citizens, willing to serve as grand and petit jurors seeking these ends, no prosecuting attorney could effectively perform his duties.

Thank you again very, very much for your fine support of my candidacy. I will appreciate your continued support in the General Election on November 4th.

Most Respectfully Yours,

30A Just A Crazy Mixed Up District

Newborn 30A is just a crazy mixed up district, where almost anything can happen, according to the dopsters.

According to Jim McKone, of the Corpus Christi Caller, Rockport has the experience, Ingleside the weight, and Woodsboro the speed, and it's anybody's guess what will come of all this after the final pileup has been unscrambled and the chips are all down. No team dominates the pre-season predictions, and the coaches think the champion will not go undefeated.

"You could flip a coin and see who'd win," said Coach Melvin Borchert of ACHS. His Pirates are mild favorites in the nip-and-tuck race.

"It's going to be that close," Borchert continued. "Whoever gets the breaks will win."

Gregory-Portland and Mathis figure to bring up the rear. But either of them could fool somebody.

No powerhouse, Rockport has a sophomore-junior ball club with only four seniors on the squad.

Borchert is trying to produce a lot of yardage from a few fairly experienced youngsters.

At tackle, Rockport has 205-pound Jim Weatherly and 170-pound John Goff, both veterans. The Pirates also have know-how at fullback, where Clyde Townsend and Dale Barnard both lettered.

Halfback John Cabanis, guard Gene Gregory, end Monte Rouquette and quarterback Robert Shivers give Rockport experience at every position.

Rockport collected two first-place votes, one second and one third in the poll of rival coaches. Woodsboro was rated No. 1 by two coaches—and dead last by the other two.

Ingleside finished second last year in the wild nine-team 31A scramble. (Bishop won.) So, with 11 lettermen, the hefty Ingleside boys can't be ignored.

Six regulars return to Ingleside said Coach Kenneth Wagner. They are halfbacks Larry Jones and Henry Duelm, fullback George Haskin, tackle Woodrow Cook (a 205-pounder), center Clayton Golver (190) and end Kenneth Allen (170).

Haskin probably is the district's best linebacker, and he has a fellow 150-pounder, David Mircovich, to help him there.

Small backs are Ingleside's problem. But the Mustangs are generally bigger and faster than Rockport.

Woodsboro has "good speed—but that's all we've got," according to Coach J. L. Bogue. "When we go we may go all the way, but we won't go often."

Halfback Milton Gillespie and end John Durst are Woodsboro's big breakaway threats. There aren't any large linemen to spring them loose.

Failing grades cost Woodsboro its starting quarterback and one halfback, a serious blow to the team's chances.

Gregory-Portland lost the heart of last year's championship team in 36B. Gene Curington still has five starters—guards Ted True and Talton James, quarterback David Salines, halfback Dickie Jacoway, and end Walter Wilson —as the Wildcats try to make the hard transition from Class B to A.

Mathis, picked last, earned second-place respect from one opponent. Coach Frank Schneider is rebuilding at Mathis, but has nine lettermen and might prove troublesome to the higher-rated teams.

The Mathis first-stringers who return are tackle Scott Gregorczyk, guard Jimmy Crouch, end Woody Hicks, quarterback David Coffin and fullback Jimmy Edmondson.

"I'm glad we're out of that nine-team district (31A)," Coach Schneider said. "Bishop was always our downfall. They could beat Mathis in anything, even in ping-pong. I don't know why."

The other 30A coaches share Schneider's relief at the realignment. But without Bishop, this new district lacks something—a potent, clear-cut favorite.

Social Security Payments To Be Increased

A 7 percent increase in all social security insurance payments is provided in a bill which the President has signed into law. According to H. M. Cleveland, District Manager of the Social Security Administration in Corpus Christi, some 13,000 retired workers and the wives, widows, and children of retired or deceased workers who live in the Coastal Bend area of South Texas will benefit by the increase.

The larger payments will begin for January, 1958, and since the checks are mailed to beneficiaries after a month has passed, the first payments of the higher amounts will be received here early next February.

The new amounts will be paid automatically to all persons who are now receiving the retirement and family insurance payments. "A new application is not required," Cleveland said. "It is not necessary for present beneficiaries of old-age and survivors insurance to take any action at all to secure the higher payments. By keeping down the number of inquiries, new applications can be handled promptly," he said.

Under the new law, the minimum payment for 65-year old retired workers will be $33 a month,

-  NORTH ZONE: Sept. 1 to Oct. 20, both days inclusive.
-  SOUTH ZONE: Oct. 1 to Nov. 19, both days inclusive, except in those counties having white-wing season—Oct. 1 to Nov. 17, both days inclusive.
-  WHITE-WINGED DOVES and mourning doves, Sept. 14 and 16.

SPECIAL NOTE: Unlawful to take white-winged doves or chachalacas South of U. S. Highway 83, formerly State Highway 4, in southern tip of Texas, marked on map as "Game Sanctuary."

SHOTGUNS must be plugged permanently to three-shell capacity, may not be larger than 10 gauge. Hunting doves with rifles prohibited.

SHOOTING HOURS: Mourning doves, 12 noon to sunset; white-winged doves, in season, 2 p.m. to sunset.

KAUFMAN COUNTY: Dove season closed in Combine Community.

McMULLEN COUNTY: Open season by State law Nov. 1 to Dec. 15; by Federal law Oct. 1 to Nov. 17.

MOURNING DOVE—WHITE-WINGED DOVE
Open Seasons 1958

MOURNING OR TURTLE DOVES AND WHITE-WINGED DOVES: The daily bag limit is ten (10), in the aggregate of either or both kinds, and any person may possess not more than twenty (20) in the aggregate of both mourning and white-winged doves, with not more than ten (10) white-winged doves in possession at any one time.

where it has been $30. The present maximum retirement benefit is $108.50, which will become $116.00 next year.

Beginning January 1, 1959, the social security tax rate for employees and employers will be increased to 2½ percent each. The rate for self-employed people will be 3½ percent for next year. These rates are scheduled to increase again in 1960, and every 3 years after that until they reach 4½ percent for employees and employers and 6½ percent for self-employed people in 1960 and thereafter. Starting next year, the new law provides that the first $4800 of earnings in a year, rather than $4200 as now, will be taxed for social security and will count toward social security benefits. Cleveland emphasized that it is not necessary for people already receiving payments to apply for the automatic increase. For information contact your social security office at 530 S. Water St., Corpus Christi.

Dove Season Opens In North Zone

AUSTIN—Dove hunters opened the season in the North Zone of Texas Monday, Sept. 1, with one of the best crops of doves in years, according to the director of law enforcement of the Game and Fish Commission. The South Zone will open one month later, except in the Rio Grande Valley counties where white-winged and mourning doves may be shot on Sept. 14 and 16, from 2 p.m. until sunset.

The director gave a few warnings for shooters:

Be sure you have your new 1958-59 hunting license, on sale with wardens, sporting goods stores and county clerks.

Shooting starts at 12 noon and ends at sunset. Be sure to check your time and don't shoot by moonlight.

The limit is 10 doves per day. After the first day you may have 20 mourning doves in your possession. This doesn't mean you can put 20 in the deep freeze and then go out and kill another daily limit.

Be sure to get permission from landowners for hunting on their property. You can be arrested for trespassing.

Don't shoot across roads, highways or public property. Stay off of wildlife refuges.

Your gun must be plugged to hold not more than two shells in the magazine and one in the chamber—three shots in all.

Look before you shoot. A charge of bird shot in a man's face has a way of irritating him.

Don't shoot from an automobile. Wardens will get you in a hurry.

If you are inclined to be careless, check your life insurance policy.

The Fire Marshal Asks Cooperation

Just how many people would leave their business, job or home to help a total stranger burn trash, grass, or discarded material, to save that person the trouble of gathering it together in cartons or containers so it could be hauled away by the city or possibly to save that stranger the slight cost of having those larger pieces hauled to the city dump. That is what you are asking when you request the fire department to stand by while you burn something. These men are not paid for this time that they take away from their jobs nor when they answer a call to put out a fire that "gets away." The Rockport and Fulton firemen receive no pay, nor do they receive anything for the clothes they might spoil answering a fire call. In fact these public spirited men contribute 50c a month to a fund used for recreation and Christmas charity work with the children. These two departments save the city thousands of dollars yearly in reduced fire insurance premiums and are organized to save life and property. They will answer all emergency calls in case of disaster.

The equipment of the fire department is to combat fires in homes and businesses and if this equipment is lost or damaged fighting fires that are set through carelessness your home or business may be lost for lack of the equipment to save it. Everyone should remember that if a fire started by any person destroys any property of another that they are liable for all the damage caused. The men in the Rockport and Fulton fire departments do not want to seem arbitrary but they do wish for the wholehearted cooperation of every citizen—it takes time to take the equipment to a fire and there is always danger for the fireman. Every man in the departments appreciate the splendid cooperation in the past and trust they will have it in the future.

We Sailed on Lake Lucerne Miss Jarboe Says

Last week's issue of the Pilot carried a part of the letter Miss Marjory Jarboe wrote from Switzerland. This week we continue with her description of that country and parts of western Germany.

We went sailing on Lake Lucerne but the current was almost stronger than the breeze, so we paddled in.

The Swiss call a south wind a Fohn. It melts the snow. When it blows no one is allowed to build a fire, everyone has headaches, people commit violent crimes, etc. We had a Fohn. No crimes among us, but there had been a hailstorm the day before we arrived. It broke many orchard trees and ruined greenhouses. The weather was so hot a cotton blouse was warm. Scientists recognize the Fohn's existence, but can't explain its influence.

We hit another festival—Aug. 1 is Independence Day. Each canton and city has its flag. These were flying from every window. A cow parade went down the main street of Interlaken. The lead cow had a flower tree on its head; all other cows had on giant cowbells hung from wide leather chokers. A folklore festival was held at Lucerne's Casino. It was sponsored by a club for whose members keep the old traditions alive by meeting several times a month. Men in black native costumes, with bolero jackets, silver embroidery, and flat-crowned hats, sang. A yodeler carried the melody, while the chorus harmonized. The notes were clear and pure, some surprisingly high.

Next a chimney sweep blew the Alpine horn. It's about 17 feet long. It must be a fir that is bent by growing on a cliff. When this fir is hollowed to form the stem and bowl. At evening time, after a day with the goats, men would stand on mountain crags and blow melodies of long-drawn notes across the valleys to each other. The melody carried, deep and mellow, across nine miles. Then a couple yodeled a duet, as goat herders, carefree and gay, did during the day. Next there was flag throwing. When Swiss soldiers were hired by many nations, before constitutional neutrality was started, they signaled each other from towers by flag throwing. Flag throwing is kept up by the farmers. It is graceful and rhythmic twirling with the flag caught at one end. Finally folk dancers acted out many early fabled dances.

The Swiss national anthem closed the evening. The tune happens to be also "God Save the Queen," and "My Country 'Tis of Thee." It was marvelous to listen to the German-Swiss, English, and Americans singing together their countries' songs. It made the world seem very close together.

We left Switzerland the next day for our drive through Germany. We did not have another two-day stop until Brussels, Belgium. We were up at seven o'clock and in the bus until five in the evening, for four days. But then we were up for our 13-hour walk around the fair, and we loved it.

I can't say too much about this part of Germany. It went so fast. Our first stop was at Baden-Baden, a very fashionable spa of the early 1900's (like Hot Springs, Arkansas, to me). Tommy Cron, who is stationed 20 miles away at Karkruhe, met us there. It was surely good to see a friend from home. We went to the Casino, which is very plush, with alabaster lamps and thick carpets. Tommy has traveled over almost all of Europe during his leaves, so he was able to tell us what to look for in the cities ahead. At Baden-Baden a cement-walled stream flows at the hotel's front edge, and a hill forms the upper town behind it. It was really a peaceful, pretty place.

En route to Baden-Baden we saw the Rhine falls. Ramps are built over the falls a few feet. From these ramps the water rushes at you with tremendous force over the falls. The water leaps and foams, occasionally a spurt falls over into the ramp. Mist and spray hang in the air. It is a terrifying yet wonderful sight.

The highways in Germany were very good, at least in this part. All distances along them are measured from Berlin. A motel—a very large, nice one—is built every 40 miles. There is a telephone station every two miles. Trucks have a speed limit of 60 m.p.h.; private cars no speed limit. From Saturday night until Monday no trucks are allowed. There is a turn every four miles to keep drivers awake. All of these highways are recently built.

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. McDonald returned Saturday from two weeks vacation at her son's home in New Orleans.

RUTH CIRCLE MEETS WITH MRS. SCOTT

The Ruth Circle of the First Methodist Church met at the home of Mrs. Matt Scott, Tuesday. The meeting was opened with prayer by Mrs. E. T. White. This was followed by a short business meeting.

The devotional was given by Mrs. E. E. Anderson and the study "Concerns of a Continent—United States and Canada" was given by Mrs. White.

Mrs. H. C. McDonald filled in as secretary for Mrs. Gladys Michael, who was absent. Refreshments were served.

Young people of the local Church of Christ will visit the area-wide young people's meeting to be held in Bloomington on Sept. 6.

Church of Christ visitors this week included Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Wilks, and Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Wilks, all of Temple; Mr. and Mrs. Phillely, Forsan; and Mrs. T. R. Meador, Eldorado.

Destruction of Marshes One of Greatest Problems

Last week we ran a portion of the speech made by Assistant Secretary of the Interior, Ross Leffler, at the meeting of the Shrimp Association of the Americas meeting in Mexico City, in June. Because of its great interest to everyone interested in the shrimp industry, we present a second installment here, and will continue, week by week, until the entire text has been made available. Leffler says:

"One of our greatest biological and management problems right now is the rapid industrial development near our estuaries and coastal marshes, which threatens not only our shrimp fishery but other fisheries and some of our wildlife resources. We are grappling with that problem in the field and in the laboratory now and the things we learn—yes, even the mistakes we make—will have their value to other areas of our own country and to other nations in the management of their estuarine resources.

"Perhaps most of you are aware of the extensive channel, pipeline and dyke systems which are being developed in the Gulf of Mexico to improve navigation and enhance the shipping from our Gulf Ports. These developments could have a profound and adverse effect on production of shrimp and other important commercial species of fish which depend on the estuarine areas for their very existence. Realizing this danger, we have under way now plans for an extensive program mainly in the area of basic research which will determine the effect of estuarine changes on the young shrimp and fish which are reared in the marshes, sloughs and lagoons. We plan to conduct experiments which will show what happens to the shrimp when a new channel is dredged and the normal pattern of water currents is disturbed. We will determine the limits of tolerance of shrimp and other organisms to changes in water temperatures, salt content

Dentist Speaks To Lions Club

Dr. Leonard Goldman, local dentist, was the speaker for the meeting of the Rockport Lions Club last Thursday for the luncheon meeting at Thompson's Spa. Goldman discussed hypnotism and its uses in medicine.

A special guest was Deputy District Governor Jack Harris from the downtown Corpus Christi club.

Attendance awards were presented to Seth Steele, Charles A. Roe, Jr., Carl M. Osborn, A. C. Shivers and Dave Seglar, five years; Melvin Borchert and Jack Hagar, one year.

Key memberships were presented to Melvin Borchert and Seth Steele. Other key members in the club include A. C. Shivers, Jack Hagar and Carl Osborn.

B. R. Thompson, former pastor of the local Church of Christ, is moving to Scottsbluff, Nebraska, where he will take up a pastorate.

and silting. With this information, we can make an intelligent interpretation of just how serious all these developments might be to the huge production of shrimp which now comes from the Gulf of Mexico. We can then suggest modification of development projects to mitigate the losses.

"Related to investigation of these programs in the marshes is a need for knowledge about the movements of shrimp. Our biologists tell me that they must have a method for distinguishing one group of shrimp from another. They are attacking this problem by a rather unique way of marking individuals. Through careful experimental work we have learned that certain dyes will color shrimp shades of bright red or blue, so that when mixed with others in a commercial catch they will stand out and be easily recognized. I am pleased to tell you that progress on this method of marking has been excellent and in fact is being tested now in an active way in Florida waters. Approximately 20,000 individuals have been marked and now are at large awaiting return by commercial fishermen."

STATE SOMETIMES "INHERITS" PROPERTY

Made your will? If not, the State of Texas may wind up as owner of your estate upon your death. Under our statutes, the estate of persons having no heirs who die intestate revert, or "escheat," to the State.

Such provisions have been carried over from the English common law. There, under such circumstances, the estate escheated to the British crown. The theory of the process is that the sovereign (or State), having been the original owner of all lands before they were parceled out to individuals, is entitled to a return of such lands when the possibilities of legal inheritance have been exhausted.

This idea has been expanded to include personal property as well as real estate. It also applies in the case of a person absent for a term of seven years and not known to exist who leaves no heirs and no will.

Presumably, there is hardly a person who does not have some individual or charity that he would prefer to have his estate, rather than have it go to the State by default, so to speak. Yet, surprisingly, estates worth many thousands of dollars do escheat to the various states from time to time.

Now, before you shrug the matter off with the idea that these statutory provisions could not possibly apply to you, better think a minute. Suppose you and your spouse have no heirs besides each other and your children. Many people do fall into this category.

In event of a catastrophe resulting in death for you and your entire immediate family, no legal heirs would remain. Therefore if you had no will, your property would go to the State. In preparing a will, it is possible to provide for such an eventuality.

In this hypothetical case, you would probably want to designate some friend as executor, to take care of all necessary arrangements and then distribute the estate according to your wishes.

On the other hand, if you have plenty of possible heirs, a will could be used to designate which of them shall participate in the division of the estate. And even if you wish your property to be distributed entirely in accordance with our statutes of descent and distribution as explained in previous columns, a will can perform useful functions. Among other uses, a will could provide for an orderly and economical partition of your property, preventing any waste of the assets by heirs impatient for a settlement.

What happens to property which escheats to the State? Following certain required legal formalities and court proceedings, all escheated lands are set apart to the Permanent Free School Fund of the State, and may be leased and sold by the Land Commissioner under certain regulations. Escheated personal property is sold by the local sheriff under a court writ and the money received therefrom paid into the State Treasury.

LIVESTOCK LOSSES BY LEPTOSPIROSIS ARE IMPORTANT SAYS PAWLIK

San Patricio and Aransas Counties Agricultural Agent, D. P. Pawlik, today released a report from the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station on the livestock disease "leptospirosis." Once thought to be unimportant to the livestock industry, this disease is now known to be causing extensive losses.

Surveys conducted during 1956 and 1957 by the Texas Station show the disease to be widespread in cattle and swine of the state. More than half of the herds tested had animals that were positive to the leptospira test. Sheep, goats, and horses may also be affected, but the extent of the disease among these animals is unknown.

Deer and several other types of wildlife suffer from the disease and may serve as a reservoir.

Leptospirosis has a wide range of symptoms that makes a diagnosis in the field difficult. It may affect most of the animals in a herd without recognizable illness. On the other hand, there may be numerous abortions and up to 5% death loss among grown animals. But usually the death losses are confined to calves and one out of three of those affected may succumb.

The first symptoms are a high temperature, coffee colored or blood tinged urine, and a sudden decrease milk production. The milk may be viscid and yellow as in mastitis, but the udder will be limp and cool. Abortion may occur if the animal is in late pregnancy.

The membranes of the animal's eye and mouth become pale and take on a decidedly yellow color due to the extreme destruction of red blood cells.

Leptospirosis is relatively mild in swine except for its effect on the pregnant sow. She will often abort especially if in the last third of gestation. If not, part or all of the pigs may be born dead or die soon after birth. It may pass through a herd of feeder pigs without symptoms being observed.

County Agent D. P. Pawlik emphasized the importance of calling your veterinarian immediately if leptospirosis is suspected in your herd. If treated early, most cases respond well to some of the newer drugs. He stated that observations by the Texas Experiment Station indicates considerable benefit from vaccination against this disease. The bacterin now available provides immunity in cattle and swine for a period of six months or more.

"Fifty-three percent of the counties in the United States have also been licked by leptospirosis, and they've found that it means dollars and cents to them in higher milk and meat production, more calves, better prices and freer movement for the animals they sell. If other counties can do it, so can we," County Agent D. P. Pawlik said today.

"Livestock owners in San Patricio and Aransas Counties are losing money every day by not having a strong brucellosis program going," he said.

On Jan. 1, 1953, nine entire states, Puerto Rico, and 489 counties in 28 other states and the Virgin Islands had already been declared Modified-Certified Brucellosis Free. This means that less than one percent of the cattle and five percent of the herds in those areas are affected with brucellosis. Those Modified Free areas are now working toward the elimination of the last traces of the disease and complete eradication.

Agent Pawlik stated that brucellosis is one of the most costly cattle diseases in the county. It can cut milk production by as much as 20%. Too, fewer calves also mean less profit in both dairy and beef herds. Only by eliminating this disease in livestock will the problem of brucellosis or undulant fever in humans be solved.

Because brucellosis is highly contagious, the best way to fight it is on an organized basis. "You can't afford brucellosis, and you can't afford for your neighbor to have it in his herd," the county agent said in urging cattle owners to contact him about joining a county brucellosis program.
