Tuesday, June 11, at 7:30 p. m., regular meeting time, in the community room of the Haskell National Bank, members of the B&PW Club brought to a close this year's club program and saw new officers installed. Opal Adkins, retiring president, presided over the meeting, and asked each committee chairman read a report of the year's activities. All were accepted by members. Mrs. Adkins introduced Miss Zella Davis, of Brownwood, Director of District Seven as the installing officer, for the incoming officers for 1968 and 1969. She spoke of "all that glitters is not gold," referring to a miniature red wagon on the table, which had large and small rocks in it covered with foil paper. She compared problems in the club with "Rocks" ... some large, some small, some smooth and some rough. The little red wagon without wheels, represented the carriage for the officers. She added a wheel at a time, for each officer. The president and vice-president rode in the wagon sent, holding the reins, and guiding the club onward. The remaining members are the "pillars." They complete a wonderful organization of Business and Professional Women. Officers installed were: President, Nettie McCollum; first vice-president, Ozelle Frierson; second vice-president, Christine Greene; recording secretary, Leon Pearsey; corresponding secretary, Ruthie Withers; reporter, Ethel Sawyer; treasurer, Dora Montgomery; parliamentarian, Opal Adkins. PAINT CREEK ... COMMUNITY NEWS

Mrs. Gene Overton

The rain Monday night stopped all farming for a day or two. Parts of the community received half an inch and other parts had almost an inch. There was some hail. People living near the lake reported that they had heavy hail for a little while, and had it continued long, it would have ruined crops. There was scattered hail all over the community, but I have heard of no serious damage from it. Wheat harvest was stopped, as was cotton planting, or rather re-planting.

I guess the men and machinery both needed a day or two of rest, but when wheat is dead ripe, it is surely hard to wait until the ground and hay is dry enough to start cutting again. The wheat is good this year. Almost everyone is averaging from 20 to 30 bushels. There may be some terraces or even fields that will yield as high as 40. Some of this late Concho wheat looks like 40 bushels.

Some farmers are having to help their cotton come on out by using their rotary hoe. The ground had crusted, and the poor little cotton couldn't make it without some help. Too weeds are coming up thick and fast, and rotary hoes will help rid the cotton of weeds close to the plant. Because of so much rain, some cotton near terraces will have to be replanted.

Have you seen these silly old Jumbo grasshoppers out on the highway? Surely there is enough green stuff in the pastures for them to eat, and they will let the cotton alone.

Use of Big Machinery Brings New Aspect Of Conservation Farming

A laborer, 40 acres, and a mule composed a farming unit a half century ago. A generation ago the farmer got a small tractor and farmed two or three times as much land. Now he has a mammoth tractor, precision equipment, and can till hundreds of acres.

That is, if he can run the large farming equipment on large fields that are relatively free of obstructions.

A farmer can't make a living today with 40 acres and a mule. He has been forced to mechanize because of labor shortages, high wages, and the narrowing gap between the cost of production and the price he gets for his product.

And hereby hangs a tale about the revolution in conservation farming in America. Practices installed through local soil and water conservation districts have revolutionized farming but now the requirements for large scale farming with big machinery are revolutionizing conservation planning and farm layout.

"Terraces snaking across the hillsides could be farmed well enough with small equipment," H. N. Smith, State Conservationist with the Soil Conservation Service points out. The crooked, irregular rows were worrisome but posted no serious problem. But times have changed.

"Today the farmer still wants to farm in a conservation pattern but he wants that pattern to be as modern as his equipment. This calls for a high degree of perception and skill on the part of conservationists and other technicians who help the farmer," he added.

"The conservationist must be able to see—with the help of soil and engineering surveys—an entirely new layout for plains, bottomland, or sloping plains farms," Smith explained. He must visualize the land with the old ditches filled, old farm roads gone, and even some buildings removed. In its place he must plan fields of even width, as long as they can possibly be made.

"In Texas, parallel terraces are replacing old terraces. In the interval between the ridges, in most cases, there is a predetermined number of rows with no land left over for point rows. The irregular areas that formerly existed between every pair of terraces are now found in just a few terrace intervals. These rows may be farmed in point rows or planted to a sown crop. This innovation has reduced the temptation to plant or plow over the terraces, and destroy them," Smith said.

The design for other farms is undergoing a transition, too. There will be new drainage ditches to conform to the new field arrangement. Open irrigation ditches may give way to underground pipelines to save space and remove obstructions. Even the surface of the land may be given a major treatment of leveling.

"Field arrangement is just as important to the sloping upland farmer as the flatland farmer. Good, deep soil is important, too. It's up to a better program. The farmer's soil and old trees, benefiting the beauty of the conservation farm on largely by...

Green Thumb Tips

If you had trouble in your last year's garden with the diseases called aster "yellows" or aster "wilt", there are several things you can do to prevent trouble this year.

The first is to plant aster seeds where no asters have been grown before. The second is to buy seeds of a wilt-resistant variety (stated in catalog and on packet).

The third is to spray the asters with Sevin once a week to kill the leaf hoppers which spread aster yellows from one plant to another.

Do you know that there is a bi-color corn with some kernels yellow and some white? One variety is named Butter and Sugar; is of super eating quality. Just think how this corn will confuse your neighbors!

Failures with zinnias, one of the easiest flowers to grow, are almost always due to sowing the seeds too early.

Zinnia seeds rot when soil is cool and damp. Wait until soil is warm, then sow the seeds where the flowers are to bloom, thinning later and transplanting the thinned plants if you wish.

Stuffing children with vitamins is easy — just grow a few plants of the small-fruited tomatoes: Red Cherry, Red Pear, Yellow Pear, Yellow Plum. The youngsters simply cannot resist popping the little fruits in their mouths and down go the vitamins.

Those dome-shaped paper caps or their larger sized counterparts are the perfect covers for seeds of early crops.

A pinch of cabbage seeds scattered over an area small enough to be covered by 1 cap, then covered, will produce transplanting-size seedlings promptly.

Set a cap over each plant after transplanting and hurry the crop along.

If you had a planting of sweet alyssum in your garden last year, gently remove the browned skeletons of last year's plants and don't disturb the soil underneath.

Chances are excellent that this annual has self-seeded and that soon innumerable seedlings will sprout to bloom in the same place.

Excessive Speed Is Number One Killer On American Highways

Excessive speed continues to reign supreme as the number one killer on America's highways. Exceeding the speed limit, according to the annual highway accident booklet released by The Travelers Insurance Companies, accounted for nearly 40 per cent of the 52,200 highway fatalities in 1967. Statistics in the booklet were compiled from reports by state motor vehicle departments.

The vice monarch, reckless driving, was responsible for approximately 15 percent of the deaths.

Other major factors involving actions of drivers resulting in deaths and injuries include not having the right-of-way driving off the roadway and driving on the wrong side of the road. Almost one-third of the drivers involved in fatal accidents were under 25 years of age.

More than 9,500 pedestrians marched themselves to the grave in 1967. The most common causes of death was crossing between intersections, walking on rural highways, crossing intersections against signals.

This grim report has one bright corner. The total number of deaths was 300 below the number killed in 1966 and the number of injuries was down by some 200,000. However, Travelers President, Sterling T. Tooker said, "After all, the deaths of more than 52,000 people and the injury of 4,000,000 others in one year is small cause for rejoicing, even though it represents some improvement over another year. Comparisons are odious unless they afford some ultimate betterment of the human condition."

He urged caution on the part of every traveler to "bring him and others on the road safely to the next stage of our journey."

Demos Approve Choices Of The Delegates

A Tuesday morning caucus of less than three minutes of the 24th Senatorial District Democrats ratified the unofficial decisions of Monday.

Andrew B. Shelton, publisher of the Abilene Reporter-News, and R. E. (Bob) Thornton Jr., Olney lawyer, were named delegates to the National Democratic Convention in Chicago which opens August 26.

Alternates will be Cong. Omar Burleson of Colorado City and Roger Brown of Big Spring.

Tuesday morning, there was none of the hassling which had broken out after the normal pre-convention caucus Monday. Bob Herren of Haskell, who had protested — not the people elected but the operation of the pre-caucus — said before the Tuesday caucus that he would voice no more opposition.

Herren had charged Monday that the caucus was "cut and dried" with smaller counties having no say. After the convention he told a reporter that Taylor County Democrats "are riding roughshod over us like they always try to do."

Dr. William J. Kemp of Haskell was named to the permanent organizations committee.

Fighting Fatness Makes Good Sense

There's no doubt about it. Many of us are too fat.

Almost everyone who is too fat would like to slim down to average size for his height and build. Many women would like to be on the skinny side.

The American Medical Association's home health book, Today's Health Guide, points out that most physicians consider obesity an important factor in personal health for three reasons:

- It is common.
- It is associated with increased sickness and death rates, notably in respect to heart, circulatory, kidney, and metabolic disorders as well as surgical and obstetrical complications.
- It can be successfully treated to help control associated medical conditions.

Medical experience strongly suggests greater risks for overweight persons in respect to most of the major disorders besetting our population. The evidence for generally adverse effects from obesity seems too massive and too consistent to be ignored.

So we need to lose weight. It should be simple: just cut down on the calories. Unfortunately, it often isn't simple. Taking fewer calories than are needed seems to be within the theoretical capability of most of us. Yet results suggest that this is difficult and often not achieved. Long-term observations indicate poor success for most dieters.

One factor involved in overweight is psychological. Emotional factors are operative in all of us. Psychological factors may help cause overweight, or help to maintain it. Seldom is psychiatric consultation required. The general practitioner, the internist, the pediatrician usually can provide suitable guidance and support as part of the weight reduction program, the AMA book says. The physician's aim is to prod and reinforce our will to lose weight, to help us to be so determined to trim off excess pounds that we will stick to the reducing regime.

The physician may prescribe drugs at first, as a crutch to help us get started. These can reduce appetite, promote a feeling of well-being, add bulk in the stomach, eliminate excess fluids. They can, at best, afford only temporary help. They postpone the day when facts must be faced, when we finally make up our minds that we must change our eating habits to keep our weight under control.

TAX MAN SAM SEZ:

Since June is the favorite month for matrimony, now is a good time to give the girls another "watch-out-for" — WATCH OUT FOR the Internal Revenue computer. You have changed your name, but the IRS computer still has your number as Miss Jones instead of MRS. Smith. Get your name changed on your Social Security record right now. Last year a lot of beautiful brides didn't remember to change their name with the Social Security Administration, and instead of getting back that income tax refund, they got a nice little letter from the computer saying "who are you?" Of course, they did get their refund — or will get their refund as soon as they get the name correction form back and their tax return goes through the mill again. So, Brides, as soon as you are sure that you are a MRS., mail in the new name.

FEWER FARMERS

The trend toward fewer and fewer people on the farm which means that ever fewer people are growing the food and fiber for an expanding nation is continuing. According to the U. S. Department of Agriculture, farm employment last January reached the lowest point since records have been kept. The total farm labor force for the week of January 21 to 27 was only 3,493,000 persons.

Modern U. S. agricultural techniques have completely reversed the historical relationship between man and the land. For thousands of years, the land demanded and received the labor of man to the limit of his ability if he wished to keep himself and his family from starving. Today this story is entirely different in the United States.

Man has learned with the help of science and industry to exact tribute from the land in the way of food and fiber on an ever-increasing scale. One farmer now feeds scores of people. Whether this freedom from enslavement to the land remains permanent will depend to a great extent upon our ability to recognize the factors that made emancipation possible. These factors include such things as the right of self-government, the right to own property, and all of the other factors we have enjoyed in the United States for nearly 200 years.

HASKELL COUNTY HISTORY

30 YEARS AGO (June 11, 1938)

One of the worst windstorms in several years struck this section late Saturday, accompanied by rains of almost cloud-burst proportions that flooded fields in several parts of the county. Considerable hail damage was also reported in some sections, where heavy damage was inflicted on young feed and cotton. Grain farmers also sustained heavy loss from the hail and wind, which pelted and blew down fields of ripened grain. Considerable property damage was caused by the high winds in the section between Haskell and Stamford and extending into the southeast corner of the county, where houses were unroofed and small out-houses and barns wrecked. Heavy loss was sustained to the Paint Creek school building eight miles southeast of town. The gymnasium building was unroofed, a part of the east wall blown-in, and practically every window in the building shattered. Ward, Post, Howard and McConnell communities reported varying damage to property in addition to heavy losses on crops.

Eight members of the Haskell volunteer fire department left yesterday for Amarillo, where they will attend the annual state convention of the Firemen's and Fire Marshal's association. Headed by Chief Jess Collier, the Haskell group included R. L. Harrison, Arthur Hays, Wiley Quattlebaum, Hat Pitman, Charlie Redwine, Garner Mayes and F. R. Pitman.

Tom Watson of Olney visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Watson, Sunday. Philip Wayne Cadenhead, a winner of the recent 40-8 Amateur Contest at Wichita Falls in which were entered college seniors, high school and elementary students of West Texas held in Big Spring is the 12-year-old son of Dr. and Mrs. J. F. Cadenhead of Weinert, and is recognized as one of the outstanding junior entertainers of West Texas. He has appeared several times over KGGK, broadcasting station Wichita Falls and also KRBC, Abilene, on the Hardin-Simmons University chapel program.

40 YEARS AGO (June 14, 1928)

Misses Brucelle Bryant and Ruth Robertson, of Haskell, sophomores at the College of Industrial Arts, were recently elected vice-presidents and reporter respectively of the La Junta Club for next year.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. S. T. Burge, a daughter weighing 12 pounds.

Miss Ruby Cox left last Monday for Abilene where she will attend summer school at the Abilene High School.

Hugh Anderson of Texas Tech, Lubbock, spent the weekend with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dale Anderson of Midway. He has returned for summer school. Hugh will teach this winter.

Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Wyche enjoyed a visit last week from several of their children; Mrs. A. B. Hull, Dallas; Mrs. J. A. Richer and Carlton Wyche, Wichita Falls; Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Wyche and children, Lamesa; Everett Wyche, McCombs.

Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Dean of the Howard community were in the city Tuesday to bring some nice fryers of the Buff Orpington breed to town for sale. According to reports, Weinert will have a new gin plant which will be erected this summer and be completed in time to make the season this year. It will be a cooperative gin and a number of farmers and others will have stock in the enterprise and they expect to install the most modern machinery.

Miss Ammie Bess Chambers of Abilene is the guest of her sister, Mrs. Wallace Cox.

Misses Lucy Cummins, Agness Cox and Madalin Hunt left Wednesday for New York City. There Miss Cummins will join her sister and husband, Dr. and Mrs. A. B. Pumphrey and they will sail for an extended trip abroad. From interesting points in and adjacent to New York City, Misses Hunt and Cox will visit Niagara Falls and into Canada.

60 YEARS AGO (June 13, 1908)

Haskell's scholastic population as given by the census trustee is 724. Stamford's, 677; Anson's, 500; Rule's, 412.

Prof. J. Stone Rives and family returned home Wednesday morning from Cleburne, where they have been visiting for two or three weeks. Prof. Rives is conductor of the Summer State Normal to be held at this place and will have everything in readiness for the opening of school Monday.

Messrs. Ellis, Brooks, Pate, McDonald and Burford with Misses McIlvane, Draper, Poole and Tompkins, attended a box supper at Pinkerton Tuesday night for the benefit of the Methodist Church at that place.

Although we hear more or less of dull times, things are still moving along some in Haskell. There are half a dozen or more residences in course of construction, one of which is to be an eight or ten thousand dollar house, and two others will cost several thousand each, and there is one brick business house under construction and others being figured on, we are informed, and a new gin plant of a large capacity is being erected. To say the least of it, this does not look like stagnation.

Mr. Will and John Lee of Stonewall county attended district court this week.

Mr. L. V. Guest and family of Stephenville have moved into their new residence lately completed in this city. Mr. Guest is a member of the firm of Guest and Abbott, lumbermen of this place.

Wallace Alexander attended the bankers' convention last week and returned home Saturday night.

Mr. R. C. Montgomery, cashier of the Farmers National Bank made a business trip to Stamford Tuesday.

Miss Grace Allen left one day of this week for Chicago. Miss Allen will sail for Paris, France about the 20th of the month. She expects to return this fall and resume her place in the millinery department of the Alexander Mercantile Co.

ATTEND GRADUATION

Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Owens and Beverly attended graduation exercises of Basset Owens in Lubbock, June 1.

They were met in Lubbock by Mrs. Owen's sister, Miss Betty Bassett of Henderson, who also attended the exercises. Beverly returned to Henderson with her aunt for a visit with her grandparents and other relatives.

COTTON PICKIN'S

Rolling Plains Cotton Growers, Inc.

Charlotte, N. C., June 6—The Rolling Plains producer delegate on the Board of Trustees of Cotton Producers Institute is optimistic over the outlook for cotton.

"We are turning the corner after a few bad years," Charles Stenholm, cotton farmer from Stamford, Texas, observed at a meeting of CPI Trustees here.

"While there are many unsolved problems," he added, "more acreage is being planted, markets are continuing to expand, and cotton research and promotion is at a record level."

Financed by $1-per-bale payments by farmers, the CPI program is expected to be even larger in 1969 than in 1968, he explained, since more acreage will be in production. The CPI budget for 1968 is $8 million.

"We are pleased with results in the short time this program has been operating. The support cotton growers are giving this effort to increase their profits shows their confidence in cotton and its ability to compete," Stenholm said.

"All of us recognize, on the other hand, that we can't expect these markets to come easily. The battle is a never-ending one, our competitors have scored some victories, but we are determined to gain a larger share of the textile market for cotton."

Stenholm and Aubrey Lockett, seed breeder from Vernon, who are the area's Trustees, were advised that the purpose of the meeting was to receive staff reports on 1968 activities, develop guidelines for the staff in preparing the 1969 program, and view at first hand the manufacture of cotton and man-made fibers into textiles.

The American Textile Manufacturers Institute was host at a reception and dinner for the group tonight, and has arranged tours of Springs Mills and other area textile operations Wednesday. A tour of the Cannon Mills, Swink Plant, at Salisbury, is scheduled Thursday morning.

George Buck, Memphis, Council research director, pointed out that the $2.7 million allocated by CPI for research in 1968 is enabling concentration on breakthroughs in such important areas as all-cotton durable press fabrics, product development, and lowering cotton production costs.

While the amount cotton producers were able to provide for research is three times that of 1967, he noted, it represents only about 10 per cent of the total funds estimated to be available for cotton research from all sources and agencies in the U. S. Furthermore, he emphasized, it is estimated that a research program fully adequate to meet cotton's needs in cost reduction and product development should be about three times this total effort.

Main objectives of the CPI research program, he said, are to: (1) reduce the costs of producing, processing, handling, and merchandising cotton; and (2) improve the quality of the fiber and products made from it.

Research sponsored by growers through CPI, he explained, is pinpointing key problems and opportunities in the above areas and has already led to some important achievements. Among these, he cited the development of all-cotton durable press fabrics with high abrasion resistance and other desirable characteristics, a new systemic insecticide, and significant advances in fiber quality measurement.

June is the month for all persons who will turn 65 in the next three months to file applications for social security benefits and enroll for Medicare.

Don Pomykal, social security representative, said today that applicants who bring with them evidence of their age and of their 1967 earnings when they file their applications will have their claims handled more efficiently and quickly.

Original birth certificates or baptismal certificates, recorded early in life, are the best evidence of age. When no such document is available, other records of age made early in life may be acceptable.

See Mr. Pomykal at City Hall Annex, in Haskell, on any Thursday in June at 10:00 a. m. If unable to meet a representative on a field trip, call at the Abilene office, room 232 of the Federal Building. Hours are 3 a. m. to 5 p. m. and until 7:00 p. m. on Tuesdays.

WEEK-END VISITORS

Mr. and Mrs. Joe C. Parsons, of Las Cruces, New Mexico, visited here last week-end in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Kirby Kirkpatrick.

Mr. Parsons, who has not been in Haskell in some 10 years was very much impressed with the many improvements and substantial growth of the town.

Things that we have transplanted in the last few days, that have lived and are growing are: pepper plants, tomatoes, cannas, coxcomb, Aitheia shrubs and parsley.

A milk carton with windows cut in it is one of the best covers for newly transplanted plants that are small enough to be covered by it. Turn the windows north and south so the plant can get air. Regardless of what one uses for a cover, be sure to let air to the plants.

The Good Earth

By Mrs. B. E. Cobb

We picked berries out at the C. C. Childress farm Friday. The variety of the fruit is called Wonderberry. I think the reason for the name is because one wonders where so many berries come from. There were black, red, and green fruit, all on the same vines. Charlie said he picked 30 gallons from the patch Wednesday, and the berries are just beginning to ripen.

The patch is not much larger than a city lot but my, how the vines produce. One reason for such a bumper crop is due to protection from the north by a large grove of trees. Mr. Childress said that the rains here had been good for the crop.

We saw many ponds of water in fields where acre after acre could not be tilled. We also saw one farm where the maize crop was a total loss because weeds were higher than the crop itself, but there was so much moisture one would bog a tractor down if they attempted to plow.

Vegetation here in town should be watched as everything is so full of sap it wilts and dies in a hurry if one does not water pretty often. Watering should be done in the morning or early afternoon, as late watering encourages rot.

Mrs. C. B. Rhea, President of the Haskell Garden Club, is raising Nicotina from seed this year. The plants are of the Tobacco family. Large leaves six or eight inches across and 12 to 18 inches long, makes the plant worth growing, even if it never bloomed. The blossoms are trumpet shaped, white rimmed in purple and are grown for their tube rose like fragrance. Late in the evening the whole air is permeated with the aroma of Nicotina. Every one fears Mrs. Rhea about growing tobacco. She gave me three of the plants and one is more than waist high and has not bloomed.

With so much rain things can be transplanted any time. Be sure to cover the plant for about three or four days, take the cover off at night when you are ready for the plant to stay uncovered, that way the night air conditions the foliage for its first contact with the sun.
