

Thufvesson Returns Home After Extended Visit In Haskell

Eighteen-year-old Anders Thufvesson from Karlskrona, Sweden, spent four weeks in the Dr. J. F. Cadenhead home, having come here June 29th under the auspices of Lion's International Student Exchange program.

Visiting with Anders just before he returned to his home July 23rd, he answered some questions in well turned English with a Scandinavian accent for that enchanting foreign flavor.

Asked how he finds things different in Haskell from his home town, Anders said: "I like it when people speak to you on the street, and wave as they go by."

"We are more cold at home, and you might be thought 'crazy' if you did that except with established friends."

What does he think makes people "tick" here? "It might be their religion. People are more religious here."

Hymn-singing in the church he attends in Haskell, Anders has enjoyed. Of the preaching as done here, he says, "It is more personal and speaks of things relevant."

Anders is a member of the Lutheran Church in Sweden. He goes to services mostly for weddings, funerals and christenings.

Mr. Thufvesson will be a senior at the gymnasium in Karlskrona this fall. Gymnasium is a secondary school preparing for the university. Seven years of English language study and five years of German are already behind Anders. He likes most subjects just fine, history and Swedish being a little favored.

He has not yet decided what to make his major study at the university.

Mr. Karl Thufvesson, Anders' father, owns and operates a frozen fish factory, specializing in frozen dinners arranged around fish caught in the Ostsee (Baltic Sea), just a good stone's throw from the front door of the apartment where the Thufvessons live.

Anders indicated that he might find he wants to work with his father. He has one brother, 13, (to have fights with and then forgive), there is a married sister, 24, who is studying at the University at Lund.

Of course we want to know what a handsome young Swede thinks of American girls in West Texas, and how he compares 'get-to-know' customs.

"We have no 'dates' in Sweden, where you call up a girl and ask..."

How in the world do you...? "We go to dances. Two or three boys maybe, the girls come there, if you like one you ask her to dance."

You have to be seventeen or look that old to be admitted to the dance. The eligible student population usually goes to the "discotheque", while otherwise occupied people wanting to dance or meet a girl would go to the park for dancing in an open-air pavilion.

"Girls here are easier to talk to," Anders said.

A church outing ended in tragedy at 7:45 p. m., last Thursday with the drowning of 11-year-old Billy Mack Stovall, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Stovall of Stamford, near the Anchor on the west side of Stamford Lake.

The young Stovall was swimming with three other children when he was drowned. Witnesses said he swam over to help her when he apparently suffered cramps and disappeared from the surface. His sister was rescued.

Olie Williams of Stamford retrieved him about eight minutes later from water between four and five feet deep.

Gene Long, a Haskell resident picnicking near the scene, administered artificial respiration. The youth was then rushed to Haskell Memorial Hospital by private vehicle.

Sheriff Garth Garrett met the vehicle enroute to the Haskell hospital and the youth was transferred to the sheriff's car. Ray Lusk, former Haskell fire chief, administered artificial respiration to the boy again.

They arrived at the hospital about 8:30 p. m., and the youth was pronounced dead on arrival by the attending physician.

The young boy was on a Trinity Baptist Church outing at the time of the drowning.

Jay Gipson Is Speaker At Rotary Meeting

Jay Gipson, who recently returned from an 18-month tour of duty with the 1st Cavalry Division in Vietnam and Cambodia, spoke to members of the Rotary Club at last Thursday's noon-day luncheon session held at the City Cafe. J. B. Gipson was program chairman for the day and introduced his son.

Jay presented an interesting and informal talk on the war, chiefly in the form of a question and answer type of program.

He stated that the G.I.'s did not think we should have ever stopped bombing of North Vietnam, and that his personal opinion was that the move into Cambodia was one of the greatest things yet done in the long, drawn out war.

President Bob Herren presided over the meeting. R. C. Couch lead the singing with Jerre Sue Couch at the piano and the invocation was given by Rev. Aubrey Hendstream, who is currently serving as counselor of the Haskell Mental Health and Retardation Center.

"Prexy" Herren reminded the members that August 20th was the date when the Rotary District Governor, Marvin...

He was in Haskell to speak to the club. Herren urged Rotarians to make a concentrated effort to bring in new members. The membership committee is headed by R. A. Lane.

Bill Crawford, of Abilene, was noted as the only out-of-town guest at the Thursday noon session.

On August 3rd the Haskell Free Press will pass into the hands of a new ownership, the sixth in its long history of dedication to this community (since 1886), Free, Martin, Roberts, Jones, and Clare, as owners and publishers, and now Mr. and Mrs. Bill Comedy and son, Don.

The paper has never been put on the open market and in our search for a successor, we have been cautious, as we believed the community deserved a publisher with a sense of loyalty to and a civic interest in the town and with long experience in the newspaper field.

We have known the man who will become your publisher since the age of about five and started him in the printing business at the age of about twelve in Coleman, Texas and can speak of him from first-hand knowledge.

Bill is conscientious, honest, straight forward and hard-working, putting his heart into anything he undertakes. He has had about 30 years experience in the newspaper field, the last five years as owner-publisher of The Throckmorton Tribune. He is past president of the Throckmorton Chamber of Commerce.

He has held offices in the Volunteer Fire Department, has served on the board of Industrial Development, the Throckmorton Water Board and Country Club. He was elected to the Throckmorton City Council in 1969 and served in this capacity until resigning in order to make the move to Haskell.

Mrs. Comedy (Clydene) the former Miss Cason and Bill were both reared in Coleman County. She spent a number of years as a bank employee, then switched to the newspaper field, later becoming traffic manager and local news reporter for radio station KPET of Lamesa, a position she held for eight years before moving to Throckmorton when they bought The Tribune. She has been editor of the Tribune for the past five years. She was elected to the Board of Trustees of the Throckmorton Independent School District in 1968 and has served in that capacity until she resigned recently. She has also served as an officer of the Throckmorton Community Chest and the Throckmorton Youth Council.

The Comedys have one son, Don, who is a second year student at Texas Tech. He has taken an active part in student activities throughout high school and was elected to the student council at Texas Tech last year. He worked as an aid to Rep. Charles Fennell in the State Capitol during the summer of 1968.

The entire family are members of the First United Methodist Church. Bill has been a member of the Official Board for a number of years.

We know you will welcome them, as you did us when we came to Haskell and will give them your support and backing in their endeavor to serve the community. In fact, their value to Haskell and Haskell County will depend largely upon the support and backing of the people of this area.

As for Lillie and I, Haskell has been good to us and for the present we will continue to make our home here. We have a deep and abiding interest in the welfare and progress of this good place that has been our home for over 20 years, having bought and started operating The Haskell Free Press with the late Lon Pat as our editor on January 2nd, 1950.

Again we want to express our sincere thanks to the many people of this area and to the group of loyal, hard-working employees, who have made our stay here a pleasant one. We have endeavored to show our appreciation by giving the people of the area a paper rated as one of the outstanding weeklies of the state in a town and county the size of Haskell.

"Conservation" And Scouting Are Closely Related, Says J. C. Yeary

"Conservation and Scouting appear on the surface to be two fields far apart. This just isn't so today," says J. C. Yeary Jr., District Conservationist, USDA Soil Conservation Service, Haskell, Texas.

The current requirements to be an Eagle Scout include a Merit Badge entitled "Conservation and Natural Resources." According to Yeary, many Soil Conservationists throughout the nation are serving as Merit Badge Counselors for scout troops on this and many other conservation merit badges.

Soil Conservation Service technicians at the Abilene Work Unit served this summer at Camp Tonkawa as instructors for the Surveying Merit Badge. They also furnished information and technical assistance to the directors of the camp on other conservation work needed to improve this vital facility to our area's scouting program.

During 1971, Boy Scouts will kick-off activities entitled "Conservation Good Turn." Why? The evidence of mankind's environmental crisis does not have to be sought. We see it, hear it, smell it, absorb it, and suffer from it. It is our air, our lakes and rivers, our land, our life.

John C. Clewlow, immediate past Scout Executive of the Chisholm Trail Council said, "The need is great for a special educational activity beyond the normal conservation program of the Boy Scouts of America. The 1971 'Conservation Good Turn' is a project in citizenship training and participation with objectives to create activities of concern for the quality of the environment and to motivate action programs that will help improve that environment for life and living."

"With this in mind," Yeary said, "Conservation and Scouting, and the work both are attempting to do becomes every citizen's business. If we are to teach our young people the necessity of proper caring for their environment, we must all become involved."

"We of the Soil Conservation Service at Haskell intend to do our part in helping our boys and girls with their conservation work. Will you help them, too? Call on us for any information and assistance needed to fulfill this vital and important part of our work in creating a better environment for our children," Yeary concluded.

Hermann Lodges Membership Drive Opens August 1st

A Fraternal Family Membership Campaign will be held in the 162 Hermann Sons lodges across the state, beginning August 1 and ending October 31, including the Hermann Lodge in Haskell.

Special monetary awards will go to junior members and adult members who participate in the drive, said Fritz Schilo, San Antonio, Grand President of the fraternal benefit society which now has some 68,000 members in its lodges.

Schilo has announced Lauls B. Engelke, San Antonio, Second Grand Vice President, as chairman of the drive.

In addition to stressing the family aspect of the organization, in which there are many 100 per cent families, the campaign commemorates the 80th anniversary year of the Grand Lodge and the order's operation on a statewide basis. Initial lodge of the order was founded in San Antonio 109 years ago, and 29 years later eight lodges had been established and formed the Grand Lodge in San Antonio in 1890.

The order is best known for the many family-type social activities of its lodges and the two large fraternal institutions it operates for its members, the Hermann Sons Home for the Aged and the Hermann Sons Youth Summer Camp, both at Comfort in the Texas Hill Country. These institutions have benefitted thousands of members over the years.

This Spring, Eve assumes yet another face as the look of beauty changes again. Today's look—whether it's based on the 1930's or the 1970's—is completely natural. Beauty aids are used cunningly and with more discretion. Thus, there's less eyeliner, more soft shading with eyeshadow, less eyebrow pencil, more mascara, a healthy blushing rosy complexion and a deeper shade of lipstick.

from Ogilvie's Conditioning Hair Color. It's a new, permanent shampoo-in color with a special European creme formula that actually conditions and colors at the same time. To apply, simply shampoo-in on damp hair. Wait 30 minutes. Then, lather with luke-warm water and, rinse out. This rich conditioning formula helps to prevent breakage and split ends; leaves hair looking lustrous and healthy. The newest beauty look is easy to manage and simple to keep up. In fact, it's a natural!

Minimum Tillage Has Been Added To List of Conservation Practices

In these days of high costs of living, everyone is looking for a way of cutting costs of operations. J. C. Yeary, Jr., District Conservationist for the USDA Soil Conservation Service at Haskell announced recently, that a new conservation practice known as MINIMUM TILLAGE has been added to the list of conservation practices for his area. Minimum tillage is limiting the number of cultural operations to those that are properly timed and essential to produce a crop and prevent soil damage. According to Yeary, the purpose of minimum tillage is to retard deterioration of soil structures, reduce soil compaction and formation of plow pans; and to improve soil aeration, permeability, and tilth. Minimum tillage is applicable to all cropland and certain recreation and wildlife land. Burnell Gilleland of Haskell, cooperating with the California Creek Soil and Water Conservation District says that minimum tillage will save him the cost of at least one, if not two, operations on his wheat land. Gilleland has chiseled all his wheat acres and does not plan but one more operation before seeding his 1971 wheat crop. That operation will be done with a tandem disk just prior to planting. He plans to use herbicide control. Gilleland stated that if conditions are right, he was going to try rigging his seed drill behind the tandem disk and make one trip over the fields do the job of two trips. Many variations exist for reducing the number of times across a field, Yeary said. Each individual farmer's desires, equipment and field conditions will dictate what cultural practices are necessary. Even cotton and maize farmers can practice minimum tillage with very little change in former methods of operating. Anything that can reduce one of two operations per crop can save up to $3 per acre costs, Yeary concluded.

Tax Questions And Answers

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U. S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q) How do I go about checking on a missing refund? It's been months since I sent in my return.
A) If it has been more than ten weeks since you mailed your return, write the service center where the return was filed. Be sure to give your name, address, social security number and the approximate date the return was filed.

Q) Is it true a farmer won't be able to deduct his conservation expenses under the new tax law?
A) The provision you ask about only affects some farmers when they sell farmland at a profit. In these cases, a farmer who sells land owned five years or less is required to treat gain on the sales as ordinary income to the extent of certain conservation expenses made after 1969. For land owned from six to ten years, a decreasing percentage of these expenses must be reported as ordinary income. The law makes no change when the land is owned for more than ten years.

Q) If I give my daughter money instead of the furniture I'd been planning on as her wedding gift, will she have to pay tax on it?
A) No, a gift is not taxable to the recipient. However, if a gift is over $3000, the donor has to file a gift tax return and may have to pay a gift tax. Gifts of cash or other property are subject to the same general rules.

Q) Several companies paid my way to their plants in connection with some job interviews. Can I consider all of these trips tax-free or just the one for the job I finally took?
A) Payment or reimbursement for travel expenses on a job interview is not taxable. This applies whether or not the interview leads to employment. Any reimbursement for expenses that exceeds your cost should be declared as income, however.

Q) I'm now retired and have a pension from my company in addition to Social Security. Will any of this be taxable?
A) All or part of your company pension may be taxable but not your Social Security benefits.

Q) If your company paid the full cost of your pension, then the payments you receive will be fully taxable. However, if you contributed to the cost of the pension, then only a portion of it will be taxable.

Q) Can you deduct the tax paid on airline tickets?
A) No, this is a Federal excise tax and is not deductible on income tax returns.

Local Delegates Return From Convention

"With attacks being made from every quarter on belief in God and the Bible, some of these from religious leaders themselves, it was spiritually refreshing to listen to discourses and see Bible dramas enacted that upheld God's Word," reports Johnnie M. Winn, presiding minister of the local congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses. Winn was referring to the District Convention of Jehovah's Witnesses just concluded in Amarillo Texas. Local delegates returning home this week report that 10,023 persons from over 25 states attended.

Winn announced that meetings this week will be held at the regularly scheduled time at the local Kingdom Hall.

Trans-Pecos Archaic Man Was Cave Dweller, But Was Far From Average

Scientific investigation co-sponsored by Trinity University and the Witte Museum has verified the existence 7,000 years ago in Texas of one of the oldest populations of modern man in the New World.

The investigation was performed on the skeletal remains of some 20 individuals unearthed near Pecos, Texas, on the 1933 expedition sponsored by George C. Martin of San Antonio. Trinity graduate student Jay Wise performed the painstaking measurement and analysis in Trinity's physical anthropology laboratory, using the skeletons provided by the Witte.

The investigation included meticulous examination and identification of hundreds of bones—measuring length, width, weight, etc.—and recording them in great detail, piece by piece, for each of the 20 individuals in the group.

Called Trans-Pecos Archaic Man, the ancient Texans are believed to be the Southeastern-most extension of semi-nomadic cave dwellers who lived in the Southwest around 5,000 B. C., and are known archaeologically as the Archaic of the Desert West.

Trans-Pecos Man has been studied for years by some of the world's leading archaeologists, including Dr. T. Dale Stewart of the Smithsonian Institution as well as the Witte's own Mardith Schuetz. Wise is the first investigator to perform physical anthropological measurement on the Witte collection, using the highly sophisticated equipment of Trinity's new physical anthropology laboratory which was funded within the last year by a grant from the National Science Foundation.

"I have been fascinated by Trans-Pecos Man for years," Wise said, after concluding his initial study. "and I am grateful particularly to the Witte and to Trinity for their assistance. Without their close cooperation this investigation would have been impossible."

Wise's work verifies reports of other investigators and adds some additional discoveries, which will be published in his master's degree thesis, "The Physical Anthropology of Trans-Pecos Man."

Wise indicates there is a significant difference in height among the skeletons in this group. Some were quite short; others were tall for ancient man—possibly six feet. The degree of variance, Wise says, is quite unusual, but adds that more investigation must be done before any conclusions may be drawn.

Although he does not yet have his master's degree, Wise, 27, is an experienced archaeologist. He has led many archaeological digs, was formerly director of anthropology at the Dayton (Ohio) Museum of Natural History, and attended medical school to broaden his anthropological background.

His medical studies aided him in another discovery concerning one of the Trans-Pecos group, whose skeletal development indicated that it belonged to an adult male who lived to be more than 40 years old.

Wise noted a severe arthritic condition of the bone, which indicated that it would have been physically impossible for this particular man to take part in the far-ranging hunting activity necessary to sustain life.

Wise points out that, although Trans-Pecos Man was a cave dweller and had little if any agriculture, he was far from a savage.

"This man," says Wise, "for whatever reason, despite his severe handicap, was cared for by the group for most of his adult life."

INSTANT DRESSING

NEW YORK (ED) It's the sleekest little shape ever to hit a body... the lengthy story of the body shirt concept all grown up in an all-in-one nylon torso suit. What's the big idea? Instant dressing... for a hit-and-run life, a dazzling effect that's no careless accident. Our Girl-on-the-go dons the Torsolino Turtle in Vassarette's sophisticated leotard look. After yoga class, she's off to the yacht in a micro skirt popover—a smashing duo with the bodysmooth torso suit. Her friend, the sports nut, goes for the Torsolino Shirt-Jump, front zippered and muscle-sleeved for athletic action; teams it with a culotte popover to move the scene to at-home entertaining. New instant dressing idea: slip into something comfortable and stay there!

TAC Fund Request Important

The Texas Aeronautics Commission has put in its bid for an increased budget...three times as much money as it now has yearly to dispense for building airports in Texas.

The TAC asks $1.5 million a year to spend in aiding communities in airport construction. These funds would be used to meet part of a community's matching funds obligation toward receiving help from the federal government...

The TAC request seems reasonable and logical. It can result in stretching tax dollars, if it is used as intended to help provide matching funds so federal assistance in airport construction can be obtained by Texas communities.

TAX MAN SAM SEZ:

If you are one of those affluent Americans who can still find household help you may have a problem with your maid tax. As most folks know, household employees are covered by Social Security if you pay the household employee more than $50 per calendar quarter.

Under the new 1969 Tax Reform Act the employee can voluntarily ask that income tax be withheld from their wages as household or agricultural employees. When Internal Revenue Service issues regulations you can also withhold the voluntary income tax deduction on your household or farm employees, and pay this in addition to the Social Security tax.

Rev. Headstream Speaks To The Youth of CAP

By Youth Director Beverly Hill

The youth of the community were honored Wednesday, July 15, by the presence of Rev. Aubrey Headstream from the Mental Health Center. The topic of his discussion ranged from the problems of teachers to the over-bearing strain on grades. He centered thoughts around "Attitudes". The group was concerned because although they may not realize it, everyone has an attitude.

In one afternoon from 5:00 to 6:00, Rev. Headstream bridged the generation gap. Breaking all barriers between young and old. He also narrowed the distance between black and white as the discussion grew more on the level of true understanding.

Stressing the point of being an individual instead of going along with the crowd, Rev. Headstream provided some intriguing thoughts.

The meeting served as a springboard to encourage a youth to try to identify himself. David Collins is considering joining the Job Corps.

The group is looking forward to having Rev. Headstream for more of the summer programs.

"Part of the Texas delegation arrived in New York at 12:58, the trip by plane taking three hours. The entire delegation, USA, Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands, stayed in the New York Hilton. All the meetings were held there, and the meals taken there.

"As soon as meetings were over each day, the FHA'ers scattered so as to see what New York was really like. The group took tours over the city. They saw Saint Patrick's Cathedral, the Empire State Building, Saes, China Town, Wall Street, the U. N. Building, and many other sights included in the bus tour.

Miss Wilfong said: "We took a cruise around Manhattan Island. We saw the Statue of Liberty and Brooklyn Bridge, just two of the many things we viewed. All this didn't include the things we could walk to see. We also went to Radio City, Music Hall, which were just great.

"New York is fabulous. I could not begin to really describe what a city it really is. I liked it very much, and would like to live there for a while."
