

Separate Tax And Sheriff's Offices

By Bill Comedy
On May 18th the voters of Haskell County will vote on one of the most important decisions to be made in a long time. In the past census Haskell County fell below the 10,000 population mark. Therefore, the Tax Assessor-Collector's office and the Sheriff's Department automatically comes under the same office. It's left up to the voters to keep these two offices separated. We have checked into both offices, and come up with these figures: The Sheriff's office handles, on an average, 20 calls a day. That's a total of 7,300 calls a year. This within itself is a fulltime job for any Department.

By keeping the two offices separate, both will be an elective office, therefore the people have the choice of who they prefer in each office. If they are combined, a person will still have to be hired to fill one of the offices, because one man cannot fill both. He will either have to be a sheriff and hire someone to run the tax office; or he will have to be a tax-assessor and hire someone to run the sheriff's office.

To me, this is not sound reasoning. Keep the two offices separate, and get good men to fill both offices.

By combining the two, we feel that it will cost the taxpayer more money, and he won't have as good an operation as the present situation.

We have checked with other counties that have tried the one man-two office combination, and it has not worked satisfactorily. In most cases, the counties have come back to having a sheriff and a tax assessor-collector separate.

The Commissioner's Court has gone on record favoring keeping the two offices separated, and we think that, if the five men who run our county—and are doing a fine job of it—feel this way, then it must be a better operation.

We are not saying that a sheriff cannot be a tax-assessor, or vice-versa. What we are saying is that one man cannot efficiently run the two offices as competently as two separate men. These two offices are very different types of businesses. A good sheriff must keep up with the elaborate changes of laws and law enforcement policies. The same applies to the tax-assessor's office. Each office is a FULL TIME JOB.

American Legion Hall Packed For 48th Annual Singing Convention

They came...they sang...and of fellowshipped! That could about sum up the 48th Annual Singing Convention held here Sunday, April 25th, at the American Legion Hall, from 10:00 a. m. to 4:00 p. m.

President Hallie Chapman, who presided over the convention for the 33rd consecutive year, said: "Around 1500 persons were on hand for the day-long activities."

Noted quartets and lovers of good, old-time singing, from all sections of the Lone Star State plus singing enthusiasts from several other states poured into Haskell for the event.

Chapman kept the program rolling during the stimulated singing session, parading a host of quartets to the podium which was the vantage point of the singing. The singing convention is held each year on the fourth Sunday in April, and plans are already underway for next year's event.

The choral convocation, 67 years deep in history, was held near the banks of the Rice Springs watering place that became Haskell 80-odd years ago. During the business session all officers were re-elected as follows: Hallie Chapman, president; Troy Ash, vice-president, and Mrs. Troy Ash, secretary-treasurer.

Mr. Chapman expressed thanks to everyone who had a part in making the singing a success.

Haskell Flower Show Tops Previous Years

The 1971 version of the Haskell Flower Show, sponsored by Haskell Garden Club, was a huge success Saturday as it unfolded at 3 p. m. in the Community Room of Haskell National Bank. Well over two hundred people registered during the afternoon, and the crowds became such that many people attended who never registered.

Garden club members expressed surprise and great pride in the many entries in all divisions of the show, but especially in the horticulture division. Even with a very dry winter and spring, entries in this division were many and beautiful.

Mrs. Ed Fouts, on behalf of the club, expressed her sincere appreciation to the Haskell National Bank for the use of the community room; to the Haskell Free Press for their publicity of the show; and especially to the general public for their interest in attending the 1971 show.

Mrs. C. B. Rhea served the club this year as general chairman of the show, with much help from all her committees who helped to coordinate this, the best show ever produced according to entries and attendance. Out-of-town guests were registered from Abilene, Stamford, Rule, Knox City and Munday.

Mrs. R. C. Couch won the tri-color award this year; Mrs. Hallie Chapman took home the Award of Distinction; Mrs. C. B. Rhea the Special Creative award; and Mrs. C. B. Rhea won Sweepstakes in the artistic division while Mrs. E. L. Wyche won Sweepstakes in Horticulture.

The creative award winner was made on a blow disc base and centered with a 3-foot driftwood piece, holding two spaced circles of silver leaf vine. The first circle represented 'the world of today', the top circle, 'the world of tomorrow.' Card with the arrangement read, "As long as we have faith, we have hope for tomorrow."

The tri-color award winner was a mass line, old fashioned design held in a green glass container, with antique grape design. Mrs. Couch used heliotrope, iris, daffodils, narcissus, pansies and honeysuckle.

Winner of the award of distinction was an all-dried arrangement in a brown pottery bowl. It was made of pine cones, painted leaves, topa beans, pampas grass and leaves, interspersed with tall

Absentee Voting Underway In May 18th Election

Absentee voting began Wednesday, April 28, in the special election set for Tuesday, May 18th.

Voting by absentee must be done at the County Clerk's office, courthouse, during office hours. Should a person wish to vote absentee by mail he must do so in his, or her writing.

Haskell countians, as well as all Texans, face four proposed Amendments to the Constitution in the special election.

On that date, however, Haskell countians will face dual elections, as in addition to voicing their decisions on the amendments, they will also be voting FOR or AGAINST adding an Assessor-Collector of Taxes to the list of authorized county officials.

Haskell County having 8,512 inhabitants and less than 10,000 inhabitants, it is made mandatory by Constitutional Law that an election be held to determine whether or not an Assessor-Collector of Taxes shall be added to the list of authorized county officials.

Heretofore Haskell County has elected a Sheriff and an Assessor-Collector of Taxes and has kept the two offices separated.

Everett Named Head Coach, Athletic Director At Sweetwater High School

Haskell High School head football coach, C. T. (Sonny) Everett has accepted the position of head football coach and athletic director at Sweetwater High School.

Everett has coached and taught at Haskell High School since 1963, and prior to that time coached and taught at Pecos High School, and Yoe High School at Cameron.

He is a graduate of Breckenridge High School, class of 1955; member of the State Championship AAA teams in 1951, 1952, 1954; all-district selection in football and basketball; all-state selection in football in 1954.

Abilene Model A Club To Host Annual "Swap Meet, Flea Market"

The Abilene Model A Club will host the 5th annual "Swap Meet and Flea Market" at the Taylor County Fair Grounds, May 1 and 2 in Abilene. This has come to be the largest "Flea Market" in Central Texas and becoming increasingly popular with Big Country residents according to Verle Smith, Chapter President.
Dealers from all over the country will be converging on Abilene with everything from complete antique autos to butter churns. Vendors from as far away as California attended last year's "Swap Fest" and brought several hundred dollars worth of merchandise. Fast selling items including coins, cut glass, antique furniture, guns, barbed wire; as well as car parts.
It is not impossible to start at one end of the many stalls provided for dealers and come out the other end having purchased a complete auto of your choice. To the antique auto restorer, there will be a wide range of parts to select from to put the little "gem" on the road. For antique collectors of all kinds this will be a weekend of paradise.
For residents in this area, having items of this nature, they will have a great opportunity to swap or turn them in to ready cash. A display of re-

Owens-SoRelle Wedding Rites Read Saturday In First Baptist Church

MRS. FRANKIE OWEN SORELLE
 ... formerly Beverly Jane Owens

Miss Beverly Jane Owens, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Owens of Haskell, and Frankie Owen SoRelle, III, son of Mr. Frankie Owen SoRelle, Jr., of Rotan, and Mrs. Charles Haines of El Paso, were united in marriage Saturday, April 24, at 8:00 in the evening in the First Baptist Church, Haskell. Dr. Troy Culpepper officiated for the double-ring ceremony. Organist was Miss Wendolyn Garrison of Henderson, cousin of the bride, and Miss Marilee Million of Stamford was soloist. Mrs. W. O. Nanny registered guests.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a long white gown of bridal satin with a high crown neckline and Juliet sleeves. The bodice and sleeves had appliques of re-embroidered Alencon lace enhanced with pearls and crystals. The skirt formed a simulated redingote with bands of Alencon lace on the bottom and outlining the sides of the front. A silhouette train fell chapel length from the waistline, which was defined with a tiny bias self belt.

A crown of pearls held her chapel veil of imported English ivy centered with a white orchid on a white Bible.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Bassett Owens, of Lubbock, sister-in-law of the bride. She wore a long dress of maize mirramist over peau fashioned with an empire waistline and long full Bishop sleeves.

The waistline and ring collar were accented with peasant lace and the skirt was slightly gathered. Spaghetti bows, with love knots held her veil of melanie that matched her dress.

She carried a cascade bouquet of yellow and orange glammias with English ivy.

Bridesmaids were Jackie Beauchamp, maid of honor, of Lubbock, Patricia Toliver of Dallas, Sara Yeary of Canyon, and Becky SoRelle, of Rotan, sister of the groom. The bridesmaids dresses and veils were identical to the matron of honor; two wore maize and two wore apricot. They also carried cascade bouquets of orange and yellow glammias.

The flower girl was Renee Reeves, of Henderson, Texas, cousin of the bride. She wore a miniature gown in apricot with short puffed sleeves.

The ringbearer was Robert Lehrer of Haskell, Glenn Pogue of Haskell served as best man. Groomsmen were Danny Josselet of Haskell, Wayne Reeves of Haskell, Bassett Owens of Lubbock, brother of the bride, and David Hudnall of Lubbock.

Ushers were Bassett Owens, Wayne Reeves, Leslie Huss of Wichita Falls, Jeff Cadenhead of Abilene, and Tommy Munday of Haskell. Tommy Munday and Leslie Huss served as candlelighters.

The reception was held immediately following the ceremony at the church. Members of the houseparty included Vicky Horton of Abilene, Lynn Webster of Haskell, Janis Wall of Lubbock, Sue Hager of Wehnert, and Susan Weise of Denton.

The bride is a graduate of Haskell High School and attended Midwestern University for two years where she was an elementary education major and a member of Gamma Phi Beta social sorority.

The groom is a graduate of Rotan High School and attended Baylor University, San Angelo State, and attends McMurry College as a business major.

After a wedding trip to New Mexico, the couple will make their home in Haskell where the groom is employed with Brister-SoRelle as a soil conservation contractor.

Mrs. Jack Davis greeted the guests and presented them to Miss Glover, her mother, Mrs. M. D. Glover, and grandmother, Mrs. Peter Negri, all of Burkburnett.

The serving table was covered with a white cloth, with net overlay and wedding bell trim. The centerpiece was a large white candle encircled with yellow flowers and gold candleholder. Miss Ann Anders and Delle Davis served guests.

Assisting in the houseparty were Mmes. C. F. Norman, Don Davis, James A. Lisle, Jr., Buddy Bishop, Bruce Miller, Paul Bell, Melvin Fannin and Clarence Ray.

Unique Storage System Boon To Housewives

A unique storage system for the home delivers desired items to the housewife's fingertips at the touch of a button, has been introduced by Remington Rand Systems Division, Sperry Rand Corporation.

Called "Lektriver 100" the system makes possible new concepts in residence design... homes without kitchen cupboards, linen closets, or china cabinets.

A kitchen unit can deliver almost all cooking and serving utensils, plus pantry supplies, to one location, and eliminate stooping, stretching, climbing and walking.

A family unit can store and deliver all of a family's stereo records and tapes, camera equipment, games, entertainment, hobby and sewing supplies.

If this appears to be pipe dreaming, Thomas G. Povey, director of marketing for the Remington Rand Systems Division, points out that electronic cooking, home intercoms, self-cleaning ovens and automatic dishwashers were the pipe dreams of just a few years ago.

About 175,000 widows of veterans who died of service-connected disabilities and 65,000 wives of veterans totally disabled in service are eligible for educational benefits. Individuals interested in these benefits are urged to contact the nearest VA office or local veterans service organization representative.

MY EXPERIENCE WITH DRUGS

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following article was written by "Debra", a 17-year-old Haskell girl relating her experience with drugs.

Drugs are medications which were made to prevent and cure diseases. The word "drug" comes from the Dutch word draag which means to dry. The term came into use because most early drugs were made from dried plants.

Today drugs are being used differently, especially by youngsters. They are used in a sense to get "high", which is simply a form of dizziness and shortening of the mind.

You know yourself that drugs can be very harmful to your mind and body, so why take something that can cause you a serious illness problem, or maybe even death? Curiosity, right? Well, curiosity and finding out can be dangerous. Sometimes it pays to listen... because you might become addicted to drugs from trying them, then you are called a "drug addict" and these drugs are called addicting drugs. The difference between addicting and non-addicting is determined partly by the strength of the craving that a person develops for a drug. So, please don't let curiosity kill you.

Heroin and "speed" are drugs made from morphine. Heroin has an effect similar to that of morphine but it is more poisonous and much more habit forming. At the same time, it does not soothe pain and bring sleep so quickly as morphine. Many drug addicts use heroin. It undermines the emotions and morals of its user. Perhaps more than any other drug. Most of the time, heroin and speed users become anti-social and criminal but sometimes it removes pity, remorse and all sense of responsibility. Alcohol, barbituates, and any other dope can cause drunkenness, loss of judgment and the inability to react quickly or correctly. Drivers intoxicated with alcohol or sedatives may be unable to control their automobiles and can cause serious accidents. Heroin and morphine can cause death when taken in big doses. The main goal of addicts is getting drugs. As a result they become unreliable workers and poor partners, and may even turn to crime in order to get drugs.

The addict has poor personal hygiene and becomes sick from a poor diet. He may also develop serious diseases of the nervous system. The addict lives in constant fear of withdrawal illness and has aches or pains in his muscles... So... look ahead! If you aren't on drugs... don't start. And if you are, kick the habit! Join the unhooked generation.

Debra signs this... LOVE AND PEACE.

THANK MOM

CITATION BY PUBLICATION
THE STATE OF TEXAS
TO: Peggy J. Camp, Respondent, Greeting:
YOU ARE HEREBY COMMANDED to appear before the Honorable District Court of Haskell County at the Court House there, in Haskell, Texas, by filing a written answer to or before 10 o'clock A. M. on the first Monday next after the expiration of forty-two days from the date of the issuance of this citation, same being the 14th day of June A. D. 1971, to Plaintiff's Petition filed in said court on the 5th day of November A. D. 1970, in this cause, numbered D-2026 on the docket of said court and styled in the letter of the Marriage of Jerry Garland Camp and Peggy J. Camp, Defendant.

A brief statement of the nature of this suit is as follows, to-wit: Suit for divorce and custody of minor child, petitioner alleging that he has been a bona fide domiciliary of Texas for more than twelve months and has resided in Haskell County, Texas more than 6 months immediately preceding the filing of said suit; that Plaintiff and Respondent were married April 8, 1967 and separated during the year 1969; that the marriage has become insupportable because of discord and conflict of personalities that destroys the legitimate ends of the marriage relationship and prevents reconciliation, as is more fully shown by Plaintiff's Petition on file in this suit.

Within ninety days after the date of its issuance, it shall be returned unserved.
The officer executing this writ shall promptly serve the same according to requirements of law, and the mandates hereof, and make due return as the law directs.
I sued and given under my hand and the seal of said court at Haskell, Texas, this 27th day of April A. D. 1971.

2,000 Miles In A Railroad Caboose

H. H. Madison "Chaperone" a 157-ton generator stator from Lynn, Massachusetts to Haskell, Texas.

It took only 4 1/2 hours of elapsed time for Plant Superintendent H. H. Madison of Abilene to fly from Abilene, Texas to Boston, Massachusetts... getting back home by rail was an entirely different story.

Traveling in a railroad caboose, it took 14 days to get back to Abilene.

It all began when a "volunteer" was needed to accompany the General Electric generator stator from Lynn, Massachusetts to Haskell, Madison volunteered to make the trip.

The stator, the largest single piece of the new No. 4 generating unit for WTU's Paint Creek Power Station, was oversized and had to be transported across nine states by slow freight. It measures 12 feet and 3 inches in width, 15 feet and 3 inches in height and weighs 137 tons. When loaded on a special lowboy railroad car, the gross weight totaled 486,000 lbs.

Due to its length and the tremendous weight it was carrying, an empty flatcar was attached to the front and rear of car No. 9005 which carried the 157-ton generator stator. Special routing had to be made since the load had to travel by slow freight, and usually at night. The 2,000-mile trip was routed through nine states over several different railroads. If accompanied by Company personnel who would help expedite the task of getting the load switched from one freight train to another along the route, it was thought the job could be completed in three weeks.

Serving as "expediter", Madison and Car Nine-Triple-O-Five completed the trip in 14 days, and arrived in Haskell on Friday the Thirteenth of November.

What makes the whole story about the trip more interesting is the fact that the flight from Abilene to Boston was the first time Madison had ever traveled on a commercial airline...and even more amazing is the fact that the trip by slow freight from Massachusetts to Texas was the first time Madison had ever ridden on a train!

My First Train Ride And Perhaps, The Last

H. H. Madison's "volunteer" trip to Boston and back all started on October 26 when he boarded a plane at the Abilene Municipal Airport for Dallas. He had a short lay-over in Dallas, but made it to Boston in 4 1/2 hours elapsed time.

But why not let Madison tell his own story?

"This seemed to be quite an adventure to me when I 'volunteered', but I never dreamed it would be the adventure it really was. As old as I am, I had never ridden on a train, and although I had flown in an airplane many times, I had never ridden on a commercial airline. I am not a real big fan on flying, and I really got 'shook up' when we landed on instruments in Boston. That two-weeks' ride in the caboose and on the engine really gave me some 'railroad experience'."

When I arrived at the Lynn River Works, near Boston, Car Nine-Triple-O-Five was loaded and ready to roll. Those GE fellows had me all fixed up, for there was a special sign attached to the stator which read: "More Power for West Texas Utilities," and they had even painted a tengallon cowboy hat on the sign. Actually, it looked like a replica of Boss Cartwright's big white hat...but it was a real nice gesture.

Due to the length and tremendous weight, the train trip began by special train...a diesel engine, a flatcar, Car No. 9005, another flatcar and the caboose in which I was riding. "The Boston and Main rolled us into the Mystic River Yard in downtown Boston at about 8:30 p. m. The first thing to happen was a derailment in the yard ahead of our car, and it was 3:25 a. m. before we got out of the yard.

Once we got started, we rolled along at a steady clip through western Massachusetts; crossed the lower parts of Vermont; and passed through the Hoosac Tunnel. Man! It was dark in there. The tunnel is 4 and 3/4 miles long under the mountains. It was so dark you could not see your hand in front of you. I stepped out on the platform to have a look, and the beam from my five-cell flashlight was absorbed in the smoke and soot on the top of the tunnel.

The first stop was Rotterdam Junction in upper New York State. We changed train crews about every 150 miles, but old Car 9005 and I just kept rolling along. I was the only Texan aboard until we reached Texas, and I found the train crews were a little suspicious of people they don't know much about. But I made friends with them and they were real good to me.

"I rode in the caboose, and in the engine which is a good place to ride except it's pretty dirty, hot, and you can't lie down. But I found that when you get sleepy enough, you can sleep anywhere. There were bunks in the caboose, and that was much better when you can find a cushion or pillow.

"The weather? ... I had two mornings of 28 degree weather, but usually it was about 40 degrees. It started raining on us in Buffalo and rained all the way to Cleveland. I did not see the sun again until we reached Little Rock. We had lost that attractive sign between Syracuse and Buffalo.

"Our first change in railroads was at Selkirk, New York, where we were switched to Penn Central. Each time we changed railroads, the crew was required to remeasure the car and load to make sure it had not shifted. While the load was being measured I went to the Railroad YMCA in Selkirk.

"Old Nine-Triple-O-Five and I rolled out of Selkirk at 6:10 p. m., Saturday, October 31; changed train crews at Syracuse, New York; and went all the way to Buffalo before we had to change trains. We got into the yards in Buffalo at 7:30 and 90005 was switched to another train. Such a load is never 'humped' in the switching yard...it is always moved with a switch engine. If such a load was 'humped' they could never stop it, for it would go right through the switches. Friction brakes cannot stop such a heavy load.

"I not only lost the sign between Syracuse and Buffalo, but I lost Nine-Triple-O-Five in Cleveland. How in the world could you lose something as big as a 157-ton stator on a railroad car? Boy, it ain't easy, but I did it twice.

"In the yards at Buffalo I was told that we would be rolling in a very short time, but it was the next day before we were on our way. The freight conductor could not find the waybill on Car No. 9005. We called the train dispatcher, and I was informed that they had a problem - well, I had one, too - we had to get rolling. I was told it would be the next day before they could get us out of Buffalo.

"The next day, when they were making up the train that would take us to Cleveland, Old Nine-Triple-O-Five could not be found. Someone had found the waybill, my load was added to another train and was already on its way to Cleveland. I caught a taxi downtown to the Union Station, got a passenger train for Cleveland where the special car and the stator were waiting for me. I traded my seat on the passenger train for my bunk in the caboose, and we left Cleveland at 3:20 a. m. for Bellefontaine, Ohio.

"The next stop was in Indianapolis where I slept in a hotel for the first time since leaving Boston. I went with the train crew to the Warren Hotel and got a good night's sleep. When sleeping in a caboose you do not have all "the comforts of home."

"With Massachusetts, Vermont, Pennsylvania, Ohio and Indiana behind me, we crossed over into Illinois on our way to East St. Louis. Old 90005 and I rolled into the East St. Louis Yards at 3:25 a. m. on Saturday. We were a part of a two-mile-long freight train and it takes a long time to get into the yards. The train crew really shook me up...they said not to leave them, and they told me to get away from me. We went to the Mark Twain Hotel in St. Louis. It is an old hotel, but comfortable, and most of the train crews stay at the Mark Twain.

"We got tied up in East St. Louis all day Sunday and I was told it would be Monday before they could get us on our way to Texas. But I did not mind that.

The St. Louis Cardinals were playing the Boston Patriots at Busch Stadium and I enjoyed the football game.

"We rolled out of the East St. Louis Yards at 5:00 a. m. Monday for Dupo, Illinois, where we were switched to the Missouri Pacific. We crossed the Mississippi River at Thebes and headed southwest for Poplar Bluff, Missouri. This is where Nine-Triple-O-Five and I got separated the second time.

We changed trains in Poplar Bluff, and when the train was pulling out of the yards, I saw all the 90005 on a siding. There was nothing I could do, but worry for I was headed for Little Rock. When my train arrived in Little Rock at 2:20 on November 10, Nine-Triple-O-Five was there waiting for me in the

VA Questions And Answers

EDITOR'S NOTE: Veterans and their families are asking thousands of questions concerning the benefits their Government provides for them through the Veterans Administration. Below are some representative queries. Additional information may be obtained at any VA office.

Q-I converted my "V" NSLI term policy to the Modified Life plan in July 1970. I received dividends each year on the term policy, but failed to receive a dividend payment on the Modified Life Policy. Why?

A-When you convert your NSLI policy, you also change the anniversary date on which dividends on the Modified Life policy will be paid. The Modified Life policy with a "V" prefixed number you converted to is a participating policy and dividends have been declared on these policies for 1971. However, your dividend in July will be smaller than those on your NSLI policy.

Q-Some of the services have a six months active duty training program, followed by so many years of weekly drills. Are these people eligible for educational assistance under the GI Bill?

A-No. This is a six months active duty program for training enlistment in the reserves or National Guard, and is specifically excepted from the definition of active duty for GI Bill purposes.

Q-I have remarried, and my present husband has adopted my daughter. Since her father died from injuries sustained in World War II, is she entitled to training under the War Orphans Assistance Program?

A-Yes. Her eligibility is based on the fact that her parent died from service-connected causes. Subsequent adoption does not affect this original eligibility.

sunshine. This was the first time I had seen the sun since leaving Buffalo.

"I was getting closer to the "Madison Country" mile by mile, and the Missouri Pacific moved us along at a fast clip. We arrived in Texarkana at 2:30 on November 11; was sidetracked for an hour and fifteen minutes; and got into Longview, Texas at 7:15 a. m. We rolled into Fort Worth at 3:07 p. m., where 90005 and I would be switched to the Fort Worth & Denver (Burlington). I went to the Worth Hotel; got a room. I had the privilege of spending another night in a hotel, and the next morning was ready for the ride again.

"Only 114 miles from Wichita Falls and a short run to Haskell, and I would be home. We left Fort Worth at 1:00 p. m., November 12, and it seemed like we would never get there. There was another derailment ahead of us, and our train was delayed while the track was being repaired. At 7:30 p. m. we rolled into the Burlington Yards in Wichita Falls where Production Engineer E. W. Hamilton was waiting for me.

"I had ridden with Car No. 90005 for almost 2,000 miles and Hamilton had driven to Wichita Falls to take me home by car. I wanted to ride the rails all the way but Hamilton said "NO"...You can meet 90005 in Haskell in the morning."

"After we made sure that the car had been switched to the Wichita Valley Railroad siding, we left for Abilene.

"I'm really not sentimental about that big hunk of steel, but after you have traveled with it for more than 2,000 miles, thru nine states for 14 days, you hate to leave it alone. I wanted to be sure "my responsibility" was safely waiting on the siding in Haskell. I guess it was about 4:00 a. m. when I decided to make sure. I got in my car and started for Haskell. It was not in Haskell when I arrived, so I headed out the Seymour highway to find Old 90005. As I arrived in Seymour there it was, moving along very slowly toward the end of its journey. I turned my car around and led the train into Haskell. We arrived at 6:15 a. m. on Friday the Thirteenth."

The last 18 miles of the trip made by truck was the "responsibility" of Leo Hollon, assistant construction superintendent at the Paint Creek Power Station. Using a special lowboy trailer, Mashburn Trucking Company of Childress transported the stator from Haskell to the plant site. Monday it was setting under the special hydraulic hoist ready to be lifted to the turbine room floor and moved into position on the turbine pedestal.

May Draft Call Is Announced

The May Draft Call for Texas has been announced by Col. Melvin N. Glantz, the State Director of the call for 959 men to be inducted from Texas. The National Induction Call is for 15,000 men.

FEDERAL REGULATIONS FOR FARM DRIVERS were postponed to Dec. 1 by the Department of Transportation today. The action followed strong objections by the Farmers Union and other 21 and to require medical and physical examinations. It had earlier been postponed from January to July 1. The DOT said a notice would appear in the FEDERAL REGISTER and would propose: (1) Exemption of all drivers of vehicles of 10,000 lbs weight or less from federal regulations; (2) Exemption of the minimum age of drivers of farm vehicles under 21; (3) Exemption of farm drivers from paperwork requirements, background investigation and testing; and (4) That drivers of farm vehicles would have to meet some physical and medical examinations.

You have an extended opportunity to contact your congressman and representative on this matter.

A DAY OF "FIRSTS"

(April 18)
By Billie Cadenhead

Our hunger was exceeded by our weariness as we rejected the offer of dinner from the Hanalei Plantation desk clerk. The lack of food may have been part of the reason, but, in any case, the fresh pineapple which the manager sent to our room tasted very delicious after our late arrival.

Sleep of the weary filled the hours until about 6:30. Then, we were wide awake. The cool but pleasant breezes from outside our room invited a look. Macaw shrills and other sounds from birds of the "green jungle" beyond our window pierced the morning air. Already, the pounding surf had become a background sound as we slept while its rhythm never ceased. Wide awake and overflowing with curiosity, I greedily drank in the landscape.

As the results of a morning shower, the deep verdant leaves sparkled with tiny pearls of rain, penetrating mounds of land made mountains in a distant version of the type landscape which surrounded our cottage. A new day's sun treaded with soft glow on the edge of the blue horizon. There it was! The massive blue of the sea, the ocean, the mighty Great Pacific stretched before us. Straight ahead for thousands of miles to the north lay the Aleutians; to the northwest and west the Orient had been the last shores to feel these waves lap. I can still see the sea pounding at the confining edges of land—stretching further than sight. Too, on that first morning, out where the waves peak highest (twelve feet, "they" say), we saw six board-borne humans diving in, out, under and up with the waves. 'Twas the surfers of Hanalei Bay.

Bright Hawaiian smiles greeted our morn at breakfast. They were worn by ladies with long muumuis and fresh flowers, warm faces and kind words. Fellow Americans were they all. Waimalei Canyon and its surrounding points of interest were our goal for the day. Our Nova sped back over many of the miles we'd driven the night before and the names we'd read on road signs became tangible places with stores and homes and fields and people. Of all the many beauties of the day one curious sight stuck in my mind. There, in green, lush, wet Hawaii, one side of the canyon, called the desert side, was filled with a healthy profusion of Cactus. Yes, plain old round, prickly, sticky, green West Texas Cactus.

Our return drive was through an historic covered arbor of "that" tree—how much I thought and pondered over that mysterious sounding tree as a child when I first began to think of things and places "far away." Here, this day, I've seen a whole grove of eucalyptus trees growing.

What a day! We've seen the Pacific, driven through the eucalyptus with their distinctive smell, received a beautiful purple orchid at breakfast and a larger white one in the post office, smelled the sweet molasses aroma of the sugar cane mills, and been made to feel a welcome part of this Garden Isle, Kauai.

Brent Davis of Rule Is Collecting Mites And Springtails In Antarctic

ANVERS ISLAND, ANTARCTICA—"It's getting colder by the week" on Anvers Island off Antarctica's Palmer Peninsula, but bitter weather doesn't stop the work of two Texas Tech University biology students spending the winter here.

Dale Berry of Alhambra, Calif., and Brent Davis of Rule, report that they are collecting mites and springtails (Collembola) when the weather permits and working in the laboratory whenever the weather drives them indoors.

Davis notified his project leader at Texas Tech, Dr. Russell W. Strandmann, that first efforts to rear mites for study in the laboratory failed although eggs were found in the cultures the students had.

"The second experiments are going better," he said. "I have been concentrating on keeping animals alive and building up a large stock for the winter," he said. "So far that has been successful."

Communication is maintained between Anvers Island and the students' home base of Lubbock by letter and by ham radio.

Davis and Berry worked during the Antarctic summer and then, when most scientists leave the continent, they stayed on with about six men from the U. S. Navy. Their work is sponsored by the National Science Foundation Antarctic Research Project.

Four From Haskell Named To Dean's List

Terry K. Diggs, Pamela E. Reeves, William J. Kemp and Roger S. Livengood, of Haskell, were among the more than 1,650 students in the College of Arts and Sciences at Texas Tech University to be named to the Dean's List during the fall semester.

To qualify for the Dean's List a student must have a grade point average of 3.0 or more and must be taking as many as 12 hours of work.

AREA TOWNS AFFECTED BY LOW LEVEL FLYING ROUTES

The world-wide commitments of the 516th Tactical Airlift Wing (TAW), Dyess AFB, require continuous low level flying training. The highest degree of proficiency must be maintained by the 516TAW aircrews in all modes of aerial delivery. As a result, C-130 Hercules and C-7A Caribou aircraft are flown at low altitudes over the "Big Country" on a daily basis.

These low level flights may be scheduled between 8 a. m. and midnight, Monday thru Friday, and less frequently on weekends. Daylight missions are flown at an altitude of 500 feet above the ground while night low level activities are conducted at least 1,000 feet above any obstacle or terrain feature within three miles of the prescribed track of the aircraft. Airspeeds will vary from 115 to 290 miles per hour.

All flights are made along specific routes which are selected to provide maximum training and minimum disturbance of farms, ranches and communities. Towns, local airports, hospitals, hatcheries and stock pens are avoided when planning these routes and they will not be overflown under any normal circumstances. 516th officials would like to emphasize that, even though training must be conducted at low altitudes and high airspeeds in order to be realistic, all possible precautions are taken to prevent disruption of local agricultural and community activities.

The communities most affected by these training flights are:

PAINT CREEK NEWS

By Mrs. Gene Overton

(Too Late for Last Week)
The steering committee of the Paint Creek Water System has turned their map and plans over to an engineer to have them studied and appraised. He will advise as to whether we can have the district or not. As he left the meeting after leaving the members of the committee, and just glancing at the map, he suggested they re-view their efforts to chain more meters. They only have between 90 and 100 meters, but they have another lot of "I don't know" water especially, but I'll take a meter to help the community, and because I might need water if my present well fails" notes. The committee hopes to add some new meters when they meet with the engineer the next time.

"THAT'S WET CEMENT!"

We extend our sympathy to Mrs. Lem Ivy, Mrs. Clement Dudensing and Mrs. Albert Butner in the loss of their mother, Mrs. Mary Kretzmer. Mrs. Kretzmer has had five grandchildren to graduate from Paint Creek and Peggy Dudensing is still a student here. Mrs. Joan Grammebauer is Mrs. Kretzmer's niece.

How gas heating that heats in the winter can be an air-conditioner that cools in the summer.

You already have half a central air conditioning system. It's a simple matter to install a cooling unit to your gas heating system. You can probably use the furnace blower and ductwork you already have. You'll save up to half the installation costs of starting from scratch. Temperature control in your home is a year-round proposition, but not an expensive one. We have special rates for gas air conditioning during the summer. And no matter what the season, you pay less for gas than electricity. Another nice thing about gas central air conditioning is its simplicity. There are fewer moving parts. Fewer breakdowns. Fewer repairs. Wake up your central gas heating to central gas cooling. You'll sleep better this summer.
