ANNUAL COTTON SCHOOL AT TEXAS A & M ANNOUNCED
College Station — For the 51st consecutive year Texas A & M College will offer its special summer cotton school.
Purpose of the school is to provide training for persons who expect to enter the cotton trade; for growers who desire to learn more about cotton marketing and buyers who wish to review grade and staple standards or to become more familiar with the elements of quality in cotton.
The 1960 school will be conducted by the Department of Agricultural Economics and Sociology during the six weeks between June 6 and July 15 with Professor J. M. Ward in charge.
Ward says instruction will be given on cotton grading, stapling, determination of cotton properties and trade procedures. Most of the time will be devoted to actual practice work and discussion. A few lectures by visiting specialists will cover various phases of production, marketing and processing of cotton.
Detailed plans for the school are available in booklet form and copies may be obtained by writing Ward in care of the sponsoring department, College Station, Texas.
Farm management specialists of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service have prepared a publication, MP-390, "Suggestions for the use of the Texas General Lease Form and Annual Supplement." Copies are available from the county agents.

CLOSING FOR MEMORIAL SERVICE?

The American Legion is, as heretofore, sponsoring a memorial service at the cemetery in honor of the deceased war veterans. The Legion would like to have as many as possible attend this ceremony and would like to have the cooperation of as many businesses and others as can. The ceremonies will be conducted from 8:30 a. m. to 9:00 a. m.

It has been suggested that business houses remain closed until immediately after the ceremonies are concluded. If it is impossible to be closed at this time would you allow as many of your employees as so desire to attend the ceremonies? Contact Ted Hill in either case so that an idea of the attendance expected may be obtained and appropriate arrangements can be made before the last minutes. This will be greatly appreciated by Ted Hill and the other Legion members who participate in the ceremonies.

The agricultural outlook for the remainder of 1960 is spotted. Here's how an extension economist, John McHaney, sees the prospects for the future months—hog prices could be higher because of the smaller spring pig crop; prices of fed cattle are expected to fluctuate a little below current levels; milk prices should average, to the producer, a little higher than in 1959, while egg prices are expected to be noticeably higher for the last six months of 1960.

PROGRESSIVE BUSINESS AND CIVIC-MINDED PEOPLE OF LUBBOCK AND VICINITY

This department has been worked up largely as a reflection of public opinion. No person has written of themselves or their business. All articles have been compiled by a representative of The Abernathy Weekly Review as he saw conditions. These people are all leaders in their various lines of endeavor and the cooperation of those citizens in Lubbock who helped make this department possible is sincerely appreciated.

RUBY COTTEN

A city grows and prospers by reason of the public-spirited men and women who take an active interest in its development. Lubbock has its share of these progressive and civic-minded people and one who is deserving of recognition is friendly, likeable, Ruby Cotten of The Stork Shop. Her business ability, coupled with a sense of obligation to the public have been major factors in maintaining The Stork Shop in a position of leadership throughout this entire area. She not only in her business activities but also in her attention to civic duty assumed an active part in community affairs.

ROGER R. JONES

Every progressive and successful business man in Lubbock contributes in some manner to the growth and progress of the city. And a man who is always willing to do his part in both civic and business activities is Roger R. Jones, general manager of The Stephens Company Incorporated, who is well known and has many friends and business associates throughout this entire district.

THOMAS MIKULENKA

A drive-in restaurant manager of Lubbock who has based his success upon the belief that the public will appreciate good food, well prepared and appetizingly served, is Thomas Mikulanka of Starr's Drive-In Restaurant, whose many friends and customers by their daily patronage of this popular eating place, attest to the soundness of its policy.

M. J. STALCUP

There are many men in their chosen fields who have gained recognition for their progressive manner in which they have conducted their business and accepted their civic responsibilities but who will not permit much to be said of their achievements.

C. R. TAYLOR

In mentioning some of those men who are taking a progressive part in the evolution of the business and industrial life of Lubbock we would be censured if we fail to include C. R. Taylor of the Taylor-Lubbock Company, a firm that has long been recognized as a leader in the manufacturing of die tools, irrigation valves, gin pulleys made of fiberglas, and their own processing of molding rubber. Mr. Taylor is that solid type of citizen whose fairness and friendliness and sincere desire to be of service, are accountable for a large measure of his success. And as time goes on, his personal interests have become more closely intertwined with the business and commercial affairs of the city. As a result he has, quite naturally, become accepted as a man who can be called upon, and who will cheerfully do his part to further the development of these community activities to which he is best fitted to lend assistance.

HENRY L. STAFFORD

It is a well-known fact that a man's true character must come through in his work; whether in business or professional activities or in public life. So when a man conducts himself in such a manner as to cause the public to recognize in him certain qualities, over and above the average, he is deserving of a few words of praise. Such a personality is Henry L. Stafford, well known and completely reliable general contractor, a leader in the business and industrial life of the South Plains.

GEORGE R. TATE

Our issue today purposes to call attention of our readers to some of those progressive and civic-minded men who have contributed their share of time and energy to the building up of Lubbock and the surrounding territory to the position of prominence which it enjoys at the present. One of these men to whom we wish to call the attention of our readers is George R. Tate of the George Tate Prescription Pharmacy, located at 1309 Main, a Lubbock firm where pharmacy is a profession, and not merely a sideline.

A. G. STRINGER

Most cities, if they amount to much, are man made. They do not just happen. It has been the realization of its more progressive citizens that their city must grow and prosper, and become something other than just another place on the map that has brought results, and made it possible for the city of Lubbock to be an outstanding one, and for those within it to prosper.

HOWARD AND VIRGINIA MEDLOCK

Howard and Virginia Medlock are two of the more successful restaurant operators of Lubbock who, by maintaining a constant standard of service and high quality foods has made the Spare Rib one of the more popular eating places in the community. We are glad to give them credit for their well-earned success in a field which is so highly competitive.

W. SAM POLK

We wish in this edition to pay tribute to W. Sam Polk, of Twin Lakes Miniature Golf Course, for his many services to the city of Lubbock, and his splendid record of achievements in the recreational life of the city. Mr. Polk probably has as wide a circle of friends as any other man we could name because he is just naturally the kind of man who makes friends with almost everyone, and always conducts himself in such a manner as to deserve the good will of all who know him.

IRVING L. JONES

It is fitting in this review of progressive Lubbock business men that we acquaint our readers with the man to be credited with having maintained the State Savings & Loan Association in the enviable position it holds in the business and industrial life of this area. That personality is Irving L. Jones, the president, whose genius for organization and for converting new ideas into actual deeds has played a vital part in the distinctive reputation which the association now enjoys throughout this entire district.

Inc., and also for his constructive advice and help on those civic affairs in which he has found time to interest himself. He is a man whom many are proud to call friend.

LARRY D. HIBLER AND A. L. TURNER JR.

In singling out some of the more progressive business men of Lubbock, we would be censured should we fail to include Larry D. Hibler and A. L. Turner Jr., of the Hibler-Turner Agency. They are men who have never spared themselves in the participation in both the business and commercial activities of the city.

IRENE H. VAUGHN

To serve the public honestly, efficiently and cheerfully is the basic foundation many progressive business men and women of Lubbock have found to be the shortest route to success. In making this statement, the person we have in mind is Irene H. Vaughn of the Tsang-Po Kennels. The popularity and patronage enjoyed by her many services accentuates the ideals of courtesy and efficiency which she has so consistently applied in the management of the business, and in the servicing of its customers.

J. W. "JIM" ERWIN JR.

At the head of one of the district's more prominent wholesale television parts and supply firms, and as a leader of recognized ability in community life, J. W. "Jim" Erwin Jr., stands out today as one of the best liked men in the panorama of Lubbock activity. His friends are numbered by the hundreds, and all of them are of the lasting fiber which come from worth-while associations, both in the world of business and in the realms of neighborhood life.

ELMER L. DOSS

There are a number of business and professional men in Lubbock who have gained recognition for their progressive manner, and a well-known insurance man, who belongs in this category is Elmer L. Doss, District Manager of the Reserve Life Insurance Company, whose fair dealings with many of our readers has earned for him a host of friends and policy holders throughout this area.

GRADY FOSTER

Grady Foster, Sales Manager of Stewart & Stevenson Services Incorporated, has won the universal respect and good will of the people of Lubbock and the surrounding country for the progressive manner in which he has kept this dependable firm in the forefront of the business, and industrial life of this entire district.

ROY A. FULCHER

Recognized as an authority on all carpet laying contracting problems, Roy A. Fulcher has turned his knowledge to the advantage of the people of Lubbock and vicinity. More than that, Mr. Fulcher is a man who has always been vitally interested in the civic betterment and progress of the city, and has backed up his interest by lending assistance, in one form or another, to the successful promotion of many things which have benefited the community as a whole.

CURTIS D. COXON

Successful business and professional men as a rule, show their appreciation for their success by their often repeated demonstrations of civic pride. This is a fortunate fact. Otherwise a city would be lacking in that progressive element which advocates various projects of a civic nature that are indicative of a progressive community.

AL TOUCHSTONE

It isn't the size or volume of a man's business which determines its value to the community in which he lives. But rather by the manner in which it is conducted. Which, to a greater or lesser degree, reflects the personality and character of the individual.

He may be depended upon, and his services to the people are too many in number to be described here. It may be sufficient to say that we consider W. Sam Polk an asset to the community, and a progressive business man of whom his city may be proud.

Couple Honored In Louisiana

GOLDEN MEADOW, LA., May 13 — A Texas couple toured the beautiful Bayou Lafourches area today as guests of the town of Golden Meadow.

Mr. and Mrs. N. A. Oliver Sr. of Abernathy, Texas, were stopped by police as they traveled through Golden Meadow this morning. Instead of being ticketed, they found they had been picked to be treated to the town's hospitality.

Mayor Alex Plaisance greeted the Oliviers and presented them with certificates making them honorary citizens. They toured the bayou country, seeing vast numbers of shrimp boats while their car was being serviced free of charge. Later, they were guests of the Woman's Club at a luncheon.

Golden Meadow was one of 75 towns and cities across Louisiana participating in the fourth annual celebration of Tourist Appreciation Day, proclaimed by Gov. Earl

Crackdown Set On Water Waste

Lubbock—In a recent meeting of the Board of Directors of the High Plains Underground Water Conservation District it was decided that a procedure would be adopted to strictly enforce the district's rules against waste of irrigation water.

The district has in the past approached the problems of waste from an educational standpoint, preferring to present facts about the underground water and its efficient use rather than involve more harsh and drastic methods. However, the willful and habitual waste of water by a minority of irrigators has become increasingly more serious. With the continued decline of the underground water level in the southern High Plains area coupled with increased public opinion against willful waste, the water district has come to the conclusion that the time is now upon us to supplement education with strict enforcement.

In the future, violators of the district's rules concerning waste will be notified that they have 24 hours in which to correct the situation and stop the waste. This does not mean that the district would want any farmer to stop irrigating, but only to put a halt to continued waste.

The notice will be delivered to the farm operator by a deputy sheriff, constable or by some other official person in the county where the waste has been observed.

At the end of the twenty-four-hour period, district personnel will check to see that the irrigation water is under control and is being retained and used on the land where it is produced.

Should the waste continue beyond the twenty-four-hour period granted to the violator by the district, then legal action will be taken through the courts to stop any further waste.

By far the large majority of area irrigators recognize that their underground water is one of the most precious of all resources, and they care for it as best they can however a minority continues to promiscuously run water off their land into roadways, creating not only a situation described as waste in the rules of the water district but also a definite public nuisance and a hazard to human life.

The multitude of reasons why underground water should not be wasted have all been discussed in much detail through the newspaper and over the radio and television stations. All who are even remotely interested in conservation can explain why waste is detrimental to continued prosperity in our area. Even the school boy knows that waste is a bad practice. All are aware that water should not be wasted, but rather it should be put to beneficial uses.

Climaxing a year's activities under the sponsorship of Wayland Baptist College's American Studies Program, headed by Edward McMillan, associate professor of history, some 200 Hale County students and guests saw 38 students receive awards for their posters and essays dealing with the democratic principles on which the United States government is founded. The students were special guests April 12 in Plainview at the first of what is expected to be an annual American Heritage Awards Banquet.

Mr. McMillan served as master of ceremonies and presented the highlights of the year's study made by representatives of the five Hale County public schools and Wayland.

"We are happy to report that those of us who have engaged in the search for principles that make up the foundation of our American democracy have found the study a 'revelation' both as to what students think and what they don't know," he declared. "We have been more than gratified with the response in each school to the essay and poster contests. The entries were of a high order and we are proud to display them tonight."

"In the fall, we expect to increase participation in this program to other nearby schools. The presence here tonight of school people from Hart, Lockney, and Kress is encouraging and we hope to have them and others with us in our continuing search for ways to focus attention of all citizens on the necessity for the preservation, through understanding, of our American Heritage," Mr. McMillan said.

Dr. Thomas E. Jones, administrative consultant for the Association of American Colleges, brought a challenging address on "The Dual Responsibility," in which he stressed the desirability of having both public and private schools working together, as Wayland and Hale County schools have been working and as such schools have worked throughout the history of the United States.

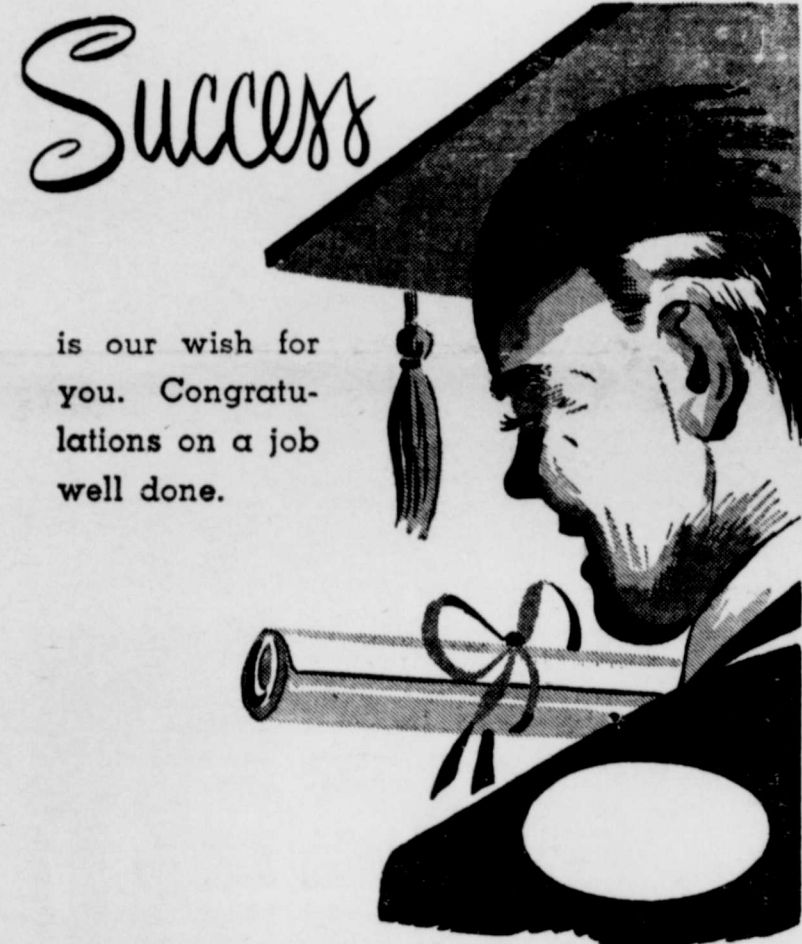

"Americans have been guided by a spirit from within as they have dedicated themselves to the spread of freedom for individuals," Dr. Jones emphasized. "The great things that have been accomplished in this country have not come about because citizens choose the easy way. Here in Hale County you people have started something that has vitality and will bear fruits for a long time to come as these young people become the citizens of tomorrow."

Catherine Payne, Cotton Center essay winner, was roundly applauded for her beautiful statement of her faith in her native land. Invocation was given by Supr. N. L. Douglas, Hale County public schools, and the benediction by I. L. Whitfield, social science teacher in Plainview High School, who is a member of the committee on American Heritage.

President A. Hope Owen of Wayland Baptist College brought greetings and recognized the representatives from the various communities.

Research Men Give Program In Meet Here

(By O. F. Rea)

Several men from the Hi-Plains Research Foundation were in Abernathy recently to inform the business and farm people of this area on the advanced farming methods being developed at the Foundation farm at Halfway. There was also considerable information on new crops for this area.

Water conservation and recharge was discussed. It was brought out that the water in this, as well as other areas on the High Plains is receding and should be conserved where possible if water is to be maintained in the underground reservoir sufficient for irrigation.

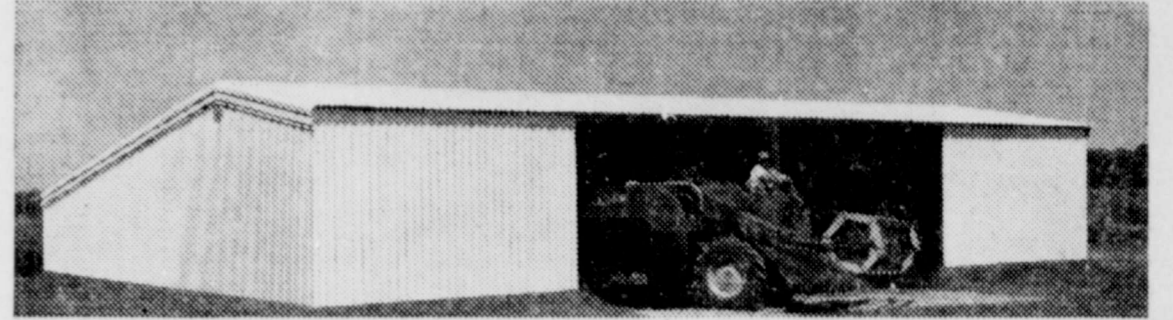

Present irrigation practices waste lots of water by running down slopes, it was stated, as well as by evaporation. It was recommended that as a conservation effort it would help considerably to return to contour plowing. By doing this it will take many thousands of less gallons of water to get the desired moisture content in the land than where water is run in straight rows and down grade. As much water is necessary when as much water is necessary where running down grade to wet the land as where watering on the level.

While making it more difficult to cultivate because of the short rows it was thought that a return to the contour method should be made in most cases. There would also be far less open ditches to evaporate and soak up a large amount of water that should be on the crops as more underground concrete pipe and above ground aluminum pipe is used.

Another method of conserving water would be to terrace the land into benches or shelves as wide as practicable, making these benches level lengthwise and crossways. This would effectually stop run off when irrigating and save lots of pumping expense and water.

Methods of recharge were discussed on which information is available from the Research Foundation at Halfway.

A new method of weed control for this area was discussed and slides were shown. This is Flame Control of weeds and Johnson grass. By using Propane and proper applicators, tractor drawn, this method shows promise of being developed into a very profitable method of weed control.

Slides were shown of cotton subjected to flame cultivation and it looked effective. Other crops can be flame cultivated also with good effect. The cost was said to run from about 70c per acre up, but far cheaper than hoeing by hand.

Along with the flame cultivation a new method working the crop was discussed. It was brought out that every time you throw dirt from the middle up into the row you also throw a lot of weed seeds to sprout and grow. The new idea is to leave a flat clear space beside the row, not throwing any dirt on it at all and controlling the weeds entirely by flame cultivators. Slides shown of this method made it look very good.

Slides were shown of the various methods of spacing of rows, four crop and four fallow, and other combinations of mixed crops such as cotton and soy beans planted two and two, also other arrangements with the yield per acre on each arrangement in dollars and cents.

Dr. Collister, research scientist at the Foundation, discussed the growing of soy beans and sesame in this area. He is presently engaged in developing both sesame and soy beans to suit this area. He is also working on castor beans as a crop for this area. Some is grown here but Dr. Collister thinks this area should be a very high production area and bring in large processing plants employing hundreds of people and bringing in thousands of dollars.

Increased Oil Allowable For Anton-Irish

An increase in top allowable to 102 barrels per well per day has been granted by the Anton-Irish Field of Hale, Lamb and Lubbock Counties.

The increase in the MER was asked at a commission hearing from the 100 barrels per well per day to the 1947 yardstick value of 102. Pan American Petroleum Corporation sought the increase.

Sunland Oil Corporation, G. C. Herrmann, John J. Eisner, Western Drilling Co. and Honolulu Corp. concurred with the application.

Riley V. Carlton, engineer for the applicant, told examiner Pat Kelly that this field, with 192 wells on some 7,700 acres produces from the Clearfork Permian at an average depth of 5,900 feet. He said the field has a solution gas drive and was originally undersaturated.

Kelly said that gas injection began in the field in 1952, and that currently there are 12 gas injection wells, through which 2,100 mcf of gas is being injected daily. Cumulative gas injection to date was given as 7.5 billion cubic feet, or approximately 90 per cent of that produced.

Soil Testing Sets Record

College Station—Soil samples submitted to the testing laboratory operated by the Agricultural Extension Service during February totaled 3,515. According to Dr. W. F. Bennett, extension soil chemist, this is by far the greatest number of samples received in any one month since the laboratory was established in 1950.

The chemist points out several reasons for the large increase in soil testing. First, he says, agricultural producers have seen and heard of demonstration results where soil test recommendations have formed the basis for adding plant nutrients to the soil for increased as well as more efficient production. Too, he adds, the ever-tightening cost-price squeeze which farmers have faced for the past several years has caused them to seek ways and means to increase their income.

Bennett also says the effects of the intensified soil fertility program being conducted by the Texas Extension Service in 12-pilot counties in the Gulf Coast, Northeast and South Plains areas of the State are reflected in the number of samples being submitted to the lab. These counties all rank high in the numbers of samples submitted since the program was started last fall in the Coast Prairie counties.

Despite the heavy run of samples, Bennett says the laboratory has been able to get most of the test results back to the producers in 12 to 14 days. The chemist also reported that other laboratories operating in Texas have also received more samples during this same period than would have normally been expected.

He thinks it is a fine trend and believes the adequate moisture supplies now available in most acres will increase the benefits from fertilizer use this year.

1960's Farm Legislation

The vague outlines of Washington farm legislation for the 1960's is beginning to appear dimly in patterns of controversy, and a better idea of what to look for next might be gained by glancing at what has happened in the past three decades.

Each of these three decades has been marked by different and distinct attitudes in Washington toward the problems of agriculture.

Going back to the 1930's, the decade of the Great Depression, there was an economic disaster that stifled the entire economy and pushed one out of every four farmers into bankruptcy. The problem then was strictly a dearth of markets instead of excessive production, and the Washington remedy was to plow up crops, kill little pigs and put the government into the cattle-buying business.

The beginning of the 1940's saw the technological revolution in farm production coming to the front, producing what at that time appeared to be huge surpluses. But there was war and post-war recovery that took up these apparent surpluses, with high prices encouraging maximum production. Prices went up from 38 per cent of parity in the 1930's to 123 per cent of parity in the 1940's.

But in the 1950's the vast increases in production again developed serious surplus troubles. Eventually, in 1955, a Democratic Congress gave the Republican Secretary of Agriculture the authority to flex price supports between 75 per cent and 90 per cent of parity for basic crops. This was done on the theory that since high supports had encouraged excessive production, lower supports would cause farmers to reduce production.

The theory, however, has not been borne out by the facts, with total farm production continuing to set new record highs year after year.

This year, the best collective thinking of Democrat farm-minded congressmen perhaps is reflected in the "Family Farm Income Act of 1960" by Rep. Bob Poage (D-Tex.) The bill is not expected to pass this session of Congress, but it indicates what can be expected next time if the Democrats retain control in the House and Senate. It has two fundamental aims: First, to strengthen the income and security of family farms; second, to provide farmers with a variety of programs from which to choose. It is based on higher price supports with production under strict controls.

Local Library To Receive Child Report

The Abernathy Public Library is among 1,000 Texas libraries and Social Agencies that will receive books containing the latest information on the nation's children.

The eight-volume set comprises the official publications of the 1960 White House Conference on Children and Youth. In all 8,000 books are being given to Texas libraries by Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Meadows Foundation grant of $12,000.

The gift was arranged by Fred M. Lange, executive vice-president of the Dallas Community Chest Trust Fund and volunteer consultant to the national finance committee of the White House Conference. Mr. Lange said four volumes have been completed by the Columbia University Press. Four others including a digest of Texas research are to be printed between now and July.

error Price Daniel's White House Conference Committee has designated the libraries as follows: 272 public libraries; 115 college and university libraries; 34 philanthropic or hospital libraries; 300 social agencies, probation departments and child care institutions; and 197 public and parochial schools. Remaining sets will be distributed as new libraries are founded in coming years.

The books representing the combined finding and thinking of the nation's outstanding leaders in the field of child care, will be a source of authoritative information on the nation's children for years to come. An estimated half million citizens interested in the welfare of children have joined the nation's foremost educators and child care authorities in the gathering of information which will be condensed and incorporated in the books.

The White House Conference, just completed in Washington, D. C., was attended by 7,000 delegates from every state in the union. The conference is called every ten years by the President of the United States to consider issues concerning children and youth.

Governor Price Daniel acknowledged Mr. and Mrs. Meadows' gift to Texas libraries. He said, "In a democracy such as ours the people must have sufficient facts upon which to base wise decisions concerning the future of our children and youth. By contributing this vital set of books to a thousand libraries in our state Mr. and Mrs. Meadows, through the Meadows Foundation, are rendering a great public service in this regard."

Dr. Guy Newman, president of Howard Payne College and chairman of the Texas White House Conference Committee also expressed appreciation to Mr. and Mrs. Meadows for their interest in the future of the children of Texas.

"Making these books available to teachers, juvenile authorities, other child welfare leaders and the public at large will be invaluable in planning future state programs involving children and youth," Dr. Newman said.

REX COTTON SEED

Rex cotton seed is coming rapidly to the front as a profitable variety for planting, especially to the larger planters.

It has been developed in the cotton country by cotton specialists and has several advantages over other varieties which though small, when put together add up to enough difference to make this cotton pay off better than most other varieties.

A check with DSDA records reveal that the 1959 planting of Rex cotton was as much as 700 percent increase over the 1958 planting.

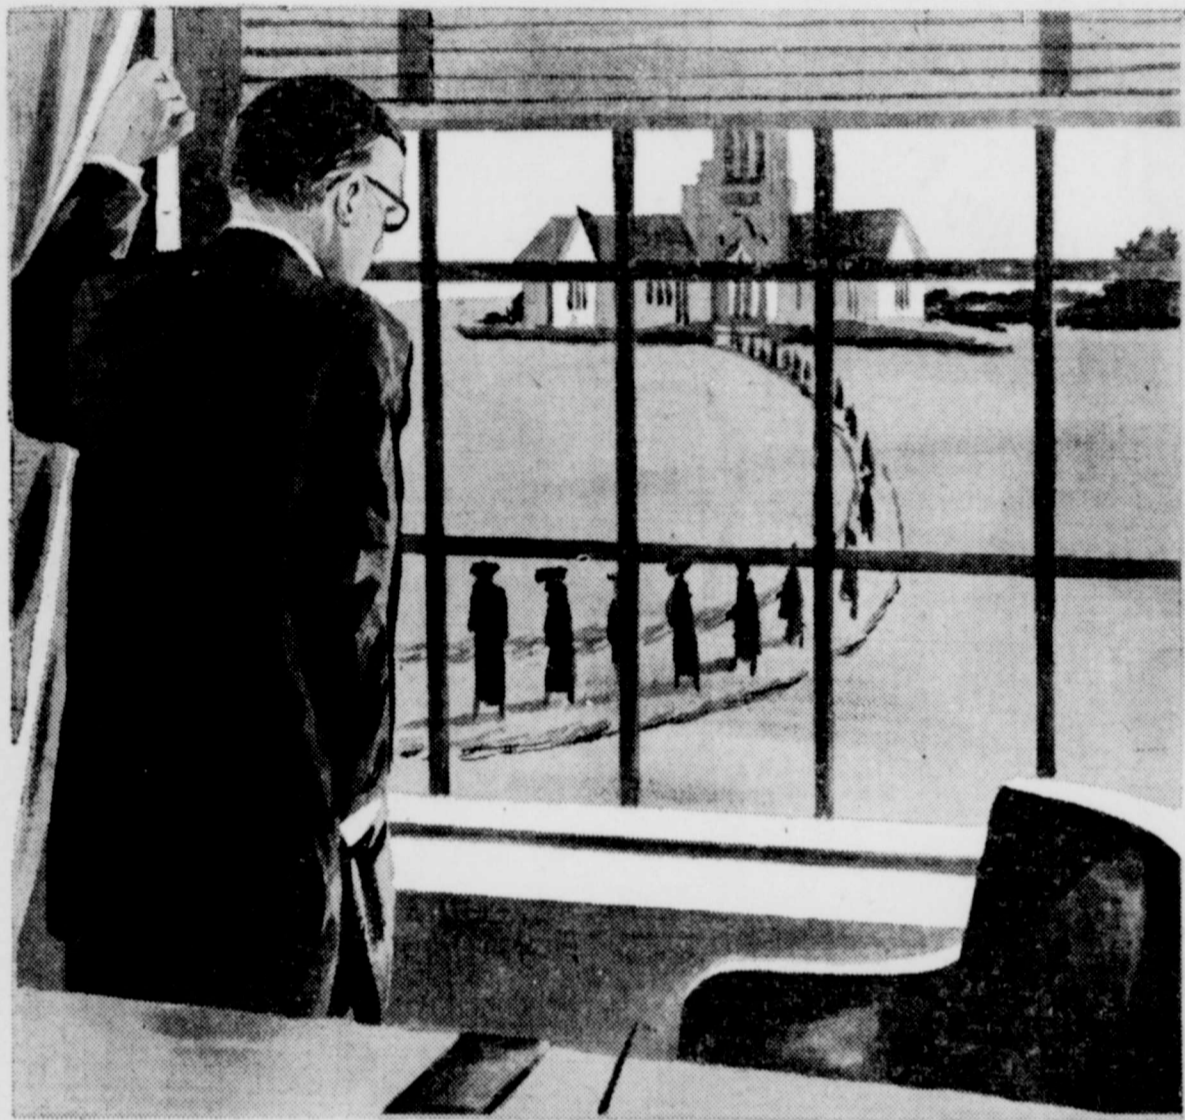

Rex matures 10 to 14 days earlier, thus saving on poisoning. Rex is highly resistant to Bacterial Blight (Angular Leaf Spot) and Fusarium Wilt.

It grows off faster and tends to make squares and bolls earlier usually before boll weevils have reached their peak emergence period.

You can identify these seed by their bright green color.

Feed Grain Market Development Program Expansion is Studied

Grain leaders from throughout the nation were in Amarillo this week to confer with directors of the Grain Sorghum Producers Association regarding the grain sorghum market development program which the Association is administering in cooperation with the Foreign Agricultural Service. Officials representing interests of hybrid corn seed, hybrid grain sorghum seed, grain export and both independent and cooperative grain dealers were present, as well as government officials from Washington, D. C.

Nelson Urban of Des Moines, Iowa, chairman of the Hybrid Corn Division of the American Seed Trade Association, reported that his group followed the foreign market development activities of the grain sorghum association and are impressed with the work being done toward building new markets for U. S. Feed grains.

John McCracken of the Foreign Agricultural Service, Washington, D. C., who has traveled both in Europe and South America studying the feed grain export situation, reported that U. S. exports of grains have increased from 7 million tons to 12 million tons since 1958. He indicated that this increase was due to several factors such as near-record drought in Europe and policies encouraging freer trade by our Department of Agriculture, but pointed out that these situations could not have been taken advantage of to this full an extent without the promotional activities such as those which are being conducted by the Grain Sorghum Producers Association.

Walter Goepfinger of Boone, Iowa, President of the National Corn Growers Association, who was a member of a feed grain study team in South America along with Texas grain sorghum officials, reported of the vast shortage of adequate supplies of grains in the Latin American areas and the prohibitive foreign government tariff and trade practices which prevent the admission of U. S. feed grains. He pointed out the need for all segments of the feed grain production and marketing interests to attempt to correct this situation through unified efforts.

The Des Moines, Iowa Farmers Grain Dealers Association head, Fred Maywald, reported similar trade barriers and the need for unified U. S. action, both of which he observed recently as a member of an European trade development team.

It was the opinion of a former Minneapolis, Minnesota grain merchandiser and now a consultant to the United States Department of Agriculture, Dr. Julius Hen-del, that the grain trade stands ready to assist with the obligations and to enjoy the opportunities of an accelerated U. S. feed grain promotion program.

These leaders, along with R. G. Peeler, director of the Grain Sorghum Producers Association, of Hereford, Texas, are members of a U. S. Feed Grains Council Planning Committee who have, since a February meeting in Washington, been studying methods of coordinating market development activities by the various interested groups. The committee plans to meet again within the next 60 days to give further consideration to formation of such a council.

Those attending, other than the committee members named, were: Archie Kroloff, Sorghum Division of the American Seed Trade Association, Phoenix, Arizona; D. D. Wainscott, Sorghum Division of American Seed Trade Association, Lincoln, Nebraska; W. H. Youngman, Consultant to American Seed Trade Association, Silver Springs, Maryland, to gether with 15 members and directors of the Grain Sorghum Producers Association.

HOW TO DISPOSE OF UNSERVICEABLE FLAGS

Great concern has been expressed over the repeated discovery of 48-star American flags in bundles of industrial rags.

Several incidents of entire or parts of American flags found in bundles were reported recently in Chicago where both the United States attorney and the Federal Bureau of Investigation are studying this improper method of disposal of the nation's banner.

Statehood for Alaska and Hawaii will make a 50-star flag official on July 4, 1960, but no American flag is ever obsolete. A 49-star design has been official since July 4, 1959.

Unserviceable American flags may be destroyed "preferably by burning with the appropriate public ceremony or privately." An executive order by President Eisenhower provides that unserviceable 48- and 49-star flags are to be destroyed by burning.

Although there is no federal penalty for desecration of an American flag, except in the District of Columbia where such an act constitutes a misdemeanor, the offense can be punishable under state laws. "Let's be right on Flag Etiquette."

COSTAL BERMUDA GROWING IN POPULARITY FOR PASTURE

College Station—Costal Bermuda grass continues to make new friends because of its adaptability and high yielding characteristics, says George McBee, extension pasture specialist.

Spring, says the specialist, is the optimum time for planting Costal in most sections of Texas. Planting made now will give the plants time to become established before the beginning of the summer season.
