Cotton Research Demonstration In Kent County

An interesting cotton research demonstration is being conducted on the Murdoch farm east of Jayton. The Lubbock Research and Extension Center has leased the 122 acre farm and is conducting research with cotton varieties and pest management practices. Dr. Don Samuel, research entomologist from the Lubbock Center, is directing the research on the Murdoch farm.

Experimental varieties are being checked for early maturity and for insect resistance. This is the second year the Murdoch farm has been used to test early maturing varieties.

This year, ten acres on the Murdoch farm were used to check experimental lines. Trials were made last year with an experimental insect control compound which affects the growth of insects. Yields from the hormone plot produced twice the yield last year on the treated plot.

The Murdoch field is several miles away from other cotton. The field is surrounded by shinnery and post oak which is an excellent overwintering boll weevil habitat. Arrangements for the experimental field were made by the Kent County Extension Agent-Agriculture. Progress from this research should help futher in the boll weevil control program.

High flying causes more than airplane accidents.

Success that is permanent comes slowly, if at all.

Ranchers Urged To Beware Of The Screw Worms

MISSION, June 11: First screw worm cases of 1976 for Garza, Dawson, and Borden counties were identified this week as the Texas count went to 3,058 from 96 counties, says Dr. James E. Novy.

He is director of field operations for the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) Screw worm Eradication Program. Operated for USDA by the Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service (APHIS), the program works to control or eliminate spread of this parasite of all warm blooded animals.

Laboratory identification of worms livestock owners take from infested wounds in animals is the only sure way the program has of knowing where wild screw worm flies exist, explains Novy.

Larvae J.D. Hart took from the leg of a horse owned by Jim Prather about eight miles east of Post became Garza County's first 1976 screw worm case.

Dawson County's first 1976 case was recorded on the basis of worms Travis Mires took from a castration wound in a calf a mile south of O'Donnell on June 9. Earlier in the week Borden County's first case, from a calf owned by Doyle Newton of Fiuvana, was identified.

When a wild population is accurately located it is treated with sterile flies produced in the APHIS insectary which are released to mate with wild flies. Eggs produced as the result of a sterile to fertile mating will not hatch, ending the life cycle.

The sterile male release technique is most effective, says Novy, when used against a light population of wild screw worm fly. To keep this situation, ranchers are urged to strive to avoid infestations in their animals and to promptly submit samples of all worms found in wounds.

Kent County farmers and ranchers are urged to be on the look-out for screw worms. Cases have been reported in neighboring counties.

Cattlemen Are Happy With New Inheritance Law

AUSTIN--The head of the Independent Cattlemen's Association Friday hailed Senate committee passage of estate tax reforms as a major step toward saving the nation's family farms and ranches.

The Finance Committee's bill would replace the existing $60,000 exemption with a $30,000 tax measure approved by the Finance Committee.

ICA, whose 100,000 plus members form the largest livestock organization in the nation, has waged an all-out campaign for estate tax reform for almost two years.

ICA President T.A. Cunningham of Goliad said he is hopeful that the full Senate will act before the end of the year on the

This was seven less accidents, three less killed, and 42 less injured in 1976 at the same period of time.

Value of Livestock Pipelines Noted

Proper distribution of water on your grassland is of utmost importance in order to properly utilize all of your grassland and to prevent overgrazing of certain areas. In most cases the use of livestock pipelines is the most effective method to use.

If you have a good dependable supply of water in any pasture, it may be more economical to transport water from this source by pipeline than to dig more wells or construct ponds. No matter where your water supply is located it can usually be piped to other pastures by gravity flow, syphon or force pump.

Assistance in planning and proper engineering design of your livestock water distribution system is available to all cooperators of the Duck Creek Soil and Water Conservation district free of charge. For further information or assistance contact the Soil Conservation Service office in Jayton.

Facts & Fancies

Because air is a relatively poor conductor of heat, many insulating materials are made quite porous to allow an air layer to aid the insulation.

If construction and operation of nuclear power plants were restricted by unwarranted safety fears nationwide, for a period of five years, U.S. consumers could pay more than $230 billion more for electricity, a study by University of Missouri experts indicates. This could mean families would be paying as much as $230 a year extra for electric power.

Q. I know we need the oil, but has any oil company figured out a way to find it more easily?

A. Yes, Several oil companies, have developed seismic technology to detect underground deposits of oil and gas. ## A Letter From Daddy

Her father has sent a letter and a picture, too, to show his family what he's doing while they are apart. It makes them feel close and it comforts them.

Our Heavenly Father has written us a love letter and given us a picture of what He is doing for us while we're apart. Both are contained in the words of the Bible.

In Jeremiah 31:3 He says, "I have loved thee with an everlasting love; therefore with loving kindness I have drawn thee."

And Our Lord tells us in John 14:2, 3, "In my Father's house are many mansions; if it were not so, I would have told you. I go to prepare a place for you. And if I go and prepare a place for you, I will come again, and receive you unto myself: that where I am, there ye may be also."

We invite you to attend church this week. You'll receive a blessing from having done so.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Home Canning Season Is here

COLLEGE STATION--Home-canning season is at hand, and consumers should be sure their pressure canner produces a product safe to eat, Frances Reasonover, a foods and nutrition specialist, reminds.

She pointed out that a temperature of 240 degrees F. is necessary to destroy bacteria spores present in low-acid foods, which include vegetables other than tomatoes and rhubarb and most fish and poultry.

"If the bacteria is not destroyed, it grows in jars or cans of food in the absence of air. It produces a toxin that causes the deadly botulism poisoning," she explained.

Miss Reasonover is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

"When selecting a pressure canner, look for features that assure adequate pressure can be safely reached and maintained," she said.

Look for these features:

--an accurate dial or weighted gauge that gives 10 pounds pressure at sea level and up to 15 pounds in areas of Texas with 2,000 feet and above sea level.

--rubber gasket or lugs that enable the canner to be airtight to help maintain pressure.

--a vent tube or petcock for exhausting air from the canner prior to sealing. Air is a poor conductor of heat.

--petcock or other safety device for allowing steam to escape automatically if pressure goes above the level for which the canner was developed.

--metal used that is strong enough to withstand adequate pressure needed.

--handles on lid and kettle that enable safe handling.

--rack to hold jars off bottom of canner to allow for steam circulation.

Farm Plate Violations Are Still Prevalent On Texas Highways

AUSTIN--One of the most common violations of motor vehicle registration laws in Texas is the use of farm registration plates on a vehicle used for non-farm purposes.

Farmers and ranchers pay only half the normal registration fee for plates on vehicles used solely for farm purposes and certain personal activities of farm and ranch families.

The law is specific in stating that a farm-registered vehicle "may not be used for other gainful employment."

"Violation of this statute is considered a misdemeanor punishable by a fine of $25. to $200," according to R.W. Townsley, director of the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation's Motor Vehicle Division.

Townsley said a farmer or rancher may not use his farm-registered vehicle as a means of transportation to an industrial job, not for hire--even if it is for the transport of farm or ranch products.

Violations frequently occur when a farm-registered pickup is sold to a non-farm operator, Townsley said. In such instances, the plates must be surrendered and application made for new registration, he added.

Chicago On Violence

The City of Chicago recently acted to curb the amount of violence in films shown in that city. The ban on excessive violence, of course, was immediately appealed by well-meaning groups such as the American Civil Liberties Union.

Opponents of the ban fear that giving city government the authority to curb violence will mean city administrations have the power to censor films. That need not be the case.

Excessive violence and sadism are so prevalent in U.S. films today that practically every neutral observer agrees these contribute to America's growing and scandalous crime rate, especially among the young and impressionable.

Are we, under the banner of opposition to censorship, to allow almost any form of violence, sadism and murder, the most insensitive and brutal scenes, to be shown in our movie theaters, and on television? Are we as a nation helpless to protect the young and impressionable from filth and violence, the sole beneficiary being a muckraking producer?

In the national interest, then, one must hope the courts sustain the Chicago ordinance, though limiting it to bar censorship in the normal sense of the word.

PROTECTING YOURSELF AGAINST LOSS

TIPS TO HELP YOU
 This information has been supplied by experts at The Society of Chartered Property & Casualty Underwriters, the national professional society whose members have earned the CPCU designation by meeting high educational, ethical and experience requirements.

Q. My daughter is going off to college next year and will live on campus. She'll be taking clothing and personal belongings worth approximately $2,000. In case they're damaged by fire or theft, are they covered by my homeowners policy?

A. Yes. Your daughter's personal belongings are protected against fire, theft or certain other perils provided she maintains your address as her permanent residence. This protection is limited to 10 percent of the amount of coverage on unscheduled personal property in your policy. Unless your policy provides $20,000 of coverage on personal property, the protection of your daughter's belongings on campus would be inadequate.

You may, of course, obtain a separate personal effects floater specially written to cover your daughter's belongings against practically all risks up to the full $2,000. Or, you could purchase specific fire and theft policies on behalf of your daughter. This would not offer as complete coverage as the personal effects floater, but it is less costly.

PORTABLE GARDENS PROVIDE CHANGE

Portable gardens can provide for a changing landscape scene, contends a landscape horticulturist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. Shrubs, trees, vines and flowers can be grown in portable containers and moved from the service or growing area when at their prime to supplement the permanent landscape planting. There can be instant beauty with pots of geraniums, begonias or petunias. Use sturdy containers such as tubs, barrel halves, clay pots or wooden boxes; these should provide adequate drainage. Container plants require frequent watering and should be fertilized about every three weeks.

4H Club Youths To Participate In Leadership Lab

LEVELLAND--Nearly 200 young leaders from 4-H clubs in 20 South Plains counties will participate in a district leadership lab June 16-18.

Site of the three-day summer workshop is South Plains College, according to Billy C. Gunter and Mrs. Catherine B. Crawford, district Extension agents with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

A team of older teens will assist in conducting sessions throughout the lab. The youths, supervised by 4-H adult leaders and agents, will perform a variety of activities ranging from group learning and discussion sessions to game tournaments and special morning and evening ceremonies. Emphasis will be on interpersonal relationships.

Activities will be geared toward helping the young leaders learn to express themselves and their ideas, and to develop solutions to problems through group processes. Time for relaxation and fun will provide the teens with opportunities to make new friends.

The annual leadership lab helps 4-H youth to develop skills for working with younger club members and provides opportunity for them to broaden their friendships and develop leadership qualities.

Beginning at 8:30 a.m., the seminar will deal with such concerns as water and air quality problems and requirements, reducing waste loads, energy use, wastewater treatment for small plants as well as treatment for larger plants by sand filtration and land application, and land disposal of blood and paunch manure. An agricultural engineer in animal waste management for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service invites all slaughterhouse and meat and poultry processing plant managers as well as consulting engineers to attend.

Federal Income Tax Refunds May Still Be Available

COLLEGE STATION--Federal income tax refunds may still be available to some consumers, even though the April 15 deadline for filing a tax return has passed, Lynn Bourland, a family resource management specialist, says.

"Those not required to file a federal income tax return may still be entitled to a refund and earned-income refunds range in amounts up to $400. The Internal Revenue Service expected three million returned for this type of refund and have received only 300,000," she said.

Miss Bourland is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Consumers who meet these requirements should file now, she said.

Individual or couple, must have at least one dependent child who is a student or under age 19 and living at home.

Earned income or adjusted gross income for 1975 must have been less than $8,000.

ENERGY TALKS

Q. Do oil companies search for other sources of energy, such as uranium?

A. Yes, they do. By 1981, when large-scale commercial production is planned, Gulf Oil expects that its Mt. Taylor uranium project in New Mexico will be the nation's largest uranium mine. But it costs money to look for new energy sources. Total cost for the project is estimated at more than $300 million.

Popular Singers On Schedule For P&SP Lubbock Fair

LUBBOCK—Neil Sedaka's back on the track and the Panhandle South Plains Fair has signed the popular singer-composer-songwriter to headline the 59th annual exposition here this fall.

Fair general manager Steve L. Lewis said Sedaka had been signed for four shows on October 1-2, final two days of the eight-day run.

Sedaka is the fifth big act tabbed for the "Festival '76" edition of the fair. Earlier stars announced include: —Charley Pride, returning for his sixth time, on Sunday, September 26 along with the trio "Dave and Sugar."

—Freddy Fender, September 27-28 and Charlie Rich, September 29-30.

Dolly Partin, who had been booked to appear with Freddy Fender on September 27-28, has officially notified the Fair Association that she is cancelling all of her personal appearances for the next four months due to health reasons. A replacement will be announced at a later date.

Lewis said the "four superstar shows" represent "millions of dollars worth of talent" and is the best package the fair has ever assembled.

Sedaka will be making a dozen fair appearances this summer and early fall, including Wisconsin, Indiana and Illinois state fairs. He will be in Lubbock as he begins a college tour.

The past year was a golden one for Sedaka. Two of his albums—"Sedaka's Back" and "The Hungry Years"—and a single, "Bad Blood", all reached the coveted gold status.

One of his latest singles, "Breaking Up is Hard to Do", is nearing gold level.

A Piano prodigy from the age of 8, Sedaka studied classical music for 10 years, attending both the prep and college departments of New York's Juilliard School, practicing six hours a day. He began writing songs at 13.

Sedaka's first stardom lasted from 1959 to 1963, when he sold more than 25 million copies of records such as "Calendar Girl", "Oh, Carol", "Stairway to Heaven" and "Happy Birthday, Sweet Sixteen".

After his string of hits, he faded from public view except for occasional play on oldies stations. He did, however, continue to active as a writer, turning out hits for the Fifth Dimension, Tom Jones, Johnny Mathis, Peggy Lee and many others.

In recent months, Sedaka's appearances at the Rivier Hotel in Las Vegas and the University of Missouri-Rolla have been labeled "smash hits".

Cash Box said his return represented "a second coming for an artist who has never really been gone."

Record World added, "He will quickly become one of the hottest artists-composers in the business."

Two-a-day performances for all of the stars have been scheduled for 5:30 p.m. and 8:30 p.m. daily. Tickets for all shows are in the $4, $5, and $6 range. However, tickets will not go on sale until mid-July and mail order requests for tickets will not be accepted until then, Lewis said.

Fiddlers will launch the fair's run on September 25. Because the event has become so popular, it has been moved into Fair Park Coliseum and some $1,500 in cash awards will be given.

Lewis said fiddlers from all over the Southwest would provide "eight to nine hours" of entertainment. Admission will be free, he added.

The "Festival '76" theme has been adopted this year due to the fair's participation in the bicentennial celebration.

Already, scores of persons are involved in planning the participation. Red, white and blue bunting and flags will adorn the grounds.

Burleson Reports From Washington

Omar Burleson, M.C. 17th District, Texas WASHINGTON, D.C.—

This past week the Congress re-enacted, for a period of a little less than four years, the so-called Revenue Sharing Act. This idea of granting Federal money to the States and Local entities of Government was first enacted in 1971 and expired at the end of this year.

The extended law calls for the distribution of about $6.5 billion per year to be used rather freely by local Governments. An effort was made to require Municipal and County Governments to "restructure" their system if, in the opinion of Federal officials, found to be "inefficient" in its present operation. The attitude of the sponsors of such a move seemed to say, "If you have no problems, we will help you get some."

A case of this kind exists in a small town only fifty miles from Washington. The community of Hillsboro, Virginia, is one of the oldest incorporated towns in the County. It was there that George Washington, accompanying General Braddock, marched through with an army during the Revolutionary War. More recently, however, the State of Virginia and the Federal Government have been trying to get this small town to change its ways. The town gets its water from a spring on the side of the Catoctin Mountains which flows pure water at the rate of five gallons per minute. It is brought into the town through glass-lined pipes. The spring is covered by a handsome little stone building with a tin roof and is carefully tended. The unused water finds its way into the head waters of the Potomac where it must be a stranger in that polluted stream.

Officials who seemingly are suspicious of water that flows pure out of the ground require a sample of that water to be sent in for testing every two weeks. The report comes back "pure water" and is posted on a bulletin board outside of the post office for all to see.

This seemingly does not satisfy technicians who come along and nag the water commissioner for a valve to be placed here and an unneeded storage tank to be installed there. They also tell the town that it must plan for the future in order to handle increased population. The fact that the population of Hillsboro has not varied significantly in the past 200 years does not matter. The State hired a planning firm to make a population projection as to what the population might be by 1995. They wanted them to build a modern sewer system but the City Council says that a modern sewer system would mean suburbs which they don't want.

In the report of the survey, it says, "The town

BRITISH OFTEN FORCED INTO SERVICE

Life for the enlisted man in the British Army is anything but pleasant, and reports from England indicate that the British now are resorting to trickery and force to "recruit" new men.

For some time now it has been the law in England that any male who accepts a shilling from a recruiting officer is bound to serve in the army, where he may have to spend many years risking his life.

Recently, however, there have been increasing reports that the recruiting officers are using trickery - usually by buying potential "recruits" liquor until they are too drunk to resist accepting the shilling - to increase the ranks of fighting men. The recruiting officers use their own money for such dealings, but they usually receive expense money from their commanding officers.

Another way of obtaining new soldiers is the common practice in England of using "press gangs" to seize and put into uniform "any fortune teller, any idle, unknown or suspected fellow in a parish." These forced enlistments also are followed in most cases by the presentation of a single shilling to the new soldier, to make the deal binding and legal.

is very clean and well kept." In the body of the report it says that the community is served by inadequate septic tanks and malfunctioning cess-pools and outdoor privies, this in spite of its cleanliness.

If the people of Hillsboro understand the matter properly, what the planners want is to take water from the Catoctin Creek fed by the spring, pour chemicals in it and use this treated water to supply their needs. The sewage would then be treated with more chemicals and dumped back into the creek. All this could be done at an estimated cost of $230,000 which amounts to about $2,000 for every man, woman or child in the town. The average monthly sewer charge, advise the planners, would be about $18.00 per month, making the rate one of the highest in the area.

If Hillsboro should have to follow the planner's direction for growth, it would lose both its fine spring and its fine surplus in the bank. The people don't want to be debilitated; they don't want to become overcrowded; be forced to levy taxes and to make the town a more expensive place in which to live.

The people of this community cite the unusually fine living conditions of this town and if they are forced to change, they say, it will be like all others.

HOSPITAL QUIPS

"IN A WAY I HATE TO LEAVE THE FORCE, BUT HAVING DELIVERED TEN BABIES I'VE DECIDED TO GO INTO MEDICINE."

Consumption of Red Meat Is Up

COLLEGE STATION—Consumption of red meats in the U.S. is maintaining a relatively high level, says Dr. Ed Uvacek, a livestock marketing specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Uvacek says that if the level of slaughter keeps up at the present rate, consumption this year will go up even more.

In 1975, the average American consumed 181 pounds of red meat. This breaks down to 120 pounds of beef, 4 pounds of veal, 55 pounds of pork, and 2 pounds of lamb and mutton.

The School Board Has meeting

All members of the Jayton school board were present at the meeting Thursday night.

On motion by Billy John Harrison, seconded by Russell Wright, the board voted to buy seats from American Desk Co. at $35.10 each.

The board met with Mr. Hunt and Mr. Monk, representatives of Pritchard and Abbott Co. They explained the future outlook on evaluations in the district.

The board also: Voted to amend the budget. To call for bids on milk, and LP gas. To accept the resignation of Joe Don Gibson and Corky Cox.

To hire teachers as follows: Wendell Neff, Judy Browning, and Oran Hamilton.

The also read and approved the minutes, and examined the bills and ordered them to be paid.

Father's Day

It was in 1910 that Mrs. John Bruce Dodd was the driving force in starting Americans to celebrating Father's Day. Since then the third Sunday in June has been observed as Father's Day.

The sympathetic guidance of "Dad" is important in the proper development of a child. Too often fathers, weighed down with the responsibility of making a living, fail to devote enough of those precious moments to the youngsters.

"Character is largely caught, and the father and the home should be the great sources of character infection."

—Frank H. Chaley.

True friendship is based upon service to others, not upon favors received. Freedom isn't always the right to do and say what you please. Genuine religion is conspicuous because it lacks display.

Zumwalt On Kissinger

Admiral Elmer Zumwalt, former controversial Chief of Naval Operations, is campaigning for a seat in the U.S. Senate in Virginia. Ordinarily that would be of limited interest nationally. But the main theme of the admiral's appeal is that the nation is being misled by Secretary of State Kissinger and the President.

Zumwalt's heroes include former Secretary of Defense James Schlesinger, and he seems to align himself rather closely with Ronald Reagan's military and foreign policy pronouncements.

The gist of his warning to the American people is that Kissinger is basically a pessimist about the future of the western democracies, that he does not believe America can meet the challenge of militant, tightly controlled Russia. Zumwalt says Kissinger and Ford are misleading the American voter in claiming U.S. equality with the Soviet Union, militarily, and that by 1977 we will be faced with the reality of a strategic and nuclear winning capability on the other side.

Zumwalt says Kissinger tells the American people one thing, while admitting to intimates (including Zumwalt in years past) that something else is closer to the truth—in the military field.

These are serious charges and warrant answers. In Kissinger's defense, his view, if pessimistic, need not reflect disbelief in democracy. He might, as many others do, doubt whether the American people are currently prepared to make the sacrifices necessary to keep abreast of growing Soviet military and economic power.

He might have been, on balance, misinterpreted. And a pessimistic view some years back (during the Vietnam war) might have been justified by events. Finally, a pessimistic view might be the truly realistic, perceptive view of the future.

Zumwalt has a point even if the pessimistic view is the realistic view at this juncture in history. The American people should be given the blunt facts. The fundamental principle of democracy is that the people, if given the facts, will act wisely.

President Ford, however, and his Cabinet, deny they are misleading the American people and the President has called for greater defense expenditures. And in recent years we have often heard the cry wolf from military and political circles in political campaigns.

John Kennedy stressed the missile gap in his 1960 campaign, only to admit after he was elected that no such gap actually existed, as he had thought, is one example. The Zumwalt charges, then, are worthy of consideration but they come in a political campaign, and that must be kept in mind.

Most everyone knows that the shortest day of the year occurs in December and the longest in June. If the sun shines the least in December, why isn't that month the blitziest of winter months?

And, if the sun shines longest in June than any other time, why isn't June the most oppressive of the summer months? As the reader knows, December is seldom the coldest winter month and July and August are often hotter than June. What's the answer?

The answer lies in the fact that the earth stores up the heat during the summer and loses it slowly. When the shortest day of the year arrives, usually December 21st, the earth still retains some of its stored up heat from the summer.

Likewise, when the longest day of the year arrives, the summer solstice (June 21st this year), the earth has not stored up the amount of heat it will contain by July and August, after additional long days and short nights.
