New Baptist Church To Have Opening Services Sunday in New Building

On Sunday, June 14, an event of great importance in the life of the city of Jayton and surrounding community is scheduled to take place. The Baptist congregation is planning to have its first service in its new church building. When completed the new church edifice will consist of a basement containing 14 well equipped rooms for Sunday School Classes and a main floor which will have 4 Sunday School rooms and a main auditorium 19 rooms in all.

The church is especially anxious that all its members and all those not attending Sunday School elsewhere should be present Sunday morning at 10:00 to attend Sunday School in this new church built especially for Sunday School purposes.

Typhoid Control Community Duty

Austin, June 10. — "It is a well known fact that typhoid fever may result from the use of water, milk, or other food contaminated by bodily discharges of patients or carriers who harbor typhoid germs," stated Dr. John W. Brown, State Health Officer.

"The fact that we know the source of infection and the means by which infection may be controlled, emphasizes the importance to all communities of providing water and milk of the highest quality.

"Texas is being host to many visitors this year, and all communities should put forth every effort to see that no epidemic occurs which will put an unnecessary blot on the health record of this state.

"Typhoid fever may be controlled by the use of pure water, pasteurized milk and clean foods, by the proper disposal of sewage, by screening houses against flies, by protecting food from contamination by flies, by destruction of the fly and its breeding places, by search for and care of carriers, and by anti-typhoid vaccination.

"Excreta from persons ill with typhoid should be carefully disinfected to prevent the germs from polluting the soil and thus being carried into streams or wells and contaminating the water supply. Where there is an efficient system of water purification, typhoid fever has greatly decreased.

"It is the responsibility of each community to establish adequate safeguards against the consumption of contaminated products at all times and in all places.

"It is the responsibility of each individual to further control the occurrence of typhoid fever by establishing immunity for himself by vaccination."

Mrs. T. C. Hunter and daughter Francis have returned to Amarillo after a visit at Claremont and Jayton with relatives and friends.

Rodeo Main Feature At Cowboy Reunion

Stamford, June 10. — Although there will be many worthwhile attractions on the program of the seventh annual Texas Cowboy Reunion to be held in Stamford July 2, 3, and 4, the chief entertainment feature of the Reunion will be the rodeo, featuring the cowhands from the ranches.

Word has been received from numerous contestants and visitors of former years that they will be on hand this year when the gates swing open on July 2. In addition many Centennial visitors to Texas are expected to visit Stamford during the Reunion to witness a rodeo that has been classified as "an authentic survival of a typically Western institution." Former years have seen crowds of 50,000 and 55,000 visitors here during the three days. This year conservative estimates place the attendance at an even greater figure.

Seven rodeo events are on the card for this year's show. Three rodeo performances will be held each day during the Reunion, morning, afternoon and night. Cash prizes in the rodeo events total $1600. Prize saddles, boots, spurs, hats and other premiums will swell the total prize list to approximately $2500.

Cash prizes will be given in bronc busting, calf roping, steer-riding and wild-cow-milking each day. A special junior steer-riding contest will be staged at night performances on July 3 and 4, and the winners will receive cash prizes. Cowboys over 55 years of age will compete for honors on July 2 and 3 in a special calf-roping contest, the winner to receive a hand-made saddle.

In addition to these attractions, a cutting horse contest will be held on the morning of July 3. This contest has always been popular with the spectators, because more depends up on the skill of the horse than the ability of the rider. It is particularly popular with the cowboys who like to test the skill and intelligence of their horses. Each contestant must cut five head of cattle, designated by colored ribbons, out of a herd. The horse and rider doing the job with the greatest skill and speed wins the contest and prize, a fine hand-stamped Saddle.

Bootlegging Getting More Expensive

Austin, June 11.—$50,000.00 in fines and court costs has gone a long way toward discouraging the violation of Texas liquor laws. A number have been assessed jail sentences. These facts, revealed this week by the Liquor Control Board's enforcement Division, prove that the bootleggers in Texas are not having easy sailing under the new Texas liquor laws.

"If we can continue to make it so costly, the people who are breaking the law will have it impressed on them that there is no profit in what they are doing," declared the State Liquor Administrator, Mr. Charles R. Miller. "When we finally succeed in taking the profit out of their business, these people will fold up and quit."

Actual money paid in fines amounted to $37,935.50, but an additional $11,914.50 in court costs brought the total to $49,849.50, Administrator Miller said.

Counties in which convictions result are enriched by the money paid in fines, he explained. Specifically, the money goes to road and bridge funds.

Since the liquor control act went into effect, inspectors have filed 1569 cases and disposed of 784, leaving 785 pending. There have been 24 jail sentences — ranging from one day to 60 — and only 31 acquittals.

Fines after convictions have usually been from $10 to $100, but the maximum of $1,000 was assessed in a San Antonio case. The most severe jail sentence — 60 days, was given a liquor-sale-by-drink violator in Houston.

"The Liquor Control Board's inspectors have encountered many work, but it has been uniformly successful where cooperation of local officials was forthcoming," Miller asserted. "Without help from the local authorities we cannot hope to accomplish as much good as could be desired."

Bro. Wade of The Jayton Chronicle kinder got his Bible stories mixed last week, where he was trying to tell his readers how much it had rained in the Jayton section. He described Noah's flood as starting with a cloud no bigger than a man's hand. According to the edition of the old book that we sometimes read, the hand-cloud was the breaking up of the long drought during the time of Elijah. But the application was good anyway, Bro. Wade.

The reckless, goggish, impudent, don't give a damn drivers are nothing more than half baked idiots and as soon as they show their colors should be suppressed some way. If it's necessary to take from them their drivers permit, it should be done at once. Some few of them need to be hit on the head with a billy, kicked near the seat of their pants by a mule, and hung on a telephone post to think over their sins. Every day one or more of these projectiles of sudden death pass thru Jayton like a bat out of a cave and if an officer attempted to stop them he would have to be shot out of a cannon to be able to catch up with one of them within ten miles. Ever now and then some of our local sport minded catch the fever and drive thru Jayton at top speed, thinking they are showing how smart a driver they are when in fact they are just proving to all who know them, what simple minded yaps sometime get behind the wheel of a car.

Railroad Employees Not To Take Part in Thompson's Campaign

Austin, June 10, — Express orders have been given every employe of the Texas Railroad Commission by Chairman Ernest O. Thompson that they are to take no part in the political campaign this year.

The order was in a letter which Commissioner Thompson sent all employes on May 23, two weeks before his campaign for re-election opened.

Not only were employes instructed to obey the letter and spirit of the law; they were ordered to "abstain from every form of political activity" in his behalf.

Employes could best serve him Thompson said, by staying on the job. The letter follows in full: ERNEST O. THOMPSON
Amarillo, Texas
May 23, 1936

Chairman
Railroad Commission
of Texas

Dear Sir:

As you know this is election year, and as I am up for re-election I am addressing this letter to you before making my formal announcement, so that you may understand my position and know my wishes.

You are prohibited by law from "taking part in a political campaign" as "distributing circulars, hand bills, posting pictures, handing out cards, making speeches." But I want to go further than the law, and ask you to abstain from every form of political activity in my behalf.

I want every employe of the Railroad Commission to refrain from soliciting or accepting any kind of contribution to be applied on my campaign, and if anyone asks a contribution from you it will be without my knowledge or consent and I want you to refuse any such request.

Further, I want every employe of the Commission to devote all of his or her time to the regular duties assigned to each one. By doing this conscientiously you will please me most. The people want good work, and results from their employes.

I want to take this occasion to express to each employe of the Commission my appreciation for his or her loyalty and for the splendid service each one has rendered to the State and to the Commission. With out this loyal service any effort the Commission might put forth would be fruitless.

Sincerely yours,
Ernest O. Thompson, Chairman,
Railroad Commission

HOW I IMPROVED MY BEDROOM

I had a nice large bedroom at home but it was not arranged as comfortably and attractively as I had always wanted my room to be. We had talked number of times of working the room over but we just never did it. When the agent met with our club and explained that we would have a bedroom demonstration in connection with our bedroom work the girls suggested that I take the place. My mother and father were both interested in the work from the start, although they did not say much about it until the agent came to see me. They said that day that they would help me if I would try real hard to do my part.

When I started working with my room it had a dresser, bed and library table and none of these were in good condition. There was a blue figured conglom rug on the floor that was rather new but the floor and woodwork needed refinishing badly. There was clothes closet in the room that had never been finished inside and was equipped with nothing but a rod slanting across one end.

The first thing I started to work on was a closet. I papered the inside of the closet with paper like the walls of my room. This had been left from the papering several months before. My father had built three shelves in one end of the closet and it looked very nice after he had placed the rod straight across instead of slanting. I had made a shoe rack and I set this under the shelves. We were all proud of the closet because it seemed so large now and the paper had made it so light and clean inside.

We decided to leave the conglom rug on the floor but the floors had to be refinished. We made a lye solution that the agent told us about and removed what was left of the old stain. Then we applied a stain made of "lube" oil and it looked so nice that we used what was left and went over the woodwork.

My next big job was to equip my room with a standard bed. The bedstead was iron enameled in ivory that had peeled off in places. This was removed and I applied two coats of golden brown enamel. I placed a slat under each coil of springs, and made a spring cover of bran sacks washed and sewed together. A mattress cover was made of unbleached domestic guilting in four inch strips and bound in colored print. One of our club goals was to make a piece of light weight cover and mother also helped me with this. It was made of rose print and white muslin, with mitred corners and reversible sides. It was tacked about every four inches with rose thread. We made four sheets that are three yards long, and I had four new pillow cases. We bought a new bed spread that corresponds with the rose and white color scheme. It took a long time to get all this done but I am especially proud of my bed.

Next I removed the mirror from the dresser and hung it above the dresser. The old paint was removed and I enameled it to match the bed. New rollers were added so it can be rolled about the room when I sweep. I partitioned off the drawers to hold handkerchiefs, cosmetics, sheets and other articles. They looked so much nicer that it isn't hard for me to want to keep them that way. I used a white dresser scarf with mitred corners, and arranged my brush mirror and vase of flowers on top of the dresser.

We decided to keep the table for my study table and father made a shelf for my books and hung it above the table. A straight chair with a candlewick cushion, and a waste basket completed this arrangement.

Father made another small table to place my bed for my bed light.

I needed a bathing unit in my room since there is no bathroom in the house. Another table was made and enameled to match the other furniture, and a piece of cloth was cut to fit the top of the table. On this table I have a pitcher, glass and wash pan. My Tooth brush, towel rack and soap bowl hang above the table. I did not realize how much more convenient it would be to have this in my room.

We hung thin white curtains at the windows and placed pretty print over the bed and two small ones over the bedside table. The room is so much more attractive than I had thought it would be and I couldn't believe all this had been done for $14.50. My family helped and encouraged me all the time and I could tell they became more interested as we added more to the room. They kept me working too and we could hardly wait to see how the whole thing would turn out.

There are other things that could be added to the room but I will call it complete for the time. I am so glad that I was selected at the demonstration as demonstrator for the club. I have learned so much about arranging and refinishing furniture and mother says that it has helped her and that she has enjoyed helping me. My parents deserve much credit in what I have accomplished. My Sponsor and agent offered suggestions, and I had the full cooperation of our club.

KITCHEN SINK MADE FROM OIL CAN

"The top of a large oil can was cut away and the edges were turned and pressed under smoothly to make a sink for my kitchen," reported Mrs. R. O. Hoyle, kitchen improvement demonstrator for the Polar home demonstration club.

The can, about twenty four inches long and eighteen inches wide, will be given several coats of cream colored enamel for a smooth finish. The small opening in the bottom of the can, will be fitted with a garden hose to carry away the waste water.

A small porcelain topped table will be fitted up to the sink with the top edge of the table extending about one fourth inch over the upper edge of the sink. This will form the drain board for the sink.

TOMATOES PRUNED FOR EARLIER PRODUCTION

"Pruning causes the production of earlier tomatoes," according to Mrs. W. O. McFalls of Harmony. The tomatoes will also be larger and more uniform in size than those produced by unpruned plants.

Tomato plants should be pruned before the suckers are two inches long, and each sucker removed should be cut off at the main stem at least once a week until the third cluster has set. Then the top of the plant should be pinched off.

Gardeners should remember that pruning decreases the yield of the plants, but at the same time causes the production of earlier tomatoes.
