

THE VILLAGE HAS A HEART

Dorothy Boys Killan

THE CLOCK struck nine as Nola hung the last bauble on the fragrant green Christmas tree. Without even stepping back to admire the finished effect she went to the front window and peered out. A cold white moon illumined a cold white earth. She shivered. How lonely she had been in this tiny, quiet village!

When she had written Jim two months before that she was being evicted from their apartment in Chicago he had answered, "I'm hoping against hope to be home from occupation duty in time for Christmas, and I can't think of any place more perfect than Pineville to spend the holidays and my terminal leave. Remember my telling you what happy summers I spent there as a child, and now I'd always wanted to see it in winter? Do investigate this, as a Christmas present for me, Nola darling."

So she had come here and found a house. But somehow she felt that the villagers had ignored her as an outsider.

And now it was Christmas Eve. "He's not going to make it and that's that," Nola thought miserably. She knew that he had landed at San Francisco three days before and had been trying desperately to get a seat on a train or plane.

"It's me, Doc Ryan. We're on your party line you know, and heard the good news. My wife thought I'd better take you over."

The telephone rang. "There's a telegram just come for you, Mrs. West, down here at the drug store. Very important."

"Yes!" Nola breathed.

"Chicago, 8 P. M. Am catching train. Get off Shoreham five miles east of Pineville 10 P. M. love Jim." Nola leaned heavily against the wall and stared at the phone.

"Mrs. West, are you there?" Mr. Trotter, the druggist, sounded anxious. "Listen, you go out in the garage and get your car motor to warming up. My wife'll be up there in five minutes to stay with your little boy. Hurry now."

In joyful haste Nola peeped in at Jimmy—"Santa Claus is bringing you your Daddy, honey"—powdered her nose and put on her fur coat and boots.

The garage door stuck in its icy groove although she bent her whole weight against it. Suddenly, out of the darkness, a voice called. "It's me, Doc Ryan. We're on your party line you know, and heard the good news. I'm so used to driving out in all kinds of weather, my wife thought I'd better take you over."

"Dr. Ryan, I didn't realize 'til just now how I dreaded that trip alone."

A train whistle shrilled through the cold thin air as they drove up to the little depot.

"We made it!" Nola cried exultingly. "Come on." She held open the door.

But Doc muttered, "I'll stay here and keep my feet warm."

Now the huge black engine roared past, slowed down and slid to a stop. A coach vestibule door opened, and before the conductor could step down, a khaki-clad figure leaped on to the platform.

"Oh, darling, darling, darling," Nola's heart throbbled as she felt once more the thrilling warmth of Jim's arms around her.

"Nola!" Jim said everything in that word.

A few moments later as they walked to the car a voice boomed from within, "Glad you made it."

"Whoever you are—thanks," Jim answered. "It's people like you who made me want Nola to come to Pineville to wait for me."

"Get in and close the door. You're freezing me out." Doc grinned as he raced the motor.

"Christmas Eve," Jim said softly as they squeezed in with Doc. "You beside me, our baby just a few miles away, and a Christmas card place like Pineville to welcome us. Don't you love it there, darling?"

Nola glanced at Doc, thought of Mrs. Trotter and the others. "Yes, Jim, I do," she whispered. "I'm sure you do."

ONE WAY TO MOVE A FARM—

Furrows on clean cultivated land—where the furrows are up and down the slope instead of across—form effective channels down which the best part of the farm can move with the water that runs off in a heavy rain. Here the effects of erosion are shown. But this picture does not show the soil that got away. The signs here only indicate the direction it went. The Agricultural Conservation Program provides assistance to farmers in carrying out conservation practices to help check this kind of erosion.

SCURRY COUNTY TIMES TO GO DAILY

The Scurry County Times, owned and published by Willard Jones, will be made into a daily, it was disclosed Tuesday.

Date for the change from semi-weekly publication to daily has not been set, pending the arrival of new equipment.

The Times, now in its 63rd year of publication, was stepped up from a weekly to a semi-weekly last Nov. 1 upon moving into larger quarters.

FARMERS UNCERTAIN AS THEY VOTE TODAY

Most farmers are between "a rock and a hard place" in the cotton marketing quota referendum being voted on today.

The "rock" is their voting for the acreage allotment and control and the "hard place" is their voting against it. If they vote "yes", it will mean that they approve the tremendous cut in their 1950 cotton acreage. If they vote "no", and the national referendum fails, it means they will not have a support price guarantee for 1950.

Several voting places have been set up in Kent County so that all local farmers may cast their vote.

FROST BITTEN CANE TAKES TOLL OF CATTLE

We had our first heavy frost of the season a week or so ago and farmers have already begun to report the loss of stock caused from frost bitten cane or johnson grass, according to County Agent, Kirby Clayton. Farmers should be on the lookout for Prusic Acid poisoning in their cattle for the next few weeks. This is also referred to as Cyanide poisoning, Cane poisoning, or Hydrocyanic acid poisoning. Such poisoning is caused from cattle eating frost bitten cane, johnson grass or other sorghums. Caution should be taken not to turn cattle in on any frost bitten feeds. Symptoms of the disease are muscular trembling, staggering, incoordination of movement, staggering gate, followed rapidly by inability to stand. Breathing becomes increasingly difficult and the animal finally resorts to open mouth breathing. Later convulsions develop, followed by death unless the antidote is administered promptly. If the dose of poison consumed is not too large, the acute distress subsides and the animal may recover within a few hours. However, animals seldom recover from this poisoning unless given the antidote.

Affected animals should be given a dose of 30% Sodium Thiosulphate and 10% Sodium Nitrate. This has given excellent results if administered quick enough after first symptoms appear. This medicine should be given intravenously.

JUNIOR CLASS TO GIVE 7FL. FRIGIDAIRE AWAY

The Junior Class of Jayton High School will give away a 7 ft. Frigidaire to some lucky person on Dec. 24. The Frigidaire can be seen on display at the Lewis Drug. Complete information concerning the prize may be obtained by contacting any member of the Junior Class.

Joyce Brantner of Lubbock visited her parent, Mr. and Mrs. K. P. Brantner last week end.

Hog Cholera Reported In The County

There have been several cases of hog cholera reported in the Girard and Gilpin communities within the past month, according to County Agent, Kirby Clayton.

Cholera affects swine of all ages and is usually acute, although it sometimes pursues a sub-acute or chronic course.

Swine affected with an acute case of cholera, die suddenly and without warning, while the sub-acute and chronic forms may linger on for several days or even weeks. First symptoms noted are loss of appetite, animals separate themselves from the rest of the herd and soon show signs of weakness, especially in the hind legs which are frequently crossed resulting in a peculiar waddling, scissorlike gait. Fever rises rapidly and animals may become very thirsty. Frequently there is a thick, gummy secretion, which may almost glue the eyelids shut. The disease, when started in a community, usually spreads and takes a heavy death toll before being checked.

Vaccination against hog cholera is good insurance and cost very little compared with the loss farmers take when hog cholera strikes their farm.

Two methods of vaccination are recommended:

1. Serum and virus method (simultaneous method). The first and most widely used method is to employ the live virus of hog cholera and a hog cholera anti-serum and inject both the virus and the serum at the same time. The serum and virus method has several advantages and disadvantages. One advantage is it produces immunity in from 7 to 10 days after being administered to healthy pigs. The resulting immunity, in normal pigs is usually strong enough to give lifetime protection. And, finally, the cost of this type of immunization for weaning pigs is moderate.

The main disadvantage of using serum-virus method is that live virus is introduced on the premises. Misused, or carelessly used, it can cause cholera in unprotected pigs. The virus may stay in the hog lot, in an infective form, until another lot of susceptible pigs is brought in. For this reason, once vaccination is done with serum and virus, it is wise to repeat the vaccination year after year on all raised pigs or new pigs brought in. Also if these injections are given a pig with some other disease or a pig harboring many parasites, death may result, or the animal does not obtain good immunity, and the owner experiences a false security.

2. The killed vaccine method: The advantages of this method of vaccination are based on the fact that the virus has been killed, and it will not introduce hog cholera in clean premises nor infect susceptible pigs. In addition, this vaccine can be used on ailing and unthrifty pigs without a risk of adding one disease to another. The cost is the same, regardless of the size of the pig.

There are a few disadvantages or inconveniences with this method of vaccination. One disadvantage is that it takes about three weeks to develop immunity, so the vaccination is not as effective if pigs are exposed to hog cholera in less than three weeks. Also, pigs do not develop a lifetime immunity from this vaccine. For this reason, pigs to be kept for breeding stock have to be given several injections. One injection, given about two weeks after weaning, will protect these pigs until they are fattened for market. Breeding animals should be re-injected about six months following the original vaccination and then should be re-vaccinated each year.

If hog cholera is diagnosed in the very early stages, they can sometimes be saved by administering 50-75 cc of hog cholera serum.

Mrs. G. L. Harilton and son and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Moore had business in Spur last Monday.

"The Nativity" To Be Presented At School

Wednesday, December 21, the annual Christmas program, one of the outstanding events of the year sponsored by the P. T. A., will be given in the Auditorium of the Jayton School. This year the program is purely religious in nature, and features the two school choirs and many other pupils. The program will be open to the public.

"The Nativity" is a beautiful Christmas Carol Service, in tableau and music. The old, old Christmas story will be re-told and the spirit of the first Christmas renewed. There is an increasing tendency to omit all connections of the birth of Christ with the observance of Christmas. This program is the only Community Program planned for Jayton this year and the P. T. A. and sponsors have extended an invitation to the public to be present for this program.

"White Christmas" At Baptist Church Sunday

Sunday Night at 7 o'clock there will be a White Christmas program at the Jayton Baptist Church. Everyone is invited to come and bring a gift or cash offering for Buckner's Orphan Home. Those who can not come to the evening service may bring their gifts at the eleven o'clock worship service and they will be placed on the tree.

An interesting program has been planned, consisting of special music, readings, and talks. Mrs. J. T. Edwards of Abilene will give the "Flannel Graph Stories".

There have been some restriction made on the types of gifts that may be given to the Home. It has been requested that no one bring fire works, sharp knives, or darts, as gifts of this type might prove dangerous in a place where there are so many children. Some suggestions for gifts are dolls, mechanical toys, picture puzzles, books, ribbons, combs and bobby pins, and any kind of thing. These are only a few of the numerous things that would be appreciated by these children, who range in age from babies to high school seniors.

Tuberculosis Curable Says Dr. Geo. W. Cox

Do you know that tuberculosis is preventable? Curable? Not inherited?

Tuberculosis is contracted from another active case. It is a "catching disease." It is caused by a germ which usually attacks the lungs, but may attack other parts of the body, says Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer.

Tuberculosis is spread from an infected person to others in several ways, some of which are: through nose and throat discharges by coughing and spitting; through using linens, dishes and other articles soiled by an infected person. Tuberculosis infection usually is the result of continued close contact with an active case; therefore it is a "family disease."

How do we know who has tuberculosis? Early TB is without symptoms. It is no respecter of persons. It occurs in all walks of life and at any age, but is least likely to be present in serious form between the ages of 4 and 14 years.

If coughing and loss of weight are present, the disease is well advanced, and a person has lost his best chance for complete recovery.

How can we protect our families? Go to your physician for an examination including a chest x-ray. When the mobile x-ray unit comes to your town, have a free chest x-ray. X-ray surveys have been conducted in 132 counties and 18 institutions during the past year and over 514,400 persons have been x-rayed.

OKLAHOMA-TEXAS WEEKLY COTTON MARKET REVIEW

Spot cotton markets in Oklahoma and Texas kept moderately busy this past week as prices climbed to the highest mark since early September, according to the U. S. Department of Agriculture's Production and Marketing Administration.

However, by Friday, quotations on Middling 15-16 inch offerings had dropped 15 points from the week's high at Dallas and Galveston and 10 points at Houston.

Friday's close stood at 29.30 cents per pound at Dallas, 29.60 at Houston and 29.50 at Galveston. Last week on the same day, cotton was $15.25 per bale higher at Dallas, $12.75 higher at Houston and $13 per bale higher at Galveston.

Texas and Oklahoma cotton ginnings through November 30 averaged lower in grade but longer in staple than during the same time last year.

Kent County Given Another Wildcat

Lewis T. Lohman of Dallas, and associates, Tuesday had staked location for a scheduled Ellenburger wildcat to 8,000 feet in west-central Kent County, 11 miles west of Clairmont.

It will be the No. 1 J. W. Young, center of the northwest quarter of the northwest quarter of section 98, block G, W&NW survey. (The old Carriker place.)

Associated with Lohman in the venture are Paul C. Teas and Roy Guffey of Dallas, and Sidney Gardner of Beverly Hills, Cal.

The project is located on acreage obtained by farmout from Lone Star Producing, Big West Drilling Company, which has been awarded the drilling contract; Signal Oil and Gas Company, and Spartan Drilling Co.

"and!!"

The High School basketball teams did all right for themselves during the past week end. The boys team won their division of the Peacock basketball tournament and the girls team won second place. On Tuesday night both teams went to McAdoo and reported victories in both games.

In spite of the cold weather and light rain during the past week the local gin reported 341 bales ginned during the week. This brings the year's total for the Jayton gin to 5,341 bales.

Wish you kids would send in your letters to Santa as soon as possible as we would like to have them for publication in the Christmas edition next week.

We have been asked to announce that a business meeting will be held at the Community Center Saturday night at 7:30 and all members are asked to be present.

Even the most skeptical may begin to change their minds about the possibilities of oil in Kent county with the announcement that another wildcat is to be drilled. With the number of proposed operations in consideration it looks like they are determined to find out if there "is" or if there "ain't" any oil under the surface of Kent county.

White sidewall tires available at extra cost.

Ford is 50 ways new for '50 . . . packed with improvements that make it the fine car of its field. For Ford brings you an even smoother "Mid Ship" Ride on new foam rubber front seat cushion with new non-sag springs . . . a new silent ride in Ford's 13 ways safer, sound-conditioned "Lifeguard" Body. Power such as you've never felt. It's 100 h.p. and it's a V-8—the engine type used in costliest cars—for hundreds less than most "Sixes". It's so quiet you can talk in whispers at highway speeds.
