PROGRESSIVE BUSINESS AND CIVIC-MINDED PEOPLE OF LUBBOCK AND VICINITY

This department has been worked up largely as a reflection of public opinion. No person has written of themselves or their business. All articles have been compiled by a representative of the Abernathy Weekly Review as he saw conditions. These people are all leaders in their various lines of endeavor and the cooperation of those citizens in Lubbock who helped make this department possible is sincerely appreciated.

A. W. Mayo

In compiling this review of progressive Lubbock business men, we have endeavored to select those citizens who, by the manner in which they have conducted themselves and their businesses, have earned for them positions of leadership in their various fields of activities. Such a man is A. W. Mayo of J & J Sales, located at 4312 Southeast Drive, on the Old Slaton Road, who is well known, and has many friends and customers throughout this entire district.

Mr. Mayo's main interests have not been solely confined to his own business and private affairs, but have also included his contributions in one form or another, to those projects of a civic nature which come within the scope of his activities.

A. W. Mayo is a man of wide experience, whose exploits in the business life of Lubbock and vicinity, merits more than a passing attention, and the writer is privileged to pay this brief tribute to a man who well deserves more credit than is accorded him here.

E. N. Goodpasture

E. N. Goodpasture, representative for the Douglas-Guardian Warehouse Corporation, has won the universal respect and good will of the people of the South Plains for the progressive manner in which he has kept this reliable firm in the forefront of the business life of this entire district. Also for the efficient and friendly willingness he has displayed in accepting his share of responsibility in aiding civic projects.

Mr. Goodpasture is not the kind of man who makes himself conspicuous by the manner in which he conducts himself, either in business or other matters. Yet, his quiet reserve and air of confidence mark him as a man of sound judgment, whose opinions and advice are sought after and listened to with respect.

We compliment E. N. Goodpasture for his honest representation of the Douglas-Guardian Warehouse Corporation, and also for his constructive advice and help on those civic affairs in which he has found time to interest himself. He is a man whom many are proud to call friend.

Clyde Tatum Jr.

Most cities, if they amount to much, are man made. They do not just happen. It has been the realization of its more progressive citizens that their city must grow and prosper, and become something other than just another place on the map, that has brought results and made it possible for the city of Lubbock to be an outstanding one, and for those within it to prosper.

And Clyde G. Tatum Jr., of the Tatum Construction Company, is one of those men to whom much credit must go for playing no small part in the growth and development of the Hub City and the surrounding area.

Mr. Tatum would be the last man to mention the matter, but when the call goes forth to rally around something worthwhile for the community, he is among the first to volunteer. But his friends are outspoken in paying him this well deserved tribute, and they do so because of a thorough knowledge of his activities. Successful in his own general contracting business, Clyde Tatum Jr., is equally successful in the promotion of civic progress.

Arthur E. Miller

It is fitting in this review of progressive Lubbock business men that we acquaint our readers with the one to be credited with having maintained the Lubbock Hardware & Supply Company Incorporated in the enviable position it holds in the business and industrial life of this section of West Texas. That personality is Arthur E. Miller, whose genius for organization, and for converting new ideas into actual deeds has played a vital part in the distinctive reputation which this reliable company now enjoys throughout this entire district.

Mr. Miller has found time, in addition to his business interests, to give thought and energy to community projects. He is a citizen whose talents have been steadfastly devoted to the best interests of the city. He has been successful in his own business, and in the promotion of the general welfare of the community.

We are glad to pay this brief tribute to him, and to say that this region owes much to the many benefits which Arthur Miller and the Lubbock Hardware & Supply Company have rendered to the South Plains.

Lofton and Bill Burnette

Two of the more progressive business men of Lubbock, who deserve the respect and good will of a great many residents of the South Plains are capable, friendly, Lofton and Bill Burnette of the Colonial Shutter Company, whose wide knowledge and long experience in the custom shutter business, built to specifications, have raised them into positions of leadership in their particular vocations.

It is because of this that the Colonial Shutter Company has earned a reputation for reliability—second to none.

The Burnette's are also civic minded and have always been ready to contribute their time and energy to any plan which promises to benefit this entire district. And the people of Lubbock may regard with complete satisfaction, the many services which they have performed in the interest of progress and civic betterment.

We urge our readers to look to Lofton and Bill Burnette as dependable business men of whom we may well be proud. Their devotion to the city has been constant, and their achievements well merited. We wish for them further success.

J. L. Pipes

In paying tribute to some of the more progressive business men of Lubbock, we would be remiss in our duty should we fail to include J. L. Pipes of the Pipes Appliance Service, whose business ability is no greater than the "know-how", and professional skill which has contributed to his well-earned success in the electrical appliance repair and maintenance business.

He has also contributed generously to the welfare of the city and the community for many miles around. And his civic spirit is evidenced by the many services which he has performed, and will continue to perform in the interest of the people as a whole.

Mr. Pipes is a man of wide acquaintance, whose many friends admire and respect in him those virtues which inspire confidence and promote good feeling. And his upright business methods are a credit to his inherent sense of fair play.

We congratulate J. L. Pipes on his splendid record of service, and trust he shall continue to assist us for many years to come.

J. R. Eagan

Performing an outstanding service for the people of Lubbock and the surrounding territory, J. R. Eagan, general agent for the Life Insurance Company of The Southwest, has achieved an enviable reputation for his progressive policies of business administration. His constant study of insurance problems in relation to the protection the people both need and can afford, have been important factors in his well-earned success.

Mr. Eagan is a man of ideas, and he is as practical as he is progressive in putting those ideas to beneficial use in furthering the service his company renders to the public. His sound business judgment, and unwavering honesty are characteristics which place him in the front rank with other business leaders of the city. Yet, he is unassuming and modest in his personal contact with the people; always ready to listen to their ideas and desires. We are glad to pay tribute to conscientious citizens of this type, for it is such men as J. R. Eagan who have caused Lubbock to become recognized as the metropolitan center for this section of Texas.

D. N. "Whitey" Brooks

Recognized as one of the more dependable business men of Lubbock, D. N. "Whitey" Brooks, manager of the Peoples

Finance Company, performs a real service for the people of the city, and his contributions to civic betterment are too well known to require repetition in these columns. His personal success has been achieved in a large measure, because he never misses an opportunity to further the service his company renders to the public. A policy which has, and continues to build up good will for the Peoples Finance Company throughout this entire region.

Mr. Brooks is deserving of praise, and this brief tribute is but a just recognition for the many services which he has performed in the way of both civic and business activities. Also his reputation for the successful conduct of his business affairs is no greater than his reputation for the honest practices which characterize his every transaction.

We congratulate "Whitey" Brooks on his splendid record, and trust he shall continue to serve the people of Lubbock and vicinity.

Larry Hartwick

This portion of the South Plains has assumed its place of importance in this section of the Lone Star State because of the efforts of far-seeing business men who have helped in developing its industry, or in some manner extended the trade advantages of the locality. One of those who has taken an important part in many progressive movements is Larry Hartwick of TexLine Industries, located at Carlisle.

Mr. Hartwick has devoted his share of time and energy to the growth and development of Lubbock and this district, and it is fitting at this time that we attempt to express in a small way, our appreciation for his unselfish contributions to the general welfare of the community.

He is a man of wide acquaintance, whose many friends admire and respect in him, those virtues which inspire confidence and promote good feeling. His upright business methods are but an outward reflection of his inherent appreciation for fair practices. We congratulate Larry Hartwick on his splendid record of service, and wish him continued success.

Ray Reynolds

Lubbock has attained a prominent position in the business and industrial life of this section of West Texas because of the foresight of those men who had the ability to envision the possibilities of the community, and the trade area it serves. And a wide awake progressive man who justly should be included in this category is Ray Reynolds of the Ray Reynolds Mortgage Company.

Such men have, many times over, proven their worth to the community, both as business men and as active workers in the civic betterment and progress of the city. And Mr. Reynolds has earned the good will and respect of his fellow citizens for contributing his bit to the general welfare of the city and the people as a whole.

It is our duty to include Ray Reynolds in that group of conscientious and civic-minded men who are doing so much for Lubbock, and to express the wish that he will continue for many years to forge ahead with the success which he has enjoyed in the past.

Richard B. Rodgers

It is a privilege in this Lubbock review of progressive men and firms that have been such a great aid to the growth and development of this section of West Texas to place such a man as Richard B. Rodgers of Professional Data Incorporated on an equal plane with all others in this rank. In the past, few men have exceeded him in contributing of their time and energy to the onward progress of Lubbock and the surrounding country.

Mr. Rodgers is generally recognized as one of the more conscientious business executives in this district, and he retains that distinction in the admiration and respect of his wide circle of friends. Also his interest in, and the very valuable assistance he has rendered to the many projects of a civic nature, reflect the principles which he has always so successfully applied to his business affairs.

We congratulate Richard Rodgers on his record, and sincerely hope that his career will be as useful, and completely successful in the years ahead as it has been in the past.

Liz Harmon

Liz Harmon is one of the more successful restaurant operators of Lubbock who, by maintaining a constant standard of service and high quality foods, has made Liz's Steak House one of the more popular eating places in the community. We are glad to give her credit for her well-earned success in a field which is so highly competitive.

It is also a pleasure to give her credit for taking part in community affairs, and lending her assistance to various activities and public projects. When to take part in such matters, she always does so with ostentation, but in a quiet manner which lends dignity to her cheerful acceptance of her share of the civic load. It is a pleasure to be associated in the promotion of community activities with such an individual as Miss Harmon.

This review of progressive and civic-minded people of Lubbock would not be complete were we to fail to include Liz Harmon. Hers is the kind of success which deserves recognition, and we wish her many more years of the same.

Dwain Lane

It is a well known fact that a man's true character must come through in his work; whether in business or professional activities, or in public life. So when a man conducts himself in such a manner as to cause the public to recognize in him certain qualities, over and above the average, he is deserving of a few words of praise. Such a personality is Dwain Lane, a leader in the business and commercial life of this section of the South Plains.

In addition to being one of the city's more dependable ditching and dirt contractors, Mr. Lane was never a man to shirk his civic duties. More than that, he enters cheerfully and with enthusiasm and optimism into those civic affairs in which he has time to take a part. And seldom does he fail to find time to do his share.

Dwain Lane deserves his share of credit for being one of those progressive citizens of Lubbock who has contributed substantially to the onward progress of the city. It is a pleasure to include him in this group.

Charles W. Mock

In critical times such as these, it takes business men of more than average ability to carry on their operations successfully. In making this statement, the man we have in mind is one of Lubbock's more dependable insurance counselors, Charles W. Mock, supervisor for the Standard Life & Accident Insurance Company, who has a wide circle of friends and policy holders scattered throughout this entire region—many of whom reside in our own community.

His contagious optimism and freely expressed belief in the assured future prosperity of the people of Lubbock and its metropolitan trading area, are characteristics which are to be appreciated in a progressive business executive. He has always taken an interest in community affairs, and has shown a willingness to shoulder his share of the civic load.

It is such men as Charles Mock who, because of the successful conduct of their business and private affairs, and their eagerness to contribute to the public good, who are wholly deserving of a few words of commendation. It is a pleasure to pay him this brief tribute.

Lloyd Lanotte

It is not always the kind of business which determines its importance to the commu-

ity. But, more or less, the methods used in its management. The services rendered to the public. And the manner in which it meets both business and civic obligations.

The cheerfulness of the entire personnel of TIME Freight Incorporated, in their contacts with the public. AND SEE BUSINESSMEN, P. 3

 the ready acceptance of all business responsibilities by Loyd Lanotte, President, proves conclusively that he is a man who is well-versed in the principles of successful business management.

As most people know, this firm is a leader in their line of business. This is partly so because of their long experience, but also because of a never ending policy of keeping abreast of the times in their particular field.

It is a pleasure to compliment Loyd Lanotte for the successful operation and management of TIME Freight Incorporated, and for his many contributions to those civic projects aiding in the growth and development of Lubbock and the adjacent territory.

Mr. Pearson is that solid type of citizen whose fairness and friendliness, and sincere desire to be of service are accountable for a large measure of his success. And as time goes on, his personal interests have become more closely intertwined with the business and civic affairs of the city. As a result he has, quite naturally, become accepted as a man who can be called upon, and who will cheerfully do his part to further the development of those community activities to which he is best fitted to lend assistance.

Charles E. Pearson

In mentioning some of those men who are taking a progressive part in the evolution of the business life of Lubbock, we would be censored if we failed to include Charles E. Pearson, West Texas Division Vice President of Piggly-Wiggly Super Markets.

M. R. "Gib" Gibson

It isn't the size or volume of a man's business which determines its value to the community in which he lives. But rather by the manner in which it is conducted. Which, to a greater or lesser degree, reflects the personality and character of the individual the value of M. E. "Gib" Gibson's business to the Hub City is a reflection of his dependability, and a determination to render the utmost in service, a policy which has caused the Airway Sprayers & Duster Company, now located at 5301 44th Street, to be so well thought of, and so widely patronized by the farmers throughout the South Plains.

That same progressiveness and ability which has made him so successful in his won business has also fitted Mr. Gibson to be of assistance on community projects and public drives. Moreover, he does so cheerfully, and with a friendly spirit of cooperation that is always more than welcome. It is a pleasure to include "Gib" Gibson in this Lubbock review, and to wish him further success in the crop spraying and dusting business.

Mrs. M. H. Rankin stopped in Lubbock on her way home to visit in the home of her son, Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Rankin and family. Their two year old son Rory had a double hernia operation April 14. He was home and doing fine.
