WILLIAMS AT BOYS STATE THIS WEEK

Hale County - Abernathy, Texas - Lubbock County

Claudy Williams, Jr., Abernathy's 1967 American Legion Boys State delegate as well as the seventeen-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Claudy E. Williams, Sr., arrived on the cam-pus of the University of Texas at approximately 4:00 P.M. Saturday, June 10.

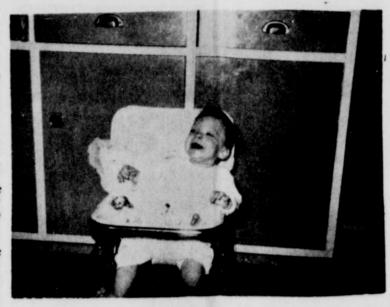

The 1967 Lone Star Boys State officially got underway Sunday morning when the more than 700 boys attending Boys State met together for church services. Sunday afternoon the boys were divided into two political parties, the "Longhorns" and "Pioneers". Also, precinct and county convention were held Sunday afternoon.

Throughout the remainder of the week the Boys Staters will be functioning exactly like an actual state government. Campaigns, primary elections, and final elections have been completed, and Thursday, inaugura-tion ceremonies will be conducted by Robert W. Calvert, chief justice of the supreme court of

In addition to the political scene at Boys State, several activities other than politics are being held. Several of the boys are editing and publishing Boys State's daily newspaper, "The Lone Star Stater". Other boys are participating in the Boys State Band, the Boys State Annual Staff, or the widely varied Boys State athletic program.

Claudy, who is being sponsored by American Legion Post sored by American Legion Post No. 500 of Abernathy, will arrive back in Lubbock along with the rest of the Boys Staters from this area at approximately 5:30 P. M. Saturday, June 17.

CHARLES C. BOYD FT. BLISS, TEX. (AHTNC) -- Charles C. Boyd, 22, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph C. Boyd, Petersburg, Tex., was promoted to Army private pay grade E-2 upon completion of basic combat training at Ft. Bliss,

Tex., May 19. The promotion was awarded two months earlier than is customary under an Army policy providing incentive for outstanding trainees.

As many as half the trainees in each training cycle are eligible for the early prometion, based on scores attained during range firing, high score on the physical combat proficiency test, military bearing and leadership potential.

During advanced individual training, also of eight weeks duration, those who received early advancement to E-2 may may be eligible for another "accelerated" promotion, to E-3 (private first class). (U.S. Army Photo)

Cotton Growers Eye Research Aid

The Research committee of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., is recommending that the 23-county cotton producer organization in 1967 provide grants-in-aid totaling $32,200 to help carry out 12 research projects on High Plains Cotton production, according to Don Jones, committee chairman.

The committee's recommendations already have been approved by PCG's Finance Committee and will be considered later this month by the oganization's full 48man board. THE RRESEARCH Committee will recommend that a major portion of the funds, $23,800, be spent on the development and evaluation of improved varieties and strains of cotton adapted to High Plains conditions and on cotton disease and weed control research. Other studies the committee felt should get financial help include conservation and utilization of rainfall and irrigation water, various methods of modifying the cotton plant for adaption to the low temperatures sometimes prevailing on the Plains, soi! fertility and the influence of planting designs and climatic conditions on cotton fiber development.

Established research institutions sharing in the grants will be the South Plains Research and Extension Center at Lubbock, the Texas Agricu'tural Experiment Station at Bushland, the High Plains Research Foundation at Halfway and Texas Technologica

HemisFair Sets Ticket Kickoff

Public sale of reduced-price general admission tickets to the 1968 Texas World's Fair in San Antonio will start July 1.

JAMES M. GAINES, chief exe cutive officer of HemisFair 1968, said that early purchasers will benefit from substantial discounts from the gate price of $2 for adults and $1 for children.

HemisFair will run from April 6 to Oct. 6, 1968. Seventeen governments have already indicated that they will participate, and the industrial exhibitors include such corporations as General Motors, Ford, Humble Oil, I.B.M., General Electric, Bell Telephone, Coca-Cola and Pepsi Co. Thirty foreign governments and 35 industrial exhibitors are expected. Bulk distribution of tickets to wholesale purchasers started May

Single admission tickets will be priced at $1.60 during the first discount period. Also going on public sale July 1 will be a 20-admission pass, which will retail at $1.30 per admission. This highly flexible ticket can be used by the holder 20 times, by a group of 20 adults, by one adult and 38 children, or any combination thereof. This ticket is also transferable.

HemisFair, Gaines Explained. does not have the necessary facilities to handle the enormous job of selling advance tickets to the general public. Selected distributors will make the lickets widely available to the public and to their employees.

Wholesale distributors and the public are encouraged to purchase tickets early, when the greatest discounts will be available. Prices will increase on Oct. 1 and again on Jan. 1.

The bride wore a formal length sheath bell gown of peau de soie designed with a bateau neck line and bracelet length sleeves. The fitted bodice accented with chantilly lace motifs and seed pearls had a detachable chapel train flowing from the center back waist line. The head piece of tulle petal clusters accented by tiny chantilly lace motifs held a tiered veil of imported silk illusion.

Mrs. Gene Stephens, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. She wore a formal length dress of sheer lined organiza featuring a bateau neck-line extending into a deep V in back from which a watteau panel flowed to the hem line. The dress was designed with elbow length sleeves and bell skirt with tiny fabric bow at the center front waist line. She wore a matching tiny head piece with large circle of net.

The bride wore a formal length sheath bell gown of peau neck line and bracelet length sleeves. The fitted bodice accented with chantilly lace motifs and seed pearls had a detachable chapel train flowing from the center back waist line. The head piece of tulle petal clusters accented by tiny chantilly lace motifs held a tiered veil of imported silk illusion. Mrs. Gene Stephens, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. She wore a formal lenth dress of sheer lined organiza featuring a bateau neck-line extending into a deep V in back from which a watteau panel flowed to the hem line. The dress was designed with clbow length sleeves and bell skirt with tiny fabric bow at the cenof Plainview visited J. A. and ter front waist line. She wore a matching tiny head piece with
