> MCEACHERN "ROW HARVESTER"

On Your Combine

- This Season. Simple In Design
- Fits All Major Brands Combines
- Long Life Construction
- Transferable To Combines Purchased In The Future
- A Really Wise Equipment Invetment

The McEACHERN "ROW HARVESTER" will put more grain in the bin than any other device ever tried.

It will give years of service without any repairs to speak of. It is mounted entirely on self-aligning, pre-lubricated ball bearings, and thus eliminates any need for lubrication, assuring long life.

The "ROW HARVESTER" will practically clean the field of all mile heads, including the leaning stalks the low and high heads. It prevents the loss of heads from the combine headers by means of shields behind the cylinders. All this means more grain saved and less volunteer maize in the feild next spring.

Several of the attachments were tried out in the field last year to the satisfaction of every user. Three different farmers, after testing one on a combine, bought one, and every owner, without exception, will use the "ROW HARVESTER", this year instead of the slatted reel.

In field tests in 1957 the combines with the mounted "ROW HARVESTER" saved from 100 pounds to 500 pounds of grain per acre more than those with regular reel in the same field before the maize fell to the ground.
