Junior Fat Stock Show In Clairemont Friday And Saturday

Easter Seals Program To Be Stepped Up

Because of the steady growth in numbers of children in Texas, the Easter Seal Society for Crippled Children and Adults of Texas has stepped up its rehabilitation services.

According to Beryle Murdoch, Jr., who is the District Representative for Kent County, 570 handicapped children received Easter

Seal treatments during 1973. "Despite medical scientific advances," Murdoch explained, "the ranks of the crippled are growing. This is because of population growth, increased number of accidents and medical treatment which saves victims of crippling diseases who might not have lived in past years."

On Deans List

Randy C. Hall has been named to the Dean's Honor List at Texas Tech University. This recognition is accorded to those students who have achieved a grade point average 3.0 or better during the past semester.

Randy is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Hall.

RANDY C. HALL

VISITS PARENTS
William Ray Smith of Stratford visited Mr. and Mrs. Ray Smith Monday and Tuesday.

The focus point for Kent Countians, and a lot their friends this week end will be at the County barns in Clairemont. This will be the occasion for the 30th annual fat stock show.

There are a lot of good things to be said about this show.

For one thing it encourages the selecting, feeding and grooming of cattle, swine and sheep by the younger people. Since this is basically a farm and ranching area, this trains the young people in areas that fit in well with the local economy. For another thing, it trains the young people to handle these animals, and how to try to make them work with them. And also they are trained in the wing of the animals, and how to compete with others.

Then besides this the two days of the show give all people and visitors, a very good occasion to renew acquaintances, and have a general kind of good neighborliness. And especially is this at the barbeque lunch Saturday.

And then the auction sale Saturday afternoon is a treat. Just about everyone likes to attend a good auction.

And on alternate years it gives the candidates an office an ideal situation to do some good campaigning. People are visiting and friendly and they in no hurry to go anywhere.

A lot of people besides the young people with the 4H club projects devote a lot of time and effort, as well as money to the show. And, when the cards and checks are passed out, and you see the smiles on their faces, you feel sure it is all well worthwhile.

Of course, there are those who don't win any prizes, and those whose animals do not make it to the auction sale. But, in this they learn a lesson too they buck up, set their chin, and say, well I am going home and start anew for next year--and then going to be in the winner's circle.--And this, is a part of life.

Have a good time Friday and Saturday.

All this warm weather is really fine. Every one enjoys warm weather in February. But some of the farmers, who are trying to get wheat in are not enjoying it quite so well. What little wheat is in the community is really looking sick...

...was out in my little garden in the back yard the other day. The fruit is already looking green, with little buds coming on the buds. With the continued warm weather, they will be coming very strong pretty soon...

This is usually what happens when the fruit gets killed. The February weather is followed by cold weather in March or April and there goes your fruit crop.

Well, it seems you just can't get it all together at the same time.

I read a little slogan, or motto the other day in a Lubbock news, that pretty well describes how I feel sometimes. This slogan said "Just when I decide where it is at--somebody else is."

The gasoline shortage, which just about has us all in a lather, is not getting any better. A man was in my office one day this week, who works in a very near a South Plains town. He said he was of the opinion that the gasoline shortage is a manufactured one, and not really a shortage of supply of gasoline. He expressed the opinion that there is a lot of gasoline in storage around the country. He said where he works they are refining as much gasoline as they were.

A Little Attention Wont Spoil The Baby

Picking up and soothing a crying baby won't spoil him, one authority says.

"Nor will it make him even fussier in the future," Dr. Jennie Kitching, specialist in family life education with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A & M University System, added.

crying communication has more variety, subtlety and clarity."

According to the Ainsworth and Bell studies, when a baby's signals (both crying and non-crying) are responded to promptly and appropriately, he builds up a sense of competence.

She cited results of studies by Ainsworth and Bell, child development researchers, who found that mothers who are unresponsive to the crying of tiny infants tend to have babies who cry more often later on.

"However, mothers who attend to infant crying almost every time and respond with little delay have babies whose non-

"In other words, he gains confidence that he can control what happens to him through his own activity."

"This confidence, in turn, carries over into his transaction with the physical environment--and affects the level and quality of his behavior and play," the specialist added.

A Good Plan For Higher Education Very Important

AUSTIN--The development of a comprehensive system of higher education is one of many achievements in which Texans can take pride.

The past two decades have seen much expansion with accompanying changes in goals and emphasis.

over quantity.

The results of these efforts has been an education system which caters to the needs of the individual. Our future efforts must be directed towards maintaining this system and keeping it a step ahead of the needs of our constantly changing society.

Spurred by Russia's initial successes in space, we stressed scientific and technical areas in our universities.

Toward the end of the 1960s, education experts came to recognize that not everyone wanted or needed a college education. Additionally, the emphasis on science and technology had proven too extreme.

The Texas system of public higher education consists of 22 senior colleges and universities, three upper level institutions, one lower-division center, 44 community college districts operating in 50 campuses, one technical institute with four campuses, four medical schools, two dental schools, three other medically related units and a maritime academy.

Vocational education--giving persons the skills with which to make a living--became important. Consequently, the two year junior college grew in popularity.

The first years of this decade have seen a continued concern over developing a comprehensive system of high education. At the same time, school enrollments have leveled off, encouraging those involved in the educational system to lessen the emphasis on expansion. The goal today is to fill any gaps which may still exist, and to stress quality

Texas also has 38 private senior colleges and universities, 10 private junior colleges, two private medical schools, one dental school and two medically related units.

We now can boast of having a junior or senior college located within 50 miles of the residence of more than 95 percent of the population of Texas.

In 1973, the Texas Senate adopted a resolution which declared a temporary moratorium

Plans are being finalized for the 30th annual Kent County Stock Show. Mark A. Geeslin, County Agent said here Monday. Judging will get underway Friday night, Feb. 22 at the County 4H club barn in Clairemont, at 7: p. m. Geeslin said.

Lambs will be judged at 7:00 to be followed by swine judging about 8:30. Richard Spencer, County Agent of Fisher County will place the classes.

Saturday morning beef steers will be judged at 9:30 Geeslin said. A class of Quarterhorses, colts, will be placed following the calf judging.

A barbeque lunch will be served at noon Saturday, the price will be $2.00 per plate. Concessions will be served by 4H club members and adult leaders.

Trophies and awards will be made after lunch. A premium auction will sell the top 50% of each market class of lambs, swine, and calves.

Prizes are being paid to the 4H club members from contributions being made in the community, Geeslin said Monday.

Meat Prices Continue In Upward Trend

Roberta E. Stanaland

Meat prices continue to trend upward, so meat items should be selected with care.

grapefruit and oranges are priced attractively with several varieties of oranges available-- Temple, Valencia and Navel oranges are a few.

A larger cut of meat is frequently an economy. Also less demanded cuts of meat are often priced below average. Many cuts can be divided easily into smaller cuts and cooked at different times.

Tangelos and tangerines are still available, though supplies are on the decline. Apples, bananas and pears are other fruit choices, along with moderately priced fresh strawberries and pineapples.

Less popular cuts of meat, such as beef heart, are tasty and nutritious when properly prepared.

The most economical vegetables include bulk turnips, cooking greens, rutabagas, head lettuce, cabbage, carrots, celery and broccoli, white potato and dry onion prices are up.

Steaks and roasts from the pork shoulder offer very good eating at considerably less cost than the more popular pork chops. Turning to poultry, turkey parts and fryer chickens are economical protein food choices.

Consumer watch words: Don't waste food.

Egg prices are up--considerably higher than a year ago, with Grade A, large-size eggs offering the best value.

Cook a little less, even if it means serving the family smaller portions. Store purchases properly and use promptly--what you don't eat costs money to.

You Can Keep Cool And Stay Beautiful

At cooler temperatures, skin retains more moisture--so a person's complexion stays young looking longer. Dry skin, in contrast, wrinkles quicker--and when overly-dry, becomes uncomfortable.

Recent studies indicate Americans are getting drier and drier skin--probably because of low humidity in homes and offices. Frequent exposure to sun adds to the problem--also, not rinsing soap thoroughly from skin.

To combat this, many consumers use creams, lotions and bath oils to lubricate and moisturize skin--especially in dry air climates. However, our present fuel shortage may affect availability and prices of these products. With many products oil-based, consumers can expect short supplies of certain ones--and higher prices.

Pharmaceutical skin products will reflect the shortage most. Yet, things seem to 'balance out.' Although moisturizers may cost more, consumers will need less of them--if they lower thermostats during winter months because of the fuel shortage. By living with lower temperatures to conserve fuel, a person actually lubricates his or her skin with moisture from the air.

IN ROTAN

Mrs. Catherine Gomez and Norma were in Rotan Friday attending to business.

More February Dates

Few months are as filled with as many memorable dates as February. This year Washington's birthday is remembered on Monday the 18th instead of the 22nd, the date of his birth in 1732.

On the 23rd, in 1847, General Zachary Taylor defeated a large force of Mexicans at Buena Vista, forcing Santa Anna to retreat southward and helping to win the Mexican War. (General Winfield Scott was operating with an army near Mexico City.)

Chester Nimitz, the great naval commander-in-chief of the Pacific fleet in the Second World War, was born on the 24th in 1885, at Fredericksburg, Texas, a German-American settlement. William F. Cody was born on the 26th in 1846, in Scott County, Iowa. Henry Wadsworth Longfellow was born on the 27th in Portland, Maine. Ann Lee, founder of the Shakers in America, was born on the 29th, in 1736, in England.

JOBLESS RATE UP

The nation's unemployment rate took its biggest jump in four years last month, rising to 5.2 per cent from 4.8 per cent in December. The Labor Department said the loss of jobs due to the energy crisis was "substantial."

CEILINGS ON METALS

The government has imposed a two-month ceiling on domestically produced copper and aluminum prices, claiming that price increases permitted last month were more than enough to make U.S. metals companies competitive on the world market.

Growing up

Look at your lanky, teen-age son! It's hard to believe that he once wore these shoes. It seems only yesterday that he was a baby, yet he himself is the best testimonial that the years have passed. Now he stands almost as tall as you. He is a fascinating maze of contradictions—an eager, lovable youngster one minute, a scowling, angry adolescent the next.

It takes patience to understand a teen-ager—patience, and a lot of love. Though he strives to be adult, he is still a boy. Though he clings to childhood, he is almost "grown-up." You may not always be aware of it, but he still looks to you for many things. And he sees in you an example that he will, almost unconsciously, follow in many ways.

Are you setting a good example? How about church, for instance? If you haven't been going lately, start again next Sunday for your son's sake, as well as your own. And don't forget to take him with you!

The Consumer Alert

by John L. Hill
Attorney General

AUSTIN- Major appliances for the home can be a major strain on the family budget when replacement time rolls around. Since many consumers now are even more cost-conscious than in past years, it pays to know what to look for in order to get the best appliance value for your money and your needs.

Attorneys in my Consumer Protection Division say that alert, informed consumers who comparison shop for both goods and financing before buying, and who read and understand the contract and warranty before signing, are less likely to have problems later with unsatisfactory products or service.

They advise consumers to try the following before purchasing a major appliance:

1. Study the appliance type in general. Learn what it can and can't do, and read about new features that may have been introduced since you last purchased a similar item.
2. Analyze your family's requirements. Decide what features you need in a particular appliance and which ones you'd probably seldom use.
3. Shop around. Examine several brands of appliances and what each offers and read the literature available on various models in each line.
4. Purchase the brand and model you've chosen from an established, reputable dealer.
5. Pay cash if possible or make a large down payment. This will enable you to save finance charges.
6. Consider getting a bank, savings and loan company, or credit union loan, if you can't pay cash. You may be able to get a lower interest rate than an appliance or department store can offer.

7. Read and understand every part of the contract and make sure there are no blank spaces before you sign.

8. Be sure also that you understand the terms of the warranty on the appliance.

9. After the purchase, care for your new appliance according to the owner's manual. With proper maintenance, a major appliance should keep performing well for many years.

Most major appliances are in the kitchen or the utility area. The range is a good example of one such appliance where many recent developments have resulted in a profusion of special features. Ranges can now be gas or electric, freestanding units or cooktops and wall ovens. Cooktops can be traditional burner types or heat-resistant smooth glass ones. Ovens may have one of two kinds of self-cleaning capabilities: They can be pyrolytic ones, which remove soil at high temperatures over 500 degrees, or catalytic ones, which remove soil at regular cooking temperatures.

Other features you may encounter in ranges are automatic timers, thermostatically controlled cooktops or burners, infra-red broilers, over rotisseries, warming trays, griddles, microwave ovens, and automatic food probes that turn off the oven or food warm when it reaches a preset temperature.

So you can see that an accurate analysis of your family's food preferences and living habits is necessary to help you decide if such features are desirable.

Perhaps you can get by nicely without many of the extras on more expensive models, thereby saving money. Then again, if you need those features and don't have them, you may expend far more time and effort to make do with a range that is under-equipped for your needs.

If you have difficulties after a sale with a product, a contract, or a warranty, first try to iron out the problem with the management of the store where you bought the item. Most likely, every effort will be made to come to a mutually satisfactory agreement.

If you cannot resolve the difficulty, however, then get in touch with attorneys in the Attorney General's Consumer Protection Division, your district or county attorney, or your local Better Business Bureau for information or assistance.

an expansion of higher education and required a comprehensive study by the Coordinating Board that state's future education needs. This resolution will may prove to be one of the wisest steps taken by the Senate in the 63rd Legislature.

The maintenance of our higher education system requires substantial financial support. For the 1973-75 biennium, the Legislature appropriated $1.43 billion to our agencies of higher education. This amount was a 30.3 percent increase over 1971-1972 appropriations.

Enrollment last fall in Texas colleges and universities stood at 501,644. Most of these citizens will be assured a better and more rewarding future because of their educational opportunities. Certainly, this remarkable success is worthy of our continued support.

DPS Taking Applications For State Trooper Post

Major C. W. Bell, Regional Commander of the Texas Department of Public Safety, announced today the DPS is accepting applications for the post of State Trooper. Applicants selected as cadets will enter 18 weeks of training at the DPS Law Enforcement Academy in Austin in a class tentatively scheduled to begin June 11, 1974.

Bell said general qualifications for DPS Troopers are: Applicants must be 20 through 35 years of age (inclusive); good moral character; excellent physical condition; height not less than 68 inches nor more than 76 inches; weight not less than two pounds nor more than three and one-half pounds per inch of height; visual a cuity no worse than 20/40 correctable to 20/20; and a citizen of the United States. Educational qualifications, which are now a minimum of 45 semester hours of college, will increase to 60 semester hours on September 1, 1974.

He pointed out that qualified female applicants are now being accepted for the uniformed services of the DPS, and that the Department has been increasingly successful in recruiting persons from minority groups.

During the training period, cadets participate in some 850 hours of law enforcement classes on a wide variety of subjects such as criminal and traffic law, human and community relations, and investigative techniques. The schooling includes rigorous physical training, marksmanship, and skills related to pursuit driving.

Some of the classes are taught under an agreement between DPS and St. Edward's University, and Academy graduates receive credit for six semester hours of college work.

After graduation, cadets will be commissioned as Probationary Trooper I at a salary of $743 monthly and assigned to the Highway Patrol, License & Weight Service, Motor Vehicle Inspection Service or Driver License Service according to the needs of DPS and consideration of personal preference.

The salary automatically increases to $768 per month after six months. Upon completion of 12 months commissioned service, Probationary Troopers are promoted to Trooper I at a salary of $820 monthly. Officers electing to remain in a non-supervisory uniformed position are eligible to compete for promotion to Trooper II after 60 months commissioned service.

All DPS officers receive fringe benefits including hospitalization and life insurance, paid vacations and sick leave, and holidays as for all State employees. Uniforms, vehicles and equipment are furnished and Troopers receive a uniform cleaning allowance. Expenses are paid when away from home station.

In addition, personnel are members of both the State Employees Retirement System and social security.

Bell said prospective applicants should contact any DPS office or Trooper for application forms. The completed material should then be taken to nearest Regional, District or Sub-District Department of Public Safety office where the competitive examination is given each Tuesday and Wednesday of the week.

Arrangements will be made for a physical examination. A character investigation will also be conducted and applicants who are selected for the Academy will be notified prior to the start of the recruit school.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

"Activist" Shareholder

Suppose a political activist buys one share of stock in a corporation that makes guns. His purpose is to gain access to a list of shareholders, so he can arouse their opposition to the company's products.

Would the company have to let him see the books?
Most courts faced with this question have said no. True, every stockholder is a co-owner of the corporation. However, say these courts, the relationship is strictly economic, not political. To see the books he must have an economic motive. He must be acting, at least in part, to protect his investment.

The activist shareholder is not but the problem is old: how open should a corporation's books be? Clearly, there has to be some sort of limitation on access. As one judge explained, in barring a stockholder who was "just curious": "Considering the huge size of many modern corporations and the complicated nature of their bookkeeping, to permit their thousands of stockholders to roam at will through their records would render impossible not only any attempt to keep their records efficiently but the proper carrying on of their businesses."

On the other hand, a stockholder with a legitimate economic motive generally cannot be prevented from seeing the books merely because the management doesn't happen to like him.

One stockholder was refused access to his company's books because he was considered a "troublemaker." He was indeed a troublemaker. But the trouble he wanted to make was getting rid of the management, which he thought was doing a bad job of running the business.

In these circumstances, a court ordered the company to open the books for his inspection. The court said that for a disgruntled investor, throwing the management out was a natural and proper objective.
