YOUR HEART IS A MUSCLE—one of the largest—and needs exercise just like the rest of your body, says Dr. Mary Ann Shirer, a health education specialist. A routine exercise program can strengthen your heart and lower your resting heart rate, she says.

An effective exercise plan will be one that suits your lifestyle. Follow one you can stay with the rest of your life with just a few modifications, Shirer advises.

Consult your physician before starting any strenuous exercise program, she adds. Shirer is on the home economics staff of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

serve the people of Shallowater due to the fact that I have worked successfully on many projects in Shallowater. Having served on the Council, I have worked on the city budget and re-evaluation of the tax system and worked on the recent large projects such as water projects, planning of the sewage treatment plant and increasing the size of the Volunteer Fire Dept. facilities.

My day to day work is in the construction of municipal water and sewer projects. I have been in contact with many people in the West Texas area who deal with municipal utilities. For these reasons I feel that I am able to help Shallowater to grow while maintaining adequate city services. I am seeking the position of Alderman because I am interested in the welfare of the community, as I have always been, and I believe that I can be of service to Shallowater.

3. At present the city of Shallowater is financially sound and is able to provide very good city services. Our immediate problem areas are financing the completion of our water and sewer systems. These projects are necessary to keep pace with Shallowater's growth.

4. I believe that the short range goal for Shallowater should be the completion of the water projects and updating the sewage facilities without putting an excessive burden on the city.

5. A long term goal for the city has to be finding an adequate surface supply of water for the city because Shallowater is growing and its need for water will grow in proportion. This problem encompasses the entire state of Texas and Shallowater has shown leadership in recognizing that there is a problem. Therefore, Shallowater must begin its search for water now.

6. An Alderman of Shallowater must represent its citizens and always have the best interest of the city as a whole in mind at all times. An Alderman must look to the future of Shallowater as a growing thriving community and lay the foundations today for that future.

Shallowater 4-H News

Several Shallowater 4-H members recently completed a leathercraft project taught by Glen Burgett, Johnna Pointer, Tammy Elliott, Matt Burgett, Shannon Stephens, Dusty Greaves, Carol Masten, Brent Bishop, and Christy Witcher assembled and hand-tooled leather belt buckles or checkbook covers.

A Consumer Education project, to instruct wise buying, began this week. Shallowater 4-H members attended a workshop on buying Tuesday.

The workshop was conducted by Christi Waters at Southwestern Public Service.

Livestock, Dairy, and Horse Judging teams are being organized. A practice session is scheduled for Thursday, March 25th after school. Any 4-H'ers interested in participating should contact Becky Greaves.

The next regular 4-H meeting will be held April 5 at 7:00 p.m. in the Community Club House.

Crowther-Smith Exchange Vows In Double-Ring Ceremony

Debra Kay Crowther and Timothy J. Smith were united in marriage at 7:00 p.m., Monday, March 15, in the First United Methodist Church in Shallowater. Rev. Al Jennings, pastor, officiated the double-ring ceremony.

Parents of the bride are Mrs. Retha Crowther and the late Jack O. Crowther of Shallowater. The groom's parents are Mrs. Katherine (Elton) Polvadore of Ralls and Robert Smith of Pomona, California.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Lynn T. Crowther of Amarillo. Her attendants were Miss Mary Gauna, maid of honor and Miss Kim Chandler, bridesmaid. Best Man was Win Polvadore, brother of the groom and Mark Cullimore of Brownfield was groomsman. Ushers were Charles Harris and Alan Fairbairn. Guests were registered by Miss Debbie Kimbrell. Organist was Mrs. Effie Lee Middlebrook.

Following the ceremony, a reception was given in Fellowship Hall of the church with Miss Mary Gauna and Miss Linda Wiley serving the bridal cake and punch.

Following rehearsal the previous Saturday evening, a dinner was hosted by the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elton Polvadore, at Acuff Steak House.

The groom graduated from Ralls High School and South Plains College and attends Texas Tech University. He is employed by Texas Boys Ranch.

The bride graduated from Shallowater High School and attends South Plains College in Levelland. They will make their home in Lubbock.

Lion's Eye Bank Report

The following is a report from Lions Eye Bank president, Joe Randolph of Shallowater.

You may never really understand the importance of the Lions Eye Bank unless you or a loved one needs it services. A happy time suddenly turns to tragedy by severe eye injury while the children are at play. A workman suddenly has a severe eye injury while a chip of steel or chemical burn to the eyes.

If any of these things happen to you or one of your loved ones, then you will immediately experience the concern that the Lions of your community and the Lions Eye Bank of District 2-T-2 already have.

The Lions Eye Bank, Inc., is located at Thompson Hall on the Tech campus, phone 792-2242. The Eye Bank has enucleation centers (Removal of the eyes) in Lubbock, Plainview, Littlefield, Levelland, Muleshoe, Snyder, and more centers are planned for all hospitals on the South Plains.

If you would like to donate your eyes after death, contact any Lion in your area. The Lions Eye Bank has received 13 sets of eyes since the first of July, helping approximately 20 people regain their sight.

We have one paid employee, Mary Putman, Executive Secretary. The Board of Directors has 18 members, including two Ophthalmologists from the Medical School. The Lions Directors drive many miles giving programs to any clubs or organizations that request them. We do this at our own expense.

There is nothing like the feeling of satisfaction when you have a part in helping someone regain their sight. Lions truly believe that the person that gives his eyes never really dies.

Mayo To Play In All-Star Game

Names of girls playing in the 12th Annual Golden Spread All-Star Game were released by the Amarillo Chamber of Commerce National Women's Invitational Basketball Tournament officials this week.

Melissa Mayo, of New Deal, will be playing on the East All Star Team.

Divided into East and West teams, 30 high school girls from throughout the Panhandle have been invited to play March 27 in the All-Star Game at the Amarillo Civic Center. Held during the NWIT, the All-Star Game brings high school seniors in contact with top women's collegiate basketball coaches and players.

The All-Star Game has become a Panhandle institution giving outstanding senior girls an opportunity to play before a large crowd of basketball enthusiasts, according to Ed Mills, who co-chairs the selection committee with Melinda Chaffin.

This game gives well deserved recognition to girls who represent the cream of high school basketball players in the Golden Spread area, Chaffin said.

DON'T DEFAULT ON A LOAN. It can be costly, says Bonnie Piernot, a family resource management specialist.

For example, if a bank customer accepts—or co-signs—a loan an agreement that has a "right of offset" provision and if the loan becomes delinquent, the bank can possess funds in the customer's checking or savings account to recover the unpaid part of the loan.

Crucial Decision Faces Grain, Cotton Producers

One of the most crucial and immediate decisions facing grain and cotton producers is whether to participate in the acreage reduction program announced by the U.S. Department of Agriculture, says an economist in marketing and policy with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

Dr. Ron Knutson explains that American agriculture has again entered a period of surplus production—at least temporarily—and the Reagan Administration has responded to these conditions by announcing production controls on all major grains and cotton.

"The 1982 farm program requires that cotton, wheat and rice producers reduce their planted acreage by 15 percent and feed grain growers reduce planted acreage by 10 percent," Knutson says.

He points out that farmers who choose not to participate won't have access to any of the farm program benefits.

"They will have to fend for themselves in the market place," Knutson says.

Many Texas farmers and ranchers have already planted their wheat or prepared their land for planting sorghum, rice, corn or cotton—and in southern parts of the state some of these crops have been planted. The initial "gut" reaction of these producers is likely to be not to participate, Knutson says.

"Producers will find that if they analyze and compute the acreage reduction decision on a crop-by-crop and farm-by-farm basis, there are net benefits from participation," Knutson explains. He points out that an economic decision on acreage reduction involves weighing the costs of reduction against the benefits.

Costs of participation include the income foregone from the reduced acreage, any costs that have already been sunk into the reduced acres, and maintenance costs.

In regard to wheat, for example, any returns from grazing out or making hay on the reduced acreage should be subtracted from these costs, Knutson says.

Benefits of taking part in the acreage reduction program include potential deficiency payments, access to the farmer-owned reserve and access to the non-recourse loan, Knutson explains.

"These benefits could run as high as 14 cents a pound for cotton, 95 cents per bushel for wheat, 50 cents per bushel for corn, 91 cents per hundredweight for grain sorghum and $2.71 cents per hundredweight for rice," Knutson says.

Whether farmers realize these maximum benefits, however, depends on market conditions and grower access to the farmer-owned reserve.

"Even if they realize only 50 percent of the benefits, many Texas farmers and ranchers will find participation will increase their profits," Knutson says.

Farmers who choose not to participate in acreage reduction programs will assume substantially increased price and income risk during times of surplus production. Thus, every farmer should carefully evaluate participation in the acreage reduction program, the economist says.

COTTON TALKS
FROM PLAINS COTTON GROWERS, INC.

LUBBOCK, Friday, March 12, 1982

Desperate circumstances call for desperate actions.

That thinking prevailed among financially distressed farmers on the Board of Lubbock-based Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. when they voted March 11 to support the concept of a farmer held reserve program for cotton.

The vote, taken in a three-hour specially called meeting, was 22 for, 5 against, with one abstention. That more than met the two-thirds majority vote required on policy decisions by the organization's by-laws.

Most discussion in the meeting revolved around a reserve plan being pushed by Ms. Nita Gibson of Seminole, President of Cotton Pool, Inc. However the PCG Board declined to support the specific details of that proposal, electing instead to first confer with USDA officials and others whose concurrence with the mechanics of any proposed program will be necessary to its chances for adoption.

Even so, comment at the meeting made it clear that proponents of the reserve program consider two parts of the Gibson proposal to be essential to its achieving the desired results.

One of these, the eligibility of unsold 1981 crop cotton to enter a reserve program at 150 percent of each producer's average Commodity Credit Corporation loan value, appeared to offer the greatest attraction. It would bring producers an extra return of about $100 per bale on uncommitted 1981 production, making it possible for at least some producers to survive the immediate threat of financial ruin.

The other feature noted as critical to the success of a reserve program would require that producers using the reserve reduce 1982 plantings an additional 10 percent above the voluntary 15 percent reduction already a prerequisite to eligibility for cotton program benefits.

Noting the huge stocks that have accumulated in the five-year-old feed grain and wheat reserves and the attendant low prices for those commodities, more than one director stated they could never support any reserve program for cotton that did not provide for acreage cutbacks to control production.

PCG March 12 notified the Secretary of Agriculture, area congressmen and Texas Senators of its newly adopted reserve program position. The next step in effectuating the position, according to PCG Executive Vice President Donald Johnson, will be a meeting March 16 between top level USDA officials, Ms. Gibson and a member or members of the PCG Board.

COTTON TODAY
A NATIONAL COTTON COUNCIL SERVICE

GINNS ARE NOT PART OF DUST REVIEW: Occupational Safety and Health Administration's acting director of health standards programs, John Martonik, has confirmed that cotton gins will not be considered part of the current review of the cotton dust standard.

In a letter to the National Cotton Council, Martonik said gins could be considered at a later date, however.

In the OSHA proposed notice of rulemaking on February 9, gins' status was unclear. The cotton dust standard for gins was separate from the non-ginning industry and was vacated in 1980 by the Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals, the Council reports.

MAID GOES TO WASHINGTON: Maid of Cotton Jann Carl is taking the cotton industry's message to audiences in Washington, D.C., this week.

The highlight will be a cotton fashion show hosted by Secretary of Agriculture and Mrs. John Block. Congressional wives, Mrs. Block, and the Maid will model garments in the show benefitting the Washington Youth Gardens, the National Cotton Council reports.

Other activities during the week include a luncheon with key Congressmen and industry leaders, visits with individual Congressmen, a special White House tour, and meetings with executives of Foreign Agricultural Service which co-sponsors the Maid's overseas tour on behalf of U.S. cotton.

TRANSITION

Charles B. Beaton

Charles B. Beaton, 42, of Monahans was killed in an automobile accident Sunday, March 14. The accident occurred near Monahans.

Beaton was born August 16, 1939 and was a former resident of Wilcox and resided there a number of years. He had recently moved back to Texas and was employed by Haleburton Oil Company.

Services were held at 2:00 p.m. Thursday, March 18 at the Church of Christ in Wilcox. Ray Garey officiated and burial was in Sunset Cemetery.

Survivors include his wife, Joy; a daughter, Brenda Harguess of Wilcox; a son, Brent Hall of Dallas; his mother, Winnie Beaton of Sunsites; a sister, Winette Parr of Friona and five grandchildren.

Beaton was a nephew of Iva Rhodes of Abernathy.

Emma Sageser

Emma Pool Sageser was born near Cameron, Texas August 21, 1896 and died March 18, 1982. She is survived by four children: Mrs. C.H. McCluskey of Friona; Mrs. W.E. Burnett and Jack Sageser, both of Cotton Center; Max Sageser of Dimmitt; one sister, Mrs. Vertie Stambaugh, of Abernathy; 11 grandchildren and 6 great grandchildren.

Emma Pool married Forest Sageser December 22, 1922. They resided in the Cotton Center community until Forest's death in November 1959. In November 1960, she moved to Abernathy where she and her two sisters, Mrs. Beth Harp and Mrs. Vertie Stambaugh, made their home.

Mrs. Emma Sageser had a full and colorful life. She was always involved with church, school, and community life. At the age of 12 she moved to West Texas with her family. She graduated from Plainview High School and graduated as valedictorian of Wayland Baptist College in May of 1916. She also attended Hardin Simmons University.

She taught school for 7 years in the one to two teacher schools at East Mound, Bartonsite and Norfleet. She could tell very interesting stories about the settlement and development of West Texas.

Mrs. Sageser became a Christian at 12 years of age and her church activities were always very important to her. She was a charter member of the First Baptist Church of Cotton Center where she taught the adult ladies' class for 31 years. After moving to Abernathy in 1960, she taught for 16 additional years. She enjoyed being a part of the Lord's work and a member of the Baptist Church for 73 years.

Mirl Jackson

Services for Mirl Jackson, 69, of 908 E. Purdue St. Lubbock, were at 2 p.m. Saturday at Mount Pleasant Baptist Church in Lorenzo with the Rev. Clarence Brown, pastor, officiating.

Burial was in Ralls Cemetery under direction of Jamison and Son Funeral Home of Lubbock.

Jackson died Tuesday in South Park Hospital in Lubbock after a lengthy illness.

The Sulphur Springs native had lived in Lubbock since 1950.

Survivors include a daughter, Geraldine Hamilton of Abernathy; five grandchildren; and nine great-grandchildren.

Joyce Criswell

Services for Joyce Ray McCune Criswell, 55, of Eastland, were at 2:30 p.m. Friday at Wallace Funeral Chapel in Tulia with the Rev. Charles Davenport, pastor of First Baptist Church of Tulia, officiating.

Burial was in Rose Hill Cemetery under direction of Wallace Funeral Home.

Mrs. Criswell died Wednesday in Eastland at her home after an apparent accident drowning in a pond in her back yard. Justice of the Peace I.W. Ussery ruled the death accidental.

The former Joyce McCune was born Feb. 23, 1927 in Tulia. She lived near Cotton Center with her parents for a while before moving back to Tulia until about 10 years ago when she moved to Eastland County.

Mrs. Criswell was a Baptist.

She is survived by a brother, Harold McCune of Abernathy.

Virgil Newton

Services for Virgil Newton, 85, of Petersburg were at 2:30 p.m. Wednesday in the Main St. Church of Christ with Terry Newton, pastor, officiating, assisted by Blacky Ellison and Dean Brookshire.

Burial was in Petersburg Cemetery under the direction of Chambers Funeral Home.

He was a native of Vashti. He came to Cone in 1929 and has lived in Petersburg for 52 years. He was a gin owner and manager. He was a member of the Main Street Church of Christ.

Survivors include three sons, Clifton of Abernathy, Harold of Petersburg and Carl of Bueno Vista, Col.; a daughter, Lucille Williams of Lubbock; 10 grandchildren; and six great grandchildren.

Nephews were pallbearers.

William E. Potter

Memorial services for William E. Potter, 48, of Bar Harbor, Maine, and formerly of Shallowater were at 2 p.m. Wednesday at the First Baptist Church with the Rev. Wayne Williams of Lubbock officiating.

Potter died Saturday in a Coreopolis, Penn., hospital after an apparent heart attack.

He was a native of Caryell County and married Alice McDonald Aug. 27, 1954, in Great Lakes, Ill.

Survivors include his wife of Maine; a daughter, Kathy of Utah; two sons, Kent of Maine and Kevin of Virginia; his mother, Mrs. K.L. Potter of Shallowater; two sisters, Melba Adams of Shallowater and Norma Ledbetter of Tulia; and a brother, Dalton of Shallowater.

The family suggests memorials to the Audubon Society.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor,

F.W. "Ted" Crouch, Jr., Director of the Federal Crop Insurance Field Operations for Texas, joins Charles Wayne Mayfield State Executive Director of ASCS in extending congratulations to the farmers of Texas on Ag-Day 1982.

In the past ten years the number of people fed by one American farmer has increased 50 percent from 45 to 68 people. This is both a sobering thought and tremendous achievement.

Farmers have every reason to be proud of Ag-Day 1982, and the Federal Crop Insurance Corporation and the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service thank them for their accomplishments.

Caring For Contacts
If you're wearing contact lenses, they'll need special care. Contact lenses should be kept clean and free of germs. When you go to bed or swim, remove your contacts first. Avoid irritating vapors and substances that could have an adverse effect on the lens. On the list of "no-no's" are such things as cosmetics, lotions, soaps, creams, and hair sprays. Don't let your contacts come in contact with them.
Both contacts and glasses should fit properly to do you the most good and provide the most comfort. This is especially important with contacts, which rest directly on your eyes.
Maybe you should have them checked. Many people have their eyes checked once a year, whether they're aware of a problem or not. Your eyes change gradually, and even a slight improvement in correcting your vision can make a difference. So does the comfort of your contacts. If you're not sure you have a good fit or are seeing as well as you should, now's a good time to make sure.
