Football Contest Starts This Week

Readers of this paper have enjoyed the football contests during the play-off season. This gives sports minded people an opportunity to study the teams, try their skill against their neighbors. Check the contest page in this issue of the paper and get the rules. Then try it. It is a lot of fun, and usually those who take a wild guess come out as well as the experts. The contest will continue each week as long as the local team is playing--ten games of the regular season, and through the playoffs.

varied subject were offered at the Texas Bureau-sponsored training school for office secretaries August 19-22 in Waco.

One of the courses, "Effective Communications," with the instructor, Bill Hoover, Director of Information. The secretaries from some 70 counties also toured the TFB's new headquarters building in Waco.

Goldwater's Argument

Senator Barry Goldwater, speaking in defense of conservative principles recently, reminded Americans that the liberalism which plunged the Nixon Administration into the Watergate dilemma was a liberal, not a conservative idea. "It was the liberals, not the conservatives, who promoted the idea that dissenters should choose what laws they will obey and which they should ignore," Goldwater said. This philosophy, followed by younger men without much experience in government, the idea that the end justified the means, in the White House, led to Watergate abuses, Goldwater says.

The Soviet Missiles

Secretary of Defense James Schlesinger recently announced that the Russians have developed a multiple warhead system for their rocket missiles. This is of major importance because the United States relied on its multiple warhead advantage in concluding the recent nuclear limitation agreement with the Soviet Union. The justification for U.S. agreement to a freeze at current numbers levels, in fact, is based on multiple warheads on the 1710 U.S. missiles--as compared to single warheads on each greater total explosive power on the 2288 Soviet missiles. Schlesinger says, rightly, that this nation cannot agree to maintaining the current numbers freeze if the Soviets go ahead and reequip their present-generation missiles with multiple warheads. The only way the present SALT agreement can be maintained indefinitely (the Russians probably will reequip their present missiles for several years) is through a reduction in the number of Soviet missiles, carried, perhaps, as they are reequipped. Since Soviet missiles are already capable of lifting heavy payloads, it's clear that their reequipping with multiple warheads would, as Schlesinger says, create a "giant gap" between American negotiators and the Russians. American negotiators realized this question would arise in negotiating the nuclear missile limitation with the Russians but the Russians were determined to continue their development program to catch up with the U.S. technique and insistence that they halt would have blocked agreement.

Baptist Revival Starts Sunday

First Baptist Church begins revival Sunday, September 9. Sunday services will be at 10 a. m. and 6 p. m. Weekday services will be at 8 p. m. each evening.

Rev. Price Mathieson, Assistant Chaplain at Hendrick Memorial Hospital in Abilene, will be the evangelist. Rev. Mathieson is a graduate of Baylor University and Southwestern Seminary. He and his wife have one daughter, Renee. He has taught school and coached for several years. He was honored as coach of the year. He had 3 undefeated teams in three different sports. His basketball teams won 103 games without a defeat. He was pastored for 11 years; was under appointment to Japan by the Foreign Mission Board for four years. He is a popular preacher, having preached more than 150 revivals, and spoke in numerous retreats, camps and other engagements. You will want to hear this man preach God's message. be Dan Meeker also of Abilene. At present he is doing graduate work at Hardin-Simmons University. He is from a singing family, plays the piano, and is fantastic with young people.

The members of First Baptist extend a warm welcome to each one to attend the revival services each evening at 8:00.

Bands Invited To Lubbock Fair

LUBBOCK--Invitations have been forwarded to all high school bands in the South Plains and eastern New Mexico area to participate in the Parade of Bands here September 24. The parade is scheduled in conjunction with the 56th annual Panhandle South Plains Fair, and cash awards of $1,250 are being offered in each of the five UIL classifications--AAAA, AAA, AA, A and B. A $100 top prize is offered in all divisions.

A $75 award is earmarked for the second place bands, $50 goes to third place units and $25 for fourth. Trophies also are presented. Entry deadline is September 14, according to fair general manager Steve L. Lewis. The parade in the past has been the official lifeline for the fair. However, the exposition this year gets underway two days earlier--on Saturday, September 22--in its expanded eight-day run.

Infectious Diseases Greatly Reduced

Austin--"In the past two years, the incidence of infectious, communicable diseases which are preventable by immunization has been reduced dramatically in Texas," the President of the Texas Medical Association declared in a statement released here today (Wednesday, August 22). Charles B. Dryden, M. D., of Wichita Falls, head of the 11,700-member medical organization said that Texans should be proud of these public health gains. Cases of diphtheria, polio, measles (rubeola), and rubella have declined by more than 80 percent in Texas from 1970 to 1972. "Mid-year reports from the Texas State Department of Health indicate that 1973 will see an even further reduction in the cases of these preventable diseases," Dr. Dryden said. "Individual physicians, the Texas State Department of Health, local health departments, the Texas Education Agency, and, of course, cooperating parents and patients are to be commended for increasing the protective immunization levels in our state," the TMA president stated. In 1972 there were four cases of polio in Texas--an 82 percent decrease from the 22 cases in 1970. By mid-August of this year, not a single case of polio had been confirmed in the state. Diphtheria has taken an equally significant decrease of 82 percent. There were 41 cases reported last year, compared to 234 in 1970. Nine cases have been reported so far this year, which is less than half the number recorded in Texas at the same time in 1972. Measles (rubeola) and rubella (German measles--also known as "three-day measles") have both decreased by 81 percent since 1970, and the cases reported so far in 1973 are far below the number recorded by this time in 1972. Eighty-one cases of pertussis (whooping cough) have been reported so far in Texas this year. This is less than the number reported for the same period in 1972--and 1972 saw the fewest cases recorded annually in Texas since whooping cough became officially reportable. Last year's 185 cases represented a 58 percent drop from the 1970 total of 437. Two cases of tetanus, or lockjaw, have been confirmed in Texas so far in 1973, which is less than half the number re-

Jaybirds Open Football Season With Roscoe Here Friday Night

This Friday night at 7:30 marks the opening of a new football season, and this year the Jaybirds open at home. They will take on the regular season opener opponent the Roscoe Plowboys. In the five or six years of competition between these two teams, they have divided about evenly. The Jaybirds will be rebuilding this year, having lost a number of key players last year to graduation.

The Jaybirds have had two scrimmages. First they hit the Floydada Junior varsity, and then last week they took on the Knox City Hounds. Local people who saw the scrimmage think the Birds showed up real well. Roby is picked to be the big team in the district this year.

Every true Jaybird fan will want to be on hand Friday night to get a look at the 1973 Jaybirds and wish them on. Next week Coach Jerry English will take the Birds to Spur for their annual encounter with the Bulldogs.

recorded by this time last year.

"The compulsory immunization law passed by the Texas Legislature in 1971 was aggressively supported by the Texas Medical Association," Dr. Dryden commented, "and has done much to reduce the toll of these serious diseases." Immunization levels for the state as a whole among students in Texas public schools average approximately 90 percent for each vaccine (diphtheria/tetanus, polio, measles, and rubella).

Dr. Dryden noted that more work must be done to increase the immunization level of pre-school children in Texas. "No Texas child should have to suffer from the effects of these preventable diseases," he said. "Facilities and medical knowledge are available today to eliminate the threat of anyone getting polio, diphtheria, pertussis (whooping cough), tetanus, measles, or rubella. Parents have a responsibility," Dr. Dryden emphasized, "to see that their children are protected."

The Rider - Long Wedding

Kathleen Rider became the bride of Bob Long in a service at 7:30 p. m., August 7th in the home of her parents, The Rev. Truett Kuenstler performed the service. The bride was given in marriage by her father, Larry Rider. The bride wore an A-line dress of blue knit, and a finger tip veil of white, and she carried a white flower trimmed in blue.

Edwin Long of Girard served his brother as best man. Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Larry Rider of Jayton and Mr. and Mrs. James Long of Girard. The couple will be at home at Girard.

The Constitution Often Amended

By Bill Hobby AUSTIN-- In the 97-year history of our state's Constitution a total of 334 amendments have been proposed. So far, 212 of them have been adopted by Texas voters.

Rarely does a general election not have several proposed amendments on the ballot. And the election on November 6 is no exception.

Nine amendments will be on this fall's ballot. The volume of amendments has been the subject of much criticism. It inspired the Constitutional Convention which was discussed in a previous report.

The large number of amendments is, I believe, the most compelling argument for rewriting the Texas Constitution. A broad, brief document similar to the U. S. Constitution--which seldom has required amendment--is needed.

Regardless of what the eventual outcome of the Constitutional Convention is, the nine proposed amendments to be voted on in November deserve every citizen's attention. This and subsequent reports on these amendments hopefully will help you become better informed.

Briefly, the amendments contain the following provisions: Amendment 1 provides for annual regular sessions of the Legislature and for an annual salary for legislators of $15,000 and a daily allowance of $18 when the Legislature is in session. Amendment 2 would permit single adults, who otherwise qualify, to claim homestead protection of their property.

Amendment 3 would extend the $3,000 ad valorem tax exemption to the homesteads of unmarried adults.

Amendment 4 provides that cities and counties be given notice of an approval or disapproval of the creation of conservation and reclamation districts within or partially within their boundaries.

Amendment 5 would allow cities and counties bordering on the Gulf of Mexico to levy taxes for building sea walls and breakwaters if such projects are approved by a majority of the resident taxpayers.

Amendment 6 grants district courts the general jurisdiction of a probate court and authorizes the Legislature to adjust the jurisdiction of the courts in probate matters.

Amendment 7 provides authorization for the Veterans Land Board to extend its lending authority by $100 million.

Amendment 8 authorizes and requires cities and towns to levy ad valorem taxes sufficient to pay the principal and interest on their general obligations.

Amendment 9 allows the Legislature to exempt certain water supply corporations and cooperatives from the property tax on certain facilities. In subsequent reports, I will discuss some of these amendments in greater detail.

Impeachment

James Reston, of the New York Times, says there's no point in further self-deception that President Nixon is going to be impeached. That being the case, the paper's top political columnist says, it's best for the nation to get on with its business and to hold Mr. Nixon to the new ideals and reforms he has pledged as a result of the Watergate abuses.

In effect, Reston is saying that regardless of the mistakes and Nixon's share of responsibility in these mistakes, the best thing for the nation now is to see that the President's pledges of reform are carried out so that Watergate can never happen again. The President has offered to do what is necessary to bar such abuses in the future.

His critics call upon the President to do more than pledge congressional and administrative reforms to prevent future Watergates. They say his problem now is the lack of a mandate from the people to govern and that he can only regain that by a pledge that dangerous attitudes and principles within the Nixon Administration in the past will be scrapped. The President, if he has not in effect already pledged that, would unhesitatingly do so. No one would argue that attitudes and principles of the past were what they should have been in the Nixon White House.

The nation cannot forget the past and must learn from it, neither can it be allowed to halt government functioning and progress. Mr. Nixon is not going to be impeached (he has said he will abide by court orders on the matter of tapes of his private conversations). Then, as Reston says, the best should and must be made of a bad situation; the business of the nation must move forward.

William Rogers, resigning as Secretary of State: "I would have left whether there had been a Watergate or not."

When a great learned man who is long in making, dieth, much learning dieth with him.

Sort and save with an electric home laundry pair

Electric washers and dryers have a setting for all fabrics. It's as important to sort for fabric types as it is for color fastness. Many fabrics do not need a hot water cycle, so you save on water heating. Wait and wash a full load and save on water, too.

Finding Scapegoats

The recent Air Force announcement that lawyers had been furnished the crew of a B-52 bomber which by mistake dropped its bombs in the wrong place and killed over 100 Cambodian civilians is disturbing.

One of the sorriest watersheds from the nation's tragic Vietnam experience is the newly developed tendency of the military services to try, and punish, men in uniform who make mistakes carrying out combat orders.

No doubt many mistakes were made, and often tragic mistakes, and this is always true in war. The blame for these mistakes, which are inevitable and which have occurred in every war in history, is that of the statesmen and others who launched the war and issued the orders for Americans to engage in it.

The Army, of course, first panicked when so much national shame and condemnation were heaped upon that service and America for the brutal, unjustified killing of Vietnamese civilians by the liberal and anti-war press. It began highly-publicized trials of many combat soldiers (to its shame), most of whom were acquitted. But the damage was done, often to men with fine records who were ruined professionally in the process.

Under the stress of combat, men ordered by their country to fight for their lives, and for their country, cannot afterward be held to account as if they acted in a civilian atmosphere when their lives were not threatened by the enemy.

Irrational, inexcusable actions are inevitable when men fight for their lives. Self-righteous courts, sitting in safety far behind the lines and far after the event cannot possibly dispense justice in such cases.

In the recent case of the B-52 bomber, and the investigation, the radar navigator was fined $700 and reprimanded. Three other officers were also disciplined, according to the Air Force.

The nation needs no more lowly scapegoats for the statesmen and higher-ups who took the nation into the Vietnamese war. It's cowardly and unfair for the services to blame lowly combat men for mistakes inevitable in combat.

For Whom?

A new car unveiled in Germany recently boasts a speed of almost 200 m.p.h., from a 12-cylinder engine. Many U.S. cars are capable of attaining speeds of up to 140 m.p.h. or more.

Where are such cars to be driven? What is the point in all that speed potential? If it is a sales point to sell cars, an attraction for those who would race them, that includes only a small fraction of the population.

In this country there are speed limits almost everywhere. Usually it is seventy or seventy-five, on the superhighways and turnpikes. Where are we to drive more than a hundred miles an hour, which most new cars can attain?

Continued emphasis on speed and power (an appeal to youth mostly) by the automotive industry in recent years has little merit or justification in view of the U.S. highway death toll.

The 27

The shocking and almost unbelievable killing of twenty-seven young boys in Texas, by other youth, should serve to warn all Americans that more must be done to lower the level of crime in America.

Such wanton, sadistic murder raises anew the problem of allowing film makers, both on the larger screen and home television, to portray murder and other crime as typical, enjoyable, etc. The criminals in too many of these films are handsome actors who show no remorse and romp through their crimes with smiles and pleasure.

If no one can directly attribute the recent murder orgy in Texas to glamorized crime on film, it is also true that no film producer, or sponsor trying to make money by financing this fare, can say, with certainty, that these films did not help cause this tragedy, and many others.

Girls' Figures

One of the undying miracles of our time is the emotion caused by girls' figures—especially young girls' figures. The other day a beauty contestant in England attracted a crowd of a hundred, five police cars, two ambulances and firemen when it was learned she had gone swimming in only a bra.

After a wait of over three hours the young lady finally decided to put timidity aside and came out, to the satisfaction of onlookers! Of course, such attention is not new. Great painters have painted nude women for centuries, kings have lost their heads over a good figure, and ad men have in modern times used the female figure to sell products.

Totalling up all the excitement, nervous perspiration, silly behavior and satisfaction the female figure has produced, since the Creator put the urge in men and made women's figures attractive, is impossible. Suffice it to say it's the world's most everlasting sport—and one both sexes enjoy, lads.

What goes on?

"What goes on in the beauty parlor? Bet you hear all the gossip in town." That's what my husband says.

Well, I'll admit it—there is talk. When people get together—whether in a beauty parlor, a barber shop or, in the old days, around the cracker barrel in the general store—tongues start flying. It is human nature to talk, to criticize, to complain.

But isn't it refreshing to hear something good about someone? Sometimes it takes a lot more strength to say something good than something bad! Sometimes it takes more strength to stand up and be counted as a churchgoer than it does to sit on the sidelines, espousing neither faith nor cause.

Which side are you on? If you're not sure, why not cast your vote for the Church? Try it next Sunday.

Let the children help make this quick and easy banana-nut bread

Crunchy and moist Banana-Nut Bread is great for after-school snacks, bridge club, picnics, or a lovely complement to any meal of the day.

Children love to help Mom make this moist and crunchy tropical nut bread—especially mashing the bananas and measuring the liquid margarine. They love to eat it, too, topped with a healthy portion of cream cheese.

This delicious bread is easy to make and is good served hot or at room temperature. Try it to complement a hearty meal, a large lush salad, or simply with coffee. Any way at all, it's just the right touch for the hostess who cares.

TROPICAL NUT BREAD

|------------------------|-------------------------------|
| 1/2 cup Squeeze Parkay | 1 1/2 teaspoons baking powder |
| Liquid Margarine | 1/2 teaspoon soda |
| 3/4 cup sugar | 1/2 teaspoon salt |
| 2 eggs | 1 cup mashed banana |
| 1 teaspoon vanilla | 1/2 cup chopped pecans |
| 2 cups flour | |

Heat oven to 350°. Combine margarine and sugar, mixing until well blended. Add eggs, one at a time, mixing well after each addition. Blend in vanilla. Combine dry ingredients; add alternately with bananas to margarine mixture, mixing well after each addition. Fold in nuts. Pour into greased and floured 9 x 5-inch loaf pan. Bake at 350°, 1 hour. Cool 10 minutes; remove from pan.

PUBLIC NOTICE
SUMMARY OF PROPOSED CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENTS
SPECIAL ELECTION NOVEMBER 6, 1973

NUMBER ONE ON THE BALLOT (S.J.R. 8)

Article III, Sections 2, 24 and 49a and Article VIII, Section 6 of the Texas Constitution are amended to: Provide for regular annual sessions of the Legislature. The regular session in each odd-numbered year would be for a period not to exceed 180 days. The regular session in each even numbered year would be for a period not to exceed 60 days and would be limited to consideration of fiscal matters and any emergency matters submitted by the Governor. The 60 day session could be extended by the Governor for a period not to exceed 30 days. Provide an annual salary for members of the Legislature not exceeding $15,000 per year and a per diem not exceeding $18 per day for each day of each regular session or special session. Provide that no appropriation of money shall be made for a longer term than one year and direct the Comptroller to make annual estimates of anticipated revenue rather than biennial estimates. The wording of the proposed amendment as it will appear on the ballot is as follows: "The constitutional amendment to provide for annual regular sessions of the legislature, and to provide an annual salary of $15,000 and per diem for the members of the legislature, effective in January, 1975."

NUMBER TWO ON THE BALLOT (H.J.R. 7)

Article XVI, Sections 50 and 51 of the Texas Constitution are amended to: Include within the scope of homestead protection the real property of a single adult person which meets the other requirements of homestead property, and to provide that a family homestead may not be abandoned except with the consent of both spouses. Presently a single adult person is not entitled to claim a homestead exemption and a married man can abandon a family homestead without the consent of his wife. The wording of the proposed amendment as it will appear on the ballot is as follows: "The constitutional amendment to include within the scope of homestead protection the real property of a single adult person which meets the other requirements of homestead property, and to provide that a family homestead may not be abandoned except with the consent of both spouses."

NUMBER THREE ON THE BALLOT (S.J.R. 13)

Article VIII, Sections 1-a and 1-b of the Texas Constitution are amended to: Extend the $3,000 ad valorem tax exemption to the residential homesteads of unmarried adults. The wording of the proposed amendment as it will appear on the ballot is as follows: "The constitutional amendment to extend the $3,000 ad valorem tax exemption to the homesteads of unmarried adults."

NUMBER FOUR ON THE BALLOT (S.J.R. 11)

Article XVI, Section 59, of the Texas Constitution is amended by adding a new Subsection (e) which: Provides that no law creating a conservation and reclamation district shall be passed unless a copy of the proposed law is delivered to the commissioners court of each county and to the governing body of each incorporated city or town in whose jurisdiction said district or any part thereof is or will be located. Each such commissioners court and governing body may file its written consent or opposition to the proposed law with the Governor, Lieutenant Governor and Speaker of the House of Representatives. Each special law creating such a district must comply with general laws then in effect relating to consent by political subdivisions to the creation of such districts. The wording of the proposed amendment as it will appear on the ballot is as follows: "The constitutional amendment establishing certain requirements relative to the enactment of laws creating certain conservation and reclamation districts."

NUMBER FIVE ON THE BALLOT (S.J.R. 12)

Article XI, Section 7 of the Texas Constitution is amended to: Provide that all counties and cities bordering on the coast of the Gulf of Mexico are authorized to levy a tax to pay for bonds issued for the construction of sea walls and breakwaters upon a majority vote of the resident property tax-payers. Counties and cities are presently authorized to levy such taxes and this amendment only changes the required vote from a two-thirds majority to a simple majority. The wording of the proposed amendment as it will appear on the ballot is as follows: "The constitutional amendment authorizing counties and cities bordering on the Gulf of Mexico to issue bonds for the construction of sea walls and breakwaters upon a vote of the resident property tax-payers."

NUMBER SIX ON THE BALLOT (S.J.R. 26)

Article V, Section 8 of the Texas Constitution is amended by adding a new paragraph which: Provides that the district court, concurrently with the general jurisdiction of a probate court and in a probate proceeding shall also have the jurisdiction otherwise conferred on it by law. It also provides that the legislature may increase, diminish, or eliminate the jurisdiction of the district court or county court in probate matters, may adopt rules governing the filing, distribution, or transfer of cases and proceedings as between the courts having jurisdiction of probate matters, and may provide that all appeals in probate matters shall be to the courts of civil appeals. The wording of the proposed constitutional amendment as it will appear on the ballot is as follows: "The constitutional amendment stating that the district court concurrently with the county court shall have the general jurisdiction of a probate court, and providing the jurisdiction thereof, and further providing that in any probate proceeding the district court shall also have jurisdiction otherwise conferred on it by law, and further providing that the legislature may increase, diminish or eliminate the jurisdiction of the district court or county court in probate matters and further providing that the legislature shall have power to adopt rules governing the filing, distribution and transfer of all such cases and proceedings as between district courts, county courts, and other courts having jurisdiction thereof, and further providing that the legislature may provide that all appeals in such matters shall be to the courts of (civil) appeals."

NUMBER SEVEN ON THE BALLOT (H.J.R. 6)

Article III, Section 49-b of the Texas Constitution is amended to: Provide for an additional $100 million in bonds or obligations of the State of Texas for the Veterans' Land Fund. This amendment increases the present $400 million authorization to $500 million; Remove the present provision which permits buying of land only by those veterans who served between September 16, 1940 and the date of formal withdrawal of United States troops from the armed conflict in Viet Nam. This amendment would allow all veterans who serve after September 16, 1940 to buy land from the Veterans' Land Fund, provided they are otherwise qualified; Provide that, in the event of the death of an eligible

Texas veteran after the veteran has filed with the Board an application and contract of sale to purchase through the Board the tract selected by him or her and before the purchase has been completed, then the surviving spouse may complete the transaction.

NUMBER EIGHT ON THE BALLOT (S.J.R. 29)

Article XI, of the Texas Constitution is amended by adding a new Section 5(a) which: Authorizes and requires incorporated cities, towns, and villages, regardless of population and notwithstanding the constitutional limitations on total tax rates, to levy such annual ad valorem taxes on the taxable property in the city, town or village as are necessary to pay the principal of and interest on, when due, the general obligations hereinafter issued by the city, town, or village. The legislature is empowered to limit by general or special law the total principal amount of general obligations which may be issued, but unless and until the legislature acts to do so, the limitations established by statute with respect to the total principal amount of bonds which may be issued by independent school districts shall apply as the rate limitation on cities, towns, and villages. The wording of the proposed constitutional amendment as it appears on the ballot is as follows: "The constitutional amendment to authorize cities, towns, and villages to levy such ad valorem taxes as are sufficient to pay the principal of and interest on their general obligations hereafter issued subject to the restrictions provided by law."

NUMBER NINE ON THE BALLOT (S.J.R. 25)

Article VIII of the Texas Constitution is amended by adding a new Section 2C which: Allows the Legislature, by general law, to exempt all real and personal property used by non-profit water supply corporations or cooperatives from all property taxes. The exemption would apply only to such property as is reasonably necessary to conduct the business of a non-profit water supply corporation or cooperative. The wording of the proposed constitutional amendment as it will appear on the ballot is as follows: "The constitutional amendment authorizing the legislature to exempt from property taxes certain property used by a non-profit water supply corporation or a non-profit water supply cooperative."

Football Contest

 FIRST PLACE SECOND PLACE THIRD PLACE

Join the fun. Guess the winners. Nothing to buy. Just circle the teams you think will win, fill in your name and address, and bring it to the Chronicle office, or get it into the mail before 5 p. m. Friday. Everyone is eligible except employees of the Jayton Chronicle. Use this from here in the paper. Come by the office and we will give you a free form. Or, write it out on a piece of paper, in the same order as printed here, and that will do. The editor of the Jayton Chronicle is the sole judge as to the winner. In the case of tie, the amount will be shared. Be sure and mark the tie breaker score, which we will use in an attempt to break the tie. That is all there is to it, and you have a lot of fun. This contest is sponsored by the firms listed on this page. They are supporting the Jayton Jaybirds, all the way.
