National 4-H Week Is Observed

Hale County 4-H members join with members of 4-H clubs throughout the nation in commemoration of National 4-H Week which begins today.

The county members have scheduled activities in various Hale County cities during the week to help broaden the understanding of 4-H.

Several clubs are attending church services in groups. Posters showing the opportunities for youngsters through the 4-H program have been made and posted in various city businesses and institutions.

The aim of 4-H Week is to encourage more youth to take advantage of 4-H opportunities, urge more men and women to volunteer to serve as 4-H leaders, recognize important contributors of continued cooperation, acknowledge the support of 4-H friends and express appreciation to them and to report the year's accomplishments and consider future needs and plans.

4-H is a part of the national educational system of the Cooperative Extension Service in which the U.S. Department of Agriculture, state land-grant universities and counties share.

Hale County and the Texas Extension Service provides two trained personnel to coordinate the 4-H program in Hale County. The personnel are Mrs. Freda Sparkman, assistant home demonstration agent, and Jimmy Dean Walker, assistant county agent.

These assistant agents work with the County Program Building Committee and 4-H leaders in directing a county-wide 4-H program.

Due to the shifting population from rural to urban areas, the 4-H program has shifted emphasis from rural projects to a comprehensive program for both rural and urban youth involving flexible programs for "learning experiences" and "projects treating problems of today."

BROWNIES TO VISIT RADIO STATION

Brownie Troop 182 met Tuesday, September 29, in City hall. There were 24 girls and 5 assistant leaders present. It was decided we would meet at city hall each Tuesday at 4:00 to 4:30 p.m. The troop will leave city hall at 8:00 a.m. Saturday, Oct. 11 for Membership program at Museum. We will return at 11 a.m.

On Tuesday, 18, the Brownies are to be guests of Radio Station KW50 during their regular meeting time.

The Abernathy 4-H Club had a meeting Sept. 25. Lynn Riley gave the 4-H pledge and motto. LaDawn Skipper gave the pledge of allegiance of the flag.

The new officers were installed by David Pinson. The officers elected were President-Katherine McClendon, Vice-president-Leah Riley and Larry Lutzrick, Secretary, Rodney Huffaker, Treasurer, Wayne Riley, Reporter, Debra Myatt, Girl Recreational Leaders were: Martha and Susan Montgomery, Boy Recreational Leaders were Johnny and Tommy Megna, County Council Delegates were Zandra Johnson and David McClendon. The meeting was closed by songs led by Susan Montgomery, Tammy Jones, Kerri McClendon and Melinda Huffaker.

On Oct. 5, the National 4-H week started. On Sunday the 4-H members sat together in the churches of their choice. Leaders are putting signs in windows of their home to represent National 4-H Week. A display will be set up in one of the businesses in Abernathy.

James Ray On Smith's Staff

James R. Ray, a former resident of the Hale Center area for a short time, has been named as Administrative Assistant of Governor Preston Smith. He will assist on planning for implementation of the newly created Governor's Committee on Human Relations. Engaged in farming and ranching interest, Ray, 31, served for seven years as administrative assistant to U.S. Representative George Mahon. In Austin, he will be assigned to duties directed by the chairman. Secretary of State Martin Dies. The committee is composed of 50 Texans from throughout the state. Ray formerly operated a farm southeast of Hale Center for about two years. For the past year he has served as county chairman of the Democratic Party. Winnie Kharr, sister of ex-commissioner Rayburn Karr of Hale Center, was appointed to succeed him.

(James Ray is a graduate of AHS, and is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Wade Ray of Abernathy.)

NATIONAL 4-H WEEK

October 5-11, 1969
"4-H: Opportunity for All" is the theme of this year's National 4-H Week observance, October 5 to 11. Emphasis will be on 4-H benefits being available to boys and girls of all cultural, racial, and economic backgrounds; also to youth who live in town as well as in the country.

Cooperative Extension Service now reaches about 3 1/2 million young people. Of these, about 21 1/2 million are enrolled in 4-H, including 35 percent from farm homes, 33 percent from rural nonfarm homes; and 32 percent from towns, cities, and suburbs.

DURING 4-H Week, appropriate activities will be arranged nationally, and in each State, county, and most local communities. A major aim will be to broaden the understanding of 4-H everywhere--to enlarge the "image" so the public realizes the Head-Heart-Hands-Health programs are no longer limited to rural areas. The boy with his calf, and the girl with her garden or poultry, are fine but in most places today several dozen other real life "learning experiences" or projects are open to 4-H'ers and make up the organization's modern, flexible program.

Other aims of National 4-H Week are to:

Encourage more youth, 9 to 19, to take advantage of 4-H opportunities; Urge more men and women to volunteer as 4-H local leaders, and to enrich their own lives in addition to serving youth. Recognize the important contribution of parents to 4-H, and influence their continued cooperation. Acknowledge the support of 4-H friends and express appreciation to them. Report the year's accomplishments and consider future needs and plans.

Beside the 4-H enrollment of about 2 1/2 million now in all 50 states and Puerto Rico, thousands of other boys and girls participate in other ways--such as by television. On TV, 4-H offers educational series with suggestions for doing projects at home. Another approach is through special interest groups. Older boys and girls, for instance, may enroll in 4-H money management workshop or career exploration seminar. On completion they may form another interest group.

In today's 4-H program, young people choose projects that fit them and the places they live. They live "why's" as well as "How's" in stressing science Youth going into farming select specialized projects. Those with particular needs--due to economic, social, health, or other causes--receive more than usual aid and encouragement. Disadvantaged youth are being served more than at any time in the past. Attention is also given to any with problems relating to personal values, career exploration, and accomplishment of goals.

4-H'ers choose varied projects in science, agriculture, home economics, personal development, community service, leadership, and citizenship. Many kinds are offered for selection at every age. Some are in: Agricultural production and marketing--including meat animal, dairy, poultry, garden, and field crops. Engineering--electrical, automotive, tractor. Conservation--forestry, wildlife, entomology, recreation, beautification--soil and water. Management--farm, home, money, town and country business. Family living--food and nutrition, clothing, grooming, furnishings, home grounds, child care. Personal development--health safety, career exploration, leadership, and citizenship. Other popular projects include arts and crafts, dog care, horsemanship, emergency preparedness, and public affairs.

4-H is part of the national educational system of the Cooperative Extension Service, in which the U.S. Department of Agriculture, State Land-Grant Universities, and counties share. The federal Extension Service gives national leadership, and the State Extension Services give State leadership. Two non-government organizations work with Extension to coordinate private support and perform numerous other important functions. They are the National 4-H Service Committee, 59 E. Van Buren Street, Chicago, Ill. 60605; and the National 4-H Club Foundation, 7100 Connecticut Avenue, Washington, D.C. 20015.

About 550,000 volunteer leaders serve 4-H coast to coast. Of these some 400,000 are youth-minded adult men and women, and 150,000 are older 4-H'ers called teen or junior leaders. All are guided by Professional Extension Agents, aided by local advisory committees and the educational resources of their State land-grant universities. 4-H appreciates its many friends in civic groups, business, industry, agriculture, education, foundations, and other fields. Their public-spirited assistance benefits 4-H in every State and county here and in other lands. They generously supplement public funds for 4-H to finance citizenship education, leader training, teaching and technical aids, youth awards to stimulate interest and achievement public information about 4-H, or 4-H week, may be obtained from any County Extension office or the Cooperative Extension Service of any Land-Grant University or the Federal Extension Service.

60 MILLION OWN CO-OPS

More than 60 million Americans share ownership in cooperatives. City, town, and rural people use these co-ops to get housing, food, health care, credit, insurance, drugs, furniture, and petroleum products. Rural people use cooperatives to get ginning, elevator, fuel, electricity and telephone service, chemicals, and steel products. All of this cooperative business totals $20 billion dollars a year.

Business men also use cooperatives to serve their special needs — druggists, grocers, hardwaremen, clothiers, and other independent merchants. Associated Press, the world-wide news gathering agency, is a publishers' cooperative.

The distinctive mark of a co-op is that it serves the people who own it: its customers. It's locally-owned, not-for-profit, serving its member-owners at approximate cost. They have a voice in determining the quality of goods and services they get and the prices they pay through their co-ops.

In cooperatives, 60 million persons participate more fully in this country's free enterprise system. They find it a good way to get things done.

Higher County Budget Set

Hale County Commissioners Court Monday approved a budget of $1,217,097.82 for 1970, an increase of $184,452.42 over the budget of $1,032,645.40 approved for this year.

At the same time the group set the same tax rate approved last year. The rate was set at $1.10 per $100 based on approximately 22.2 per cent of actual valuation.

In addition, a state levy of 42 cents will be added to the rate for collection by local tax office personnel. Farm land also is taxed at the rate of three cents an acre for the weed control district, while persons living in Precinct Two (Petersburg), pay an additional fee collected for the High Plains Underground Water Conservation District.

Hale County Auditor Larry Peckham estimated that the regular county taxes, plus a special 15-cent Farm-to-Market levy approved by voters several years ago, will bring in an estimated $720,585.68.

Other funds to meet budget requirements will come from funds on hand, fees collected by various county offices, lateral road money distributed by the state each year, and $13,000 for license plate fees.

Hale County will receive little extra in the way of taxes collected due to increased valuations of property in the county.

The increase was estimated at only $288,386, from $66,948,520 for the current year to an estimated $67,236,906.

Most of the rise in the budget was attributed to general cost increases.

In the same area, Commissioners approved an across-the-board four per cent raise for county employees, accounting for $26,098.32 of the increase.

Estimated payroll cost for all of 1969 was set at $652,458. With the increase, total payroll budgeted for 1970 will be $678,586.32.

The payroll figure for 1970 is almost double the figure 10 years ago, when payments to employees totaled $380,933.04. Increases have grown steadily each year, with the exception of 1968, when the increase was $3,384.31. However, for the current year, a new retirement system and setting of minimum salary standards sent the increase in payroll to $100,491.84, more than double previous increases.

Final Charges Commissioners approved the budget following a review of each department, then sent the document to Peckham for final changes made by the Court to be included.

In other activity at the session, Court members approved a request by Pan American Petroleum Co. to cross county roads with lines at 15 locations. The oil company earlier had requested approval for only four locations, but indicated 11 new crossings would be needed.

The company agreed to repair any damage to county roads which might occur due to the crossings in return for approval by the court.

Meeting briefly with the Court in the morning session was Maburn Harris of Southwestern Appraisal Co. The appraisal firm currently is in Plainview to re-evaluate property in the Plainview School District.

JERRY FULLER HOUSTON-- Jerry Fuller, former Abernathy High School football star, is a member of the University of Houston freshman team. The Cougar Kittens will open their 1969 season Saturday, October 18 against the Air Force Academy Freshman team at Pasadena's Memorial Stadium. Jerry is a son of Mrs. Lois Fuller.
