GOVERNMENT TO HANDLE COTTON SITUATION

The best, the most plausible, and the most sensible plan to help the cotton farmer, was proposed a few days ago, in London, by Sir Charles Wright Macara, president of the Federation of Master Cotton Spinners and Manufacturers. He suggested a joint valorization by the British and American Governments to take over the surplus raw cotton in the United States and create raw cotton prices now and in future years.

This suggestion was made at a luncheon in connection with the organization of the proposed Institute of Industry and Commerce, which was attended by Earl Grey, former Governor General of Canada; Sir George H. Reid, High Commissioner for Australia, and representative of all other English possessions, who are endeavoring to establish a great institution under which England will be able to foster trade between different parts of the Empire.

Sir Charles Macara, in his address, said the excess of cotton now on the market because of the cutting off of the continental market, has created such uncertainty in the prices that buying is at a standstill, and that the Lancashire mills certainly must soon close. The result of this, he said, would be the virtual destruction of the cotton industry in England, the ruin of thousands of American cotton planters, who would turn their land to other crops, thus upsetting the world's supply in future years.

By creating a cotton reserve, Sir Charles declared the two governments virtually concerned, could protect from appalling disaster, millions of people engaged in growing, handling and manufacturing of cotton, with the possibility of no ultimate loss. The speaker referred to 1904 when the scarcity of cotton, he said, created a crisis in the trade, which might have been averted had the governments held a reserve supply. A worse crisis now has come through an over supply as a result of the war between the continent countries engaged in the manufacture of cotton.

Such crisis Sir Charles said, could be averted only by governmental action in taking over the planters' cotton, thus enabling the producers to meet their debts and permitting the English mills to operate part of the time with the assurance that prices would be steady.

If the governments concerned would operate to provide funds by which the surplus cotton in the years of plenty could be purchased and stored and held over until years when the crop did not meet the demand of the trade. According to Sir Charles, this policy at once would have a steady effect on the price of raw cotton, and be of great advantage to every one in the trade.

Such a project, according to the speaker, might involve $300,000,000, but there would be little or no risk at the price at which the cotton would be purchased, and it might save disaster to one of the world's greatest industries, and in addition prove a great factor to the world's future prosperity.

Earl Grey, in his address, commented on the half million Canadians of German descent. "These Germans" said Earl Gray, "love the condition which they find in Canada as much as they hate the condition they leave behind, and if we can obtain a larger influx of such Germans into our dominions, we shall have a combination of German culture under free institutions founded not upon might, but upon right."

SPEED IN A BASEBALL

C. H. Cloudy, in an article in The Scientific American has given some interesting facts. He said: "The bases are 90 feet apart. The fastest time ever made about the base was thirteen and four fifths seconds. First base has been made on a bunt in three and one fifth seconds, but the time is very unusual, 4 seconds flat being good time. Infield grounders average about 88 feet per second. The pitcher throws the ball at the rate of 100 to 120 feet a second such is thrown by Walter Jackson or Jog Wood. The best arm throw on record is 426 feet 9 1/2 inches. There is no record of a fly batted over the fence for the small boy always gets the ball before the distance can be measured, but it would come well up to 500 feet. The ball travels from the pitcher to the batter in a half second."

JOHNSTON-ROBERTS.

At high noon Monday, October 5th, at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Johnson, the marriage of their only daughter, Miss Seawillow Johnson, to Mr. Benton Roberts was impressively solemnized by her pastor, Dr. W. F. Packard, the ring ceremony being used.

The artistic decorations done in golden rods and ferns lent a beautiful setting for the ceremony. Mrs. B. B. Harris, in a particularly pleasing manner sang "Beautiful Love," which most appropriately applied to the individual charms of the bride. Drifting from the last notes, Miss May Jones played Mendelssohn's wedding march, which brought the bride and groom before Dr. Packard, where they took the marriage vows, during which time Miss Jones and Mrs. Harris played "Love's Sweet Song" softly.

The dainty little bride was radiant in her elegant tailored costume of midnight blue cloth with blended accessories. Her only ornament was a handsome diamond bar pin, the gift of the groom. She possesses the rare combination of beauty and intellect that, together with her splendid social attainments, has served to make her beloved by all who know her.

The groom is in every way worthy of the prize he has won, bearing as he does the stamp of approval of the business and social world. He comes from Crockett, in which place the couple will reside.

Mr. and Mrs. Roberts were the happy recipients of many beautiful and useful presents. Among these were found ten shares in the Marlin National Bank from Mr. W. E. Johnson, the father of the bride; an elegant solid silver coffee urn and set, carrying five twenty-dollar bills and a handsome cut glass pitcher from the Retail Merchants' Association of Marlin, which bore the following card:

"You were loyal and true to your home town, and we wish you all the happiness and prosperity you so justly deserve. Crockett's gain is Marlin's loss."

The out-of-town guests for the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Broadhard of Whitewright; Mr. J. T. Roberts, father of the groom, from Whitewright; Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Ware and Mr. C. L. Gause of Fort Worth; and Messrs. Will Dupree, Downs Foster, Charlie Long, and Henry Ellis, friends of the groom from Crockett; Mr. Everett H. Johnson, brother of the bride, from Kansas City.

Mr. and Mrs. Roberts left on the I. & G. N. for Crockett, followed by the good wishes of hundreds of friends and admirers.

A noticeable compliment to a deservedly popular young bride was the first and only gift ever made by the Retail Merchants of Marlin. This took the form of a beautiful cut glass water pitcher and went to Miss Seawillow Johnson in grateful remembrance of the fact that she bought her entire trousseau in Marlin, and thus perpetuated their slogan of "buy at home." Miss Johnson has won the hearts of all the Marlin merchants, and she goes to her new home with their good wishes for her happiness and prosperity that she so justly deserves.—Marlin Democrat.

Some Reasons Why

We Think we are Entitled to Your Business

EVERY store has its customers---every individual has his preference in a place to trade. Some here---some there, and every one has a reason for trading at his particular place.

Now we perform no miracles, but we do believe we do know how to buy and sell goods. How to buy and sell goods to the mutual benefit of ourselves and our customers. When we established this business practically twenty-five years ago, it was done with the determination to build a business. A business which would mean success and we feel that it has been such. It is not a game of chance with us, it is not a scheme, nor is it an experiment. It is a matter of business, built upon honest principles of buying and selling goods. We know what our goods cost, and we know what it costs us to do business and what we must have for our goods to make a profit. Swapping dollars makes no profit and every merchant must make a profit and if you will think for a moment you will know that he does. Our business has increased till we are the largest distributors of merchandise in this whole part of the country, and this is not because we have sold goods at a big profit either. It is because we have sold goods in such large quantities that we were enabled to sell them at smaller profits. When you are thinking of buying a bill of goods, be it small or large, stop for a minute and think where you should buy this bill and reason why. No use to tell you that we have the largest stock in this town and country. By the way, every once and a while you will notice in other ads that some other merchant has the largest stock too, but drop in and take a look, be your own judge. One of our stepping stones to success has been "Honesty in advertising." We do not say the biggest stock always affords the best values however. But we do believe we can give you better values than you can get elsewhere. It is easy to write and talk but we really believe this to be a fact that this store is the best place to trade in Haskell. Come and see.

Austin, Texas, Oct. 7, 1914
Mr. R. R. English, Co. Clk.
Haskell, Texas.

Dear Sir:

On account of the financial condition existing at the present time, I write this to say you may say to your banks and to such citizens as may make inquiry that I will not expect remittances on interest due the first of November present year, to be as numerous and as prompt as they have been heretofore. I am writing this so that your people may know that they will be in no danger of having their land forfeited any time soon after the first of November if their interest is not paid promptly. You further understand that before I declare forfeitures I will notify the people. Those who can do so, of course, ought to pay their interest promptly.

Please show this letter to your banks.

Yours truly,
J. T. Robinson,
Commissioner of the General Land Office.

8^c For Your Cotton 8^c

We Will Continue to Pay 8 Cents for Your Cotton

WE advertised last week that we would pay 8 cents for Cotton in Merchandise until further notice. We made this offer as an experiment, and we find that the principle has met with the approval of every farmer who has given our plan any study. When we wrote our ad, cotton was selling for 6 3-4 to 7 1-4 cents per pound. By the time our ad reached the farmer, cotton was selling from 6 to 6 1-2 cents per pound.

Although we had reserved the privilege to withdraw or reduce our price according to the market price of cotton, we have continued to pay eight cents for every bale of cotton brought to us. Quite a number have taken advantage of this liberal proposition and every one have expressed themselves as being pleased with their goods and prices.

We will continue to pay eight cents for your cotton in merchandise as long as we can. While we reserve the privilege to withdraw or reduce this price without notice, We Guarantee to Sell you, Regardless of the Price we pay you for Cotton, your Dry Goods at ROCK BOTTOM CASH PRICES.

Get down and figure on this, if you have been holding your cotton for eight cents, you can now realize the same as that much cash on it. You need the goods and on our plan, you buy them at absolutely cash prices. We don't have any long credit prices at our store.
