Methodist Auxillary Notes

Monday August 18th, at 5 o'clock p. m., the auxillary will meet with Mrs. A. D. English in a social way.

All members are asked to bring their work, "an apron" if you have one.

There will be one or two business questions discussed.

Be sure and come and bring some one with you, let's make this our last house to house meeting the best of all.

Our year is nearing a close and so many things to do. We can't afford to be idle. This is a busy universe. The idler can never be happy in it. Work is not only necessary but blessed. It is the source of true happiness, the natural jesting of the honest soul, which cannot be content without "doing something."

We hope next week to be able to announce the exact date of our "Apron sale." We wish that every member would learn to look upon each thing the auxillary tries to do, as being dependent on "her personally" for success. When we do this then our society will be a success, looking ever to Him who gives strength, guidance and love to all who ask Him.

Supt. of Publicity.

The Albert Taylor Company.

The Albert Taylor Company has been showing in the Franklin tent this week. This is one of the finest companies on the road, and they have been sustaining their well merited reputation in Haskell this week. This is not a one-star company, but every actor and actress is a star. The Free press does not deem it necessary to say a word about Albert Taylor personally, for the people know what a splendid actor he is, as well as recognize his courtly demeanor. And H. H. Franklin, his name is a household word in Haskell. Franklin has friends by the hundred in this city, and never fails to bring something good to entertain them.

Let the Free Press do your job printing.

Baptist Ladies Aid.

The Baptist Ladies Aid met August 11th and opened with scripture reading by president. Prayer by Mrs. Cunningham.

The work of this society can not only be seen, but felt; there is a oneness among the membership beautiful to see; not a jar nor a jolt. The meeting Monday evening in the home of Mrs. J. N. McFatter was very enthusiastic with thirty present to help carry on the work and to listen to the edifying and inspiring talk made by Mrs. L. Cunningham, a former Haskell girl. (nee Miss Fannie Hudson) of Anson, on the plan of work as laid out by the Home and Foreign Mission and Sunday School Boards. There was quite a lot of other very important business attended to at this meeting. It was decided to have public installation of officers in our church Sunday night, where the people will all meet a welcome. The following program will be carried out:

Song by Aid Society.
 Prayer by Mrs. Whitman.
 Special music, Mrs. D. Scott.
 Report of year's work by Mrs. J. N. McFatter, secretary.
 Talk by the retiring president, Mrs. Posey.

Response by the new president, Mrs. John Gouch.
 Haskell County Association Auxillary, Needs and Opportunities, Mrs. R. J. Reynolds.

Organized Work Among Women Auxillary to the S. C. B. by Mrs. L. T. Cunningham.

Business being over the president asked all to rise and be dismissed by repeating the Lord's Prayer.

Miss Helen McFatter, assisted by Miss Alice Pool, then served delicious ice cream and wafers.

This was indeed a most enjoyable occasion. Blessings on the hostess, and each and every member of this society. Come and be with us. Reporter.

Married

Big Carnival Here Next Week

D. A. Moss, advance agent for the Lachman-Lewis Carnival show, which will be here all next week, was in this city this week looking after the interests of this carnival. While here he met up with a number of old friends whom he had not seen for some time. These friends say Mr. Moss is all right, and that the people can expect the big carnival to be all that is claimed for it, and next week will be a gala one for Haskell. People from all over the county, as well as other adjoining counties will be here to enjoy the sights and meet and mingle together. During the week the meeting of the West Texas W. O. W. Log Rolling Association will be held. This too, will bring many visitors, so our town will be full of new faces. The merchants are getting ready for both occasions, and every citizen extends a hearty welcome to all, and hopes for each visitor a joyous time. The Free Press extends greetings, and opens its doors to the people, where they will be cordially welcome to come around and make themselves at home. Come in and look over the papers, and let us give you the glad hand.

HASKELL, TEXAS, August 16, 1913.

Have you got a home in Haskell?

We need a broom factory in Haskell.

The awful day is coming, when you'll wish you had a home in Haskell.

When we strike oil in this country our real estate is going to boom and be in demand.

Haskell has never had a wild boom, but for steady progress, she is the champion. "Better get a home in Haskell".

The prospect for an oil well in the Haskell territory is brighter than it has ever been. The Bunkly well in the southeast part of the county is down about 1300 ft., and some oil has been obtained. Mr. A. D. English was down there Saturday, and he reported that the drill was down to the oil strata.

One hundred and thirty two of the insurance companies, that withdrew from Missouri when the legislature passed a law they did not like, has returned to that state. When the corporations use the advantages they acquire as corporations, to punish legislatures and the people, they are doing wrong and are giving the socialists their strongest argument in favor of state ownership. Many men of all parties are beginning to believe in the state doing the public service now being done by private corporations.

Society Notes.

The Free Press desires to compliment and thank the ladies who sent us the reports of the entertainments by Mrs. Murchison and Mrs. Adams for sending them in early in the week—Monday. It was a consideration we appreciate. We are always glad to give reports of the social functions of our city, but in most cases the reporters of the occasions wait until late in the week to send in their reports, when probably it would have been just as convenient to have sent them in early. The ladies do not mean to inconvenience us, we are sure, but we take it they really mean to accommodate us, and we appreciate their kindly efforts. Nevertheless, when their articles come in late it invariably makes it inconvenient for us to issue the paper on time, unless we leave the belated articles over until the next week. Notwithstanding our regret to do this we are sometimes compelled to so, which we know does not please those who are kind enough to report for us, neither is it treating the hostess right, but, as stated, it is sometimes unavoidable. Often on Mondays and Tuesdays our printer boys have to wait on us for copy, unless we clip what sometimes is uninteresting matter from the daily papers. Then perhaps Wednesdays and Thursdays our books fill up with local happenings, personals, social functions, church notices, etc., much of which might have been sent in earlier, and it works the life out of the printer force to get it all ready by press time. In our judgment the personals, local happenings, society events, etc., are far more important and interesting a service for a local paper than any other, and it is our desire and effort to give as complete an epitome of the local events as possible, and we appreciate the kindness of the ladies in furnishing us with reports of their social functions. We desire to especially thank those who considerately send in their reports early, and confidently hope that others will try to improve in the future. And remember, that we are anxious to have every local happening, every social function and all the personals we can get. These go to make up an interesting and readable local paper, and when you find a people of a town willing to cooperate with the editor in giving such reading matter, you will always find a live, wide-awake paper, one that is useful and a benefit to the community and a credit to the owners.

Filling a Haskell Silo.

Last Friday in company with J. F. and C. A. Pinkerton the writer went out to the farm of J. W. Meadors, two miles southeast of town and saw the cutter putting the silage into Mr. Meadors' 100 ton silo. Mr. Meadors will fill this silo and demonstrate the benefit of it. The Free Press has been agitating the silo for some time and is glad to see such enterprising farmers as Mr. Meadors putting in the silo system on his farm. We believe and hope that it will prove what it is recommended to be. It does not cost any more than a barn, and very little to convert the forage into ensilage.

Avoid Strife.

There is a legend that Hercules was once going a narrow road when a strange looking animal appeared threateningly before him. Hercules struck him with his club and passed on and was greatly surprised soon afterwards to see the same animal approach yet more threateningly, now three times as large as before. Hercules struck it fast and furiously, but the harder and oftener struck, the bigger and more frightful grew the monster, till it completely blocked the road. Then Pallas appeared to Hercules and warned him to stop. The monster's name is Strife," she said. "Let it alone, and it will soon become as little as it was at first. All strife and quarreling will certainly cease if one of the quarrelers let it alone.—Martha Tarbell, Ph. D.

Recognizing Statesmanship.

Those of us who have feared that President Wilson and Mr. Bryan would be unable to take care of the Mexico situation may disperse our minds of the fear. Mr. Lind will not be mistreated when he reaches Mexico city and Mr. Huerta will receive him when President Wilson gets ready for him to come across. The endorsement of the entire Foreign Relationship Committee at Washington Saturday night is pretty good evidence that Messrs. Wilson and Bryan have the situation in hand. On the committee are Democrats and Republicans. They were all satisfied that the right course is being pursued.—Abilene Reporter.

We are glad to note the general confidence that the democratic administration is inspiring in the press. Why so many people and editors have doubted the best democratic statesmen has been a puzzle to us. The only solution we have is the evil influence of the republican policies to which men of all parties are accustomed. We predict that the democratic statesmanship that founded and so long guided the destinies of this nation, will dispel the false and out-grown ideas of the men the republican machine of this country have kept in power. If a man wants to draw a true estimate of William H. Taft, let him study the ex-president's endorsement of the man Henry Lane Wilson, recently published in the daily press. If Henry Lane Wilson is guilty of the things he is charged with, and which the circumstances show he is, he ought to be tried for his participation in the assassination of Madero. The very fact that the president and his secretary of state have reversed the policy of assassination practiced by their predecessors, ought to inspire confidence. It seems to us that our administration would be justified if it had declared against the diplomacy of the assassin as well as against the dollar diplomacy. If some editors could form a more correct estimate of statesmen, and not be 16 years learning something of the character of the statesmanship of a man who so long dominated a great political party, they would not have to make such humiliating retractions as is being made daily.

City Building Notes

By L. M. Ward, President Texas Commercial Executive Association.

Duty is the science of sacrifice.

Courtesy is the foundation of character.

No one will help you unless you help yourself.

Honesty and industry are weak without knowledge.

Never mind who you talk about as long as it boosts.

Do not stand up for the city knocker, lay for him.

Whoever enlarges the prosperity of the city is a good citizen.

Truthfulness in exploitation is always the strongest argument.

Good intentions are bulwarks over which failure seldom climbs.

Education is to the human race what sculpture is to a block of marble.

Performance, not promises, is the first requisite to great undertakings.

God gave us tools to work with, but do not expect Him to do the toiling.

Unless you find pleasure in your work the lesson of life remains half taught.

A commercial organization is a thought factory and an action distribution center.

Knowledge worth having comes slow. The other kind usually strikes us like an avalanche.

The mistakes of the past should be utilized in cementing the prosperity of the future.

When a man assumes a public trust he should consider himself public property.

Mrs. Ernest Adams Entertains.

Thursday afternoon from four to six o'clock in the Elks' club rooms "42" was the entertainment selected by Mrs. Adams in honor of her guests, Mrs. Allen of Wichita Falls, and Mrs. Baron of Center, Texas, where a number of guests shared the delightful hospitality of the hostess. Mrs. Adams in her usual cordial way, received the guests. After meeting the honorees punch was served by Miss Moore assisted by Miss Reinnell Adams.

Dainty score cards were passed and the guests were shown into the banquet hall where numbers of game tables had been spread for the ever popular game, "42." While the guests were enjoying the games music added to the pleasure of the evening, after which a refreshing ice course was served and the guests reluctantly bade their charming hostess adieu.

Come around and let us figure with you on that job of printing. We are prepared to please you, if you can be pleased.

Mrs. W. H. Murchison Entertains

The elegant home of Mrs. W. H. Murchison was open to a host of friends last Tuesday afternoon in honor of Mrs. D. H. Bell of Bastrop.

After greetings from our hostess and honoree Mrs. D. H. Bell, the guests were shown into the beautiful dining room where Misses Moore and Odell served refreshing punch. Unique score cards were passed showing that eleven tables had been made ready.

After playing several games of "42", delicious cream and cake was served.

So many beautifully gowned ladies passing from table to table in this elegant new home and showing so much interest and pleasure in the game made this occasion picturesque.

Good-bye must be said however reluctantly they may be expressed and this delightful occasion was no exception to the rule.

A Domestic Peacemaker.

Queen Mary of England is a wife and a mother of good common sense. She is a woman tactful in what she says and does, but a woman of determined ideas which are exercised for the best interests of the English people.

Under the administration of the late King Edward social affairs were not the best in England. Morals, at one time, were at a low ebb. It is different today. As a mother she has the interests of her eldest son closely at heart. If he lives he will be the future king of England, and his mother is determined that he shall be reared in a way to make him well qualified to fill the exalted position and fill it with great credit.

She declined, after the coronation, to permit ladies of the fast social set to visit the palace. She declined to permit her son to associate with women divorced from their husbands, she declined to recognize at court, any woman who was in any way talked about.

If a woman is reported to be the object of discussion in London clubs, whether the gossip is warranted or not, the mother instinct seems to have warned her that such an acquaintance would be undesirable for the youthful heir to England's throne.

She has placed a ban on all sensational dances. There will be no turkey trotting or bunny hugging at any royal function. But more than this, Queen Mary has become the domestic peacemaker in the royal family of England and among the united nobility. This is in keeping with the strong traits of character she has displayed since her elevation. In nothing she has yet done has she taken a firmer stand than against the unwholesome display of marital discord in the divorce court. She may believe in divorces for particular reasons and under particular circumstances, but she has effectually discouraged divorces among the English nobility.

This was recently emphasized when she commanded the Duke and Duchess of Westminster to appear together at a state dinner. The two have been living apart for three years and the fact that they appeared together at this particular function was accepted by the English public as a marked reproof of their past conduct. The shameless and wanton abuse of the divorce privileges of the divorce courts probably needed just such a reproof. The rebuke clearly shows the attitude of England's queen in regard to domestic affairs of the nobility.

It would be well if the people of the United States should take this lesson to heart, for abuse of the divorce court is even greater here than it is in England.—Abilene Reporter.

Remarkable Cure of Dysentery

"I was attacked with dysentery about July 15th, and used the doctor's medicine and other remedies with no relief, only getting worse all the time. I was unable to do anything and my weight dropped from 145 to 125 pounds. I suffered for about two months when I was advised to use Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. I used two bottles of it and it gave me permanent relief," writes B. W. Hill of Snow Hill, N. C. For sale by all dealers.

Ten Big Shows at Carnival

Only words of commendation are heard for the big attractions of the Lachman-Lewis carnival company and it is gratifying to note that the shows are enjoying a lively patronage. When the committee contracted with these shows it was only after representatives had inspected them all and pronounced them clean and meritorious. The shows are brilliantly illuminated at night and present a pretty picture. The big animal show is declared to be one of the feature attractions of the celebration and when the young lady enters the lion's cage and fearlessly does her "turn" the audience holds its breath in suspense.

The big minstrel show is giving the best of satisfaction as is the trained pony, heralded as the most intelligent animal on exhibition. There are seven other big shows not counting the Ferris wheel, merry-go-round and other amusing concessions. Those who miss these shows will deny themselves a treat.—Lawton News-Star.

Mothers! Have Your Children Worms?

Are they feverish, restless, nervous, irritable, dizzy or constipated? Do they continually pick their nose or grind their teeth? Have they cramping pains, irregular and ravenous appetite? These are all signs of worms. Worms not only cause your child suffering but stunt its mind and growth. Give "Kickapoo Worm Killer" at once. It kills and removes the worm, improves your child's appetite, regulates stomach, liver and bowels. The symptoms disappear and your child is made happy and healthy, as nature intended. All druggists or by mail, 25c.

Teach the Girls Home Making.

A girl who cannot cook the food she eats, who cannot make even her simplest garments, who cannot wash and iron them, and who does not know anything about what to do in a sick room, should not consider herself a candidate for matrimony. She is cheating the man she marries and laying up heartaches for herself.

God intended women to be home-makers and we are robbing the girls when we do not provide suitable training for their life work.

Give the girls a literary education and add accomplishments if you like, but should they be allowed to crowd out the really necessary training for her life work? Domestic science can be made as interesting to girls as the practical studies and shop work are to boys in their schools.

Why is not the science of bread-making as interesting to a girl as memorizing the distance of the heavenly bodies from the sun? Would not the members of her family enjoy eating one of her fragrant loaves quite as much as they would see her "do a sum" in algebra? Would she be any less a "lady" because she knew how to take a sick child's temperature?—Mrs. James H. Henley in the Progressive Farmer.

His Little Boy's Pistol

By THOMAS R. DUNN

This happened some thirty years ago. Manners in the far west are better now than they were then. Indeed, they are as civilized there as anywhere else.

A stagecoach drew up in front of a tavern in a small town where gun law was the only law on the statute book. But even that was an unwritten law, for there was no statute books to write it in. A young man, dressed in the ordinary business costume of New York or Chicago or Philadelphia or any other eastern city, got out of the coach with the other passengers and went into the tavern. He asked if there were any letters for him. The landlord handed him one. He read it and hunted through his pockets for his cigar case. Not finding it at once, he took out seven articles while making the search, among them a small pistol.

Several men, denizens of the country, were lounging about, among them a red faced man with a stubble beard and as many scars on his face as a German student member of a duelling corps. This man caught sight of the new arrival's pistol, and it at once excited his interest.

"Lemme see that, stranger," he said. The young man handed him the pistol, and he looked it over with evident pleasure and amusement.

"Party, isn't it?" he remarked. He continued to examine it, cocking and uncocking it. Meanwhile the stranger found his cigar case and, leaning a chair up on its hind legs against the wall, sat down on it, resting his heels on the front round and, lighting a cigar, smoked.

"What do you do with it?" inquired the red faced man.

The stranger smoked on without making any reply. His sang froid excited the attention of the bystanders, who commenced to move uneasily away. The man who asked the question was Scar Joe, so called from the traces of his many fights. He was not used to asking questions and receiving no reply. He cast a single glance at the stranger and went on cocking and uncocking the revolver.

"Goin' to make a birthday gift of it to your little boy?" he asked. Still no reply.

"Will it shoot?" persisted Scar Joe. This third question eliciting no reply, the westerner took a quick aim at the stranger's cigar and fired, and cigar and sparks left the smoker's lips.

He didn't turn pale. He didn't look at Scar Joe reproachfully or fearfully or any other way. He didn't look at him at all. He simply took out another cigar, lit it and went on smoking.

"Doesn't shoot, don't it? Shoots party straight, don't it? I wonder if I could do it again?"

He fired a second shot with like results. The stranger remained as imperturbable as before, taking out another cigar and lighting it with as little apparent objection to this waste of cigars as if he were loaded down with them. Again Scar Joe sent it flying amid a shower of sparks.

"Stranger," said the smoker in a soft voice, "you're one of the best shots I ever saw. That pistol I've brought from the east as a present for my wife. I've got another for my little girl that I'll bet you can't hit a silver dollar with at ten yards."

"Lemme see it."

The stranger thrust his right hand into his trousers pocket and grasped something that he drew out so clutched in his fist that it was not easy to discern what it was. One of the lookers on with better or quicker sight than the others, seemed to get on to something about to happen, for he ducked under a table. The stranger reached the thing out to his tormentor. It exploded, and Scar Joe staggered backward, at the same time putting his hand to his hip. The something in the stranger's fist exploded again, and the westerner fell dead.

One would naturally suppose that those present would be chiefly interested in the fallen man. So they were till they were convinced that he had received his last scar. Then all of a sudden their minds concentrated on the thing in the stranger's hands that had done the work. All eyes turned toward him curiously. He had returned the explosive thing to his pocket.

"Landlord," he said, "I'd like something to eat before I go. My wife writes me that she'll send a team for me to be here at 2. It's now 1. I've just time for dinner."

"I say, stranger," said one present, "would you mind lettin' us see what that was you shot him with?"

"I know what it is," said the man who had sought safety under the table. "It's a bulldog. I seen 'em before. They're the ugliest weapon at short range they is goin'."

The stranger took out a short, thick pistol with a very stocky barrel and allowed the party to examine it.

"Was 'o'her one really a gift for your wife?" asked one.

"Certainly. When I was called east she asked me to bring her a revolver suitable for a woman."

While the stranger was dining the body of his victim was being removed. When his team arrived and he was driving away one of the crowd who had gathered to see him off cried out:

"Much obliged for gettin' rid of Scar Joe. He was gittin' to be a nuisance."

On the identical spot where this episode happened there is now a handsome hotel, lighted by electricity and having all the modern improvements.

HEALTHY LIVER MAKES BEAUTY

Famous Actress Finds that a Healthy Liver is Necessary to Good Looks and Youthfulness

One of the best known women on the American stage is writing a series of articles on the preservation of beauty. She attaches great importance to keeping the liver active at all times, and she is right. Neither good looks nor happiness will stay long with any man or woman who lets the liver get lazy and sluggish.

It is not always safe to take calomel, the old liver remedy. Doctors agree that it is a very uncertain drug. But the Corner Drug Store has a remedy for sale that they guarantee to take the place of calomel absolutely, and still be harmless, causing no restriction of habit or diet. This remedy is Dodson's Liver Tone.

Dodson's Liver Tone is a pleasant tasting vegetable liquid, but it starts the liver gently and surely and relieves constipation and biliousness so promptly that it has become a dependable remedy in thousands of homes in the United States. There are scores of families in this vicinity who will not be without it in the house and who would not think of starting on a trip without a bottle of it.

Clean-Up Day.

By Mrs. E. P. Turner.

During the summer months there should be a clean-up day as often as is necessary to keep the premises in a tidy condition, and it may keep the doctor and perhaps the undertaker from visiting the home. Decaying vegetation and filth are the harbinger of death and should not be permitted to foul the atmosphere, breed pestilence and endanger life.

There should be as much pride in keeping the premises clean as is taken in one's personal appearance. It has been well said that cleanliness is next to godliness, and they are almost inseparable companions.

No person can find a more joyful employment than in waging warfare against the enemies of health, and certainly no more profitable occupation can be secured.

Commercial Clubs and community organizations can serve the people no better than by designating clean-up days, and spreading abroad the spirit of cleanliness. Organized sanitation is the greatest asset a community can possess.

Good Reason For His Enthusiasm
When a man has suffered for several days with colic, diarrhoea or other form of bowel complaint and is then cured sound and well by one or two doses of Chamberlain's Colic, cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, as is often the case, it is but natural that he should be enthusiastic in his praise of the remedy, and especially is this the case of a severe attack when life is threatened. Try it when in need of such a remedy. It never fails. Sold by all dealers.

So Many People Die of Blood Poison

A little scratch on the hand, a splinter, or small abrasion of the skin is often fatal, because the poisonous germs start the infection. That's where Hunt's Lightning Oil comes in handy as an application on the abrasion, kills all germs which may have lodged there, thereby preventing infection and death. It pays to keep this remedy in the home, especially where there are children. All drug stores in 25 and 50c bottles.

Young Friend.
They Have Solved the Salary Question. Read How They Did It: I quit work as a day laborer at $1.25 per day, entered the Tyler Commercial College, and in a few months time I was working for the same man at $85 per month in his office with splendid promotion ahead. You can make no mistake in attending this college. S. T. Glem, Stenographer and Clerk, Santa Fe Ry. Co. Am now in San Francisco serving as stenographer for Uncle Sam. Tell the boys to come on. It's easy and the salary good. Ernest Bethel. Don't be afraid to try. You can always get a position. I am getting $75 per month and have paid all I owe and have a nice bank account.—Fannie McDonald. Immediately after graduating in the T. C. C. I secured a good position which I still hold, paying me every month a good deal more than the entire cost of my course at your school.—Errett R. Newby, Secretary University of Oklahoma. I accepted a $75 position with the Rock Island Road at El Dorado, secured by the T. C. C. During the two years I was with the road I was promoted and at the end of the two years I had a handsome bank account. I owe all my success to the grand T. C. C. They work three operators at this station and the work is heavy. There are ten positions waiting for every operator you can turn out.—J. W. Formay. My salary is now $100 per month. The course in your school more than doubled my earning capacity.—E. E. Clark, Houston, Texas. I entered the T. C. C. an orphan girl from Illinois. Upon graduation the college immediately placed me in a good position where I earn a nice salary and also mastered music, an accomplishment I have always longed for.—Miss Laura Collins, Dallas, Texas. I have a good position with the A. T. & S. F. My brother is with the Missouri Pacific at Pittsburg, Kans. Best wishes for the T. C. C.—J. H. Keele, Houston, Miss. We could go on and quote you hundreds that have solved the salary question in this satisfactory manner. The above are records made soon after leaving school. If we were to give you records of those who had been out of school four of five years, you would hardly believe their wonderful increased earning capacity obtained while attending our school. It is solving the salary question in this satisfactory manner with practically every student who enters our institution, that makes it necessary for us to now erect another large three-story building to accommodate the large attendance that will be with us this fall.

We started out at the beginning of 1913 to enroll 2000 students during the year. We made 999 new enrollments during the first six months.

As the best part of the year is ahead of us we feel that we are sure to make the 2000 enrollments. We not only hope to make the 2000 enrollments but to place every graduate in a good position. We haven't a graduate that we know of at present who has been out of a position over ten days. Write for our large free catalog. Read what the young people say who have taken our course and read what their employers say of their ability. Then enter America's largest business training school from which you can graduate into a good paying position. Tyler Commercial College, Tyler, Texas.

Minister Praises this Laxative.
Rev. H. Stubenvoll of Allison, Ia., in praising Dr. King's New Life Pills for constipation writes: Dr. King's New Life Pills are such perfect pills no home should be without them." No better regulator for the bowels. Every pill guaranteed. Try them. Price 25c.

THE SMALL TOWN MERCHANT SHOULD ADVERTISE.
No store is so small or town so insignificant that it does not pay the merchant to advertise. He should send a weekly message into the homes of the people in his trade territory. They are all interested in bargains and consistent and conscientious advertising cannot fail to pay for itself over and over again during the year.

The country merchant oftentimes takes it for granted the people know his line of goods and will come to the old stand to make their purchases but the wise merchant knows that business follows an ad. The merchant who not advertise cannot do business in competition with one who does advertise. No business is so small that a merchant cannot afford to take a half page or a page ad the year around. Try it and watch your business grow.

Defense Made by Colquitt
Austin, Texas, August 1.—Governor Colquitt today addressed both branches of the Legislature making practically the same speech in each.
"He spoke on what he called an erroneous idea that the governor and the legislature are at 'loggerheads.'
"Speaking of his Fort Worth address, the governor said that if he had made any mistakes he was willing to correct them.
He said that some of his remarks were wrongly quoted and that he had not referred to this, but previous legislatures.

Scratching For Fun
We would have great sympathy for those who have to scratch continually, if there wasn't a remedy for the trouble, but as Hunt's Cure is Guaranteed to cure or money refunded, it would seem that those who scratch do so just for the fun of it. It's a special remedy for Itch, Eczema, tetter, ringworm, etc.

Man's Limitation.
Man is a pretty wise animal. He has solved many problems, and as a result he is mightily puffed up. But he has limitations. He can figure to the fraction of a second when a certain planet will cross the path of another planet— But he hasn't yet learned why birds migrate nor how they fly. He can put a lot of wheels and wire together and generate a force he calls electricity, and with it he performs wonders— But he doesn't know what electricity is, nor why it is. He can generate power at a given point, convey it hundreds of miles over a slender wire, and with it light a metropolis— But he has never been able to discover how a lightning bug or glow worm generates light without heat. He can build huge cathedrals, giant ships and immense bridges across broad and turbulent streams— But he cannot make an egg, nor explain why the inside of a watermelon is red, the outside green and the seeds black. He can navigate the ocean and is beginning to navigate the air— But he cannot stay the ocean's tides nor divert the currents of air. Just about the time he gets puffed up so big over his conquests of nature that he is just about to explode with a loud report, old Mother Nature smiles and hands him a jolt that knocks all the wind out of him. He is pretty big to be sure, but to compare what he has done with what he hasn't done is as a grain of sand to the bulk of the universe.—Bryan's Commoner.

"Ten Modern Commandments"
I will study the language of gentlemen and refuse to use words that bite and tones that crush. I will practice patience at home lest no tests temper break thru unexpectedly and disgrace me. I will remember that my neighbors have troubles enough to carry without loading mine on them. I will excuse others' faults and failures as often and fully as I expect others to be lenient with me. I will cure criticism and commendation, close up against gossip and build healthy loves by service. I will be a friend under trying tests and wear everywhere a goodwill face unchilled by aloofness. I will gloat over gain never, but amass only to enrich others and so gain a wealthy heart. I will love boy and girls so that old age will not find me stiff and sorred. I will gladden my nature by smiling out loud on every fair occasion and by outlooking optimistically. I will pray frequently, think good things of men and do a full days work without fear or favor.—Farm and Fireside.
