Foliage For The Winter Months May Be Preserved, County H. D. Agent Notes

Foliage for arrangements during the winter months, may be preserved now by using glycerin. The leaves of many plants may be used to make interesting arrangements when flowers are not available from the garden. Mrs. Barbara Elliott, County Home Demonstration Agent, notes.
The procedure is simple. All you need to do is stand the stems or leaves in a mixture of one part glycerin and two parts water.
Midsummer is a good time to get started on this project. The leaves will be in an active stage of growth and will rapidly absorb the glycerine. This usually takes about two to three weeks, she added.
Many kinds of leaves may be preserved by the glycerin process. Magnolia, oak, peach, plum, eucalyptus and popular shrubs, privet, rhododendron and rose leaves. The leaves of many perennial herbaceous plants may be used such as aspidistra, canna, coral bells, geraniums, iris and devil's ivy. Leaves of small herbaceous plants may be submerged completely in a half and half glycerin-water solution.
Select only perfect specimens and wash the foliage with water to remove dirt or spray residue. If the material has woody stems, cut off the lower inch with a sloping cut before starting the treatment. Then stand the stems or leaves upright in a jar of the glycerin solution.
The leaves will change color as the solution is absorbed, and good air circulation and warm weather will speed up the absorption. Wipe the leaves occasionally with a cloth dampened with the solution as this will prevent drying before the glycerin reaches the edge of the leaves, Mrs. Elliott said.

Leaves preserved by glycerin should be stored in boxes to protect them from damage and dirt. Check the boxes frequently during the first few weeks to be sure there is no leakage from the leaves which might cause mold.

Much of NASA's Work Is Down To Earth Stuff Like Air Pollution

It's not generally known but the hard fact is that NASA is very much involved in aerodynamics as can be seen when it is spelled out...National Aeronautics and Space Administration. It's not all astronauts, satellites, spacecraft and rockets way out yonder. Much of NASA's work is gutsy, down-to-earth stuff like air pollution for instance. This hardly seems a proper role indeed for the space agency to be involved in the fight against pollution. So when Indiana Congressman Richard L. Roudsbush asked NASA officials recently what exactly is NASA doing on scientific research into control of pollution, specifically not soot, but the invisible pollution from aircraft that he understood is the dangerous pollution for man, he wasn't at all surprised to learn that NASA had at least a dozen anti-air pollution research projects underway. Furthermore, these do not all relate to aircraft; some relate to automobiles. Much of the work is in the study phase, like that going on for NASA at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology in Cambridge, Mass. There they are studying the motion of smoke and nitric oxide formation under conditions typically found in aircraft turbine combustion engines. NASA has $50,000 invested in this study alone. In another study valued at $300,000, the Department of Health, Education and Welfare is using NASA's expertise in high temperature materials. This knowledge is being applied to the development of a thermal reactor to be attached to an automobile in place of the exhaust manifold. NASA has spread its research in anti-air pollution widely across the country, with universities, industry and NASA-owned and operated laboratories all having a piece of the action.

Basic to the entire problem of air-pollution from aircraft is the general trend towards higher flight speeds, which means higher temperatures and higher pressure ratios in the engines. Smoking tendency is made worse by an increase in pressure. What NASA seeks in its research is a marked improvement in aircraft engine performance that will yield a reduction in air pollution, while increasing the operating life of the combustors due to less heat and smoke. If we get an engine that gives off less smoke, why not an engine that makes less noise? Yes, NASA is working on such an engine, and its working title — you guessed it — is the "quiet engine."

WIT OR LOGIC

By WM. O. LEWIS
Some people are real generous ... with the other fellow's money.
Some cars have two nuts that hold the steering wheel...one at the hub and one with the hand.
Some drivers rush up to an intersection as if they are afraid they won't get there in time to stop.
More doctors, nurses and undertakers are needed to care for the victims of reckless drivers.

WASHINGTON, D. C. — John Nance Garner advised new members of Congress, "You don't have to explain that which you never said."

Nowadays it seems everyone in public life thinks he has a few words of wisdom which the Country is entitled to hear. It is called our "open society"—and thank goodness we have it.

On the other hand, our enemies must get comfort and, doubtless, a great benefit, from information we give them in public statements.

We have gotten to the point that it is demanded of the President, in televised news conference, that he discuss matters we once thought of as being classified in the interest of National security. Now, if he does not do so, he is accused of not informing us. In Committees of the Congress, demands are made of military officials and others in sensitive positions to reveal highly secret information. A few years ago, members of Congress on certain Committees were privileged to high confidence but something has happened. The "something" is that a few—a very few, which is too many—could hardly wait to see a newspaper reporter. What was supposed to be highly confidential statements were available in the press in the night edition.

This is our "open society... but how open should it be. While trying to let our own people know what is going on, the question of revealing so much to those who would destroy us, is the dilemma.

The Texas Agricultural Extension Service Workers In A&M Meeting

"Shaping Our Environment in the 1970's" is the theme for the August 10-14, biennial conference of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. The conference and related activities will be held on the campus of Texas A&M University and all county, area and state staff members will be in attendance.

Extension Director John E. Hutchison said the conference program had been developed around three phases of environment: physical, economic and social. Outstanding authorities in their fields will be featured speakers at the morning general sessions, and during the afternoons conferences will dig deeper into the different aspects of the environmental problems by participating in one of the five special sessions.

The five sessions on Tuesday afternoon have to do with physical environment and carry such titles as "Natural Resources — Who Needs Them? Move Over! I Need Elbow Room! Who's Calling Your Plays? Mind Over Matter and Environmental Pollution — A Reasonable View." Each special group will feature a program dealing with the problem or problems relating to their assigned segment of physical environment.

Wednesday's special sessions will delve into such problems as "Cost of Living High; Renter Unto Caesar; Loving Care for Legal Tender; Fate of the Family Farm and Ill's Bills," all important aspects of economic environment.

Thursday's group sessions will

The Texas Agricultural Extension Service Workers In A&M Meeting

Whether they are ever used or not, our options should be left open. The enemy has revealed none of his and we know little about them.

He acts without news conferences, interviews or global discussions.

He acts with a confidence that slowly but surely the United States will not use its power and that he can eventually be certain of victory.

In a declared war our free and open society has no hesitancy in invoking voluntary restraints on sources of information which might aid the enemy. In today's explosive World situation such voluntary restraints are no less desirable. It should be practiced by all who come into possession of sensitive information.

The best kept secret in our history was the development of the atomic bomb. More than $2 billion dollars was laid out for its production. Only about a half dozen people really know what it was all about.

We are living in a world of dictators and totalitarian governments who can part their hair on the other side tomorrow morning. We compete in literally a life and death atmosphere.

To sum up, this deadly game cannot forever be successfully played with the cards face up only on our side.

Largest cigar ever made was 5 ft., 7 inches long, and 26-3/4 inches in circumference.

Sheriff's Posse Performs At Weatherford

The Haskell County Sheriff's Posse, under the leadership of president Gene Hunter, journeyed to Weatherford Wednesday, July 29th, to ride in the parade and grand entry at the rodeo that night.

Although the Haskell Club was short on riders and failed to "cop" a parade trophy, it made a colorful showing at Weatherford.

The Haskell County Sheriff's Posse has made 10 road trips this season, and has brought home six parade honor trophies in addition to participating in the Haskell Pioneer Days and Jaycee Rodeo celebration, plus serving as host club at the Cowboy Reunion at Stamford.

August Draft Call For Texas Down From July

The August draft call for Texas is 560, and no man will be selected and ordered for induction with a random sequence number higher than 195, Colonel Morris S. Schwartz, state Selective Service director, said Friday.

The August quota is down from 817 in July, which is being filled with men having random sequence numbers no higher than 190.

The state quota for pre-induction physical and mental examinations in August is 1,490, down from 1,601 in July. Men sent for these examinations will be limited to those with random sequence numbers 1 through 215.

Deferred or exempt men, such as teachers, college students, and vocational or trade school students with random sequence numbers 215 may be forced to lose their status during months, Colonel Schwartz said.

No men with random sequence numbers be forwarded until further notice.

Random men have been established by Washington July.

All volunteers boards must be of the non-volunteer and ordered to induction by random.

The Texas share of 560 for August is a national share of a national 600 men all for.

Lone Star Gas Company Reports Record Earnings

Record earnings were achieved by Lone Star Gas Company for the periods ended June 30, 1970, according to L. T. Potter, chairman.

Potter reported earnings per share of $1.94 for the 12 months compared with $1.38 per share for the same period in 1969. Net income for the 12 months rose $8,211,555 to $28,457,501, a 40.6% gain. Total operating revenues of approximately $252 million were up 10.4%.

"Tight expense control was a major contributing factor in the net income advance," Potter said. "Other operating and maintenance expenses increased less than 4%."

Potter described the company's overall cash position as excellent with no interim or short-term debt outstanding. Net proceeds from the recent sale of a $30 million issue of 9-3/4% sinking fund debentures due in 1995 were used to prepay $18 million of 13-month bank notes and to pay outstanding short-term indebtedness related to past construction. Funds also were used for the company's 1970 construction program.

Also reported was the acquisition, in April, of gas distribution and other related properties of City Gas Company Inc., through exchange of 34,500 shares of $10 per value Lone Star common stock.

ATTENDS GOLDEN WEDDING ANNIVERSARY IN MORTON

Mrs. John Crawford, of Haskell, attended the 50th Wedding Anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Riley C. Williams, in Morton, Texas, last week.

Any wrecking contractor who'll give you a raze is in the Yellow Pages

To work...it is the price of success.

Prattler heard of an elderly Haskell woman who purchased two very handsome sweaters and mailed them to her son-in-law as a birthday present. Some weeks later, the mother-in-law paid a visit. Being a dutiful and peace-loving man, the son-in-law was wearing one of the sweaters when his mother-in-law arrived. She looked him up and down and barked: "What's the matter, didn't you like the other one?"

Summertime is the time when it's too hot to do the chores around the house, it was too cold to do last winter.

One of these days I must go shopping...I am completely out of self-respect...I want to exchange the self-righteousness I picked up the other day, for some humility; which they say is less expensive and wears better.

I want to look at some tolerance which is being used for wraps this season. Someone showed me some pretty samples of peace...we are a little low on that, and one can never have too much of it. And, by the way, I must try to match some patience, that my neighbor wears. It is very becoming on her and I think some might look equally well on me.

I might try on that garment of long-suffering they are displaying. I never thought I wanted to wear it, but perhaps I should. Also I mustn't forget to have my sense of humor mended and lok for some inexpensive, everyday goodness. It's surprising how quickly one's stock on goodness is depleted. Yes...I must go shopping soon. (Spyglass).

Overheard at a local cafe: "Did your wife lose much weight on her diet of bananas and coconuts?" "Only a couple of pounds," the other fellow said, "but you just ought to see the way she can climb a tree."

SAFETY AFLOAT

A look at the calendar reveals that several weeks of summer still lie ahead, and many people will find relaxation and enjoyment in, or around the water. Thousands of Americans will take to the water in small boats.

The National Director of the Red Cross Safety Programs has suggested a number of rules which should be observed by all individuals who operate small boats or plan to ride in them as passengers. Every boat should be equipped with such safety equipment as approved life jackets for every passenger, an anchor, extra line, fire extinguisher, tool kit and first aid kit. Boat operators should keep an eye on the weather and avoid pitfalls of over-powering and overloading with passengers. A little forethought and care will make this summer afloat a happy and enjoyable one. Be prepared for every situation you can imagine and then be ready for the unexpected. This is the basic rule for a happy ending to every story of fun afloat.

TAX MAN SAM SEZ:

Most of us try over the period of our working years to accumulate some sort of an estate to pass on to our heirs. It is not surprising that there are a lot of our mature citizens who want to know how much federal estate tax will be owed on their life's accumulation. Due to the community property law in Texas you don't owe any Federal estate tax on community property unless the estate amounts to $120,000 or more ($60,000 for each spouse). The rates are graduated above this amount. If you want to avoid paying a great deal of Federal estate tax there are a number of provisions in the law that allows you to pass a part or even all of your estate on to your heirs, tax free. If you need additional information, Internal Revenue will be happy to explain the general rules.

GENE WAS JUST BURNING OFF GRASS AND TRASH

Late Monday afternoon, Gene Tonn decided to burn off dead grass and trash in his pasture near the home of Mr. and Mrs. Tonn, southeast of town, and he got "a pretty fair fire going."

The Haskell Volunteer Fire Department was notified to stand-by (not by Gene, however), when it appeared the blaze might reach the Tonn residence.

Since Mr. Tonn was somewhere in the pasture, firemen and other interested persons became concerned about his safety and began to search the burning area. Gene soon made his appearance, however, safe and sound, with the exception of a little skinned place on his nose.

NUMBER ONE ON THE BALLOT (HJR30)
General Election Nov. 3, 1970

BE IT RESOLVED BY THE LEGISLATURE OF THE STATE OF TEXAS: Section 1. That Subsections (8), (6), (7), (8), (9), (11), (12), and (13), Section 1-a, Article V, Constitution of the State of Texas, be amended to read as follows: "(5) The Commission may hold its meetings, hearings and other proceedings at such times and places as it shall determine but shall meet at Austin at least once each year. It shall annually select one of its members as Chairman. A quorum shall consist of five (5) members. Proceedings shall be by majority vote of those present, except that recommendations for retirement, censure, or removal of any person holding an office named in Paragraph A of Subsection (6) of this Section shall be by affirmative vote of at least five (5) members.

"(6) A. Any Justice or Judge of the Appellate Courts and District and Criminal District Courts, any County Judge, and any Judge of a County Court at Law, a Court of Domestic Relations, a Juvenile Court, a Probate Court, or a Corporation or Municipal Court, and any Justice of the Peace, and any Judge or presiding officer of any special court created by the Legislature as provided in Section 1, Article V, of this Constitution, may, subject to the other provisions hereof, be removed from office for willful or persistent misconduct, which is clearly inconsistent with the proper performance of his said duties or casts public discredit upon the judiciary or administration of justice; or any person holding such office may be censured, in lieu of removal from office, under procedures provided for by the Legislature.

"(8) Any person holding an office named in Paragraph A of this Section who is eligible for retirement benefits under the laws of this state providing for judicial retirement may be involuntarily retired, and any person holding an office named in that paragraph who is not eligible for retirement benefits under such laws may be removed from office, for disability seriously interfering with the performance of his duties, which is, or is likely to become, permanent in nature. "(7) The Commission shall keep itself informed as fully as may be of circumstances relating to the misconduct or disability of particular persons holding an office named in Paragraph A of Subsection (6) of this Section, receive complaints or reports, formal or informal, from any source in this behalf and make such preliminary investigations as it may determine. Its orders for the attendance or testimony of witnesses or for the production of documents at any hearing or investigation shall be enforceable by contempt proceedings in the District Court.

"(9) After such investigation as it deems necessary, the Commission may in its discretion issue a private reprimand, or if the Commission determines that the situation merits such action, it may order a hearing to be held before it concerning the removal or retirement of a person holding an office named in Paragraph A of Subsection (6) of this Section, or it may in its discretion request the Supreme Court to appoint an active or retired District Judge or Justice of a Court of Civil Appeals as a Master to hear and take evidence in any such matter, and to report thereon to the Commission. If, after hearing, or after considering the record and report of a Master, the Commission finds good cause therefor, it shall issue an order of public censure or it shall recommend to the Supreme Court the removal, or retirement, as the case may be, of the person in question holding an office named in Paragraph A of Subsection (6) of this Section and shall thereupon file with the Clerk of the Supreme Court the entire record before the Commission.

European Tour

Mrs. Raymon Liles has returned from a 17-day tour of Europe with the Abilene Reporter News European Tour. Thirty-eight made this tour, leaving from Abilene for Chicago, where they boarded a 747 Jet for London, England. This flight took 7 hours. But due to time changes, they lost 6 hours.

Mrs. Liles reports that London and the country side is prettier than any post card. "The Great Waltz" stage show was perfect for people past 50, as in our case. The weather was cold.

Paris, France was warm and had a shortage of cool drinking water. Water was bought by the bottle for 75c and carried to the room.

Rome, Italy was very warm and over half of the tourists were Americans and most were paying 50c a glass for iced tea.

In Frankfurt, Germany one feels he is back in the United States, roads, buildings and cars look American.
