NEWS AND COMMENT
 by Buford Davenport

NGC---Quoting someone who was quoting someone else: "If God doesn't bring the United States to judgment soon, He should dig up Sodom and Gomorrah and apologize." If this borders on sacrilege, I beg forgiveness. With crime and corruption running through the moral fiber of this country and into high places in the Nation's Capital, the sins of this country and those that brought down destruction upon the two Biblical cities are very similar.

NGC---To those who think "turkey shoots" are cruel, we'd like to explain that no live turkeys are involved. The marksmen shoot at a clay disc like object that is launched in the air by mechanical device. If turkeys are involved in anyway, they are the kind that are dressed and ready for the oven, and given as prizes to winning shooters. On some shoots, hams, sausage and bacon also are prizes.

NGC---I dread to see our Nation's leaders, elected and/or appointed, take trips to foreign countries. They give away too much, make too many promises of aid to the countries and otherwise obligate the taxpayers of the United States to do things they do not want to do. The following example is small comparison with some giveaways on trips. According to Frank X. Tolbert's column in the Dallas Morning News, Richard Nixon, when he was president, went to Mexico City and signed a treaty making a new definition of the international boundary 12 miles along the Rio Grande river shore near Presidio, Texas, giving away 1,600 acres of Texas property. Nixon announced at the treaty signing that these 1,600 acres being given to Mexico were cactus gardens inhabited only by jackrabbits and rattlesnakes. Actually this was mostly lush irrigated land worth more than $1,000 per acre. Mr. Tolbert stated, I envy Tolbert's assignment for the Dallas News. He roams Texas searching for interesting items for his column. His trips usually are in new automobiles and pickups, furnished by Dallas automotive dealers in exchange for feature stories. Tolbert writes about the performance of the cars and pickups. Another media assignment that sounds good is reporting for Fun Magazine. In Galveston last April with a gathering of news people, I noticed name tags on a couple that said they represented Fun Magazine. They do keep busy covering fun events, but they say eventually it becomes just another job. Maybe I'm where I belong. I've never considered The Review work "just another job". I've enjoyed it for 10 these many years. Speaking for "10 these many years," come the last of next month I will have been a resident of the Abernathy area 50 years...which is not so unusual so many local residents have been on the scene here for a lot more years than 50.

Magnify the LORD with me, and let us exalt his name together. (Ps. 103:3)

But let all those that put their trust in thee rejoice: let them ever shout for joy, because thou defendest them: let them also that love thy name be joyful in thee. (Ps. 51:1)

Thanksgiving

This Holiday . . .

Let's all renew the cherished bonds of friendship . . . love.

WHAT ARE TEACHERS?

WHAT ARE TEACHERS: Teachers are many things...they are knowledge with smiles on their faces...democracy, with books in their hands...wisdom with flecks of white chalk dust in their hair. Teachers come in all sizes and temperments...short, tall, skinny, plump, laughing, serious, happy and sad. They're the future of the nation in a sack dress or pair of levi's...love, with a college education. In their every-day work week, they are expected to be: Diplomats, philosophers, politicians, fight referees, pediatricians, law enforcement officers, nurses, doctors, and quiz program directors. Teachers have children in their eyes...and all their dreams are young dreams. They are psychiatrists without a couch...politicians without promise...babysitters without the right to raid the icebox. They make less money than men or women wrestlers, or burlesque strip-tease dancers, or blackjack dealers in Nevada. Their days are filled with school bells, young chatter, chalk-dust, waving hands, questions, and worried parents. Teachers are equally adept at blowing small noses, teaching fractions, putting on galoshes, finding lost mittens in dark cloakrooms, and making parents feel good at parent-teacher meetings. They spend four years in college, studying hard, in order to learn how to "make orange paper pumpkins at Halloween, umpire baseball games at recess time, tell boys to throw bubble gum in the wastebasket. In addition to knowing all there is to know about reading, writing, and arithmetic, not to mention science, biology, history and music, teachers have to be authorities on baseball, grasshoppers, little girls, snakes, young love, little boys, and how to live three months of the year without a paycheck. While grateful parents spend their evenings watching television, attending cocktail parties, complaining about the high cost of the school system, teachers spend their evenings correcting examination papers, smiling at people at parent-teacher meetings, and wishing they had become anything but teachers. Teachers can be found after school taking aspirin, picking up spit-balls, washing black boards, rehearsing plays, sewing angel costumes for Christmas pageants, teaching students to debate, building background scenery for school plays, or just sitting at desks waiting for strength to get up and go home. Teachers are expected to go to church, keep out of debt, have creative minds, but not disagree with the Board of Education, stay away from cigarettes, beer, and bingo games, and give willingly to the United Fund. A teacher dispenses magic, sells futures, and dreams are their stock in trade...from the teacher's small class room will come the doctors of tomorrow, the persons who will go to the moon, the great artists and novelists of the year 2000, the industrial tycoons, and all the leaders America will need to survive in a puzzled world. Teachers are the future of the world with a ruler in their hands, progress with a pencil behind their ears, underpaid, unappreciated (at times), harried, and overworked. Teachers gain their pay in secret satisfaction. Secretly, they will admit, "I have the greatest job of all..." and, they have, *because teachers hold the history of the world in the palms of their hands...they're teachers.

SUNSHINE GROUP MEETS FOR THANKSGIVING PROGRAM

Our Sunshine Group met November 18, with our president presiding. Blanch Coggin decorated our tables for the special occasion as this was our Thanksgiving dinner. Our tables had turkeys running around on the tables, jumping over pumpkins and other things. She had a little glass of jelly at each place with turkeys, shocks and pumpkins on the tops. It looked very pretty. We ate the biggest turkey.

Our opening prayer was said by Bro. Sherrill. Mrs. Knox played the organ and Dixie led our songs, "Blessed Assurance" and "Count Your Blessings". There were three birthdays. Our secretary Vera Hawkins is very sick so Blanch brought a card and we all signed our names to send to her. Mrs. Selke is our assistant secretary so she wrote the minutes for today. Mrs. Emma Sageser was the program chairman for today. She introduced her guests Rev. and Mrs. Jacky Newton, and Angela Pope. Angela played the piano and Mrs. Newton sang "He Touched Me" and "Jesus". It was beautiful. We would like to have them everytime. The Rev. said it would be all right if he could come and eat dinner. Then Emma introduced Rev. Newton who read some scriptures about the Good Samaritan and the Prodigal Son and that neither had a name. But I guess they are talked about as much or more than anyone. Anyway the Prodigal Son wasn't proud of his place in life so he ran away. But when he came back home his father killed the fatted calf and bought him new clothes. The older brother had eye trouble. All he could see was what his brother was getting and how he was received into the family. The older one was jealous because he only saw what he looked for. If you look for bad things you can pick them out and leave the good completely out. The same goes with hearing; If you listen you hear good things if that is what you are listening for. If we can't be thankful for the good things we have, we lose out.

Now this may not be what the Rev. said or not even close to it but it is what I heard and enjoyed it very much.

We had a visitor from Anahim, Calif. Mrs. Mary Marsgrone, she is a sister-in-law of Dorothy Shipman. We were glad to have her. Dinner wasn't quite ready so we asked our visiting girls to sing some songs, "Satisfied With Jesus, When They Ring Those Golden Bells." Mr. Gregg ask the blessing and the race was on. We have a new coffee maker and I'm sure that was enjoyed too.

Then while we were eating several of us got into a discussion that I'm sure Heloise (spelled by Cal Tucker) would like to know about. First our visitor from Calif. said she made the gibbles gravy. She was cutting the gibbles with kitchen scissors, but the gravy looked pale so she added a little Sanka and it really was good looking gravy. Then Rev. Newton said to add a teaspoon of butter to grits and they won't boil over. Someone else said that would work in making jelly. I made sure Blanch heard that but she didn't seem interested but she listened. I'll tell you anybody can learn something at the Sunshine Group. After dinner was over. We had an extra hot 84 game then everyone took their little jars of jelly and went home.

Those attending were: Blanch Coggin, Dot von Struve, Emma Sageser, Floyd Shipman, Dorothy Shipman, Robert Lutrick, Ural S. Sherrill, Martha Phillips, Rubye Knox, Bessie Waters, Bernice Smith, Mary Marsgrone, Albert Brewster, Lalah Brewster, Dewey Price, Alice Price, Minnie Northcut, Oma Toler, Lezie Lebow, Pearl Bryant, Elizabeth Harrison, Addie Robertson, Callie Nunn, Mrs. Talbott, Mrs. Jacky Newton, Angela Pope, Bernice Conn, Francis Howard, Lillie Mae Wilson, Dixie Pittman, Maybell Glass, Jack Camp, Earl Gregg, Maurine Gregg, Vertie Stambough, Ollie Selke, and Rev. Jacky Newton.

Rays of Hope by Pat Stanton

Prov. 4:23 states that man's heart is the key to his life and destiny. We are taught in Romans 10:10 that it is with the heart that man believes unto righteousness and salvation. Rom. 10:10 "For with the heart man believeth unto righteousness; and with the mouth confession is made unto salvation."

We as Christians are taught to continually keep our hearts pure and whole.

I Peter 3:15: "But sanctify the Lord God in your hearts; and be ready always to give an answer to every man that asketh you a reason of the hope that is in you with meekness and fear."

Deut. 26:16: "This day the Lord thy God hath commanded thee to do these statutes and judgments: thou shalt therefore keep and do them with all thine heart, and with all thy soul."

Ps. 66:18: "If I regard iniquity in my heart, the Lord will not hear me!"

We are also admonished to trust the Lord with all of our heart and not to give in to our own understanding. Prov. 3:5: "Trust in the Lord with all thine heart; and lean not unto thine own understanding."

We must be willing to do

God's will out of the purposes of the heart.

Eph. 6:5-6: "Servants, be obedient to them that are your masters according to the flesh; with fear and trembling, in singleness of your heart, as unto Christ; Not with eyeservice, as men-pleasers; but as the servants of Christ, doing the will of God from the heart."

God always looks on the heart. He is continually looking for those who will love Him with all their heart.

DPS lists Hale County accidents

Homemaking Tips

FROM THE OFFICE OF COUNTY EXTENSION AGENT
By WYNON MAYES

Dating is an exciting stage in young people's development — but one which some parents face with apprehension or confusion.

Dating in the U.S. is a major way of socializing youth and providing them with opportunities to get to know members of the opposite sex.

And as families increase their understanding of the dynamics of adolescent dating and intimacy, hopefully their fears will subside, and both teenagers and parents will grow from this experience.

DATING is a means of satisfying a basic, inherent need during adolescence, the need for intimacy. It includes the need for a close personal relationship with another person and the need for intense closeness and involvement with something meaningful.

Psychologists note that intimacy is as basic a human need as are the needs of love, food and water. Without it, people experience great anguish. Its importance becomes central during the adolescent years, when the peer group begins to disintegrate and heterosexual pairing-up prevails. Plagued by various emotional conflicts, the teenager needs a close companion, someone to talk to, confide in, and share intimate problems and experiences.

Unfortunately, intimacy is not always an easy need to satisfy. It is neither characterized by permanence nor free from exploitation by others. Teenagers are not always sure just what they seek in intimate relationships, which often puzzles parents. When an adolescent is rejected, he may have feelings of pain and inadequacy, but when intimacy openly received, there are feelings of self-esteem and joy.

WHETHER pleasurable or painful, feelings of intimacy provide youth with experiences which eventually enable them to have healthy adult feelings.

True intimacy demands honesty — the genuine self-disclosure which exposes one as is. This leaves the adolescent in a vulnerable position to be hurt or rejected, and this vulnerability represents the greater barrier in forming intimate relationships during adolescence.

In order to protect themselves, youth (and many adults, too) play the self-preservation game, hide your feelings, keep your distance, but above all, protect yourself. What happens when one manufactures a facade to hide behind? For some, they lose their ability to distinguish between the real-self and the pretend-self, their capacity for genuine intimacy is reduced because there is no honesty.

BECAUSE INTIMACY demands a mature and secure environment, it dies quickly in the hands of one who is not mature enough to deal with it. It requires that individuals give and share affections, without the fear of losing ones identity. Of this we are certain, to love, one must first love himself and be secure in who he is. Only when we can come to terms with ourselves can we ever hope to give ourselves to another.

Parents are of utmost importance to their teenagers during this period of development. Through understanding and empathy, they can help their teenagers by serving as good models — expressing and encouraging intimate feelings and emotions within the family, thus stimulating their growth. Probably the key ingredient is the most difficult: listening. Teenagers need opportunities to express their feelings and to get in touch with ones they cannot express. If parents listen openly without criticism or judgment, their support will help the adolescent develop into a loving, honest and mature adult.

OUT OF THE MOUTHS OF BABES by Mrs. Lillie Belle Kramp

Did you ever hear anyone say, "I just cannot memorize scripture." Yet, these same people will be able to tell almost word for word what they read in the paper.

What they are actually saying is, "I don't want to discipline myself that way." This reminds me of an incident which happened to my mother. She was receiving instructions from her doctor after having an exam. One thing he said, "I want you to do this every morning at 7 o'clock."

She looked at him and said, "I just can't get up that early." He answered, "You don't mean that you can't but that you won't." She never answered but actually did what he asked her to do.

Memorizing is hard work and it does take many hours of discipline--putting other things aside. Then there is no such thing as memorizing once for all--review must always take place--so the battle continues.

Diana, 6 years old, had moved to Nebraska from another state where she had not attended kindergarten. Therefore she was forced to enroll in kindergarten though she was six. This was quite an embarrassment to her and probably caused a lack of confidence in her ability to learn.

She wanted to memorize scripture. We were working on a short verse--her first, "I John 1:8." After trying for about thirty minutes, she put her arms around me and began to cry, "Mrs. Kramp, I just can't do it."

I said, "Honey, we won't give up--I'll take all the time that we need to help you with this verse." We had to spend 1 1/2 hours more on it.

With renewed hope she began to work. She read it over 150 times and each time she would try to say it without looking at the words. Finally victory was hers.

You should have seen the smile through the tears--a lovely sight. Diana was with me one year before they moved away. During this time she memorized 35 verses and each one was time-consuming but she persevered.

Again let us remember, "And be not weary in well-doing: for in due season we shall reap, if we faint not."

THOUGHTS FROM WITHIN

-- by Vicki

ISAIAH 40: 28-31
28 Have you not known? Have you not heard? The everlasting God, the Lord the Creator of the ends of the earth, does not faint or grow weary; there is no searching of His understanding.

29 He gives power to the faint and weary, and to him who has no might He increases strength--causing it to multiply and making it abound.

30 Even youths shall faint and be weary, and the selected young men shall feeblely stumble and fall exhausted.

31 But those who wait for the Lord who expect, look for and hope in Him--shall change and renew their strength and power; they shall lift their wings and mount up (close to God) as eagles (mount up to the sun); they shall run and not be weary; they shall walk and not faint or become tired.

This passage of scripture is such a wonderful source of strength and comfort for us. As we read in the 28th verse, we have a God that does not grow weary and never faints, He is everlasting, I praise the Lord for a Heavenly Father that cares so much and He is always close to us and ready to meet our needs. We are a needy people, and God is the Source of all of our needs.

In verse 29 we are told that He gives power to the faint and weary, and to him that have no might and He increases strength. I know we experience everyday in the many things we all have to do, weariness and sometimes we feel we will faint and can't go on but, we can look to God and He will give us the strength we need. He is always ready to meet every need and He promises to supply our every need.

Phil. 4:19, We see in verse 30 even the youth shall faint and be weary, with all the activities and work our young people have today, they need a time of rest, and as we see in verse 31, that those who wait for the Lord who expect, look for and hope in Him shall change and renew their strength and power; they shall lift their wings and mount up (close to God). We all have this privilege to come close to God, He is always listening and waiting for us to come and fellowship with Him. When we do stop and pray and read His Word we are renewed and feel His strength.

There are many needs here in our own community and we as Christians should be aware and pray for these needs.

Some may say what can I do? We can all pray and this is a power and strength for those we are praying for as well the blessing we receive for praying for others. I thank God for the prayers of others. Let us be mindful of this one thing none of us can really make it on our own, we all need God and the way to know God is through His Son Jesus Christ.

The bonds of matrimony aren't worth much unless the interest is kept up.

WHAT'S NEW AT NORTHSIDE?

Mr. and Mrs. Don Riney of Merkle visited in the home of their son and family, Rev. and Mrs. Tommy Riney last weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. J.L. Miller, Jr. and Mrs. J.L. Miller, Sr. were guest at the Thanksgiving supper held Saturday night at the fellowship hall of the church.

Mrs. Charles Hines, formerly of Abernathy, now of Fountain Hills, Ariz., visited church Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Miller of Plainview brought a group of young people from the College Heights Baptist Church in Plainview, and they presented a puppet show at Thanksgiving supper.

Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Rogers have moved from Abernathy to the former farm home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Garyin.

Mrs. H. H. Bower of Houston visited her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Rogers last weekend.

GOOD PSYCHOLOGY

When on a diet, what goes on in your head can be almost as important as what goes into your mouth. Some psychologists say you can convince yourself that you dislike fattening foods and enjoy what's good for you.

Jerry Stewart is home from Methodist Hospital, Lubbock.

SAND SURGE

Forever shifting are the amber grains of an unending sea of thoughtful sand. Each grain is an individual, unique, idea. A concept of careful consideration which is tossed and flung about in a relentless search for truth and happiness.

At times the wind of one's inner self is aroused into a quick and speedy flight across the large dunes of creativity. Which stand as gigantic symbols of a potential genius.

This unseen force erupts suddenly the peaceful solitude of slowly moving grains into a turmoil of spinning. Opinions and facts and meditations of such.

And even when the wind becomes a solemn figure of the past. The grains still float. As they gradually settle toward the surface of the sea. Then, even so, as the last small particle is erased from the air, the sands still are shifting. Ever moving are they in an everlasting grind. The sands of thought move on.

ASU Coed Participates At Barbeque

Miss Cindy Reeves, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Reeves, along with four other students at Angelo State University, were participants at a Barbeque on October 24 at Cristoval, Texas. The girls had entered a barbeque goat contest at Brady earlier, and while there met Mr. Zack Tounget. Tounget cooks barbeque for different occasions and events and was asked to prepare the barbeque for a birthday party in honor of Pecos Pate Boone of Cristoval. He then asked the five coeds of ASU to help him with the barbeque.

Cindy Reeves stated they prepared 14 goats and 200 lbs. of brisket for the party for Mr. Boone in Cristoval, and it was quite an experience.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Reeves attended the barbeque, 350 guests attended.

SEEDS FROM THE SOWER

By Michael A. Guido, Metter, Georgia

No one should disregard criticism that might prove to be helpful, and no one should be discouraged by criticism that could prove harmful.

When the great Polish pianist, Paderewski, first chose the piano, a music teacher told him that his hands were too small to master the keyboard.

When that famous Italian tenor, Caruso, first applied for lessons, a teacher told him that his voice was like "wind whistling through a window."

When that great American evangelist, Moody, closed a service, a critic said, "I counted eighteen mistakes in your grammar tonight." "I am using all the grammar I know for the glory of God," he answered. "Are you doing the same?"

Criticism did not cripple these men, instead it challenged them. They simply did work harder until they had achieved success.

But criticism, kindly given, can be helpful. A believer confessed in Living Psalms 141:5. "Let the godly smite me! It will be a kindness! If they reprove me, it is medicine."

As a rosebush transforms dirt into beauty, so let us be triumphantly transformed by criticism.

SEEDS FROM THE SOWER
By Michael A. Guido, Metter, Georgia

No one should disregard criticism that might prove to be helpful, and no one should be discouraged by criticism that could prove harmful.

When the great Polish pianist, Paderewski, first chose the piano, a music teacher told him that his hands were too small to master the keyboard.

When that famous Italian tenor, Caruso, first applied for lessons, a teacher told him that his voice was like "wind whistling through a window."

When that great American evangelist, Moody, closed a service, a critic said, "I counted eighteen mistakes in your

Criticism did not cripple these men, instead it challenged them. They simply did work harder until they had achieved success.

But criticism, kindly given, can be helpful. A believer confessed in Living Psalms 141:5, "Let the godly smite me! It will be a kindness! If they reprove me, it is medicine."

As a rosebush transforms dirt into beauty, so let us be triumphantly transformed by criticism.
