The annual Kent County 4-H Club Livestock Show will be held Friday night and Saturday, Feb. 21-22, 1975, at the 4-H Club Barn in Clairemont.

Hog judging will begin Friday afternoon at 5:30. Hogs must weigh between 190 and 250 to be judged. They will be judged in three classes: light, medium, and heavy weight. Light weight class hogs will weigh 190 to 210; medium weight 211 to 230; and heavy weight 231 to 250.

Lamb judging will begin Saturday morning at 8:30 a.m. Lambs must weigh between 80 and 120, except Southdown lambs may weigh 70. Lambs will be judged as finewool, crossbred, medium wool breeds, and Southdown breeds.

Grand and reserve Champions will be selected in each of the swine, lamb and steer divisions. A showmanship trophy will be given in each division.

A barbeque lunch will be served at noon Saturday. The tickets will cost $2.00.

The top 50% of each class will sell in the premium auction sale. Other animals may be sold at the floor price. When your animal is weighed in, tell the superintendent if your animal is for sale or if you are going to keep it and take it home.

The 4-H Club members and adult leaders will serve concessions Friday night and Saturday during the show. Basketball fans can eat at the concession stand Friday afternoon after the hog show and then go to the District Boys Basketball Tournament at Aspermont. The show has been planned so fans may attend the stock show and the basketball game.

4H Club Box Supper Is Planned For Feb. 1

The Kent County 4-H Council is sponsoring a box supper for 4-H members and their parents Saturday, Feb. 1st, at 6:30 p.m. in the Kent County Community Center.

The proceeds will go toward the construction of the State 4-H Center at Brownwood.

Girls and women are to bring a decorated box with lunch for two people. The boxes will be auctioned off to the highest bidders. The sale will be divided into Junior 4-H members (age 9-13), Senior 4-H members (age 14-19) and parents.

The bidding will start at 6:30 p.m. Games, cards, and dominoes will be played after supper.

Watch For Sediments

Contrary to popular belief, sediment is the greatest water pollutant. It kills fish and covers spawning beds. It fills lakes and chokes stream channels, causing floods. Other pollutants such as sewage wastes, infectious agents and chemical wastes hitch a ride on suspended sediment, intensifying pollution downstream.

Sediment is a product of erosion and can be controlled on farm land, by terracing, reforestation, improved tillage practices and better grassland management, but it's not just a farm problem, road banks, construction sites, and industrial development, when left bare sometimes cause more sediment than farm land.

According to the Soil Conservation Service, many conservation practices used on farm land are effective on urban erosion problems. For more information, contact the Soil Conservation Service working through the Duck Creek Soil and Water Conservation District.

This picture shows sediment choking a bar ditch along a farm to market road.

Fluorescent Lighting

Fluorescent lighting can make a room look warm, exciting and alive with color. Mrs. Jane Berry, housing and home furnishings specialist with the Texas Extension Service said this week.

"The two types of fluorescent lighting tubes are labeled yellowish incandescent lighting usually found in homes. Deluxe cool, and either one can make a home vibrant with color-if used correctly" she said.

Deluxe warm white flatters all colors-especially blues and greens.

This extra cool light provides a change from the mellow. "To create special effects, consider using fluorescent tubes that make certain colors appear more intense. Soft white tubes emphasize reds and pinks and can create dramatic effects in a pink bathroom or in a family room paneled in rich mahogany" she said.

Unselfishness is a rare virtue, not to be expected too often.

Prices of Beef Show Signs of Fluctuating

College Station -- Beef prices show signs of fluctuating in coming weeks, and fryer chicken prices will increase immediately, but sugar prices indicate a downward trend, one forecaster says.

She's Mrs. Gwendolyn Clyatt, consumer marketing information specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. The Texas A&M University System.

"More grass-fed beef is now available, and the current beef supply is plentiful -- however, there will likely be fluctuating prices in the coming week."

Who Understands Mind Of A Child?

College Station -- It is frequently thought that a mother is the only one who really understands what her baby is saying or feeling.

But understanding infants and talking to them has to be learned -- it doesn't come naturally, one family life education specialist contended this week.

Dorothy Tarylor, with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, said that parents are often frustrated when they can't identify their infant's wants or what he is trying to say.

"Infants are vague about what they say -- their language is short and very incomplete, almost a code. No adult or child really speaks the language of babies," she reminded.

The infant is in just as precarious a position in communicating with adults. At no time in his life is he less able to talk and express his needs in words.

The specialist, who association with the Texas A&M University System, pointed out that infants are totally dependent on others to receive his message, interpret and fulfill his needs. Because he is so desperate to talk and to be understood, a baby is usually a ready communicator, she said.

"Infants who are just learning to talk need good models. So it is important for adults to use correct pronunciation and not baby talk."

19 Attend Home Gardener Meeting Here Tuesday 21st

JAYTON

It once was that "the fall of the year" was a big thing to the small town merchant.

The cotton harvest was on, the people came to town and they spent money.

The merchant might find things slow in the spring, and almost nothing in the summer, but he always operated with the hope, which was spoken often "just wait until fall gets here, and I will be able to pay out."

Now, fall is good, only because the farmers usually get paid for their crops, and have money usually to buy things they need. Actually, there is no significant difference in the amount of business the merchants have.

This past fall was so insignificant it could hardly be noticed.

We who depend upon the farmers trade for our business, are always happy to hear the cotton gins humming, and we overlook the pollution problems they normally create, because of the influence it has on the local economy.

But this fall we hardly knew that cotton harvest was here.

Almost before it got under way the cotton gins were finishing up the cotton crop.

And, before the next harvest season comes around, local merchants are going to realize that the cotton harvest this year was extremely short, and what's worse the market was very poor too.

In this area, local business people smile when the farmers are smiling, and they frown when the farmer frowns—because our fortunes are tied in directly with the fortunes of the cotton farmers.

The new Congress is in session, and it promises to put on quite an interesting show.

Many of the professional forecasters, are saying that President Ford will have it so rough in the next year, that it is very likely he will resign before the term is up.

Also the Texas Legislature is in session. A major problem is public school financing.

I talked to one person high in the State Department of Education, and she had considerable amount of concern about the plans that have been proposed for public schools.

She says the cost will, be tremendous, and they will also require an appalling amount of bookkeeping by the local schools.

Both the National Congress, and the Texas Legislature are now in session, and they are more interesting to watch than a three ring circus.

In the Legislature, we have an experienced man in the House of Representatives, Bill Heatly, and a freshman Senator, Kent Hance. However Hance seems to be getting his feet on the ground very rapidly. About the first official act he had to perform was to recommend a new judge to replace the late Judge Pat Moore.

You better keep up with their actions—both the national and the State legislatures—because it is your tax money they are spending.

As It Looks From Here

By Rep. Omar Burleson
Member of Congress, Texas

Washington, D.C. — ON SEVERAL OCCASIONS DURING THE LAST CONGRESS we discussed in this column the creation of a Joint House-Senate Budget Committee which has as its purpose a review in advance of spending levels of the Federal Government for the following year.

THAT COMMITTEE IS NOW ORGANIZED and expects to begin its studies and deliberations in the weeks ahead.

THIS EFFORT IS THE NEXT BEST THING to a Constitutional Amendment proposed by a number of us here in the Congress which would put the Government on a "pay as you go" basis. Such a Constitutional Amendment would be similar to that which we have in our own State of Texas, except there must be provided a waiver of such requirement in times of national emergency such as war.

TO RESTATE WHAT HAS BEEN SAID BEFORE, the purpose of the Committee is to set ceilings on expenditures related to revenues received in all forms of taxation. At the present time, revenues are estimated in the President's budget in the early part of the year and we will get those figures on Feb. 3. In the same message, the President will lay out the amounts to be spent for the numerous programs of the Federal Government.

MORE OFTEN THAN NOT, revenues are underestimated, as they were last year, and spending likewise is greater to make their own decisions by discussing a situation and all possible alternatives. They promote an atmosphere which encourages an exchange of the end of the year than recommended by the Executive Branch.

THIS LATTER INCONSISTENCY IS USUALLY THE FAULT OF THE CONGRESS by enacting new programs and activities which have to be paid for. Some have to be paid for soon after enactment while others constitute a sort of a C.O.D. which has to be paid for three, four and five years in the future. By reason of these long-term commitments the Congress has control over less than 30% of all the huge expenditures of the Government.

A JOINT COMMITTEE BETWEEN THE HOUSE AND SENATE WILL ATTEMPT first to do its own estimating of income and set ceilings on expenditures for each program. It will then consolidate total costs according to the expected income. As it is now, these two have only a nodding acquaintance.

THE PURPOSE OF THE JOINT COMMITTEE OF THE CONGRESS is not to rely on the Executive Branch alone but to assume our Constitutional responsibility in seeing that we get back to a more sound fiscal operation.

THIS IS ALL WELL AND GOOD if it is made to work. It will be up to Congress to make it work but the whole idea is surrounded with skepticism as to whether or not we are willing to say we will go so far and no farther.

THE DEFICIT FOR THIS FISCAL YEAR 1975 will be more than $30 billion and unless steps are taken to get our economy in better shape, there is little doubt that it will reach more than $70 billion in the 1976 fiscal year beginning next July 1. There is no doubt that the deficit in the next two years will be far beyond any red ink which has gone on the books in the history of our Country. The interest alone on what the Government owes is now more than $32 billion and is one of the best examples of "uncontrolled" expenditures.

AT NOT TIME COULD I HAVE CHOSEN a less opportune time to serve on the Budget Committee between the House and Senate but I have been elected to do so, accepting it as one of the biggest challenges of a career.

WITH INFLATION AND

RECESSION AT THE SAME TIME revenues will be off and spending continues to climb.

BY THE NEWS MEDIA, President has made certain proposals for tax rebates and tax cuts ranging from $16 to $17 billion. Some of this loss is to be recovered by additional taxes on oil and gas. Other reduced income will result in raising the investment credit tax from the present 7% to 10% or 12% to encourage business to expand. It appears that some of the proposals would operate in such a way that they would give with one hand and take away with the other. What appears to be the case is that, unless there is actual expansion of plants, facilities, more exploration for oil and gas, productivity will not result. Productivity is, in the final analysis, the only answer to more employment, more goods for the consumer at cheaper prices. This is known as the law of supply and demand and no one has yet been able to beat it nor can it be repealed.

"Compulsory" Surgery

Suffering from a hyperthyroid condition, Doris began to collect disability payments under the Social Security Act. But after a brief period, the government decided to pay no more.

"She isn't that sick," a government spokesman explained in a court hearing. "All she needs is a minor operation, which she refuses to have. That isn't our fault." "I just don't like surgery," countered Doris. "They can't make such a thing compulsory."

However, the court agreed with the government that the payments could indeed be terminated. The court said Doris could not be classified as "disabled" when it was within her own power to get well.

The justification for the ruling was that the operation which Doris needed was relatively safe. Why, say the courts, should the government bear the consequences of a person's unusual squeamishness?

The greater the risk, however, the greater the right of the ailing person to refuse surgery without losing his benefits. He may also refuse surgery on the ground that it is not likely to help him. Thus:

A truck driver was disabled by a severe back problem. Here too the government wanted him to undergo corrective surgery rather than collect disability payments.

But this time, the operation was both painful and dangerous—and the chance of success was no more than 50%. Ruling against the government, the judge said:

"This court will not require claimant to submit to such odds." One case involved a man who was unable to hold a job because he drank too much whiskey. In seeking social security payments, he claimed he could not change his habits. But a court turned him down, concluding that he could control his "disability" if he tried hard enough.

FLOWER OF THE YEAR

Specimen plant of dianthus (named "Flower of the Year") in a combination planting with white alyssum.

At a meeting of American seedsmen in St. Paul, Minnesota, dianthus was unanimously voted "Flower of the Year" for 1975. The seedsmen selected it because this old-fashioned flower has undergone some spectacular changes and improvement in recent years largely as a result of America hybridizing expertise.

The first big break for dianthus occurred about ten years ago when a Japanese breeder found a new mutation growing by the wayside. A bright red in color, it represented as big a find as the black tulip in bulbs, and was boosted from obscurity to overnight fame when it won a silver medal award in the All-America Selections under the name of "Bravo." Using "Bravo" as a parent to breed other lines, American breeders have since produced a whole new group of dianthus, first with "Queen of Hearts," then "China Doll" and more recently with "Magic Charms," the most beautiful color mixture of all. All three have won All-America awards.

Although dianthus is a perennial, blooming year after year, it can be treated as an annual if seed is sown early indoors like tomatoes and transplanted to the garden. The flowers form in clusters, each flower 1 1/2 in. across, and each cluster up to 1 ft. across, producing a density of color no other flower group can match in intensity. In hot weather the plants will stop flowering, but new buds and blooms will appear in fall if the old growth is pruned back. Then, after flowering in fall the plants should be sheared evenly to within an inch off the ground to provide an even more colorful display the following year.

A Green Salad Is Refreshing

College Station -- A refreshing green salad makes a good change from holiday fare, one foods and nutrition specialist noted this week.

"Salads are a pleasant way of getting essential vitamins and minerals. They're easy to prepare and help save on the food budget," Marilyn Haggard, with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System, said.

Also, leftover meats added to ordinary salad made it even fancier and more nutritious, she reminded.

The specialist pointed out that in selecting salad greens, consumers should remember these guidelines.

- Choose only crisp, tender greens.
- Remove wilted or bruised sections immediately.
- Wash greens thoroughly in lukewarm water, drain in salad basket, on a wife rack or paper towels, or dry them in a soft towel.
- Store in a vegetable crisper or plastic bag in refrigerator.
- Store watercress and parsley in a covered jar to prevent bruising.

A garnish goes a long way with color- and nutrition. Try using a green pepper, a radish or cucumber, stuffed olives, a tomato wedge, sieved egg, or sprig of parsley. Marilyn Haggard, foods and nutrition specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System, suggests.

Bridal Suites Are Out of Style

There's something missing in most of today's honeymoons bridal suite.

A survey of the top hotel chains shows that honeymooners' hotel havens are dwindling.

Why, even in Las Vegas, "the marriage capital of the world," there isn't a single room reserved exclusively for newlyweds at the major hotels.

"Bridal Suites are out of vogue," said Jaques Cosse, director of public relations for the Hilton Hotels Corp. "Of our 136 hotels, only the older ones like the Waldorf-Astoria have suites exclusively for newlyweds."

"The rest of our hotels have elegant, romantic suites but as for heart-shaped beds, champagne bubblebaths and lace - no."

A spokesman for Holiday Inn said that of 1,600 motels in the chain, only one - in Corpus Christi, Tex. - has a true bridal suite.

Said Jim Durban, president of Marriott Hotels: "Except in special resort areas, it'd be too costly to reserve suites just for newlyweds."

Added travel expert Walt Elsaesser, of Transportation Consultants International: "Today's newlyweds don't center their interest on the room or its decor so much as they do on where they go for their honeymoon."

A Million Americans Work a 7-Day Week

The 4-day workweek may be just around the corner but right now more than a million American workers are working a 7-day week.

According to the U.S. Dept. of Labor's Bureau of Statistics, 85 percent of the million work over 41 hours a week.

Of the million working a 7-day week, about half are white-collar workers and almost a third are blue-collar workers.

Child - Parent Relationship Is A Serious Topic

College Station -- Many parents resolve to begin the new year by strengthening relationships with their children. But this takes more effort than just saying the words, according to one family life education specialist.

beginning early, she pointed out. "Parents encourage independence by providing opportunities for their children to learn how to behave in a variety of situations.

"Sometimes a child needs positive instructions to help him know what is appropriate behavior. Sincere praise for accomplishments promotes a feeling of self-confidence and a willingness to try something new," she said.

Parents help children learn through activities at home which help the child learn to get along with others," Miss Carrington explained.

Chinese Temple Installed the First Vending Machine 2,500 Year Ago

Almost as soon as man invented coins, he invented vending machines that he could put them in.

It may all have started more than 2,500 years ago, says the National Geographic Society, when a Chinese temple installed an ingenious gadget that caused an idol to shed tears of condensed steam when cash offerings were dropped into a box.

Ancient Egyptian temples also contained vending machines that give you money if Ancient Egyptian temples also contained vending machines that, for a 5-drachma coin, would pour a measured amount of sacrificial water.

Today, items of every type imaginable are dispensed by vending machines. There are even machines that give you money if you put in money - the dollar bill changer.

Many Issues To Deal With In The Food Industry

College Station -- The food industry has been in the public eye during the past two years, and numerous issues have come to the forefront that directly affect food retailers. So the Texas Agricultural Extension Service and the National Association of Retail Grocers of the U.S. are joining together to lend a helping hand.

NEW BROCCOLI AND CAULIFLOWER WIN AWARDS

Broccoli Premium Crop, an All-America winner for 1975, grows huge top quality heads of excellent flavor and texture.

With cauliflower heads costing up to $1.00 each in the stores, it makes good sense to grow your own, and a new All-America winner for 1975 called cauliflower Snow Crown will help you do it more successfully than ever before.

A vigorous growing hybrid, Snow Crown has proved dependable for spring planting, maturing its solid white heads earlier than other "snowball" varieties. Seed should be sown indoors in February or March and transplanted four weeks before the last expected frost date to mature during the cool weather of spring. Sowing in July for transplanting in August is also satisfactory, allowing heads to mature during the cool weather of fall.

Broccoli is closely related to cauliflower, but generally easier to grow, and a new All-America award winner for 1975 makes it even easier. Called Premium Crop, it grows large, tight, blue-green heads of excellent texture and eating quality, each head packed with good nutritional value and enough for serving four people. After the main head is picked, smaller heads will appear on side-shoots.

Like cauliflower, broccoli seed should be started early and transplanted to the garden four weeks before the last frost date, or sown in July for transplanting in August to mature in fall.

Food Buying Habits Altered

Indications are that consumers are changing shopping habits and food use to meet the times. While food prices rose 21 percent in 1973, consumers increased the amount of money they spent on food by only 11 to 12 percent.

Mrs. Gwendolyn Clyatt, Texas Extension consumer marketing specialist, says a recent survey shows shoppers are now preparing better for food buying with lists, planned menus, and consultation with other family members.

The single most important trend in guarding the family food budget has been increased attention to "specials." Housewives are checking newspaper grocery ads more closely to learn about store specials, and are making more use of cents-off coupons.

The survey also revealed that people are eating less. Average reduction in food intake was 1.5 percent in 1973.

Trips to the supermarket were cut by 25 percent in the average household, a practice that reduces impulse buying.

The Glorious Yam

Sweet potatoes aren't actually potatoes but members of the morning-glory family. But, regardless of their ancestry, they're nutritious. One medium-sized yam supplies twice your daily requirement of vitamin A and one-third of your daily need for Vitamin C.

Cashing in: One of two women riding on a bus suddenly realized she hadn't paid her fare. "I'll go right up and pay it," she declared.

"Why bother?" her friend replied. "You got away with it -- so what?"

"I've found that honesty always pays," the other said virtuously and went up to pay the driver.

"See, I told you honesty pays," she said when she returned. "I handed the driver a quarter and he gave me change for fifty cents."

Revolutionary changes resulting from agricultural research in livestock feeding, breeding, and marketing have made it possible to put 150 lbs. more beef on American dinner tables than was available 20 years ago.

Offshoots of Ag Research While the USDA is not usually thought of as a health protecting agency, it played a major role in the development of such wonder drugs as penicillin, dextran, and streptomycin.

THE TRUE VALUE OF SEEDS

In Japan today fresh market cantaloupes cost $10.00 each, and the country has a population density that makes it impossible for the majority of the people to grow their own food in order to combat high food prices.

Every inch of available ground is under cultivation or populated, except for mountains too steep to farm or build on. Garden space around houses is extremely small or non-existent, and apartment living seems to be the only form of home construction in progress. Community gardens like we have in America and Europe are out of the question owing to the premium on land.

TURN OFF THE WORLD

We all feel that way at times. And, tragically, there are some folks who feel that way much of the time.

But while the world in which we live leaves a lot to be desired, it's our world. And life in that world is pretty much what man himself has made of it.

The God who created us and our universe had some excellent plans for life as it should be. They are clearly set forth in the Bible whose writing He inspired. And they have become the spiritual blueprint of constructive living for millions of believers.

As the earth continues its endless turning, search for your goals in faith—not escape... in the Word of God—not the words of cynics.
