Coronation For Halloween Is Set

This Week In Jayton

Don't forget to change clock Saturday night to standard time. Otherwise you may miss time. Now I will get six months getting to standard time.

It's just amazing what a group of professional press agents, or relation people can do to a politician.

Have you seen any of McGovern's speeches the last few days? Nothing for sure, he doesn't sound like the liberal candidate for whom we heard and before the national election.

He has junked his pro-fair guaranteed income. He said so publicly. And now he is riding a very popular horse of moderate Democraticism, and that is that people who draw welfare must have an opportunity to work, and must work if they can.

So he addresses himself to the middle class, and tells the people he is going to close their taxes down, close up the loop holes for big corporations and those with big incomes using to evade taxes. Now, folks, this kind of campaign will bear fruit when we watch the polls, and George's stock goes up.

It may be, but I never saw a real strong address of Governor Connally. And, now I have heard much for his trying to get the people of Texas to vote in the election. LBJ tried to get this WEEK page 6

Cold And Rain Hamper Jayton Homecoming Fri.

The following named students were presented in ceremony naming the 1972 Jayton High School Football Sweetheart and Beau. The Jayton homecoming, held last week, was well planned, with everyone concerned working hard to see that it went off just right--but none could control the weather, and it was not just what it had been desired, but anyway, the Homecoming was held on schedule.

Representing the Freshman class were; Vickie McMeans and Mark Fincher. Sophomores: Jennice Browning and David Fincher. Juniors: Billie McMeans and Steve Kidd. Seniors: Stephanie Owens and Parker Kidd. Sweetheart is Stephanie Owens daughter of Helen Owens. Beau is Parker Kidd son of Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Kidd.

The Jaybirds Host Roby Friday Night

The Jayton Jaybirds are ambitious. What they desire right now is to add game number five to their winning record. This they can do by rolling the Roby Lions here Friday night in the annual clash between the representatives of the two schools. Jayton has won the last several games, and Roby will be coming into town hungry. The kickoff will come at 7:30.

4-H Club Meeting

A meeting for parents and adult leaders in the 4H Club Program will be held on Thursday night, October 26 at 8:00 p. m. in the Community Center. The program will be presented by Lance Bullard, 4H Club and Youth Specialist from the State 4H Club office.

The 4-H Club is the largest rural youth organization in the world. The 4H Club program includes a wide variety of projects and programs to interest all boys and girls from ages 9 to 19.

All parents are invited to attend this meeting to improve the 4H Club program in Kent County.

Checking Cotton

Billy Harrison and his Dad, Billy John Harrison, are checking four varieties of cotton in a Cotton Variety Demonstration. Varieties being grown are Lankart, Paymaster 18, Paymaster 111, and Paymaster 202. Billy is working with his dad in this 4H Club project. Yields and grade will be determined on each variety.

The Jayton Jaybirds overcame cold and bad weather and ran up a 44 to 0 victory over Sands here before a small homecoming crowd Friday night. A highlight of the game came when Keith Cave picked off two Sands passes, running one of the 32 yards for a score, and the other 65 yards. This gave the fans a special thrill.

Parker Kidd scored twice, and Brad Dibrell and Bobby Kelley each had the pleasure of carrying the pigskin into the endzone.

This put their season record at 4-2, and the district record at 2-0.

LETTERS to EDITOR

We had an express and Western Union Office. The railroad prospered for many years. Thousands of cattle were shipped from the cotton platform, and of course, all incoming freight.

When the highway was finished in 1936 the railroad began its decline and truck and busses began to take over and the musical whistle of the steam locomotive is now only a pleasant memory.

Sometime ago, Joe Thompson sent the picture to Houston, and a nice enlargement was made. Joe then sent the enlargement to Denver, Colorado where Hol Wagner of the

The Guides

A new book recalling a much criticized New Deal project of the 1930's, the Federal Writers' Project, reminds us that writers at that time, paid by the government in an anti-depression effort, produced an interesting series of guide books to the various sections of America.

The series then was called the American Guide series. It has been largely neglected since its completion (the Writer's Project died in 1939) but the books offer those who want to rediscover America--and especially the America of that time--a chance to do so.

There Is Still Hope For Lower Insurance Rates

Defeat of the competitive insurance plan in the legislature does not mean hope is lost for a reduction in home owner rates in West Texas, State Rep. Renal Rosson said today. Rep. Rosson, chairman of a special interim committee studying the basic rate structure for extended coverage in home owners policies, said that committee will continue to meet and revue such insurance rates. This committee was formed before the special session was called by Governor Preston Smith to study insurance reform, Rosson said, and had already collected statistics and information valuable to the study. At least two members of the Insurance Commission Board have indicated to me that relief is overdue for the north-northwest section of the State, which includes this area," Rosson said. "We will continue to press for fairer and more equitable rating system in Texas. It is not right that this area must pay as much as 3 1/2 times as neighboring counties, when statistics do not show that we suffer weather losses to any greater extent than other areas," Rosson added.

No Upsets Make The Contest Easy

There were some good guessers in the football contest this week. Taking first place was Vanessa Fowler with one miss, and she guessed the total score at 30. In second place was Billy Fowler with one miss, and the total score at 25. Close behind in third place was Jack Williams, Jr. with two misses, and he had the total score right on the button at 44. John Fowler missed three games, as did Dallas Kenady, and several missed only four. This contest is made possible by the merchants who advertise on the contest page.

Beadle Funeral In Spur Thursday

Robert Gibbens "Bud" Beadle, 87, of Spur died at his home at 10 a. m. Tuesday of an apparent heart attack. Services will be at 2 p. m. Thursday at the Assembly of God Church, with the Rev. Perry Sheffield, pastor, officiating. Burial will be in Spur Cemetery by Campbell Funeral Home. Beadle was born Feb. 14, 1885, in Mason County. He married Iler Waldon on Nov. 28, 1905, in Kent County, where he had lived for 14 years, since 1891. He moved to Dickens County in 1941. He was a member of the Assembly of God Church. He is survived by his wife; three sons, Wayne Beadle of Spur, L. D. Beadle of Plainview and Raymond Beadle of 3804 43rd in Lubbock; 14 grandchildren; 32 great-grandchildren; and three great-grandchildren. Grandsons will be pallbearers. Distinction "Pro" means "for" and "con" means "against." This explains the difference between progress and Congress. -Courier, Bristol, Va.

Using The Milkman

A new idea with potential is utilization of milkmen for delivery of magazines. Publishers hurt badly in recent years by postal increases have initiated a pilot project in Providence, Rhode Island, to see how this system will work.

In Florida some companies are already employing local residents to deliver products, rather than the U.S. Postal Service. Like magazine publishers, these firms are unhappy with postal service or rates, or both.

There is, of course, no reason why milkmen cannot easily and cheaply deliver more products than most currently do. A customer requiring delivery of milk, for example, can utilize a truck's trip for delivery of other regularly-needed foods or products.

Some years back fresh bread was widely delivered daily. There's no reason this much-missed service couldn't be reinstated with milkmen for those not satisfied with bread filled with chemicals to make it feel fresh.

Magazines, breads, and many other products thus might soon be available from the local milkman, a logical and gratifying development which should help both suppliers and customers.

The Bugging

The much-publicized bugging by a group interested in President Nixon's reelection, of Democratic Party offices in Washington, is being sensationalized by the New York Times and Washington Post as the scandal of scandals.

There's no question that anti-Democrats went too far, they have been properly indicted, not protected, and the law will take its course. But bugging, while wrong, is no worse than stealing secret government documents, which papers encourage by printing them.

Thus the holier-than-thou campaign of these two anti-Nixon giants lose some of its credibility, when one views the full picture.

News organizations which exploit dubious practices are not convincing when they seize upon such an event among their opponents to build a major campaign against them. Newsmen have too often resorted to similar practices and in these cases they are hailed as heroes by the papers.

Staged News

The Federal Communications Commission has asked the three giant networks which dominate U.S. television to submit comments on a number of staged events transmitted as news to the public between 1968 and 1971.

The FCC, notoriously timid in regulating the networks, was prodded by chairman Harley Staggers of a House Commerce subcommittee. In asking the networks for comment, the FCC almost apologized for its action, issuing a statement arguing that the "real criterion" in this case is "whether the public is deceived about a matter of major significance."

This is not the real criterion, which is whether television newsmen are faking the news. It is not whether the fakery involved a story of major significance—who is to decide this?—but whether news is being faked, this is the fundamental, disturbing question.

In keeping with its apologetic attitude, the FCC statement also claimed that "no government agency can authenticate the news, or try to do so." This again is not the question; the question is whether the FCC properly supervises news telecasts in the public interest to prevent fakery. Rather than issuing so many alibis for what it's not doing (or won't do), the FCC should get on with the job of protecting the public interest, a job long neglected.

Halloween

Halloween has its origin among the Druids centuries before the Christian era and from the Roman festival of Pomona. Later the church adopted the day as a special one, and the name is of Christian origin, referring to the eve of All Hallows Day.

Druid customs were so firmly entrenched that although the Romans outlawed their observances in both Britain and Ireland during their occupation many of the observances survive to this day. Halloween is one.

To the Druids, October 31st was the end of the year and thus the festival. The Druids also believed this was the time good souls of the dead went into animals, especially the cat. They believed punishment of the wicked could be lightened by gifts and prayers. (The 31st is also Protestant Reformation Day, dating from Martin Luther's rejection in 1517 of the church's teaching that one could buy indulgences for both the living and dead.)

In the United States the day has come to be associated with young people, who gather in goodies in trick or treat calls—a vast improvement over the mischief and destruction of former years.

French Phrases

One of life's woes is the continuing snobbery of writers in showing off their knowledge of the French language by inserting—in English books—French passages without translation.

The obvious inference is that everyone knows French—of course, an absurd affectation.

Most Americans (and most Englishmen) know neither how to speak or read French. Nor do they wish to search through a dictionary translating passages inserted to create a cosmopolitan image of the author.

"AND NOW PERHAPS WE CAN PERSUADE OUR BELOVED PRESIDENT TO SAY A FEW WORDS!"

As It Looks From Here

By Rep. Omar Burleson
Member of Congress, Texas

It is anyone's appraisal whether the 92nd Congress, just concluded, was a "do-something" or "do-nothing" one.

The democrats contend that it is a "do-something" Congress while the republicans generally brand it otherwise.

There is a vast difference, of course, in the quantity of legislation enacted and its quality. Insofar as quantity is concerned approximately 240 measures have been passed which may be considered as major with many others considered of less importance nationally. These latter measures had to do with amending certain laws and some apply to specific cases and areas of the country.

For the last several years, the emphasis has been on legislation dealing with social and educational matters, including health.

In the field of health near $4 billion has been provided in new laws to train more family doctors and nurses. The sum of $1.5 billion has been provided to find cures for cancer.

In addition, money has been provided for research on several types of anemia control, multiple sclerosis research, communicable disease control, heart, blood vessel, and lung disease research. The Vocational Rehabilitation Act, providing new aids to the severely handicapped and other disabled persons, is extended.

Added to the present Higher Education Act is a system of Basic Education Opportunity Grants; a program of direct institutional aid to colleges and universities and grants for occupational and vocational education, including what is known as the National Institute of Education, which proposes to develop new and better methods of teaching at every level from pre-school to post-graduate.

The Head Start Program was broadened to include children of working families in the voluntary day care program.

Veterans Education Assistance was considerably increased and provides for vocational rehabilitation for returning veterans. In addition educational benefits were increased by 25 percent and provisions were made for increases in medical care as well as a boost by 10 percent in benefits for disabled veterans.

Benefits were increased for an estimated 20 million senior citizens such as nutritional meals for those who need them, low-cost transportation, employment opportunities, community centers, pre-retirement training, health and education services, and centers to study the variety of problems facing older people.

A national institute of aging was created to conduct research on special health problems of the elderly.

Drugs, juvenile delinquency and crime were treated in numerous pieces of legislation. Principally, they are the establishment of a National Institute on Drug Abuse, increasing funds on specific projects under the Community Health Centers Act, providing grants to states to develop new drug abuse programs, establishing a Council for Drug Abuse Strategy and the requirement for federally funded health facilities to provide needed treatment for drug addicts.

A number of bills were passed relating to consumer protection—truth-in-lending, wholesome environment received high priority in the Congress. A measure entitled "The Water Quality Standards Act" provides $24.6 billion towards cleaning up the Nation's water. A far-reaching measure towards controlling air pollution and conservation of our resources and wildlife is another major enactment. Probably the most prominent bill dealing with rural areas is the Rural Development Act for the purpose of improving conditions of rural living. It provides loans and grants for improvements of facilities, increasing job opportunities on farms and in small towns.

In the area of foreign policy and military actions the so-called SALT Agreement was approved to limit strategic weapons. A treaty with the Soviet Union was approved by the U.S. Senate limiting the number of ballistic missiles.

The Selective Service Act was amended to extend the draft to June, 1973, at which time it is supposed to end. Increases in military pay were provided in order to encourage voluntary enlistments.

The President what was known as Accelerated Public Act as a cost of $5 billion. Several other vetoes exercised by the President with one retirement by 20 percent the same as the security increase.

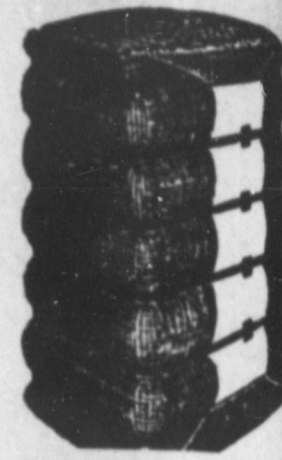

This by no means only a few highlights. Should a special election, numerous proposals will be factored into the 93rd Congress.

Since the Congress is in adjournment for the time, this release will be issued until again in session.

He who lives at high tension usually blows a fuse.

Get Ready For The Spooks

Caramel Apple

5 medium-sized wooden skewers (14 oz.) caramels, water, and dry apples; skewers into stem of apples. Combine apples and water in top of boiling, water until apples are melted and sauce is smooth, stirring occasionally. Hold each apple by skewer end; dip into hot caramel sauce; swirl to coat, tilting pan to cover apples with caramel. Scrape bottom of apple across rim of pan to remove excess caramel. Place on buttered cookie sheet to cool. Store in cool place. Makes 4 to 5.

Mulled Cider

apple cider, brown sugar, firm-packed, piece stick cinnamon, whole allspice, whole cloves

Mix cider and sugar in saucepan; add spices. Heat mixture slowly to simmering, cover, simmer 20 minutes. Strain. Serve hot in warm mugs. Makes 2 quarts.

Chocolate Nut Chippers

1/2 c. sugar, 1/2 c. soft shortening, 1/2 c. sifted all-purpose flour, 1/2 tsp. baking powder, 1/2 tsp. salt, 1/2 c. milk, 1/2 tsp. vanilla, 1/2 c. semi-sweet chocolate pieces, 1/2 c. chopped nuts or pure vegetable oil.

add alternately with milk to egg mixture; beat well after each addition. Stir in vanilla, chocolate pieces, and nuts. Put enough fat or oil in skillet or deep, heavy saucepan to have it 1 1/2 inches deep when heated. Heat to 375 F. Drop dough by rounded teaspoonfuls into hot fat. Fry about 2 minutes or until golden brown on one side; turn, fry 2 minutes longer to brown other side. Drain on absorbent paper. When cool, sprinkle with confectioner's sugar. Makes 3 dozen.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Missing Facts

Two witnesses swore that Harry was the man who had robbed the supermarket, and a jury found him guilty of the crime. Not until after the verdict did Harry's lawyer find out that two other witnesses had told police Harry was definitely not the man.

"We are not obliged to do the other side's homework for them," he told the court. "If they failed to dig up this information on their own, that is just too bad."

But the court ruled that the verdict could not stand. The judge said the purpose of a trial is not merely to punish the guilty but also to free the innocent.

This is a general principle of law, reinforced by the Canons of Ethics of the American Bar Association. A prosecutor must not suppress evidence capable of establishing the innocence of the accused.

The principle applies not only to guilt itself but also to the degree of guilt. Consider this case: A man was charged with murder. During the trial, the prosecutor withheld testimony that the defendant had been drunk at the time of the slaying.

Admittedly, this testimony could not have cleared the defendant. But at least it could have reduced the crime from first to second degree murder. Reversing the guilty verdict, a higher court said the trial was incomplete without the missing fact of intoxication.

Still, the prosecutor does not have to bring out everything he knows. In an arson trial, the prosecutor kept quiet about a chemical test that had been performed by the FBI.

Challenged later on this omission, he pointed out that the FBI test merely confirmed other tests already known and available to the defense.

Result: the verdict was upheld. The court said the missing information simply was not important enough to make any great difference.

WEEKLY RECIPE

Sarah Anne Sheridan

One of my fondest memories of our sojourn in Europe was that occasional box from home containing cookies, candy, a jar of homemade preserves and other good things reminiscent of home. Many readers have children and relatives overseas who, too, would enjoy a taste of something from home. Here, then, is a delicious cookie that travels well.

Fruit-N-Spice Cookies

- 1 c soft shortening
- 2 c brown sugar, packed
- 2 eggs
- 1/2 c cold coffee
- 3/4 c sifted flour
- 1 t soda
- 1 t salt
- 1 t nutmeg
- 1 t cinnamon
- 2 1/2 c halved seeded raisins
- 1 1/4 c broken nuts

Mix well the shortening, sugar, and eggs. Stir in the coffee and add the next five ingredients which have been sifted together. Mix well. Then add the raisins and nuts. Chill for 1 hour, then drop by rounded teaspoonfuls 2 inches apart on lightly greased cookie sheet. Bake at 400 degrees until set, about 10 minutes. This makes about 6 dozen cookies.

Human nature is what encourages individuals to find an excuse for what they happen to desire.

Cotton Stored In Ricks May Be Answer To Farmers Problems

In an effort to reduce costs, many Plains cotton growers are storing cotton in turnrow ricks. With a good crop predicted, trailers will probably be in short supply, and this is one possible solution to an old problem. However, there are a few things to watch out for in order to maintain the lint and seed quality.

Research has shown that moisture causes the biggest problems in stacked cotton. While optimum seed cotton moisture for harvesting is 8 percent, to preserve quality, you should avoid storage conditions which would cause the moisture content of the cotton to rise above 12 percent. This can be moisture in the form of dew, green trash material, rain or snow. When placing cotton into a rick, be sure that any moisture on the cotton has dried off.

A good way to check to see if the cotton is dry enough to store is to squeeze a handful. If the cotton sticks together in a ball it is too wet. If it springs back freely it is usually dry enough. One way to avoid this problem is to make the first 2-3 dumps into a trailer and then begin forming the rick. Green trash can cause an increase in the moisture content of the seed and lint and thus reduce the quality. Therefore, if cotton is to be ricked, wait until the leaves are dry and crisp. This could be either after defoliation or frost.

It is not advised to place the rick on a plastic sheet or to cover rick with plastic.

This procedure forms a vapor barrier and causes moisture condensation resulting in loss of quality.

The turnrow rick is one way to handle cotton during periods of trailers shortages. But remember, to maintain quality, avoid situations which would cause the moisture content to be increased. If this is done, the cotton can be stored safely in the rick without any loss in lint or seed quality.

NOTE TO EDITOR: This comes from Roy Childers, area agricultural engineer-cotton mechanization.

November, 1972

The Wind From The North Is Strong and Proud, And pounds on my door In a fashion loud--

-Anne Lawler.

November was formerly the ninth month in the old Roman calendar and when Pope Gregory revised the calendar it became the eleventh, though its name derives from the Latin word for nine. In American history it is also known as the month in which five Presidents were born.

James K. Polk, 11th President, was born on the 2nd in 1795, in Mecklenburg County, N.C., but grew up in Tennessee, which he represented in the U.S. House of Representatives.

SCORPIO -- Emotional, sensitive, intuitive describe those born under this sign. They are usually energetic and aggressive. Their lucky numbers are 4 and 5. Their color is red. Their lucky day is Tuesday. SCORPIO - Oct. 23 to Nov. 22 -- Change for the better is indicated in health or career matters. The time is right for changing to a vocation you enjoy.

SAGITTARIUS -- Nov. 23 to Dec. 21 -- Obstacles may be expected, but you hurdle them with ease. You are made of stern stuff with a stronger than average character. Stand up for what you believe.

CAPRICORN -- Dec. 22 to Jan. 19 -- Art, music, poetry give you an uplift this week. Enjoy the enchantment with a close friend. The joys of the beautiful fall season also lift your spirits.

AQUARIUS -- Jan. 20 to Feb. 18 -- Protect your interests with a realistic approach. Dreaming won't make it so. You are too prone to exaggerate.

PISCES -- Feb. 19 to March 20 -- Competition is keen, but you must not let it sway you. You succeed because you do a better job.

IT NEVER FAILS

Avoid Using Chemicals on Immature Cotton

Harvest-aid chemicals on mature cotton will be the crop for ear- harvest states Joe county Extension, but used on immature cotton it will reduce and reduce lint quality especially micor- defoliant and 8- percent or more open for desiccants then we should not stop the growing season in the recent weeks of warm, sunny weather states Wise. Remember we spend some hard cash for weed control and other production practices. Let's don't undermine our profits with too-early applications of "harvest-aid chemicals."

The reason some people talk so much about themselves is that they know so little about anything else.

It would be nice if every citizen would do as Boy Scouts try to do—help someone, or do someone a favor, every day. Do You?

Always remember, if you would be considered wise, that your opinions are of small importance to anyone except yourself.

Being born poor need not be a permanent handicap but only hard work will erase it.

Human Repair

Dr. Russel Lawson, of the University of Oregon Medical School in Portland, has successfully removed the kidneys of twopatients, repaired and replaced them in the patients' bodies successfully.

Dr. Lawson told the American College of Surgeons recently, in reporting on the successful repair-operations, that other organs of the body could be similarly repaired and reimplanted—such as the heart and liver, for examples.

Reimplanting patients' own repaired organs avoids the problem of the body's rejection of alien organs, a problem which so often has plagued heart-transplant operations.

The new technique offers new hope to millions, though not an immediate hope, and if practice and further experimentation prove Dr. Lawson correct, this technique would seem preferable, when possible, to the transplanting of alien organs.

It's not considered the polite thing to do to shoot hunting companions, but it happens this time of year.

The parent who expects to discover how to raise a child successfully by reading books has much to learn.

The best advice for modern people, young and old, facing all sorts of propaganda, is the single word: think.

 FIRST PLACE SECOND PLACE THIRD PLACE

Join the fun. Guess the winners. Nothing to buy. Just circle the teams you think will win, fill in your name and address, and bring it to the Chronicle office, or get it into the mail before 5 p. m. Friday. Everyone is eligible except employees of the Jayton Chronicle, and members of their families.

Use this from here in the paper. Come by the office and we will give you a free form. Or, write it out on a piece of paper, in the same order as printed here, and that will do. The editor of the Jayton Chronicle is the sole judge as to the winner. In the case of tie, the amount will be shared. Be sure and mark the tie breaker score, which we will use in an attempt to break the tie. That is all there is to it, and you have a lot of fun. This contest is sponsored by the firms listed on this page. They are supporting the Jayton Jaybirds, Regional Champions, all the way.

to do it and failed. How many people, who otherwise would vote for McGovern, do you think will vote for Nixon on Connally's urging?

All of these proposed amendments to the State Constitution. One of these is an amendment that would allow the writing of a new Constitution.
All of these proposed amendments were published in the local papers in August, but many people failed to notice them. And that is the reason they were published. In the past, many Texans have not voted intelligently in some of these amendment elections, in my opinion.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Parker and Mrs. Winnie Rowland visited Mr. and Mrs. Fred Jay of Hamlin Sunday and found them feeling better. Mr. Jay and Mrs. Rowland are brother and sister.

4-Day Weeks

Dr. George Melcher, president of a non-profit firm in New York, says a four-day work week begun at his firm as a three-month experiment is a success. Melcher says employees working nine hour days with less time for lunch have made fewer mistakes, missed fewer work days and exhibited improved morale. (Some employees are working even longer shifts.)

Such schedules seem to make sense for many other firms, and while results might not always be so happy, where they are, both employer and employees gain thereby. Most firms, however, must earn profits--and employees will have to keep that in mind.
