Train Collection On Display

A collection of H O Gauge model trains is on display at the Abernathy Library through July and August. These trains belong to Jimmy Shuey. Included in the display is a model train layout belonging to Chris Shuey, Jimmy's son. Types of trains on display range from woodburners to Amtrak trains of today. Jimmy has been collecting model trains for approximately 15 years. He presently has over 40 engines and more than 200 railroad cars. He says that he received a model train for Christmas when he was a child and has always had an electric train set since then. The average age of a model railroader is 35 years. True model railroaders need talents of construction engineers, electrical engineers, artists, and carpenters. Of course, the model railroader can obtain plastic model kits or can build his layout from "scratch" using items such as scraps of wood, cardboard, tree limbs, and weeds. The train layout depends on the builder's imagination and it is said that a layout is never truly finished.

Take some time on these hot, summer days to visit your local library. You will be glad you did!

WEEKLY DEVOTIONAL

The God of love created men and women lovable that they might circulate love among themselves and recycle it back to Himself that all might live in harmony and peace, here and hereafter. It is summarized in His words: "Love the Lord with your whole heart and your neighbor as yourself." The basis of universal order hinges on divine authority, direct or delegated. During His lifetime on earth, Jesus promulgated by words and example His directions in the words, "He who loves Me will keep My commandments." Before Jesus died, He delegated authority to the Church He founded with the words, "All power in heaven and on earth is given to me... As the Father sends me, I also send you." Likewise, delegation is indicated to governments in the quotation, "Render to Caesar the things that are Caesar's and to God the things that are God's". Lastly, delegation of authority comes to parents in the commandment, "Honor thy father and thy mother."

One of the major evils of our time is the deterioration and breakdown of respect for authority in the fundamental institutions of our nation, particularly the Church, state, family, and education. It is the prime cause of crime, immorality, and disrespect for life and property. Avaricious desire for greed and gain coupled with sinful pleasures has blinded a great part of mankind to seeing the wisdom of using divine directions that alone can bring peace, order, and happiness to a decaying civilization.

Appreciation Get -- Together To Honor Stalcups

Delwin Webb, Julie was born here in November 1972.

Drama coaching is a year round job with a senior class play each fall, a junior class play each spring and UIL one act play competition between the two. Few people realize the amount of after school time and effort involved in high school drama productions.

Under Stalcup's direction, AHS one act plays won district four times and progressed to area competition.

Many Cast members during the years won All Star Cast and Best Actor and Actress awards.

Parents particularly appreciate Stalcup's unabashed patriotism, something too many students never encounter these days. His unorthodox teaching style made government and world events interesting to teens in spite of themselves. He also stressed individual responsibility in the country's welfare, encouraging voter re-

Former students, their parent, and friends of Gary and Phyllis Stalcup are invited to a casual "Stalcup Appreciation Coffee and Fruit Punch Bash" Tuesday, August 4, 8:30 to 10 p.m. at the Snyers home, 1604 Ave. J.

Hosts will be Mr. and Mrs. Harold Stillwell and Cindv. and Mrs. Sharon Kester. No invitations will be mailed.

The Stalcups and their daughter Julie are moving next week to Corsicana to begin a new phase of his career in education. He will be principal of grades 7-12 of the Mildred Independent School District just outside Corsicana. It's a small school in a new facility and expects rapid growth because of oil in the area. Phyllis will probably take a job in the administration offices of Navarro Jr. College.

Stalcup, who came to Abernathy straight from service in Vietnam in 1970, taught High School History and Government and shouldered responsibility for the junior and senior class plays and UIL drama competition. Phyllis worked her first year here in Dr. Gregory's office and the years since as a secretary to school superintendent Dr.

Older women

AUSTIN, Texas (Spl.) — Because so many older women outlive men, the problem of their aloneness and loneliness is one of the saddest in society, says an official of The University of Texas Hogg Foundation for Mental Health.

"There are nine bridegrooms for every bride over the age of 65," says Bert Kruger Smith. While older men who are widowed often reach back 30 years and find

Dear Sir,

Recently, a guest editorial appeared in the Abernathy Weekly Review entitled, "The Time Has Arrived", written by the president of the Chamber of Commerce. The purpose of this letter is to say "Thank you" to the many people who met this challenge so that you, the residents of the Abernathy Community, could have the services, if needed, of a Jaws-Of-Life rescue tool.

Hundreds of people gave toward this worthwhile project. Everyone of you is to be commended for this community effort. We in the fire department would like to give special Thanks to Joe Lovelace who got out and "Beat the Bushes" for approximately $9,000.00. The fire department did purchase the rescue equipment for $10,500.00. The fund is still open at the First State Bank. We could use several items that complement this Jaws-Of-Life tool.

We, the thirty-five members of the volunteer Fire Department, want to express to each of you our sincere Thanks for a job well done.

Ray Sanders, President, Abernathy Volunteer Fire Department

1913 Burials In Abernathy Cemetery

By Buford F. Davenport
Recently I received a request from a Review reader to find information on the first person buried in Abernathy Cemetery. And, when I asked help in this quest, Mrs. Billy Rankin provided information. She is the former Mildred Reed, a daughter of early settlers the late Mr. and Mrs. Arthur H. Reed.

The general direction she gave to graves of the first-buried were followed, and with the help of Doug Chapman in pinpointing them, we took this information from the grave markers.

E.S. Stanfield-Born November 15th, 1833—Died March 10th, 1913. And, Mary, the wife of L. Kaap—Born June 19th, 1865—Died November 10th, 1913.

While Chapman and I were at the cemetery, we talked with Ernest Nies, who does a good job in taking care of the cemetery. His parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. Richard Neis, and children came to Abernathy from Kansas when he was about two years old, so he knows a lot of Abernathy history. He gave me information similar to that provided by Mildred Rankin.

E.S. Stanfield resided on the east edge of town on what was at one time known as the Emmett Williams place, and in later years, Mr. and Mrs. Arno Struve and family resided there.

Former Abernathian Bill Thomas dug Standfield's grave, reports said.

Mary Kaap, whose husband was employed here on the Santa Fe Railroad's section crew, died at her home at night. The next day, the Kaap child (or children) went to school. When she (or they) arrived at school, the teacher, Mrs. Ola Legg, asked where their lunch was. She said: "mother died last night and there was no one to fix our lunch." Mrs. Legg had not heard of a death in town, so she thought maybe the mother slept late and would bring their lunch by noon.

When noon came and still no lunch, Mrs. Legg questioned the girl again, and received the same answer. Mrs. Legg then went to town and told what the child had said, so some men went to the Kaap home and found it to be true. They found the father in an incapacitated condition in another room, so the information indicated.

Mary Kaap had been dead so long that early stages of decomposition had set in. Some women...including Mrs. Richard Neis, Mrs. W.R. Evans and others...prepared the body for burial. Ernest Neis remembers that burial. It was in the early darkness of that November night, and cars furnished light. Ernest recalls that the car lights were acetylene-operated.

Neis also told us some claim that an old cowboy was buried here before the two in this story. Those who have information on the cowboy burial are urged to call me at 298-2037.

Who was the first person buried in Strip Cemetery northeast of Abernathy? Members of the Lutrick and Ragland families may have this information.—BFD gistration and use of the voting right to those turning 18 during the year.

Stalcup's job in two years of army service, including the year in Vietnam, was in communications in the Combat Engineers. In 1975 he joined the reserves and spent two weeks of every summer since (three weeks this year) on active duty at Fort Bliss. His new step up the career ladder is taken with regret that he'll probably be unable to participate in summer military exercises again.

Gary is from Pasadena, Texas, and Salina, Kansas, and Phyllis is from Oklahoma. He attended Abilene Christian College, Oklahoma Christian College, and graduated from Southwest State College at Weatherford Oklahoma. They married in 1968, ten days before he left for the service. She worked in the State rehabilitation Office in Weatherford near her parents while he was gone. His parents now live in Fort Worth.

Talk Of The Town
Lt. Colonel and Mrs. Joe Ligon (Linda Shire), and children Davy and Lea spent three weeks here in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Shire. They are in-route to the Panama Canal Zone for three years.

Joe will be in charge of Communications for the armed forces of that area.

They visited in the home of her sister Mrs. Joyce Dye in Bedford on their way to New Orleans. They went by ship taking their car with them to New Orleans.

Lt. Colonel Ligon has been in the Air Force twenty-one years, he served in England and Vietnam.

TIPS TO HELP YOU

Q. Is it alright to make hand bound buttonholes even if the sewing instructions suggest machine made ones?

A. Yes, by all means finish the garment to your satisfaction. Hand finished buttonholes add a professional finished look to any garment.

Q. I have a large figure. Can I wear prints?

A. Prints are fine. Stay away from large prints. A small print on a dark background can be very flattering.

Plains Pest Management Report

COTTON
Cotton bollworm activity remains light over most of the area. Light trap collections of adults at 3 out of 4 locations dropped off this past week. Much of the egg laying has been back into corn.

CORN
Most early planted corn is in the dough stage. The blister and dough stages are periods of rapid increase in grain weight. Deficiencies in nutrients or moisture at this time will result in yield reductions.

Southwestern corn borer (SWCB) egg laying activity has increased dramatically during the past week. Light trap collections of adult moths have had an average increase of 75 percent over last weeks trap collections. Infested plant counts range from 0 to 100 percent. Most fields have been averaging around a 20 percent infestation in the Edmonson-Kress area.

Timing of insecticide applications is very important for SWCB control and should be targeted for egg hatch. The small larvae do not immediately bore into the stalk, but can be found feeding behind leaf sheaths, under husks of ears, on ear shanks, kernels and cobs. Larvae will probably not bore into the stalk until after the 3rd instar larval stage is reached.

SORGHUM
Some fields have headed, while others are in the boot stage. Greenbugs are increasing in several fields. Spotting of lower leaves is occurring in a few fields. The economic threshold for pre-heading sorghum is before the death of one normal sized leaf. After heading, the economic threshold is when greenbug numbers are sufficient to cause the death of two normal-sized leaves.

COTTON TALKS
FROM PLAINS COTTON GROWERS, INC.

Substantially higher discounts assigned to below-base cotton qualities in the 1981 government loan schedule make it more important than ever that High Plains cotton producers this fall market their crops only after extensive "price shopping."

Loan schedule discounts on low mike and/or lower staples and grades this year may reflect true market values, says Executive Vice President Donald Johnson of Lubbock-based Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., "but I think it more likely they will not."

Loan schedule premiums and discounts on a given quality are set by using an average of spot market quotations come from markets where very little of that quality cotton is traded," Johnson points out, "and those quotations more often than not are far out of line with values established in the markets where that cotton is traded in volume."

Grade and staple discounts on cotton stapling below an inch are quoted only by markets in Montgomery, Ala., Memphis, Tenn., Dallas, and Lubbock, Tex. Loan discounts for grade and staple this year were established by a simple August-March average of the quotations from these four markets, ignoring the fact that the Dallas and Lubbock markets traded many times as much short staple cotton as did the other two.

To illustrate how this system distorts loan schedule discounts, Johnson cites the fact that in August of last year, the first month included in the averages, the Montgomery-Memphis average quotation on Strict Low Middling 31/32nds (41-31) cotton was 2,025 points, or 20.25 cents per pound. The Dallas-Lubbock average quotation was less than half that figure at 881 points. For the eight-month August-March period, the Montgomery-Memphis average came to 1,061 points, compared with the Dallas-Lubbock average of 668.

A study of quotations on low micronaire cottons, for which the average of all nine official spot markets is used in computing loan discounts, shows equal or even greater discrepancies.

It is too early to predict the quality of High Plains cotton this year, but the stage of the crop and current growing conditions are consistent with hopes that the lower qualities will make up a relatively small percentage of total production.

"Since there is a fairly constant demand for the lower qualities in both domestic and foreign markets," Johnson reasons, "if we produce a below-average volume of these cottons, loan program discounts are almost certain to be above discounts justified by supply-demand factors."

"Since selling cotton at 'so many points over the loan' is an ingrained practice on the Plains," Johnson continues, "it will be difficult for producers to divorce their sales from this system. But in time it can be done if growers pay close attention to the supply-demand balance that exists for the different qualities each year and shop for a price that takes that balance into account."

In Cotton Harvesting... Shorter Season Increases Defoliant Needs

COLLEGE STATION (FANS)—In their process of shortening the cotton season to complete harvesting before the late summer storms, Texas farmers are increasing their need for a chemical defoliant at harvest time, cotton specialists say.

"We want to get the cotton harvested as soon as possible," explains Dr. Robert Netzer, extension cotton specialist at Texas A&M University. "But, desiccants used to prepare the plants for harvest, such as paraquat or arsenic, require a 75 to 80 percent open boll count to be economically effective and also to prevent yield reduction."

To help beat the bad weather, Netzer says, growers can use a defoliant before the desiccant to hasten opening of the mature bolls. The defoliant should be applied when 60 percent of the bolls are open.

Weather conditions are important for this application, according to Doug Nail, Mobil Chemical Company's product manager for Folex defoliant.

"The ideal weather conditions for applying defoliants are warm and sunny days with night time temperatures above 65 degrees F," Nail told the Farm American News Service. "Average conditions—55 to 65 degrees—may require a higher rate of defoliant for goods results."

A desiccant is ensured better coverage on large plants when a defoliant is applied first. Once the desired defoliation has taken place, which may range from four to seven days, then a desiccant is applied.

Spray coverage is crucial with both defoliants and desiccants to get the full effect of the chemicals. The materials don't translocate, so they have to reach each leaf at application. Experts recommend five gallons of spray per acre minimum for aerial application.

At least 15 gallons of spray per acre should be used with ground equipment, and up to 12 gallons by air or 30 gallons on the ground for a tall, rank crop. Large spray droplets help to get the defoliant down into the plants, where it can knock off bottom leaves as well as the upper canopy.

One important rule of thumb Metzer stresses is: don't defoliate acreage faster than you can harvest it.

"For example, you shouldn't defoliate 500 acres at one time if you have the capacity to harvest only 250 acres at any given time," Metzer points out.

If the harvest is delayed, there's an opportunity for regrowth. The second growth adds excess moisture which hampers storage and ginning, and may even impart a green stain to the cotton, which lowers the lint quality.

Kelley And Windham To Attend Workshop

Vocational Agriculture Teachers, some 1600 strong, will gather in San Antonio, August 4, 1981 for the Annual In-Service Education Workshop and Meeting sponsored by the Vocational Agriculture Education Department of the Texas Education Agency, Austin, Texas, under the direction of G.G. Scroggins, State Director, Vocational Agriculture Education.

Attending the In-Service Education Workshop from Abernathy will be Vocational Agriculture Teachers Gerald Kelley and Scotty Windham.

Rural Texans: More healthy?

AUSTIN, Texas (Spl.) — Living in the clean air and less congested areas of rural Texas makes you healthier than city folks. Right? Wrong, says a University of Texas faculty member.

Dr. Mary Walker, who directs the Texas Rural Health Field Services Program, says the mental and physical health of rural Texans is markedly worse than that of city dwellers.

Few health professionals, facilities or services exist where populations are sparse, says Dr. Walker, who has found rural Texans are less educated, poorer and likely to die sooner than urban Texans. It is her belief that if "health" is defined in terms of environmental, physical, mental and social factors, it is inaccurate to say rural residents are receiving health care.

Three Locals Attend Firemen Training School

Ray Sanders, President of the Abernathy Volunteer Fire Department, and firemen Richard Boyles and Charles Bowen have returned from a week's firemen training school held on the Campus of Texas A & M University at College Station.

This was the 52nd Annual Fire Training school to be sponsored by A & M University. Their attendance is not only important to them as firefighters, but it also makes the city of Abernathy eligible for lower individual fire insurance premiums.

Sanders and Bowen were enrolled in fire prevention, while Boyles trained in fire truck pump maintenance.

Approximately 3000 volunteer and paid firemen attended from 28 states and several foreign countries. 300 were women who are

Sticky Shuck Causes Pecans To Drop

Many pecan producers last year complained about their pecans turning black and dropping off early, according to County Agent Ollie Liner.

Liner states that the reason for this is a fungus known as Stem End Blight or Sticky Shuck, that attacks pecans. The control is to spray with Benlate from July 20 to 27 and repeat the application in two weeks. The first application should be done at the initial sign of water development at the end of the nut if the fungicide is to be effective and repeated in 14 days. This stage of pecan usually is from the 20th to 27th of July and this is when the spraying should start, Liner said.

THE LAKEVIEW PHILOSOPHER

Don't Move To Small Towns!

Editor's Note: The Lakeview Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm is up in arms this week.

Dear editor:

I dislike calling its name in public this year but Newsweek has done a great disservice to the small towns of this country.

It has come out with a long story, featured on the cover, about the advantages of living in such places, showing pleasant pictures of smalltown life as contrasted with the rat race of city living.

It points out also that for the first time in a hundred years the percentage of city people moving to small towns is greater than the percentage of small towns moving to cities.

This will be the ruination of small towns. They should start a national advertising campaign at once pointing out the disadvantages of living in a small town. Point out that life in a small town isn't quiet and peaceful, that you can't even walk down the street without somebody's speaking to you and even calling you by

Ramos Promoted

Marine Sgt. Rogelio R. Ramos, son of Guadalupe L. and Louise Ramos of 3317 W. Colgate, Lubbock, Texas, and whose wife, Ester, is the daughter of Felipe Trevino of P.O. Box 615, Abernathy, has been promoted to his present rank while serving with 2nd Light Airaircraft Missile Battalion, Marine Corps Air Station, Yuma, Arizona.

Avoid buying sweet potatoes with decayed portions or injuries to skin. Even if cut away, the remainder of the potato may have a bad taste.

name, interrupting your city thoughts on how to skin somebody. Everybody knows what you're doing, even when you aren't doing anything.

Newsweek interviewed some city people who've moved to small towns and reported that they said they'd found small towners aren't as dumb as they'd thought. Immediately small towners should start acting dumb when city people show up looking the place over, the better to outsmart them when they move in.

Since I live in the country you may be wondering why I'm disturbed about city people moving to small towns. It's simple. If city people overrun a small town, it won't be small any more. First thing you know they'll catch on and flee to the country, and that'd be the ruination of country life. Tell them there isn't room for them out here, even President Reagan is setting a bad example. When he needs a rest from Washington, what does he do? He heads for his ranch.

The other week I was poking fun at city mayors for running to Washington for help. I made a mistake. Cities should get all the Federal grants they need. Anything to keep city people staying where they are.

Yours faithfully,
J.A.

Students Attend Debate Workshop

Four students from Abernathy attended a Summer Debate Workshop for two weeks, June 29th thru July 11th at Texas Tech in Lubbock.

Attending were Jimmy Salitros (Junior), Carolyn Brantley (Freshman), Robert Brantley (Junior), and Rynn Dunn (Junior).

The workshop consisted of class work, lectures and they wrote debate cases. They are working towards UIL this fall, hoping to win District, Regional, and State. Sponsors were Charlotte Carter and Bitsy Aldridge who are behind them all the way Mrs. Aldridge feels that Debate is the hardest UIL event that is offered. They have to stay on top of news events. The Debate Team goes to tournaments throughout the year starting in the fall.

Mrs. Aldridge stated that it takes an intelligent person to debate. She feels that they have good debates this year. She requires the students to attend workshops, it helps them to prepare for fall tournaments.

This is Robert's second year, and Jimmy's third year in Debate.

Webb On U. T. Honor Roll

The College of Communication at The University of Texas named 330 students to the 1981 Spring Semester honor roll.

To qualify for the honor roll, students must have completed 12 or more semester hours of graded work with a grade-point average of 3.5 or higher and no grade less than a C. (A equals 4 points).

The honor list, announced by Dean Robert C. Jeffrey, includes from Abernathy-Melissa Ann Webb, of 1110 Second.

Utilities Sign Letter Of Intent To Build

A major, joint electric utility interconnection in New Mexico, linking the Southwest and the Western electrical grid, moved closer to reality today with the signing of a formal letter of intent by Southwestern Public Service Company, Texas-New Mexico Power Company and El Paso Electric Company.

Further action awaits completion of engineering studies and is subject to approval of the board of directors of each company and of all regulatory bodies having jurisdiction.

Some 150,000-to-200,000 kilowatts of electrical energy would be supplied by Southwestern Public Service Company and fed into a new transmission line, tying the three New Mexico systems together.

Spokesmen for the three involved utilities have announced that their service territories would benefit substantially from the interconnection in two important respects: 1) electric power could be imported for their respective systems as necessary, and 2) surplus or off-peak electricity can be exported for re-sale in the Western grid, outside their systems. Such export sales could prove significant, because the Western grid primarily generates its power using fuel oil, as opposed to the less-expensive coal which fires Southwestern's new generating stations.

The three companies have allocated engineering funds for the project, but a specific work timetable has not yet been finalized.

Southwestern Public Service Company serves eastern New Mexico, the Panhandle and South Plains of Texas, the Oklahoma Panhandle and southwestern Kansas. Texas-New Mexico Power Company serves the southwestern quarter of New Mexico and 77 cities in Texas. El Paso Electric Company provides service for customers in south central New Mexico and West Texas.

In ancient Rome, unmarried girls were prohibited by law from wearing pearls. Instead, the pearls were worn by young men, who placed the pearls in tiny bells which, hanging from their ears, tinkled gaily.

Allsup's Preparing For Jerry Lewis Telethon

Allsup's Convenience Stores, Inc., participants in the Jerry Lewis Muscular Dystrophy Telethon, will conduct pre-telethon activities during the month of August, according to Kurt Verlei, Director of Public Relations. The Company will display collection canisters in all 207 Allsup's Convenience Stores throughout New Mexico, Texas, and Oklahoma.

"This is a very important part of fund raising prior to the telethon," said Verlei. "The Association receives no tax supported grants nor does it seek or receive fees from patients or their families." Verlei added, "Their programs are funded almost entirely by private contributors and corporations and, of course, through the Labor Day Telethon."

The Muscular Dystrophy Association is currently seeking causes and cures for 40 crippling neuromuscular related disorders. Free diagnostic services, therapeutic and rehabilitative follow-up care are provided by Muscular Dystrophy Association's 230 clinics at no cost to any individual suffering from one of the diseases covered by the Muscular Dystrophy Association.

Anderson Given Promotion In Navy

Anderson's will also be conducting the Allsup's Doorbell Brigade. Area youngsters are encouraged, on August 29 and 30, 1981, to visit their local Allsup's store and pick up a collection packet. After collecting donations for Jerry's kids and returning them to the store, Allsup's will give them a free fountain drink of their choice. Verlei said, "We thank our customers in advance for their generosity and look forward to working with area youngsters in the fight against Muscular Dystrophy."
