Indians Open District Play Here 7:30 Friday

By BILL COMEDY
Our Haskell Indians showed the Olney Cubs how to play football Friday night as they downed the Cubs 32-3 in perfect football weather. A touch of winter was in the air, but the wind died down enough that the fans could enjoy the game, and a big crowd from Haskell journeyed over, as they have all season, to boost the tribe.
First period was a bang-up ballgame, as both teams were playing heads-up defense. Each team managed to pick-up only two first downs during the first quarter. The Indians lost the ball once on a fumble.
The second quarter started off a little different. The Cubs managed to get to the 9-yard line but lost ground back to the 12 on fourth down, a 22-yard field goal by Frank Bailey put the Cubs ahead 3-0 with 10:19 left in the period. Then came an instant replay of last week's game. The Cubs kicked off: a hand-off on the kickoff to Charlie Franklin; and ... away he went! He covered 85 yards and hit paydirt. Randy Stone's kick made the extra point, putting the Indians ahead 7-3. Five minutes later and ten plays more into the game, Franklin went over from the 1-yard line for his second TD. Stone's kick was good. This touchdown was set up after Wayne Davis re-

OUTSTANDING ARTWORK is just one of the things that is developed by being an active participant in activities at Haskell High School, and we felt it needed recognition. The cheerleaders, sponsored by Mrs. McCollum, are the ones who paint these beautiful signs to boost our Indians to victory each Friday night, but they always have able help from other students, and the players themselves. Gary Cobb, 28, breaks through this one, which reads, "Indians, Better Than Best."

Council Conducts Lengthy Session

The City Council "burned midnight oil" Tuesday, as the session got underway at 7:30 p. m., and adjourned at midnight. A large number of items were up for discussion.
In addition to routine business, including reading of the minutes of the last regular meeting; presenting and approval of bills, etc., the Planning and Zoning Committee met with the council concerning the proposed project, J. T. Dunkin, a representative of Springer and Associates, of Dallas, who has been working with the Haskell Planning and Zoning Commission for the past several weeks, and Loraine Johnson, chairman of the committee, said that further information concerning the program would be forthcoming in the near future.

Royce Adkins, Chairman Girl Scout Fund Drive, "Kicks-Off" Campaign

Royce Adkins, chairman of the 1970 Girl Scout Fund Drive, kicked off the two weeks drive Tuesday at Felker's Cafe.
Funds raised locally will support the Brownie, Junior and Cadette Girl Scouts in Haskell.
Of each dollar collected, 87 cents is spent on program services. The council offers a wide variety of training events throughout the year. It takes year around planning to offer the girls a wide variety of activities in troops and camps.
In addition to training and program planning, the council provides a council-wide public relations program, leader consultation services, and membership records for girls.
Twelve cents of each dollar collected is spent for maintenance and general expenses. These services include board and committee meetings, accounting, budgeting and structure studies.
Only one cent out of each dollar is used for fund raising to support the council activities, Camp Boothe Oaks and special Girl Scout projects.
It is hard to put a price tag on Girl Scouting, but our community has been asked to raise $1,200 to support the local program.
There is a lot of talk about "caring" and "getting involved." Put these words into action by supporting the youth of Haskell.
Give generously to the Girl Scouts. Do it now.

The Pinkerton Baptist Church Ordains Pastor

Rev. Harvel D. Adkinson, senior ministerial student at Hardin-Simmons University, and pastor of the Pinkerton Baptist Church since March, 1970, was ordained as a minister of the Gospel in an ordination service on Sunday afternoon, October 11, in the Pinkerton Baptist Church, Rule.

Rev. H. B. Terry, pastor of the Temple Baptist Church, Abilene, and former pastor of the Adkinson's, served as moderator and invited visiting Baptist deacons and pastors to sit on council chaired by Rev. Leonard Malone, pastor, First Baptist Church of Rule.

Haskell Stone, chairman of deacons, presented Rev. Adkinson as candidate for ordination. Rev. Walter Copeland, retired Baptist minister, Haskell, led the examination and invited questions by the council. On vote of council and church the service continued with special ordination prayer by Rev. Adkinson's father, Arthur L. Adkinson, of Spearman, followed by laying on of hands by the Council.

Haskell Stone made presentation of a Bible from the church to Rev. Adkinson.

Songs during the service were directed by John C. Crawford, of Abilene, who assisted David Walker and Sue Bratton, also from Abilene, in rendering special music.

In the ordination sermon, Rev. Terry used selected scriptures from the first chapter of John and the book of Timothy to show the example that John the Baptist and the Apostle Paul set as true God called, spirit filled dynamic preachers of the Word.

In closing he charged the candidate to be strong, be faithful to God, the Bible, and the church; to study diligently, wait on God for power, and remember the promise of the presence of God always.

The hand of encouragement was given Rev. and Mrs. Adkinson by friends, relatives and visitors present.

Ladies of the church served refreshments during the fellowship hour following the service.

Brush Control Field Day Slated October 22nd On Pitchfork Ranch

A Brush Control Research Field Day will be conducted by Texas A&M University personnel on Thursday, October 22, from 9 a. m. to 4 p. m., at the Pitchfork Ranch, located 17 miles east of Dickens on U. S. 82. Tours will be conducted from 9 to 11:30 a. m. and will also include the neighboring Four 6's Ranch.

Ranchmen, farmers, landowners, aerial and mechanical contractors and representatives of commercial companies interested in the latest developments in the fight against brush are urged to attend, announces Charles E. Fisher of Lubbock, professor in charge of brush control field research for Texas A&M. Runways are available at both ranches for visitors who plan to fly in.

On the morning tours, visitors will be able to view and hear discussions on the latest developments in field tested chemical and mechanical control of mesquite and associated shrubs on field research plots. Discussions will include the most effective and economical rates of 2,4-D, 2,4,5-T, picloram, dicamba and promising combinations of these chemicals for control of mesquite, sand shiner, lotebush, prickly pear and choice of brush control methods and benefits to be derived. Field day visitors will also have opportunity to see different types of chemical and mechanical equipment, both commercial and experimental, that is being used in brush control.

The afternoon program will begin at 1:30 p. m., following a catered lunch at the Pitchfork Ranch Headquarters, adds Fisher. Dr. L. S. Pope, associate dean of agriculture at Texas A&M, will discuss "The Future of the Range Livestock Industry on a Strong Brush Control and Range Improvement Program." John Matthews, chairman of the Brush Control and Range Improvement Association (BCRIA) will talk about "The Aims, Objectives, Accomplishments and Needs of the BCRIA in Promoting a Sound Brush Control Program in Texas."

Fisher will talk on "The Scope, Major Developments and Needs of Brush Control Field Research" while Dr. C. L. Leinweber, head of Texas A&M's Department of Range Science, and Dr. Rod Bovey, with the USDA Agricultural Research Service at Texas A&M, will jointly discuss "Basic and Fundamental Research in Brush Control." Carolyn Hoffman, brush and weed control specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, will round out the program with a discussion on "Demonstration Results in South and West Texas."

and Extension Service in cooperation with ranchmen, the USDA Agricultural Research Service and Soil Conservation Service, BCRIA, chemical companies, aerial and mechanical contractors and others.

Brush control studies have been conducted at the Pitchfork and Four 6's Ranches since 1949, points out Fisher. These studies as well as others at 29 locations in the state are conducted by Texas A&M's Agricultural Experiment Station

Mrs. Ruby Smith Will Be Delegate To American Cancer Society Meet

Mrs. Ruby Smith, delegate, will represent the Haskell County Unit of the American Cancer Society at the 25th Division Annual Meeting of the Society, October 21-22, at the Sheraton Fort Worth Hotel, Fort Worth. Mrs. Smith is the Memorial Secretary of the Haskell County Unit of the A.C.S. Alternate delegates are Mrs. M. Price and Mrs. Ed Hester.

According to Mr. Forrest Tippen, Abilene, Texas, District Director, Mrs. Smith will join more than 300 Texas Delegates during the two-day session.

The meeting will begin with a board and membership orientation followed by group sessions for Service and Rehabilitation, Public and Professional Education, Campaign and Public Information. Richard T. Lyons, Houston, Chairman of the Board of the Texas Division, said the sessions are designed to help the volunteer leadership to expand programs wherever they live.

Delegates will review the progress made in cancer control during the past 25 years, including the Society's stepped-up emphasis on clinical research, a new program concerned with the prevention, diagnosis and management of cancer in man. The purpose of the new clinical research program is to speed scientific findings to the patient. The National Society awarded over $20,000,000 in research grants last year—with over $1,600,000 in Texas institutions.

Ord, California for basic training. Jack flew to Haskell in his private plane and picked-up Larry to take him back to Amarillo, where in turn Larry boarded a plane for Fort Ord.

People may doubt what you say, but they will always believe what you do.

Following the showing of the new 1970 car models, I heard a fellow say: "That big car of our friend's surely is kicking up a lot of dust." "No wonder," said the other... "It's dragging a mortgage on a quarter section of land."

The gracious art of receiving is more difficult to learn than that of giving. This may seem like a peculiar observation because all of our lives we have been taught that "it is more blessed to give than to receive."

Perhaps this is the very reason we spoil many a gift by our inability to accept it graciously. Take so simple a gift as a sincere compliment. If I were to tell you that you are looking especially attractive today, could you smile and say, "Thank you, I am glad you like the color of this suit I chose."

Or would you proceed to tell me that you really feel terrible and you don't know why you chose this horrible colored suit, it does nothing for you.

When I give a compliment, it is because I wish to make you happy. If you feel it necessary to show me how unobserving I am, you are throwing my gift of happiness back in my face.

To be able to accept a gift with gratitude is just another form of giving...and one we all need to practice.

Haskell Countians Are Well Aware That U. S.-Japanese Trade Extensive

Haskell County, Texas residents are well aware that U. S.-Japanese trade is extensive. Manford Reid, Chairman of the Haskell County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation (ASC) Committee, commented recently.

"Almost everyone recognizes that Americans are important customers for Japanese goods. I wonder how many of us realize that the Japanese are major customers for American goods, especially for American farm commodities.

"In fact, Japan imports more U. S. agricultural products than any other country in the world—a record of $1.1 billion worth during the 1970 fiscal year," Reid said.

He pointed out that feed grains, wheat and cotton, are important farm crops in Haskell County and that exportation of these farm products to Japan have gone up dramatically in recent years.

More than six million tons of feed grains were shipped to Japan last fiscal year—just about one-third of U. S. feed grain exports. Soybean exports to Japan had a 251 million dollar value, and wheat exports $136 million. Japan is our best cotton customer, taking one-fourth of its cotton from the U. S. and Japan bought $50 million worth of tobacco from the U. S. during the last fiscal year.

The ASC Committee Chairman reported that Secretary of Agriculture, Clifford M. Hardin recently took note of the American-Japanese trade story, calling it unprecedented.

Secretary Hardin also said: "The Japanese economy has paralleled that nation's growth in trade. In the years between 1960 and 1965, Japanese shipments in world trade more than doubled. By 1969, they had almost doubled again, reaching $16 billion. Shipments to the United States increased in those nine years by more than four times—$4.9 billion.

"The Japanese householder's disposable income has more than tripled since 1960. His demand for meat, milk, and eggs—a good 'horseback' measure of consumer prosperity—has increased by more than four times in 15 years.

"He is diversifying his eating habits as his income goes up. For example, per person consumption of wheat flour in this traditionally rice-eating society has increased by 30 percent in a decade and a half.

"Ten years ago, Japan's agricultural imports from the U. S. were $440 million. In the fiscal year just past, they were more than twice as great—nearly $1.1 billion.

"But the agricultural exports are only one aspect of a beneficial trading relationship that can be summarized very simply: In terms of total exports, the United States is Japan's best customer, and Japan is the United States' best off-shore customer.

"As you might expect, two-thirds of U. S. shipments to Japan last year were raw materials, mineral fuels, and foodstuffs, while 90 percent of Japan's shipments to the U. S. were manufactured goods.

"This is the basis of beneficial world trade—an exchange of goods based primarily on production efficiency.

"It is this principle that led Japan to look to efficient producers on the broad farmlands for the feed grains needed to satisfy its people's rising demand for livestock products. "As a result, imported feed grains have triggered a rapid expansion of Japanese livestock production. This has brought Japanese consumers more meat and poultry at better prices; it has opened opportunities for Japanese farmers for new and profitable livestock enterprises; it has meant an important and expanding feed grain market for world agriculture.

"Almost the whole range of U. S. farm commodities finds Japan a leading customer. "Japan wants, needs, and can afford these products, and the U. S. can supply them in any system of international trade in which price, quality, and availability are the primary factors.

"In a world of competition, export expansion means salesmanship and service as well as price, quality and availability. The producers and marketers of the major U. S. agricultural products have understood this, and they support some 68 private trade organizations formed to develop markets overseas in cooperation with the Department of Agriculture. This is, of course, a mutual effort—with many strong Japanese organizations bringing to it their special knowledge, their special abilities.

In closing, Agriculture Secretary Hardin gave special recognition to the trade organizations for the three commodities which last year accounted for two-thirds of total U. S. agricultural exports to Japan—feed grains, soybeans and wheat.

"At a luncheon sponsored by the National Grain and Feed Association, Washington, D. C. September 15, 1970.

The commanders of Dyess Air Force Base (located just west of Abilene) would like to extend a cordial invitation to everyone within a 200-mile radius of the base for a day of free entertainment and a dramatic display of the nation's aerial might.

The gates to the 5,000 acre Strategic Air Command base will be opened to the general public at 10 a. m., Saturday, October 17.

The featured events of the day will be the Thunderbirds, the official U. S. Air Force Aerial Demonstration Squadron, and the U. S. Army Parachute Team, the Golden Knights.

In addition to the Thunderbirds and Knights, the 516th Tactical Airlift Wing, a tenant unit at Dyess, will demonstrate various means of cargo delivery. The Second Air Force Band from Barksdale AFB, Louisiana, will provide musical entertainment.

And, especially for the kids, a "Mini-chute" parachute jump promises to be a memorable happening.

In addition to the already mentioned events and features, there will be a variety of static displays including strategic, tactical and training aircraft. There will also be displays of jet engines, various types of fire-fighting equipment and survival equipment.

"Conservation Of Our Land And Water Doesn't Cost, It Pays"

"Conservation of our land and water doesn't cost, it pays." This certainly must be true as the amounts of conservation accomplishments keeps increasing every season, says Harry G. Koehler, Conservation Technician, Soil Conservation Service, Haskell.

Koehler stated that the following farmers and ranchers of the Haskell area and surrounding communities that are cooperating with the California Creek Soil and Water Conservation District have completed installation of these practices: R. G. Walton, 56,140 feet of parallel terraces; Lynn Pace, 33,125 feet of parallel terraces; Glenn Merchar, 102,300 feet of parallel terraces. Merchar also completed the shaping of a ten-acre waterway to be graded to Western Wheatgrass in the near future. Farm and ranch ponds for livestock water have been constructed on the farms of Otto Wittenborn, M. E. Overton, Leonard Weise, Mrs. Noah Lane, Edgar Quade, Joe A. Clark, Bobby Tidwell, Tom B. Robertson, Charles Swinson and Glen R. Mabry.

News from Rule

MRS. DALE LEWIS

Crawford Allison Accepted At UTMB

It has been announced by the University of Texas Medical Branch at Galveston that Dale Crawford Allison, son of Mr. and Mrs. Desmond Allison of Rule, has been accepted for admission to the freshman class of 1970-71.

Allison will be among 174 new medical students who will receive training under a newly instituted curriculum which will allow the student more freedom in course selection, and a possible earlier goal attainment than has been previously feasible, according to Dr. Joseph M. White, vice-president for academic affairs and dean of medicine.

Dr. White added that the faculty will evaluate the student's accomplishments in realistic ways after each course of instruction, requiring less that he perform in a stereotyped fashion than that he accomplish the stated objectives of his particular goal in medicine. This approach will allow the granting of advanced standing based on recommendation by the teachers responsible for instruction in a particular area of learning.

Within four weeks as a freshman, Mr. Allison will be seeing patients. The standard curriculum will consist of a basic science core with time at the end of the medical school training for compulsory electives.

The UTMB is rated sixth largest in the nation, and has a full and part-time faculty of 460 and facilities for more than 1,200 patients. It carries a roster of 267 interns and residents and has a total medical school enrollment of 622.

Allison received his BA degree last spring from the University of Texas at Austin, graduating with honors in Zoology. He is a member of Phi Eta Sigma and Alpha Epsilon Delta.
