$136.1 Million of Kent County Oil Sold in 1974

The production of crude oil and natural gas in 1974 continued to have a significant impact on the economy of Kent County, with the estimated value of the county's production, royalty payments, and state severance taxes reaching new highs.

The county ranked 22nd in the state in the total value of petroleum produced—$136.1 million—with $132.7 million of that coming from the sale of 19 million barrels of crude oil; $3.4 million from the sale of 11.7 million MCF of natural gas.

"These figures, whether considered statewide or individually in almost 80 percent of Texas' 254 counties, emphasize the importance of a healthy petroleum industry in the nation's No. 1 energy state," said Sherman Hunt, a Dallas independent oil man who is president of Texas Mid-Continent.

The survey also shows that the State of Texas received $6.4 million in production taxes from county wells, with $6.1 million coming from crude oil output and $255,000 from natural gas production. Oil and gas developers and producers spent an estimated $3.4 million drilling 45 wells in the county last year, with 57.5 percent of the figure lost in 27 dry holes. The total drilling yielded 18 oil wells. The exploratory effort in the county included the drilling of 19 wildcat wells seeking new oil and gas fields.

Texas Taxes

By BOB BULLOCK, State Comptroller

Austin--While I was in Dallas recently conducting our operations shutting down several business for not paying their sales tax, I talked by phone with my sister in Hillsboro.

That conversation brought up some points which I think should be remembered by every taxpayer and every business operator in Texas. My sister asked what I thought would be the effect of putting so many people out of work by closing down their employers.

In the first place, we didn't put anyone out of work--their employers did that by failing or refusing to pay their taxes. I don't believe the State Comptroller has to take one iota of blame for carrying out his legal responsibilities against any business which has failed to carry out its legal responsibilities--namely to pay its taxes.

Let's look at whose money we are really talking about when we talk about a business failing to pay "its" taxes.

Sales tax money is money which you, the buying public, has had added on the bottom of your cafe check or added to the sales ticket when you bought a shirt. It's a nickle on every dollar--and you pay it.

You hand your tax nickles over to the person you are buying from, and that person is supposed to send those nickles to the State Treasury. This money isn't like the income tax. It doesn't come from the business' pockets or from the business' profits. It's your money and it comes from your pockets.

There was a letter to the editor in the Dallas News recently which made the point real clear. The writer simply observed that he couldn't walk out of a restaurant and pay for only the price of the meal. He can't get out of the place without paying his sales tax.

There are tens of thousands of good honest businesses in Texas paying "their" taxes. If their competitors down the street are putting the five per cent sales tax in their pockets--or in their business operations--it is an unfair, five per cent advantage at the expense of the honest business operator, the taxpayer and the State.

I don't intend to tolerate it. We don't "raid" businesses and "seize" their property just because we have the authority to do it or just because we want to be tough. We take these drastic steps only after all other efforts have failed. We will walk the last mile with any business to try to work out an agreement and keep them in business and their employees working--but when good faith breaks down we have no alternative.

One of the most rewarding compliments I've ever heard came from a man whose television business we shut down.

"I just kept putting it off, I'm not mad. I know you're right."

The Consumer Alert

By John L. Hill, Attorney General

AUSTIN--During the recent legislative session, a new Texas Mobile Home Standards Act was passed to upgrade the industry, and to provide more protection for the large number of Texans who are turning to mobile homes for their housing.

The new law, which will go into effect on Sept. 2, will lessen the chance of deception in manufacturing, sales, distribution, setting up and tying down of mobile homes.

Problems about mobile homes have been so numerous in the past that our Attorney General's Office set up a Labor Division, which handles mobile home complaints. In the first 10 months of its operation, the Labor Division received 1,200 complaints about mobile homes.

The new law has several important features that should help to reduce consumer dissatisfaction. First, it adopts the construction and safety standards set by the federal Housing and Urban Development Department, and authorizes the Texas Department of Labor and Standards to enforce these standards.

It also requires that any mobile home manufacturer must be licensed by the Department and hold a certificate of acceptability in order to do business in Texas. It will be against the law for a dealer to sell any mobile home manufactured after Sept. 2 if it does not meet the standards, have a State seal of approval from the Department, and if it was not manufactured by a holder of a current certificate of acceptability.

A new minimum one-year warranty is provided under the law, and both manufacturers and dealers are jointly responsible for meeting a warranty claim. If a dealer or manufacturer fails to comply with a warranty, it is considered a deceptive trade practice. A consumer that can file a suit himself, or can register a complaint with the Attorney General or with a county or district attorney.

All mobile home manufacturers, dealers, and salespersons must be bonded under the new law. Manufacturers must post a $100,000 bond, dealers a $25,000 bond, and salespersons a $2,000 bond. A consumer can cancel any contract if he finds out a manufacturer, dealer or salesperson was not bonded when the contract was signed.

In the past, some unlucky consumers who tried to have work done under their warranty found out that both the dealer and the manufacturer had gone out of business. Now, with the new requirements, the consumer can sue to recover his losses from the bond in such cases.

Under the new law, all mobile homes except those in a dealer's or manufacturer's inventory must meet minimum tie-down standards. This means all mobile homes within 300 feet of another mobile home, residence, or building must be blocked, anchored, and tied down securely to conform. The Texas Labor and Standards Department will inspect the tie-down system for a fee to be paid by the installer.

The Department of Labor and Standards has the responsibility of enforcing this new law. As the legal representative of the Department, it's the job of the Attorney General to file suit against violators referred by the Department. Under the new law, the Attorney General can also file suits on his own for violations of the Mobile Home Standards law, or under the Deceptive Trade Practices-Consumer Protection Act for warranty violations.

A Sharp Increase In Enrollment At West Texas

WTSU--The student population of West Texas State University will experience a sharp increase, as the eleven hundred students enrolled in WT's twenty-third annual instrumental music camp take up residence from July 13 to July 25.

With an enrollment drawn from eight states, the pool of musical talent is expected to provide instrumentation for nine bands and two orchestras.

Featured clinician will be master bandsman Dr. William Revelli of the University of Michigan. Dr. Revelli and Dr. Gary Garner of WTSU will share the direction of the Honors Band.

Bill Walls of Auburn University will direct the Marching Ban Workshop. The Senior Orchestra will be under the direction of Dr. Harry Lantz of George Peabody University.

Miss 1975 Teenage Contest Is Set

Entry blanks for the 1975 Miss Teenage Abilene competition are now available throughout the 25 counties of the Dr. Pepper Bottling Company of Abilene distribution area. According to pageant coordinator, Duncan & Associates, complications at the Miss Teenage America headquarters in Dallas caused the entry forms to arrive in Abilene much later than had been anticipated. "But the forms have now been distributed among all the counties in banks and youth centers and also in locations where Dr. Pepper is sold," a spokesman said.

Girls wishing to enter this year's Miss Teenage Abilene competition should return a completed entry blank along with a recent photograph to the MTA offices as soon as possible. Deadline for entries is Aug. 23. Preliminary events will begin early in September with the pageant night set for Sept. 27 in the Abilene Civic Center.

Judging for the Miss Teenage Abilene program is based not on beauty but on poise and appearance, awareness, and scholastic achievement. There is no swim suit competition.

Anyone having difficulty locating an entry form should contact the Miss Teenage Abilene office, Suite 302, Bank of Commerce Building or call 696-7821 for information.

REDDY'S HELPFUL FREEZER TIPS

- Defrost promptly--frost build-up of more than 1/2" makes cooling units work harder--they use more energy and wear out faster.
- Prepare food for refrigeration by letting hot dishes partially cool before refrigeration or freezing.
- Keep it full--but without overcrowding. A half-empty freezer uses more energy, because air is harder to keep cold than chilled foods and liquids.
- Check gaskets to help prevent energy-wasting air leaks. Close door on a heavy piece of paper. If it pulls out easily, gaskets may be worn.

INFLATION-FIGHTING IDEAS

SAVE MONEY BY BUYING RIGHT TIRES

Proper tire inflation, the type of tires you buy and how you take care of them can save money and fuel, advises Judi Hampton, director of consumer affairs for Mobil Oil Corporation.

She says properly inflated tires give you better mileage, greater safety, and better control. Check your owner's manual for the right pressure. Generally, tires of the same size require the same pressure.

Wear is caused by tires that are out of balance, under-inflated or inadequately rotated; by incorrect wheel alignment; by worn suspension or shock absorbers; or by brakes that grab the road.

If your tires are not wearing evenly, see your local dealer.

In recent years new types of tires have been introduced. To eliminate confusion about what type to choose, Judi provides some definitions.

The bias-ply has two or more plies or layers of fabric. Its strength varies with the fiber and number of plies—rayon, nylon or polyester—and the thickness of each strand, cord, and ply. The bias-ply is relatively inexpensive and is appropriate for U.S. cars made before 1970 and many foreign cars.

The bias-belted tire is built the same way as the bias-ply but it has extra layers of material between the fabric and the tread, called belts. These layers provide more resistance to cuts and bruises and reduce wear by stabilizing the tread.

The radial-ply has plies and belts, generally using rayon, fiberglass or polyester material. If the belts are made of steel, the tire is called a steel radial. Radial-ply is the best money can buy. It offers the best tire mileage potential and fuel economy, greatest resistance to punctures and impact breaks, and the best handling, cornering, and traction.

If you choose radials, have them on all wheels for best performance.

Judi gives these seven tips to get the most out of your tires:

1 - Learn how to use a pressure gauge.

2 - If wear is irregular, have the cause repaired immediately.

3 - Check the owner's manual concerning size and inflation. Write them down for emergencies.

4 - Inspect your tires before driving.

5 - Make sure valve caps are on. They keep out dirt and help maintain pressure.

6 - Practice removing a tire and mounting the spare.

7 - If your lugs were machine-tightened, be sure you can unscrew them yourself. A four-way lug wrench provides the best leverage.

BACKGROUND ON BUSINESS

Helping Our Retailers To Help
To help push production up and keep prices down, businesses are installing small computers for a variety of production, accounting, and service functions. Users of small computers have a common interest in becoming more efficient, more competitive, more responsive to the changing needs of their marketplaces.

With a small computer in operation, a retailer can know what items are selling and which ones aren't. It can have up-to-the-minute records on just what products and what quantities it has in inventories. And billing and accounts receivable are more accurate and complete.

Whether they're food distributors in Oklahoma, plastics manufacturers in Illinois, or building supply dealers in Connecticut, they're using a small computer called the System/3 marketed by IBM's General Systems Division. It's known as the office computer that can help a company grow. For information on profit-saving computer systems you can write to IBM General Systems Division, c/o Information Dept., P.O. Box 2150, Atlanta, Ga. 30301.

When a retailer operates efficiently, the consumer feels it in prices, items in stock, and in the general environment of the store. A computer allows a retailer to spot varying trends immediately and be prepared to pull back one item and increase distribution in another. In short, a store can stock just what you want to buy.

PLAN YOUR PROPERTY PROTECTION

Prepared by The Society of Chartered Property & Casualty Underwriters, the national professional society whose members have earned the CPCU designation by meeting high educational, ethical and experience requirements.

Q. Our new neighbors built their home on the vacant lot across the street and seem to have found an insurance bargain that's bugging me. Their new home is worth about the same as the replacement cost on ours, yet they're paying less than I am for the same amount of coverage. Is that possible?

A. Entirely possible. You see, because of the safety improvement in building materials and electrical wiring, some insurance companies offer lower rates to new homes.

But be careful about comparison shopping for insurance. One myth that you should ignore is that one insurance company offers the lowest prices. All companies offer some plans with low prices, but if a company has a low cost term life insurance plan, this does not mean it will have a similar low cost auto insurance plan.

Paris' Latin Quarter got its name from the days in the middle ages when students and tutors from the University of Paris would go there, and converse in Latin.

In Shropshire England, it is said that a piece of hawthorn cut on Holy Thursday will protect both house and person from being struck by lightning.

He is a mighty small man—almost too small to leave his footprints in the sand. But he is starting out on his own. He is exploring, seeking, learning. Where will his footsteps ultimately lead him? There are so many courses a child may take—so many that a person of any age can follow. But it is never too late to change direction, even if it seems as if a dead end has been reached. The beauty of life is that the word itself is synonymous with hope. If the direction your footsteps have been taking you is disappointing, then turn toward the Church. Remember, the Church has survived for centuries against odds that would have annihilated a lesser force. That in itself is reason enough to give it a chance—to see what it has to offer.

Another fabulous contest about fabulous faces—with prizes aplenty—is going on now. Kinney, the Great American Shoe Store, is searching for Great American Faces. Amateur photos are invited to submit a snapshot of their loved one (in any of 12 family categories—grandparents to "baby") if they want to participate in the Great American Face Photo Contest.

Helen of Troy, whose lovely face the poet said launched a thousand ships, was really the prize in a fabulous contest. Three Greek goddesses asked Paris, prince of Troy, to judge which of them should be awarded the golden Apple of Discord. He gave it to Aphrodite who had promised him in return the love of the fairest of women, namely Helen. So Paris took Helen, to Troy—and the Trojan War resulted!

(August 1 - October 15). Get your face to Kinney, and become a legend in your own time.

NEWS OF STAMPS

Many shoppers see stamps every day yet few realize how big a job they do. Trading stamps make contributions to the nation's economy and give shoppers extra value in the form of redemption merchandise equal to about 2.5 percent of the money spent at stamp-giving stores.

Studies show that many women consider trading stamps, such as S&H Green Stamps, as their own for which they're not accountable to anyone. It's a good way to get extras for their home and family, they say.

One of the special attractions of stamps is that they are one of the few promotions that returns something of value to every shopper. The money the store spends to promote ends up as extra value in the hands of its customers.

THE ROAD TO ROMANCE

Visit the ancient walled town of Rothenburg (left), full of timbered towers, flowering window boxes, iron Gothic inn signs, noble houses unchanged by centuries, charming shops half-timbered in Renaissance style and quaint cobbled streets. Then see the medieval multi-towered Emperor's Castle high above Nuremberg's "Old Town" (above) as you drive through Germany's famous Romantic Road.

There's good news for everyone who has ever longed to return to the days of walled towns and cobbled streets, window boxes on gabled buildings, bustling market squares and peaceful pastures. It's now possible to see all that, without losing out on modern conveniences, by taking the Romantic Road through Germany.

This 180 mile route encompasses an extraordinary collection of towns and villages whose medieval character has been carefully preserved.

The "time" traveler can stop, for instance, at Rothenburg ob der Tauber. Thirteenth century walls surround it, opening at turreted gates for access to narrow streets and half-timbered buildings clustered within.

An annual festival called Der Meistrertrunk (the master drink) commemorates the capacity of a 16th century Buergermeister who averted the city's conquest by accepting a challenge to drink a 3 1/2 quart goblet of wine in one draught. His achievement is also celebrated on the town clock that shows, when it chimes, the buergermeister quaffing and would-be conqueror looking amazed.

Another stop is Augsburg, founded 2,000 years ago by the Roman emperor Augustus. It has the world's oldest housing project, a complex built in the 16th century by a wealthy banking family for the deserving poor. It is still occupied, and the tenants pay the same annual rent they have for 450 years: about 72 cents!

Slightly to the east of the Romantic Road is Nuremberg, with its Altstadt, or old town, a cluster of houses and municipal buildings dating from the Middle Ages. In spring and fall, the market square becomes a flea market and a month before Christmas it's the Christkindlmarkt, appropriately set in a city famous for its toys.

A Nuremberger inspired Wagner's opera "Die Meistersinger" and a modern Meistersingerhalle presents music from classic to pop.

Anyone who wishes to visit these romantic spots will find it easy to do so with the help of Lufthansa German Airlines, which can arrange for flight arrangements, as well as prepaid accommodations, and an Avis self-drive car with unlimited mileage. All of these are included on the Medieval German Countryside Tour of the Romantische Strasse. They can set you on the right road to another age.

Save Money At Laundry Time

Follow some simple energy-saving tips at laundry-time to save money, too! Here's how:

Sort clothes according to amount and kind of soil, colorfastness and type of fabric. A regular laundry load will need a full 10-minute wash cycle; lightly soiled items can be cleaned by a shorter wash cycle.

Do only full laundry loads. Several small loads of laundry use more water and electricity than one big load.

Food Stamp Fraud

WASHINGTON—Scandalously loose federal regulations are taking food from the mouths of the needy and giving it, at taxpayers' expense, to the undeserving.

The federal food stamp program has degenerated into a gigantic boondoggle. What began 10 years ago as a modest federal project funded at $40 million has mushroomed into a fiscal monster that will devour $5 billion of the taxpayer's money this year.

Use of food stamps has increased from one of every 439 Americans in 1965 to one of every 13 Americans today, and the growth of the program is likely to be even more astronomical in the future. Under present regulations, one of every four Americans is eligible for food stamps, and that could easily grow to one of every three Americans.

Under present regulations:

- Some able-bodied persons who do not want to work can get food stamps;
- Owners of jewelry, furs and luxury appliances can get food stamps;
- Minor children can get food stamps without parental consent or control.

Enough is enough. It is time to put a halt to the flagrant abuses of the food stamp program.

I have joined with Sen. James Buckley (R-N.Y.) and nearly 70 other members of the Senate and House in sponsoring the National Food Stamp Reform Act. Our bill would save taxpayers at least $2 billion each year, while at the same time increasing benefits to genuinely needy food stamp recipients by as much as 29 percent.

The National Food Stamp Reform Act contains 41 separate provisions to reduce the overall cost of the program by eliminating fraud and abuse and by redefining eligibility requirements.

Administration of the food stamp program would be transferred from the Department of Agriculture to the Department of Health, Education and Welfare in order to eliminate costly administrative duplication in the welfare system.

Among the reforms the bill would make are:

- Use of federal government indices to set cut-off points for food stamp eligibility;
- Elimination of the present complicated system of income deductions which makes it possible for families making as much as $20,000 a year to be eligible for food stamps;
- Denial of food stamp eligibility to able-bodied persons without small children who are not willing to work, and
- Establishment of accurate monthly reviews to determine whether a food stamp recipient should retain his eligibility.

At the same time, the National Food Stamp Reform Act would significantly expand nutritional assistance. Millions of poor people would benefit directly. The food stamp allotment of each recipient would be immediately increased by 29 percent, and the elderly, who are least able to defend their pocketbooks from the ravages of inflation, would be given special consideration.
