"According to the proposal frozen dinners will contain meat, poultry, fish or cheese protein, potatoes, rice or other cereal-based products, and vegetables other than potatoes, rice or other cerealbased products.

A NEW ENVIRONMENT FOR RESEARCH

The research activities of business organizations, once relegated to dingy old buildings and cluttered laboratories, are undergoing radical change. Now efforts are being made to provide the campus-like atmosphere of academic institutions. In addition to the support of complex equipment and computers, the scientist is benefitting from the finest talents of modern project planning and structural and landscape architecture - with marked concern for aesthetics as well as for function.

Providing this new environment for research is the central purpose of a unique building, designed by the renowned architect, Paul Rudolph, which houses the corporate headquarters and laboratories of Burroughs Wellcome Co. It will soon be dedicated at Research Triangle Park, N.C.

The entire Research Tri-angle Park center was realized through the pioneering foresight of former Governor Luther Hodges of North Carolina, who also served as Secretary of Commerce during the Kennedy

Rising from the highest elevation in the Park, the new Burroughs Wellcome Co. building is located in a rolling wooded area of more than 5,000 acres at the center of a triangle formed by three uniersity communities -Raleigh, Durham, and Chapel with North Carolina State University, Duke University, and the University of N.C., respectively. Medical schools are at Duke and U.N.C., with a third, Bowman Gray, less than 100 miles

The ultra-modern design of the building itself reflects the Company's determination to encourage an atmosphere of scientific and creative exchange of ideas within its sophisticated, highly specialized pharmaceutical rea library and technical data center, an auditorium and cafeteria. Covered with beige stone aggregate, the exterior is terraced with protruding laboratories and offices.

Burroughs Wellcome Co. has been an integral part of the health care system of the United States since the early years of the century. The Company manufactures and markets quality pharmaceutical products for ailments ranging from the common headache to leukemia.

In support of this effort, The Wellcome Research Laboratories have as their objective the discovery of medicines for the prevention and treatment of human illness. These Laboratories have produced what some experts call a revolution in pharmacology. One of the more than 80 medicinal products produced by Burroughs Well-come Co. is Empirin Compound, the well known pany's domestic manufacturing is conducted at its plant in Greenville, North Carolina, about 100 miles east of Research Triangle

The Spot Is Moved

It is still the Spot Grocery, but the spot is moved. Mike Owen has moved his more room and convenience. And the store is air conditioned, and you can shop in comfort. Mike says the formal open-

Parallel Terracing

Soil Conservation Service

More and More local farmers are realizing the value of Parallel Terraces and the benefits to be gained from them. Although the primary purpose of parallel terraces is to stop crosion and conserve your moisture, there are many side benefits gained. By eliminating a majority of point rows you cut your farming time on each operation. This cuts your fuel costs, wear and tear on equipment, labor costs, faster harvests and lowor seed costs by cutting down on double sowing. But one of the main advantages is keeping the moisture on your fields, spread overa larger area to be taken into the soil for use by your crop. Parallel terraces will increase your Dick Ferguson, Elbert have all installed new parallel terrace systems this year.

There are still thousands of acres of good cropland in Kent County that could benefit from parallel terraces. A good part of this land is 0 to 2 percent slope and is the type of land that will benefit the most by getting better distribution of your water. This type of land usually does not show any signs of severe erosion but the erosion is there just the same, and the loss of water off of these fields during a hard rain storm is tremendous.

possibility of installing a system of parallel terraces on your field next year and start sharing in the benefits.

As It Looks

Member of Congress, Texas

AFTER THREE DAYS of debate the U.S. House of Representatives last week passed a Bill on environmental protection with a price tag of $24, 6 billion, Knowledgeable estimates indicate that the cost will soar to $35 billion before the provisions are fully implemented.

THE ENVIRONMENTAL PROTECTION AGENCY, created to administer the program already has over $2 billion appropriated to it and has yet to really get off the ground. To use these sums of money they will have to spend as if were going out of style.

OF COURSE EVERYONE IS FOR cleaning up and preserving our environment. The effortshould have been started in an orderly way long ago but since present conditions didn't get that way overnight, corrections and remedies can't be made to work overnight either.

THE EXPERTS HAVE YET to agree on the many approaches to curing the problem. Wide disagreement exists on what pollutes our air and water and about what should be done. For instance, not long ago certain phos phate detergents were blamed and condemned. A few weeks later other experts said not

ANOTHER EXAMPLE IS THE emissions from leaded gasoline. Last year the Admini stration proposed a $4,00 per pound tax on lead to elimiaromatics was to take the place of lead to maintain the octane level until automobile engines can be built to run effectively on low octane fuel. This was supported by a group of "experts" but another group of seemingly qualified scientists came along and found, after research and testing, that aromatics are more poland wholesome surrounding are indeed laudable. Conditions in some places in the country are deplorable and to some degree or other threaten human and animal life. There should be both scientific and common sense efforts at eliminating these useless haards. It can be done without squandering billions of dollars and doing needless injury to property and industry. Money alone is not going to clean up our surroundings.

WHILE INFLATION CON-TINUES TO EAT away at the economy, some things being porposed can have no other effect than increase the price of things to ay for costs of meeting required standards Just as safety requirements for automobiles, some of which have dubious value, run up the price, so will some of the demands on industry increase costs of many products we all have to buy.

THE ANNUAL BUDGET OF

THE FEDERAL GOVERNMENT has sommitted to it 72 percent in uncontrolled costs. In other words, the Congress has discretion over only approximately 28 percent of total expenditures. One of the best examples of fixed spending is the $22 billion interest on public debt. And so on and on the Legislative Branch has abdicated its responsibility over the purse strings. Our friend Congressman George Mahon, Chairman of the Appropriations Committee, agrees that those of us who claim fiscal responsibility can protect our credibility only by opposing the procedures followed in the measure passed last week. It further adds to spending over which the

THE BILL AS PASSED DOES NOT permit a year-to-year appropriation, as is the case is most all other programs. There is no annual review of the whether the program is working or whether it needs more or less money. A lump sum of $24.6 billion is provided for a three year period with little or no control by the Congress which responsible for these purse strings of this Nation. With a public year; a prospect of at least $26 billion minus for the coming 1973 fiscal year, this sum is added in sort of a panic atmosphere because to oppose any part of it is inviting condemnation by those who say if you are not for galloping full speed ahead, and in the dark in many aspects, you are not for a healthy environment.

IT IS EASY TO SPOOK AND STAMPEDE under these circumstances and that is apparently what happened last week -- the vote 380 for, 14

Whoever he is, wherever he is - I respect this man. Naturally I respect anyone whose presence can bring calmness and peace where there could have been confusion

As for me, I'm just a writer. With others I've been writing on behalf of the Church - with conviction and enthusiasm - for many a year. Rarely until now have I written in the first person.

But this picture challenges one to identify himself. On this rocky hillside teeming with restless life only one is master, guide, guardian of all.

I share with you the common realization: I am not that one. We share too the simple faith that knows: The Lord is my Shepherd.
