Late in the second quarter Bob Kelley passed to Gene Cleveland for a third tally. Then they ran the same play, Kelley to Cleveland to add the final touchdown of the evening. Hawley's lone tally

Cotton Crop Estimates Due To Fall

AUSTIN—Though U. S. cotton estimates rose slightly in September, cotton experts foresee an October decline due to bad weather in cotton-growing areas of the country.

Agriculture Commissioner John C. White said the Texas High Plains which recently had cool, damp weather will experience some loss.

"The feeling of most people is that High Plains cotton growers have been robbed of three weeks of critical growing time," White said. "There is no way that the October estimate can measure up to what it was a month ago."

U. S. Department of Agriculture September figures estimated the High Plains would produce 1,640,000 bales. The area grows 50-60 percent of Texas cotton.

Harvest has ended in the Valley where 284,000 gross weight bales have been ginned. High Plains harvest begins in October and runs through December.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Mittens for Pickpocket

Not long ago a man found guilty of picking pockets was granted probation on the condition that he wear mittens whenever he went out in public during the following five years.

This order suggests the wide range of possibilities that may occur to a sentencing judge when he allows a convicted person to go free on probation. The idea, of course, is to keep the culprit from getting into trouble again.

As a matter of law, the judge has considerable leeway in setting conditions. Besides the usual requirements, such as avoiding association with criminals and keeping in touch with a probation officer, special limitations have also been held lawful.

Examples:

- 1) that a bookie should not have a telephone in his home;
- 2) that an assaulter should not go near a certain woman; and
- 3) that a labor "goon" should not be eligible for union office.

On the other hand, the law is leery of conditions that are too freakish (because they are hard to enforce) or too severe (because they are hard to live up to).

Also, there are constitutional limits that must not be transgressed.

In one case, a court granted a man probation on condition that he donate blood to the Red Cross. But this condition was thrown out on appeal because it called for "invading the physical person in an unwarranted manner."

Equally invalid was a condition in another case that the felon, who was a promising athlete, not play any college or professional basketball. The appellate court said that such a restriction, rather than keep him out of trouble, was more likely to get him back in.

GET UP... AND GO

Does the alarm clock get you up? No, it merely tells you it's time to get up. Whether you get out of bed is a matter of discipline.

Church bells don't bring anyone to church. They simply remind Christians where we ought to be on a Sunday morning. The rest is a matter of discipline.

Such discipline, whether it calls you to work or to worship, is fundamentally a trait of your own character. It begins with earnestness, it is strengthened by habit, it is directed toward any responsibility or opportunity which you value.

"THIS LAND OF TEXAS" Lights, Music, Action!

AUSTIN—"This Land of Texas," a 20-minute sound and slide show on Texas agriculture, is available for showing at public gatherings, Agriculture Commissioner John C. White has announced.

The show tells the tale of Texas agriculture from its pioneer beginnings to its modern technological achievements.

"This is actually a show about all Texans and the role agriculture has played in their lives," White said. "It is educational, entertaining and will appeal to a wide variety

Honey Flow Cut In Half By Weather

AUSTIN--Drought followed by heavy rains has cut this year's honey flow by about half, Agriculture Commissioner John C. White said recently.

This is affecting consumers already paying higher prices for honey, but not beekeepers trying to keep up with a world demand for the natural sweet.

White said most beekeepers are migratory, following the blossoms of certain plants from the Lower Rio Grande Valley all the way to Minnesota and the Dakotas.

"The crop depends to a great extent on climate and the right nectar-producing plants," White said. "This year's drought sharply reduced these plants, especially on the High Plains where cotton and alfalfa blooms were in short supply."

Rains following the drought in Texas and elsewhere also kept bees from working and prevented beekeepers from removing honey from the hives.

White said beekeepers transport hives from state to state in trucks. They place the hives in fields abundant with the blossoms of clover, mesquite, cat's claw and other plants. Honeybees collect the nectar and deposit it in a hive where a chemical process changes it into honey in a few hours.

The honey flow will continue as long as nectar is available in the plants. Five to 10 pounds of honey a day is regularly produced by most hives and under the right conditions 20-30 pounds can be produced.

AUSTIN--While food prices go up, up, up, families sit around the dinner table grumbling about rich cattlemen and farmers raking in the profits. But are they?

According to Agriculture Commissioner John C. White, statistics show farmers' total production costs rose 110 percent between 1952 and 1972.

More than $400 million is wasted annually on worthless arthritis "cures" and remedies.

Over 50 million Americans have some form of arthritis.

The show employs five screens, music and narration to tell its story. Produced for the 1974 State Fair, it is suitable for showing at service clubs, high schools or any public gathering.

For further information write to Commissioner John C. White, Texas Department of Agriculture, P.O. Box 12847, Austin, Tex. 78711.

Agriculture Commissioner John C. White reported that the average protein content of dry beans is 25 percent.
