STEEL NEEDS NEW MARKETS TO STEP UP PRODUCTION

New York — If the nation's steel makers hope to notably exand sales and production in the current decade, they must find steelways, official publication of the American Iron and Steel Institute, said that between 1950 and 1960, the Japanese Increased their steel production by 357 per cent; West Germany, 127 per cent; Czechoslovakia, 127 per cent and Brazil 176 cent increase in the past decade.

127 per cent, and Brazil, 176 per cent. Actual production in the U.S. during this period increased 3 per cent, from 96.8 million tons to 99.2 million tons. It should be noted, however, that actual production and what the indus-try could produce are two dif-greent things: on the latter count the U.S. posted a 49 per cent increase in the past decade. Steelways said that steel con-sumption in other countries is growing faster percentage-wise than in the already highly de-veloped U.S. economy. It as-serted that major sales and growth prospects for the American steel makers are, therefore, in international markets where our competitive ability suffers a sizeable cost handicap. The magazine noted that in the last decade, the U.S. share of world steel trade dropped from about 17 per cent to less than 7 per cent. This has taken place despite an increase in world steel trade to about 42 million tons in 1960 against 16 million tons in 1950.

Money At Work

Ever wonder what happens to your savings in a savings bank? About 70 percent is in-vested in mortgage loans, en-abling people to buy or build

Then? The money goes to work. It's estimated that for every 100 homes built, about the men who work on the actual construction. Then, when the new family moves in, they can be expected to spend an average of $1,500 in the new home on things like furniture and

WORLD OUTPUT
Steelways noted that behind our declining share of an expanding market lies not only the soaring costs of domestic producers but the enormous growth of world steel output since World War II. War damaged mills in other countries have been replaced and other facilities generally have been modernized and expanded. These programs are still in full swing and announced plans make it clear they will continue.

Japan, for example, achieved in 1961 the stature of the world's fourth largest steel producer — 31 million ingot tons. Not satisfied, it has embarked upon a program intended to push 1970 capacity to 53 million net tons of ingots a year. That would put it in third place, behind the U.S. and Russia.

Presently, the U.S. is a major market for Japan, consuming 23.2 per cent of all Japan's iron and steel exports in 1960. Said Steelways: Steelways:

"Given present patterns of steel, and even granted a sizeable increase therein, it does not seem possible that by 1970 that country can conceivably consume the planned increased production. Likely outlet: more exports."

U.S. SHARE As a result of past expan-sion plans similar to these in both Japan and other countries, United States' share of world steel production dropped to 26 per cent of world output in 1960 from 46 per cent as recently as 1950. Steelways stated that not only are we failing to win a fair competitive share of an ex-panding world market in steel, but imports into our own dom-estic market of both steel and steel consuming products have increased. The publication said that basic to our competitive dis-advantage have been employment costs ranging from three to seven times as great ir American steel companies as they are in foreign steel companies. This disparity combined with the modernity of overseas production facilities help
