Bid Sought On City-Owned Farms

The City Council held their regular monthly meeting November 13 at 7:30 p. m. The first item of business was the consideration of the employees' hospital insurance. The City Manager explained a proposal that would increase the present coverage. After discussing the matter, the council tabled the discussion and instructed the City Manager to check into an alternate insurance company to see how its benefits and premiums compare with the present city policy.

Bob Sokoll, City Manager, reported that the present city farm leases at the airport and sewer plant will expire December 31 of this year. The Council agreed to take separate cash lease bids on each farm for both three and five year terms. It was explained that these bids should be submitted to the City Manager on or before December 11, 1967, which is the next scheduled meeting.

Bob Sokoll reported that the dump body and hoist on the old garbage truck had been repaired by the city and that it would not be necessary to purchase new ones for the recently purchased truck chassis. Sokoll also reported that he was checking into the possibility of purchasing a new posting machine for the office.

Mayor Jones reported on a Lubbock Metropolitan Council of Government meeting that he and the City Manager had attended in Lubbock. Jones reported that LMCOG desired to set up a bank account of $10,000, Abernathy's share of this total would be $88,211. The City Manager reported that the first phase of the Hale County Comprehensive Plan had been completed and that he would give a summary of its contents at the next regular meeting. CARE IN ADDRESSING MAIL IS URGED BY POSTMASTER HERE

Postmaster Herman Lambert today urged the citizens of Abernathy to be sure to use the correct address on their letters and packages going to servicemen overseas to avoid serious delays in delivery.

Postmaster Lambert reported that millions of letters and packages going overseas have been delayed because they were insufficiently addressed. He said that one of the biggest problems has been the failure of persons to include the very important 5 digit APO or FPO number in the military address. Mail not containing this number is incorrectly addressed.

He said that last year more than 9 million pieces of mail were delayed in delivery. Of this number, 3 1/2 million pieces failed to include the complete 5 digit APO or FPO number in the address. This improperly addressed mail had to be sent to a military locator directory where time-consuming searches were made to determine the proper addresses.

As the Christmas mail volume going overseas is expected to increase up to 30 percent or over 4 million pounds above last year, every precaution should be taken by friends and relatives of servicemen to address their letters and packages properly to assure rapid delivery to its destination.

Postmaster Lambert said, "There are four essential elements to an overseas military address. They are:

1. The serviceman's identity-grade, full name, and service number.
2. His military unit-complete.
3. Gateway post office-New York, San Francisco or Seattle.
4. APO or FPO-a 5 digit number.

When any of these elements is missing, the letter or package will be delayed in delivery.

Harp Returns From Europe Grain Marketing Campaign

Elbert Harp, Abernathy farmer and president of the Grain Sorghum Producers Association, recently returned home after a three-week market promotion campaign.

Harp had served as member of a seven member team appointed by Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman. Their assignment was to see that everything possible is being done in Europe by USDA and the trade to expand the sales of U.S. feed grains.

Harp pointed out that the conclusions of the team were that sale of U.S. feed grains to Europe will continue to be strong in the long run, but will be slow for the next few months due to a 14 per cent increase in barley production throughout Europe, the bumper wheat crop, and increased production and competition from other countries such as South Africa, Argentina, etc.

Feed grain consumption in Europe is being restricted by its exceedingly high price, Harp said. Feed mills and livestock feeds have to pay $4 per hundred pounds for milo or corn. Thus meat and animal products generally are too high to encourage grain feeding. The high prices apply to U.S. grains also because the common market countries have a minimum price which they allow grain to be imported. At present, this is $85.38 per metric ton for corn and $85.44 for milo. U.S. exporters can deliver corn and grain sorghum for about $60 per metric ton. The difference is collected as a tax and used to subsidize the European farmers.

Grain sorghum imports virtually have been eliminated due to the close relationship in threshold prices of corn and grain sorghum. Importers throughout Europe claim it takes at least $3.00 per ton differential in the two grains before milo will sell. At present there is only $2.90 difference due to the taxing system.

Harp's main objective on the tour was to impress the government officials of the various countries, that they virtually had placed an embargo upon milo. These officials were receptive to suggestions made by Harp and invited him to submit technical information to them on nutritional comparisons of milo and other grains and also market value differences.

They agreed to consider this information as they review the situation and set the threshold prices for 1968. Harp assured them that GSPA would do everything possible to help correct this problem.

Market Development

For the longer run the team concluded that U.S. grains could enjoy a larger market in Europe, but would depend largely upon our continued market development work which is carried on jointly by USDA and U.S. Feed Grains Council of which GSPA is an active member. The total growth of U.S. exports depends upon the European's policies toward high grain prices and their continued economic growth which will permit more people to eat meat, and high protein diets. Another factor will be their ability to increase their domestic feed grain production.

The team will make a report to Secretary Orville Freeman, which will include recommendations, for actions to be taken in pushing for greater exports of U.S. feed grains to Europe.

FRANK RUSSELL NEW LAWMAN HERE

Frank Russell, formerly of Hale Center, is a new lawman in Abernathy. He is serving in the dual role as Abernathy policeman and Hale County deputy sheriff. John Murdock is Abernathy police chief.

ADULT AND JUVENILE DELINQUENCY

ADULT AND JUVENILE DELINQUENCY OR BE SURE YOUR SINS WILL FIND YOU OUT

Captain Bill Cox, a juvenile officer in the Lubbock police department, spoke to the Parent-Teachers' Association during its past meeting. Mr. Cox has had many years' experience working with juveniles and their parents, and he had many worthwhile ideas to share with Abernathians.

Captain Cox says crime in Lubbock is up 2 1/2% in 1967 over the first 10 months of 1966. This is only very slightly less than the nationwide increase. Lubbock juvenile officers will make some 5000 contacts in the next year. Of these, 1200 records will result. Lubbock has three contacts with juvenile boys for every one problem with girls. The minimum age for juvenile correction by the police department is ten years old. Those children younger than this are referred to the welfare department.

Many times, Bill Cox says, the parents of juvenile delinquents feel the only thing their children do wrong is to get caught by the police. Some parents will fight tooth and nail to keep their children from being taken away from them but refuse to discipline and care for them when they have retained custody.

Teenagers can now be prosecuted for a felony, a major crime such as murder, arson, or rape, as young as fifteen years old. If a person has a record, he or she can never vote, hold public office, be a lawyer or doctor, or join the civil service, etc.

Drug addiction is up sharply in Lubbock in the last few years. LSD and marijuana are not the harmless drugs some of their proponents would like you to believe. Marijuana can affect the very way you walk and talk. You will be braindamaged as a result of using it. LSD causes malformed babies among other horrors that stretch the imagination. It is such a potent weapon that one ounce can affect 280,000 people if placed in a water or food supply.

Mr. Cox says a lecture on respecting law and order obviously can't do the job. Parents must love and care and set coontrols for the child from the time it is born. Captain Cox quoted authorities who teach that the first three years of a child's life are the formative years when you can do so much toward building character--so much more than you can do when the child is older. Children don't want a buddy. They want a parent. They both want and need guidance and control. Children shouldn't get everything they ask for, but, he says, some parents are scared of their children.

Mr. Cox had some specific suggestions. He advocated one parent, at least, should be at home when children or teenagers come home from school. The kids have things to talk over with you then. Their interest and enthusiasm may die out if they must wait until evening. The idle, unsupervised time is the perfect setting for delinquency.

TV addiction was another problem of families Mr. Cox mentioned. Too much time in front of the TV leaves no time for family discussion. He good naturedly criticized "The Fugitive," a TV program that showed police officers as mean unreasonable people. Also, he had a few amusing words to say questioning the effect of the TV program everyone is so addicted to "As the World Turns." However, he did say his wife continues to watch it but won't tell him what goes on!

Captain Cox questioned the advisability of giving teenagers automobiles. He did think the new minimum age for obtaining a driver's license is a step in the right direction. He says don't give a teenager a car and then expect him to support it. Supporting a car demands a job which takes precious time away from studying and other worthwhile endeavors. In Lubbock now, one parent must accompany a teenager when a traffic fine is paid. A teenager can no longer hide this violation from his or her parents.

This experienced juvenile officer advocates letting the child reap the consequences of his acts. Don't bail him out, pay his fines, or alibi for him. Make him spend that one night

AHS VARSITY GIRL CAGERS WIN OPENER

(By Claudy Williams, Jr. School Correspondent)

The AHS Varsity Girls' Basketball Squad leaped into its 1967-'68 season with a 51 to 25 triumph over the Cotton Center girls here Tuesday night, November 14.

Abernathy's highest-scoring venture of the game came in the first period as the AHS forwards blasted the boards for 21 points while limiting the visitors to only five points. A 12-point effort by the Antelopes in the second quarter gave Abernathy a 33 to 14 advantage at intermission.

After an evenly matched third quarter in which both teams netted six points, the Antelopes widened the margin in the final period as they hit for 12 points while holding Cotton Center to five points.

Three Abernathy and two Cotton Center players finished in double figures. Gerry Rogers and Marilyn Barton paced the 'Lopes with 18 to 17 points respectively. Mary Helen Manzanales also netted ten points for Abernathy. Cotton Center's top scorers were Karen Crump and Beverly Barrett each of whom posted 12-point efforts.

Last Friday night the Abernathy girls fell to the Roosevelt Eagles by a score of 44 to 43 in the first round game of the season. Donna Huffaker led Abernathy's scoring with 16 points.

Water Depletion Tax Claims Approved

Recent information for the Internal Revenue Service, Dallas, Texas revealed they had processed 6,218 amended water depletion tax claims for the years 1962, 1963 and 1964.

A total of $1,400,000 was refunded from these claims.

The 1965 and 1966 water depletion claims were handled in a routine fashion, similar to the depreciation schedule allowed for tractors and other farm machinery.

Revenue officials estimated that there were between 5,000 and 5,500 individual claims made for the years 1965 and 1966, which resulted in refunds of $1,000,000 to $1,200,000 per year to farmers filing these claims.
