Indians Down Mavericks 21-20

ONE MORE BLOCK . . . Charles Erwin prepares to block the last Maverick between Jackie Young and the goal line. The Haskell Indians defeated a favored Eastland Maverick team last Friday by a score of 21-20. Eastland, last year's Class AA semifinalist, was a 7 point favorite going into the game.

After receiving the opening kickoff, the Indians failed to complete a third and twelve pass and were forced to punt.

During their first series of plays, the Mavericks converted on a fourth and long yardage to keep a drive alive that ended with a one yard plunge by Howard King, 198 pound all-state tailback.

The Indians held King to 70 yards on 22 tries for an average of about 3.2 yards per carry. Jackie Young carried the ball the same number of times for a total of 206 yards and an average of 9.4 yards per carry.

The Indians gave the ball up on the Eastland 11 yard line and three plays later Martin Randle recovered a fumble on the 20. On their second play of the series, Young scampered 23 yards for a touchdown that was nullified because of a clipping penalty. After an incomplete pass, Young carried the ball three times before completing the scoring drive with a two yard plunge. The kick by Randy Ivey was no good and the score was tied 6-6.

Just 20 seconds later Robin Colbert captured a loose ball in the air and scampered 22 yards for another score. Young's run around left end was good for two points and the score was 14-6.

Just before the end of the half Young carried the ball 53 yards for another touchdown that was called back because of a penalty.

The Mavericks received the second half kick-off and drove 72 yards in seven plays for a

It will be framed, and put on display in Haskell National Bank, along with the architects drawings of the proposed $300,000.00 center.

Going through a very lengthy business agenda, the group made plans for commemorating the donations to the Center, which already have been coming in. The commemoration breakdown will be as follows:

- Donations of under $100.00—a certificate of appreciation.
- $100 to $500—name inscribed in group form.
- $500 to $1,000—bronze plaque
- $1,000 to $5,000—silver plaque

All donations to the building fund will be placed in a savings account, at interest. If for any reason, the building does not become a reality, the money, and its interest, will be returned to the donor.

A goal of $300,000.00 has been set, and over $3,000.00 already has been donated. Donations will be run each week in a

Walling Begins 41st Year

September 13, J. E. Walling, Jr. began his 41st year as Bulk Station Agent for Humble Oil and Refining Co. in Haskell. Beginning as a one-man operation in 1932, Walling later hired his father, who did bulk work.

Today the operation consists of two fulltime workers, Billy Jack Ray and Clyde Hunt, and Walling's son, Ed, a senior in Haskell High School, who works part-time. When Ed began working last summer he was the third generation of the family to participate in the operation of the business.

Mr. Walling and his wife, Ida, also have a daughter, Ellen, who is also a senior at HHS, and Ed's twin.

A member of the First Baptist Church, Walling has served as general secretary of the Sunday School for over thirty years. He is an active member of the Haskell Chamber of Commerce and has served as both president and director of the organization. Walling also served on the City Council from 1951-56 and was Mayor of Haskell from 1956-58, 1960-66. He has also been a director of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce and is a past also operated Walling Butane Dealers Association.

From 1941-62, Mr. Walling also operated Walling Butane and Appliance Co.

He has received recognition for distinguished service from Humble on several occasions and at the end of thirty years of service was presented a wrist watch by the company.

During the past 40 years, Mr. Walling says the biggest change has come in the proportion of products sold. In the early 30's kerosene was the biggest selling fuel and was used for heating and cooking. Today gasoline makes up the largest percentage of sales.

In a statement issued to the Free Press, Mr. Walling said, "I wish to thank the many users of our products for their patronage during the past 40 years and pledge to give you, our customer, the best service possible in the years to come."

Hale Making Fair Plans

Pat Hale, president of this year's Haskell County Fair, is working awfully hard, along with a host of helpers, to make the 1972 fair the very biggest and best yet. He and other Fair workers invite everyone to enter in the exhibits in which they excel, and join in the fun of competing and showing animals, crafts, foods, flowers, art work, and all other phases of the Fair.

It's a joint effort of every community in the County that makes a good fair. Fair association members are very grateful for the splendid cooperation given by every community.

In Rochester, as in the other towns in the county, many, many people devote a great deal of time and effort to the fair each year, and without their participation, it would not be the success it traditionally is.

"There's just one thing about this," explained Pat in discussing the Fair. "We printed our Fair catalogs with a 'message' (Continued on Page 2, Section 1)

CELEBRATING 40 years of service in Haskell

TUESDAY IS BLOODMOBILE DAY

Drive Chairman Charles Thornhill.

Haskell County's quota this trip is 70 pints of blood, and donors are vitally needed to help reach this goal. The Center does not want more than the allotted quota, and hopefully, not less. The quotas are set to supply this region for a certain period of time, and due to the time-limit on the usefulness of whole blood, quotas should be met each time to assure the region an ample supply of fresh blood for that time period. Every step is taken during the drive to assure the donor of the simplest, most efficient system possible, so that his time will not be wasted. Persons in Haskell wishing to donate a pint of blood this trip are asked to call 864-2686 or 864-3033, or the hospital at 864-2621, and give the time they could conveniently be at the bank room. Appointments will be set up, so that a minimum amount of the donor's time will be taken.

Rule area residents may contact Mrs. Frank Campbell at 3151 for appointment times. In Weinert, contact Harlan Weinert at 2641, or Eddie Sanders at 2231; in O'Brien, Mrs. J. O. Brothers is donor recruiter, and in Rochester, Mrs. Jalea Glover. Remember, Tuesday is Haskell County's day to reach the 70 pint goal for this region's blood supply. As a member of the regional blood center at Wichita Falls, through the Red Cross, we are obligated to reach this goal.

Killingsworth Descendants Attend Annual Family Reunion at Salado

The annual Killingsworth family reunion, a custom begun in 1931, was held September 2nd-4th at the historic Stagecoach Inn at Salado, Tex.

Twenty-nine descendants of the late I. D. and Emma Killingsworth of Haskell attended. The youngest was 2½ month old James Harold (Jim) McBride, son of Karen Killingsworth McBride and Don McBride of Fort Worth, and the grandson of the J. Floyd Killingsworths of Ranger. Senior member attending was Charles L. Killingsworth, age 83. Mr. Killingsworth also traveled the greatest distance, driving with his wife, Bobbie, 1600 miles from San Gabriel, Calif.

Mr. Killingsworth told the story of the move of the family to Haskell in 1900. Traveling with two other families in a train of seven wagons, they spent 17 days coming from Alford to Haskell. Mr. Killingsworth, although only 12 years old, was self-designated "cowboy" and rode his pony alongside the wagon train.

Prominent Haskell citizens attending included Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Pierson, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Payne, Mr. and Mrs. Grady Roberts, and Mrs. Alice Ballard, whose late husband was Haskell County rancher.

Mr. Pierson, retired banker, has raised bird dogs, and was acknowledged as outstanding hunter of the family when he told several interesting stories of his hunting experiences.

When the topic of early era automobiles came up, Mr. Payne, who is a retired druggist, told of one method used at the time to test the soundness of cars: It seemed that if you could drive a car up "Albany Hill" in high gear it was considered a worthy automobile.

The major event of the weekend was the celebration Sunday of the Golden Wedding Anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Grady Roberts. Mr. Roberts was formerly a publisher.

Other members attending were two brothers from Houston; Lee Killingsworth and wife, Ruth, and I. D. Killingsworth with children, Karen and Gary, and granddaughter, Denise. Lots and Clinton Walter came from Plainview and from Dallas came Florene and Charles Underwood, and Roxie and Jim Killingsworth. Mary Beth Price with children, Julie and John, attended from San Antonio.

The family plans to meet again over the Labor Day weekend in 1973.

Half And Half - The Only Way

By DON COMEDY
 "You can't please all of the people, all of the time," said A. C. Richardson just prior to entering the barber shop to have half of his beard shaved. Richardson, owner and operator of Richardson Truck and Tractor, began growing the beard five months ago and has received numerous remarks, both pro and con. Richardson said, "Some people like it and some don't. I'm doing this to try to make everyone happy, but, I'm sure that someone will say I had the wrong side shaved." The growth came about when plans were made for a beard growing contest at the rodeo and pioneer day celebration. His wife, Becky, liked the beard and they decided to keep it. Almost everyone in town has made some comment, ranging from vocal comments to a recent advertisement in the Free Press in which Doyle High of Oates Drug Store ran a special price on razor blades with the added remark, "Attention, A. C. Richardson." When Richardson voiced his plans to remove half of the beard, High immediately offered to pay for what he considered a good investment.

Barber, Frank Jenkins, was not sure what he was getting into when he agreed to do the job and throughout the operation he kept saying, "I'm going to the football game in Eastland this afternoon and if you want it all shaved off tell me because I won't be here very long this afternoon." Richardson replied that he was going to leave the situation in a half and half position for a few days to study the reaction.

Richardson, who has been riding motorcycles for several years, received even more reaction to the cycle riding after growing the beard.

While in the barber chair, High asked what to do with the other half of the beard if there was an accident on the cycle and he was killed. Richardson replied, "Put a sign on the end of the casket that says, 'Them that like it, pass to the right; and them that don't to the left.'"

After a close examination in the mirror and posing for several pictures, Richardson, accompanied by this reporter, went home to see what his wife thought of her 'two faced husband'.

Becky had known of his plans, but had forgotten what the event was to take place and was outwardly shaken at the sight. When asked if she would accompany her half-bearded husband to the football game, she replied, "Only half way."

After several hours of cycling around town and a short tour of several businesses, Richardson returned to the barber's chair to get Doyle High his money's worth, and lose the other half of his conversation piece.

Richardson's favorite story about the beard is told about a very hot (105 degree) day when he was laying a pipeline. Several others in the working party were constantly complaining about the heat and Richardson said, "The heat doesn't bother me because I'm working in the shade."

After five months of looking at the bearded A. C., scattered conversations were heard at the Eastland football game about the strange man who accompanied Becky to the game.

Councilmen Give Paula Middleheart FFA Success Water Easements

All members of the Haskell City Council were present at their regular meeting September 12. Opening prayer was given by Councilman Loraine Johnson.

After approval of the minutes of the previous meeting, councilmen passed a resolution from the West Central Council of Governments regarding fair housing. The resolution supports a law which has been in effect for several years stating that a person cannot discriminate, refuse, to sell, or refuse to negotiate with any individual because of race, color, religion, or national origin.

In other action, councilmen granted easement of right-of-way of North Central Texas Municipal Water Authority on the airport land.

Councilmen also signed a contract with the engineering firm of Yeatts and Decker to design plans for remodeling of the sewer plant to conform with the Texas Water Quality Board requirements. Action must begin by October 19 to conform with a recent ruling of the board.

The council also passed the 1972 tax roll and discussed buying a new garbage truck. All bills presented were approved.

DYNA-MO LABEL MACHINES for permanent plastic labeling in six different colors, available at Haskell Free Press.

"I DIDN'T KNOW it would look like that," said Mrs. A. C. Richardson after her husband had half of his beard removed. She recovered considerably when informed of the briefness of the half and half situation. (Staff Photo)

"TAKE OUT FOR TWO" ... Doyle High pays for two shaves for A. C. Richardson confidentially stating, "He'll be back later and have the other half removed." After a short tour of the downtown area, Richardson returned to the barber shop for the completed shave. (Staff Photo)

CONSERVATION POINTS

Conservationist
YEARY, JR.

Livestockmen, seed dealers, sportsmen, and other interested groups in the search for improved plants attended the field day.

Havery Davis of Temple, executive director of the Texas State Soil and Water Conservation Board, was the principal speaker.

New grasses, forbs, legumes and other plants under evaluation at the center were discussed by various specialists during the day. Some 1200 strains of 325 plants being grown at the center were shown to those present.

Seed and rootstock from the plants that show promise for solving specific soil and water conservation problems are collected, then grown and evaluated at the Knox City center. The more promising ones are then grown and evaluated under field conditions on farms of soil and water conservation district cooperators under a wide variety of conditions. Selections that prove superior to other strains available are then released by conservation districts to commercial seed growers. These producers then grow seed and sell it to the public.

More than 700 strains of grasses are being grown at Knox City. Some 465 selections of legumes, forbs, and woody plants thought to have value for wildlife or livestock are also under evaluation.

Some of the more promising grasses being evaluated include a grass called old world bluestem brought to the center from an arid region west of the Mediterranean Sea; a desert strain of sideoats grama; a blue grama selection adapted to the redbed soils of western Oklahoma and Texas; and a Western Wheatgrass selection which has potential for use in bottomland and waterway planting in west central Texas.

Milton Christian of Haskell on his farm north of town in a waterway which he will help evaluate for the center. Selections from two choice native forbs — englemansdaisy and Maximilian sunflower — have shown up especially well. Both are so relished by livestock and wildlife that they are hard to find except on well managed rangeland or areas protected from grazing.

Many strains and variety of plants are under study for beautification as well as for wildlife food.

A new grass variety, Mason sandhill livegrass, was certified and released this year. Selection of 75 kleingrass was released by the center in 1968.

Ferrel Coston of Haskell has three acres of Selection 75 kleingrass growing on his farm southwest of town. He thinks it is a heavy forage producer. He is right. Clipping studies at the Knox City center have already this year produced 6000 pounds of edible forage, and there is still 40 to 50 growing days left before the grass goes dormant for the winter.

Promising plants being evaluated include strains with pollution abatement values; plants that will thrive under saline or droughty conditions; selections that will prevent wave action damage on earthen dams; and plants that will stabilize sand dunes.

The Plant Materials Center is located on FM Road 1292, 2 miles north and 2 1/2 miles west of Knox City. J. C. Garrison, Plant Center Manager, stated that the public is invited to visit the center anytime. If you are interested in observing some of the work the center is doing, visit them. The center is open from 8 a. m. to 5 p. m. Mondays through Fridays. The trip and time will certainly be worth your efforts.
