GRASS LEGUME RESEARCH

An observation program on sixty-six grasses and one-hundred and fourteen legumes conducted at the High Plains Research Foundation will be continued for 1962. The source of the seed were both native and from foreign countries. Some varieties showed promise of adaptation to the needs of this area. A search will be continued for a high protein grass that can be easily eradicated. This will be used to help restore humus to the soil and at the same time be used for profitable grazing. Such grasses can be used in rotation to improve the ability of the soil to hold acid and absorb water more readily.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Nesbitt and Mickey have returned from taking their daughter and sister, Shirlee, to Tyler, where she is attending Tyler Junior College.

ABERNATHY DEPOT HAS LARGEST YEAR'S BUSINESS

(By O. F. REA)

The year 1961 turned in the largest volume of business handled to date through Abernathy Santa Fe depot. Santa Fe depot agent C. L. Adams reports that the total business handled was well over $500,000.00.

The volume of business was well ahead of 1960 when a total of 1206 car loads were handled while in 1961 there were 1875 cars handled. A total of 931 cars were shipped out and 944 cars were received.

A partial breakdown shows 920 cars of grain shipped out and 705 cars of grain received. Also there were 66 cars of lime and 75 cars of Ammonia received.

Mr. Adams also reported that 26,589 bales of cotton were handled by rail through the local Santa Fe station last year.

There was also something over 900,000 pounds of Santa Fe Trail (truck) freight handled.

The depot is a one man operation from April to August and a two-man operation the rest of the year.

Lions Club Was Santa For Area Families Christmas

The Abernathy Lions Club played Santa Claus to several needy families of Abernathy area just prior to Christmas. A committee composed of Lions Arno Struve, Carl Barton and Archie Nystel, worked in cooperation with local churches in determining families to be helped by providing one or more sacks of groceries for the Yule season.

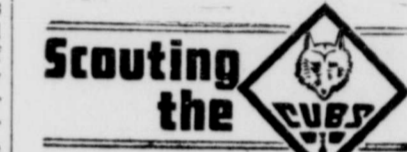

Seventy sacks of groceries, at a gross cost to the local Lions Club of $328.23, were distributed to 47 families. The number of sacks distributed to each family was determined by the number of persons in the family, and their needs. Each sack contained the following items: two pounds of beans, 10 pounds of potatoes, a bag of Christmas candy, apples, oranges, pecans, sugar, flour, shortening, three pounds of canned meat, a box of oatmeal, macaroni, bread and eggs.

Local merchants, where the grocery items were purchased, gave a discount on the items and also donated some of the items.

Express Thanks
The Lions wish to express their gratitude to the people of Abernathy and community for helping to make possible such acts as this to those in need. The money was raised locally by various Lions Club activities, such as the annual broom sale, Christmas candy sale, etc.

In addition to helping the needy people of Abernathy at Christmas time, the local Lions Club helps in the sponsorship of the Texas Lions Clubs Crippled Children's Camp at Kerrville, and provides glasses for local needy people. The local club also contributes annually to the Boy Scout and Girl Scout fund drives, and the past two years members of the club aided in solicitation of funds during the Boy Scout Fund drive.

INCOME TAX FAX

"Taxpayers who fail to report ALL taxable income for 1961 are liable to be called to account for it. In fact, they may be subject not only to the tax, but also to interest and penalties."

This warning came from Ellis Campbell, Jr., District Director of the Internal Revenue Service, whose office is 2101 Pacific Avenue, Dallas, Texas.

Numerous types of income besides salaries and wages must be included in the preparation of federal income tax if received.

"While the forms themselves and the accompanying instruction booklet detail several of the most common types of income which must be reported," the IRS representative said, "taxpayers are reminded that interest on savings accounts and Series 'E' U. S. Savings Bonds, tips, and most dividends and profits on sales of real or personal property, are taxable income."

FIGURE IT YOURSELF: Here's how to find your best oven height: Measure A, the number of inches from floor to elbow. Subtract three inches, the distance to allow between forearm and open oven door. Subtract B, the distance between top of the opened oven door and lower surface of oven frame. These two subtractions leave you with C, the height to which the oven's receiving frame should be built.

ADVERTISING IS THE ANSWER

Retailers are "whistling in the dark" when they feel their businesses are so well known they don't need advertising. An examination of a telephone directory of 10, 20, and 30 years ago will reveal names of long-forgotten firms which their proprietors then felt didn't need advertising.

No community has a static population. Customers die and potential customers are born. People move away and new residents move in who are looking for the merchant who shows he wants their business by his aggressiveness to attract their patronage through newspaper advertising.

The average retailer loses 15% of his customers each year, and 6% of this 15% stop trading with a firm because of real or fancied belief the store or its owner is indifferent to their patronage. Advertising in print is genuine proof to both the regular and non-regular customer that the merchant cares and is not indifferent. Advertising should pull, not jerk.

Consistent newspaper advertising does more than promote immediate sales. It builds customer confidence in what is advertised and who advertises it; it keeps reminding even those who aren't ready to buy today, that this store has it; it builds desire for the products advertised.

Consistent advertising produces results. Stores keep opening their doors every day, apparently hoping that it will be the day someone will buy.

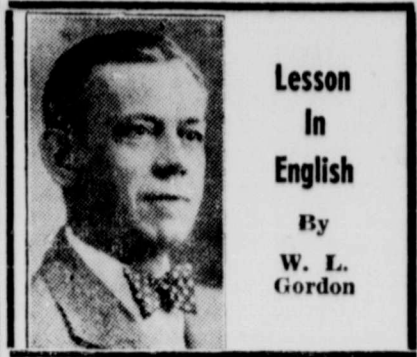

The bells of the Notre Dame Cathedral ring out several times each day, as they have for centuries . . . so one will forget Notre Dame is still there.

"I'm not in any income tax bracket. Why?"

Lesson In English By W. L. Gordon

Words Often Misused

The word TILL and UNTIL are interchangeable, UNTIL is more commonly preferred at the beginning of a sentence. Notice that TILL is a word in its own right, and should not be spelled at "til."

Do not say, "I am sick to my stomach." Primarily, "to" means direction toward, and one is not sick "in the direction of one's stomach." Say, "I am sick AT my stomach."

Do not say "He came out from the house." Say, "He came out OF the house."

Do not say, "She pled with her husband." Say, "She PLEADED."

Remember that SUSPECT is the verb, and SUSPICION is the noun. Do not say, "I suspected that his claim was false." Say, "I SUSPECTED that his claim was false."

Do not say, "He is some better today," or, "They have changed the arrangement some." Say, "He is SOMEWHAT better," and, "They have changed the arrangement SOMEWHAT."

Remember that the verb RISE does not take an object, while the verb RAISE does take an object. Thus: "The audience will RISE when he RAISES the flag." Avoid "rise up" and "raise up."

Do not say, "He was with us throughout the whole week." Omit "whole," since "throughout" means from end to end of, or in every part of.

Do not say, "I think the child done very good." Say, "I think the child DID (or, HAS DONE) very WELL."

Avoid the expression "just recently." Since "recently" means not long ago, a short time past, the "just" is not needed.

Do not say, "We need your help badly." It is better to say, "We need your help VERY MUCH."

Do not say, "I didn't get to go." Say, "I didn't HAVE THE OPPORTUNITY to go."

Exacerbate. Pronounce egg-zass-er-bait, accent second syllable.

Eclat. Pronounce ai-claw, accent on second syllable.

Words Often Mispronounced

Gyve (a shackle). Pronounce as "jive."

Biography. Pronounce first syllable to rhyme with "buy," not with "big."

Fugue. Pronounce as "fyug."

Troche (medicinal tablet). Pronounce troh-kee, accent on first syllable.

Braggadocio Pronounce bragg-ah-doh-shi-oh, principal accent on third syllable.

March of Dimes Helps Dry Youngster's Tears of Pain

Anthony Ryan wasn't normally a crybaby. But at 10 months he began crying almost incessantly, and at times even screamed.

His loving parents in Philadelphia were nearly out of their minds. With four other small children, the household was pandemonium. No one appeared to know precisely what was causing the infant's dreadful paroxysms of pain.

Eight months and countless tears later, the cause of Anthony's agony was at last diagnosed as rheumatoid arthritis, seemingly afflicting every area of his tiny body.

It's 11 years now since Anthony was stricken. He will limp the rest of his life; he cannot play baseball today with the other boys in the block, and he is still in a great deal of pain. As a matter of fact, until just a short time ago he couldn't even turn his head.

Science has not yet licked the problem of Anthony and of thousands of children like him. There is still no simple, accurate test for the early diagnosis of rheumatoid arthritis, although the outlook is hopeful. But many rheumatologists would agree today that had modern diagnostic tools been available to him, and had Anthony been examined immediately by a "team" of specialists in the medical and allied professions—the group of orthopedists, pediatricians, laboratory research scientists, physical therapists and others now available in March of Dimes-financed treatment centers in many parts of the nation—Anthony today might be skating with the other kids on the frozen pond at the bottom of Prince Circle where he lives.

Although much of the injury done to Anthony in past years is irreparable, doctors at a new arthritis treatment center at Philadelphia Children's Hospital, sponsored by five March of Dimes chapters in the area, check him regularly to ease his pain and avoid further damage.

This same "team approach" is also employed by the ever-growing number of National Foundation-March of Dimes chapter-sponsored clinics for treatment of birth defects, another area in which the health organization is concentrating. Infants with any of hundreds of major birth defects are now examined by as many as 12 specialists at each clinic, working together as a team that might include a pediatrician, neurosurgeon, urologist, orthopedist and internist as well as others.

For instance, consider the perils from one birth defect

ON EAST COAST, Dr. John D. Bridgers, director of March of Dimes Arthritis Treatment Center at Children's Hospital, Philadelphia, examines Anthony Ryan, 12 years.

ON WEST COAST, identical twins Cathy and Carol Gile, 7 years, are greeted at March of Dimes Congenital Defects Clinic in University of Washington Hospital, Seattle.

that surrounded Cathy and Carol Gile, identical 8-year-old twins of Vancouver, Wash. From birth, the children have been seriously ill with a succession of maladies—pneumonia (each six times), ear infections (again, each six times) and other disorders which have meant prolonged hospitalization. Both were found to be afflicted with an inherited lack of antibodies, the substances in the blood which combat bacteria.

At the University of Washington Hospital, Seattle, where 86 March of Dimes chapters in Washington, Idaho and Alaska have financed a birth defects clinic, the attractive little girls twice monthly are given injections which literally keep them alive.

The Seattle "team" at the March of Dimes clinic watches over the twins devotedly.

There are tens of thousands of Anthonys and Cathys and Carols in the United States today. One reason The National Foundation-March of Dimes turned to these diseases three years ago is that almost 700 babies are born each day in this country with significant birth defects, accounting for more than 21,000 deaths each year. Crippling rheumatoid arthritis affects 30,000 children and adolescents— apart from the overall toll of 11 million American victims of rheumatic diseases.

An increasing number of sufferers from these two cruel handicaps are receiving treatment from the specialist "teams" at March of Dimes-financed chapter clinics. As more funds become available, additional centers will be established to provide medical care for even more victims of chronic crippling diseases.

INCOME TAX FAX

"Taxpayers who fail to report ALL taxable income for 1961 are liable to be called to account for it. In fact, they may be subject not only to the tax, but also to interest and penalties."

This warning came from Ellis Campbell, Jr., District Director of the Internal Revenue Service, whose office is 2101 Pacific Avenue, Dallas, Texas.

Numerous types of income besides salaries and wages must be included in the preparation of federal income tax if received.

"While the forms themselves and the accompanying instruction booklet detail several of the most common types of income which must be reported," the IRS representative said, "taxpayers are reminded that interest on savings accounts and Series 'E' U. S. Savings Bonds, tips, and most dividends and profits on sales of real or personal property, are taxable income."

ADVERTISING IS THE ANSWER

Retailers are "whistling in the dark" when they feel their businesses are so well known they don't need advertising. An examination of a telephone directory of 10, 20, and 30 years ago will reveal names of long-forgotten firms which their proprietors then felt didn't need advertising.

No community has a static population. Customers die and potential customers are born. People move away and new residents move in who are looking for the merchant who shows he wants their business by his aggressiveness to attract their patronage through newspaper advertising.

The average retailer loses 15% of his customers each year, and 6% of this 15% stop trading with a firm because of real or fancied belief the store or its owner is indifferent to their patronage. Advertising in print is genuine proof to both the regular and non-regular customer that the merchant cares and is not indifferent. Advertising should pull, not jerk.

Consistent newspaper advertising does more than promote immediate sales. It builds customer confidence in what is advertised and who advertises it; it keeps reminding even those who aren't ready to buy today, that this store has it; it builds desire for the products advertised.

Consistent advertising produces results. Stores keep opening their doors every day, apparently hoping that it will be the day someone will buy.

The bells of the Notre Dame Cathedral ring out several times each day, as they have for centuries . . . so one will forget Notre Dame is still there.

Lesson In English By W. L. Gordon

Words Often Misused

The word TILL and UNTIL are interchangeable, UNTIL is more commonly preferred at the beginning of a sentence. Notice that TILL is a word in its own right, and should not be spelled at "til."

Do not say, "I am sick to my stomach." Primarily, "to" means direction toward, and one is not sick "in the direction of one's stomach." Say, "I am sick AT my stomach."

Do not say "He came out from the house." Say, "He came out OF the house."

Do not say, "She pled with her husband." Say, "She PLEADED."

Remember that SUSPECT is the verb, and SUSPICION is the noun. Do not say, "I suspected that his claim was false." Say, "I SUSPECTED that his claim was false."

Do not say, "He is some better today," or, "They have changed the arrangement some." Say, "He is SOMEWHAT better," and, "They have changed the arrangement SOMEWHAT."

Remember that the verb RISE does not take an object, while the verb RAISE does take an object. Thus: "The audience will RISE when he RAISES the flag." Avoid "rise up" and "raise up."

Do not say, "He was with us throughout the whole week." Omit "whole," since "throughout" means from end to end, or in every part of.

Do not say, "I think the child done very good." Say, "I think the child DID (or, HAS DONE) very WELL."

Avoid the expression "just recently." Since "recently" means not long ago, a short time past, the "just" is not needed. Do not say, "We need your help badly." It is better to say, "We need your help VERY MUCH."

Do not say, "I didn't get to go." Say, "I didn't HAVE THE OPPORTUNITY to go."

March of Dimes Helps Dry Youngster's Tears of Pain

Anthony Ryan wasn't normally a crybaby. But at 10 months he began crying almost incessantly, and at times even screamed.

His loving parents in Philadelphia were nearly out of their minds. With four other small children, the household was pandemonium. No one appeared to know precisely what was causing the infant's dreadful paroxysms of pain.

Eight months and countless tears later, the cause of Anthony's agony was at last diagnosed as rheumatoid arthritis, seemingly afflicting every area of his tiny body.

It's 11 years now since Anthony was stricken. He will limp the rest of his life; he cannot play baseball today with the other boys in the block, and he is still in a great deal of pain. As a matter of fact, until just a short time ago he couldn't even turn his head.

Science has not yet licked the problem of Anthony and of thousands of children like him. There is still no simple, accurate test for the early diagnosis of rheumatoid arthritis, although the outlook is hopeful. But many rheumatologists would agree today that had modern diagnostic tools been available to him, and had Anthony been examined immediately by a "team" of specialists in the medical and allied professions—the group of orthopedists, pediatricians, laboratory research scientists, physical therapists and others now available in March of Dimes-financed treatment centers in many parts of the nation—Anthony today might be skating with the other kids on the frozen pond at the bottom of Prince Circle where he lives.

Although much of the injury done to Anthony in past years is irreparable, doctors at a new arthritis treatment center at Philadelphia Children's Hospital, sponsored by five March of Dimes chapters in the area, check him regularly to ease his pain and avoid further damage.

ON WEST COAST, identical twins Cathy and Carol Gile, 7 years, are greeted at March of Dimes Congenital Defects Clinic in University of Washington Hospital, Seattle.

This same "team approach" is also employed by the ever-growing number of National Foundation-March of Dimes chapter-sponsored clinics for treatment of birth defects, another area in which the health organization is concentrating. Infants with any of hundreds of major birth defects are now examined by as many as 12 specialists at each clinic, working together as a team that might include a pediatrician, neurosurgeon, urologist, orthopedist and internist as well as others.

For instance, consider the perils from one birth defect

that surrounded Cathy and Carol Gile, identical 8-year-old twins of Vancouver, Wash. From birth, the children have been seriously ill with a succession of maladies—pneumonia (each six times), ear infections (again, each six times) and other disorders which have meant prolonged hospitalization. Both were found to be afflicted with an inherited lack of antibodies, the substances in the blood which combat bacteria.

At the University of Washington Hospital, Seattle, where 86 March of Dimes chapters in Washington, Idaho and Alaska have financed a birth defects clinic, the attractive little girls twice monthly are given injections which literally keep them alive.

The Seattle "team" at the March of Dimes clinic watches over the twins devotedly.

There are tens of thousands of Anthonys and Cathys and Carols in the United States today. One reason The National Foundation-March of Dimes turned to these diseases three years ago is that almost 700 babies are born each day in this country with significant birth defects, accounting for more than 21,000 deaths each year. Crippling rheumatoid arthritis affects 30,000 children and adolescents—apart from the overall toll of 11 million American victims of rheumatic diseases.

An increasing number of sufferers from these two cruel handicaps are receiving treatment from the specialist "teams" at March of Dimes-financed chapter clinics. As more funds become available, additional centers will be established to provide medical care for even more victims of chronic crippling disease.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights by Vern Sanford TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

Talk of ending the special session of the Legislature on its opening day turned out to be just talk.

When the lawmakers got to town at Gov. Price Daniel's call, little support could be mustered by Sen. George Parkhouse of Dallas and Rep. Charles Ballman of Borger, for immediate adjournment.

So, the show is on—and already moving at a fast pace. Governor Daniel immediately laid out his proposals for solving some long-standing problems. Included were the following:

BANK ESCHEAT: Here a compromise with bankers was sought, under which banks would advertise locally each year for the owners of accounts which had as much as $25 in them and which had been inactive for seven years. Balances under $25 would be sent to the State Treasury which would seek the owners, and if they appear, pay them from a $100,000 revolving fund which would be kept in the Treasury for that purpose. Rep. Charles E. Hughes of Sherman, who has worked for 10 years to get laws to enforce the escheat laws, felt that ground had

American Heritage Program Presented At Plainview

A graphic portrayal of Americanism through the use of color slides was presented at the meeting of the Plains American Heritage Program at McGrath's Restaurant in Plainview Monday night.

C. Don Hughes, Amarillo, showed the slides complete with taped narration and musical background. The Amarillo Globe-News said of Hughes' program, "It is one of the finest displays of Americanism we ever saw."

Approximately 40 area school personnel were present for the meeting which was arranged by Dr. John G. Chapman, head of the History Department at Wayland Baptist College, Plainview, who is director of the program emphasizing American Heritage. Cities and schools participating include Abernathy, Hale Center, Cotton Center, Dimmitt, Hart, Kress, Lockney, Otton, Petersburg, Plainview and Tulia.

POLL TAX DEADLINE IS JANUARY 31; WILL TAKE PAYMENT HERE

Bill Hollars, Hale County tax assessor-collector, reminds county residents that January 31 is the deadline for paying the poll tax to vote in 1962. Payments for poll tax may be made at the court house in Plainview or at Floyd Shipman and Son office in Abernathy.

Also, Hollars urges that state and county taxes be paid by January 31. Penalty will be added after that date.

finally been found on which the state and the banks could agree.

RURAL ROADS: Governor Daniel's veto last summer of the $15,000,000 appropriation for farm-to-market road construction during the year starting next Sept. 1 was designed to bring another long discussion to a head. It did.

Where $60,000,000 was available in 1961 ($50,000,000 in state taxes and $10,000,000 in federal aid) for construction and improvement of rural roads, Daniel proposed that only about $12,500,000 be used next year. The other $17,500,000 would be used to maintain the rural roads.

Daniel got agreement from the Texas County Judges and Commissioners Association and from the Texas Farm Bureau. But some rural legislators think this is too big a cut all at once, and are talking about the Daniel proposal as the "minimum."

INTEREST RATES: Daniel made no specific recommendations to the lawmakers on interest rates and loan regulation, except to say that the rates proposed by the Texas Legislative Council were too high.

Here there is tremendous difference of opinion among legislators, over two issues. First question is—"what is a small loan?"

Some think interest ceilings should be held to 10 percent on all loans over $500 while others think higher rates should be allowed up to $3,000, to include the auto loan category.

Latest proposal would regulate rates up to $1,500 or $1,000, thus hold interest to a 10 percent maximum on all loans over that amount.

This issue will be hard fought and many legislators do not expect it to be settled when the 30-day session is over.

TOURIST ADVERTISING: Daniel urged a $300,000 appropriation for advertising Texas to tourists. Proposal is backed by numerous organizations who feel that the investment will pay big dividends to the state, especially since the state now has a sales tax.

JUVENILE PAROLE: Last year the start was made on a system of state-paid parole officers to supervise boys and girls released from the juvenile schools. But money was provided to pay only six men, including a state director.

Daniel asked for 17 more parole officers. Most legislators agreed on the need, but worried about where to get the money.

One thing is certain—this Legislature won't raise taxes again—not this year.

It is an unusual Legislature in another respect. In has two Republican members.

Kenneth Kohler of Amarillo took office first, so he is being called the "minority leader" of the House. His GOP colleague from Texas City, George Korkmas, makes it the largest Republican membership in the Legislature since back in the 1870s when there were many Republicans in office in Texas, including a governor.

Candidates Are Becoming Active

Politics is perk' up! Former House Speaker Waggoner Carr is at the rail and ready to run for Attorney General. Actually the Lubbock attorney, a Democrat, has been quietly campaigning for the office for several months.

Austin Attorney Walter Koch is an announced candidate for Associate Justice of the Court of Civil Appeals, Third Judicial District.

Judge William A. Morrison of Cameron has announced for reelection to the Court of Criminal Appeals, on which he has served for 11 years. District Judge Otis Dunagan of Tyler has announced against him.

Reciprocal Privileges

Texas Game & Fish Commission has decided to revive efforts to get reciprocal fishing privileges on the border rivers and lakes.

Neither the Texans on Lake Texoma nor the Louisianans on Lake Caddo can tell where the state line is. Sometimes they get fined by the other state's game wardens for not having a fishing license.

Time and time again negotiations have been begun, only to have the idea shelved when officers were changed and the new ones didn't pick up the ball.

This time, Chairman Frank Wood of Wichita Falls will go to Oklahoma to start talks there. Henry LeBlanc, president of the Sportsmen's Clubs of Texas, will try to get things rolling in his position as Southwestern director of the National Wildlife Federation.

Industry Board Picks Clark

Texas has an industry-seeking agency—the Texas Industrial Commission.

It got a new director in Harry W. Clark, who has been head of industrial development for the Texas & Pacific Railway Co. He replaces Walter Dickerson.

Commission decided to center its efforts on coordinating and complementing the work of community seekers. Also to serve as an information center for facts on industry and its needs. And to help advertise Texas nationwide. Legislature provided them $55,000 for these purposes last year.

Aired Up Bread

Agriculture Commissioner John White sent word to all bakeries that the "balooned loaf" of bread is illegal under the state law.

White said this new "over-sized" loaf has appeared in several parts of the state.

It actually weighs a pound. But if filled with air it bakes into a loaf the same size as the pound and a half loaf. Weight is printed in small type, so shoppers find it hard to tell the difference.

The state's grocery policeman said if bakers don't cooperate by stopping the practice he'll stop them.

Back To The Black

State revenues will begin to pull into balance this month, as the first full quarter of returns on the new sales tax reach Comptroller Robert S. Calvert.

Since the new law took effect, only $22,000,000 has come in, and it just about held things even on the state deficit of $75,000,000 or so.

Quarterly payments by stores, on sales for the last three months of 1961, are due Jan. 31. They should total about $45,000,000, less the $11,000,000 merchants paid in advance in November and thus got a 3 percent discount.

But it will be summer of 1962 before the new sales tax wipes out the deficit, if all goes as predicted.

One effect of the sales tax has been to get stores located so they will pay the "store tax" which has been in effect many years.

A year ago at this time, only 81,109 stores had paid this tax.

This year, 116,393 have paid it.

It all came about when stores were required to get permits as collectors of the new sales tax. Comptroller Calvert cross-checked their names, and collected the "store tax" from them while he was at it.

Skip-Row Rule In Cotton Planting May Help Farmers

It is felt that the relaxation of the four-row limitation on "skip-row" planting, announced last week by Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman, will be of benefit to area cotton producers.

Under the new ruling, farmers may plant two-in and two-out, or any method of skip-row planting, without the blank rows being counted as cotton acreage. In the past, this was limited to four-in and four-out, and anything below this had to be counted as cotton acreage for blank rows.

In other words, if a farmer this year plants two rows of cotton and leaves the next two rows blank, he may plant, for example, 150 acres if he has a 100-acre allotment. If every row is planted, naturally, he would plant only 100 acres.

These idle rows may now be left blank to increase production, or they may be planted to some other crop.

Although such planting will probably raise production of cotton somewhat, it is expected that it will have the effect of cutting down grain acreage, and right now grain is in surplus.

Naturally, retired grain acres under the grain acreage allotment program still can be utilized in the skip-row planting.

Wilmer Smith, an advisor to Washington officials on problems of the cotton farmer, said this new ruling came as a result of work done by many people. Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., has been pushing for the move, as have Arizona growers and also planters in the Delta country, where the skip-row method may help them offset the boll-rot problem.

Santa Fe President Grooms 4-H'ers In Chicago

Twelve Texas teenagers were among 66 winners of 1961 Santa Fe Railway 4-H educational awards who were welcomed to Chicago by Ernest S. Marsh, Santa Fe's president.

The occasion was the 26th annual banquet given by the railway recently for delegates to the 40th National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago's Conrad Hilton Hotel.

Four of the 12 also were awarded $400 college scholarships by Santa Fe.

They are Joyce Wilson, 19, of Paducah; Linda Rosenkranz, 18, or Bryan; Richard Chitwood, 16, of Muleshoe; and Robert Cohen, 18, of Llano.

The eight other young Texans at the banquet were Sue Campbell, 18, of Tulia; Jane Watkins, 18, of Corsicana; Sheryln Bailey, 19, of Jefferson; Bill Jacoby, 18, of Ozona.

Also Rebecca Ann Lawson, 18, of Waco; Judy Krebs, 18, of Fayetteville; Erylene Althaus, 19, of Beasley; and Jack Johnson, 19, of Alamo.

Each of the guests received a brown leather identification card case as a memento of the 4-H banquet.

In Chicago, the Texas 4-H'ers had the opportunity to meet other young people from every state in the nation and Puerto Rico. Along with 1,400 other delegates to congress, they were special guests at the International Livestock Exposition and Horse Show.

They heard comedian Danny Thomas and attended a pop concert and three dancing parties. There was also time for sight-seeing, with stops at such famous Chicago places as the Museum of Science and Industry, and the Museum of Natural History. Both museums over-look Lake Michigan.

Among the distinguished speakers they heard was Brooks Hays, assistant secretary of state for congressional relations.

Santa Fe in 1962 will again offer 25 $400 scholarships and 66 educational awards to 4-H members in 11 states served by the railway system, the National 4-H Service Committee has announced.

The awards will be given to 4-H'ers selected by the Cooperative Extension Service. Winners will be announced next fall.

In order to qualify, the member must be over 14 years old and have completed three years of 4-H Club work.

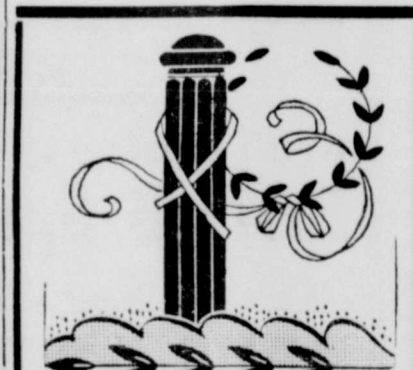

Santa Fe is one of the oldest contributors to 4-H and in 1962 will celebrate its 40th consecutive year of sponsorship.

A skunk once challenged a lion to combat. The lion promptly declined.

"Why," said the skunk, "are you afraid?"

"Yes," admitted the lion, "for you would only gain fame by having the honor to fight a lion, while for months everyone who met me would know that I had been in the company of a skunk."

The Mayo Clinic's staff bulletin tells of a doctor whose prescription was so illegible that the patient used it for two years as a railroad pass, got into theatres and ball parks with it and finally gave it to his daughter, who played it on the piano and won a scholarship to a music conservatory.

High School Grid Deaths Prompt NAIA To Vote Six Rules Changes

Six rules changes, four designed to stop use of the elbow, have been voted by the National Alliance Football Rules Committee, worried by the rise in high school football deaths. The action was taken in St. Louis last week.

Fifteen prep football deaths directly attributed to contact in games or scrimmages occurred last fall, compared with seven in 1960.

The National Alliance rulesmakers said they believe it was merely an unusual year, a decrease is likely next fall and, in any event, equipment wasn't a factor.

Delegates represented 14,000 football-playing high schools and 400 small colleges and junior colleges.

Clifford B. Fagan, executive secretary of the alliance, said the rulesmakers believe reduced use of the elbow, cutting down rough play in general and living up to the spirit of the rules will bring the death figure down.

The rules changes are as follows:

1. Hands may not be locked together by defensive players in contact. The hands must be separated. Blows with locked hands have produced injuries.

2. Hands and forearms of defensive players must be in advance of the elbow in making contact. This rules out the defender elbowing his opponent in the ribs to break through and stop a play.

3. The elbow of the offensive player can't move faster than the body. This eliminates the swinging or snapped elbow, now common in pass protection. Officials formerly could interpret this as an infraction or not, as they saw fit. Now they must call an infraction.

4. Offensive players must not use the hands and arms in blocking a defender above the shoulder—designed to stop blocks which catch the defender's face protector, snapping his head back.

5. The tooth protector, already voted last year to be mandatory in 1962, was liberalized to make a wide variety acceptable, encouraging research.

6. Any state may experiment with the 2-inch kicking tee, designed to encourage field goal attempts. The tee now elevates the football one inch.

INSURANCE CONTRACT

It is possible today to insure against almost anything within reason. You can insure yourself against home accidents, theft, auto injuries, life, fire, health, and business risks.

The law covering insurance is vast. Yet basically your protection rests on the same simple elements of any contract.

Offer and acceptance: You must offer to pay for the insurance, and the company must accept you as a proper risk.

A "consideration": The premium you pay in return for which the company gives you certain protection.

A lawful purpose: You cannot insure an unlawful activity. You may insure yourself against burglary, but a burglar cannot take out a policy to insure his success.

Competency: The parties to an insurance contract must be "competent" to enter it. And, as a rule, anyone who can enter any other contract can enter an insurance contract.
