Council approves police car, city election details

By FLOYD INGRAM

Winters Enterprise Editor

Winters needs new police vehicles, but will settle for a used one.

The Winters City Council voted to allow Winters Police Chief Nathan Johnson to spend up to $14,000 on a used cruiser and trade in two old 2003 Impalas.

"I've tried to be a good steward of the city's money and have serviced and maintained what I've got the best I could," Johnson told the board Monday night. "I am keenly aware of the financial situation the city faces, but we could end up putting good money in bad vehicles.'

Johnson gave the board seven options on what they might do from purchasing new vehicles to maintaining the current fleet.

On a motion by Councilman Rene Woffenden and a second by Rick Dry, the council gave Johnson the authority to buy a used police car and get two of the older vehicles off the city inventory.

"I don't need high speed pursuit vehicles," said Johnson. "I need good, solid, reliable transportation.

"I have detractors that say we don't do enough traffic patrol, but the way I work, we don't need those high powered cars," Johnson added. "And we don't beat up your

The city's last vehicles were purchased with grant money and Johnson said he had been unable to locate a grant this year. Johnson did point out he got a 3 percent loan for the purchase from a local

The council agreed the police department needed new vehicles.

'Those police cars are a lot like fire trucks," said Woffenden in making his motion. "They need to start up, run right and go where you want them to go."

Input sought at Natural Resource Conservation meeting

FROM STAFF REPORTS

The USDA Natural Resources Conservation Service (NRCS) and the Runnels County Soil and Water Conservation District invite the public and any agencies with an interest in conservation issues to participate in a Local Work Group meeting to be held at Ballinger Community Center in Ballinger.

The purpose of the meeting is to receive input from a broad range of local agencies, organizations, businesses, and individuals that have an interest in natural resource conditions and needs in Runnels County.

The meeting will be at 9 a.m. Wednesday, Feb. 3.

Input received will allow the local work group to make recommendations on resource concerns to be addressed for county-based funding.

These recommendations will be used in implementing the Environmental Quality Incentives Program (EQIP) and other conservation programs offered by NRCS.

The 2008 Farm Bill stipulates that conservation programs must continue to be locally led. Through stake holder meetings, the public is given an opportunity to help local conservation leaders set program priorities.

These meetings are open to the public.

For more information, call the USDA Service Center office in Ballinger at 325-365-3415.

Service center locations and program information can be found on the Texas NRCS Web site at www.tx.nrcs.usda.

Drilling day and night

Ringo Drilling LLP has erected a rig in the 1000 block of Novice Road north of Winters. The spud date or, date drilling started, was just before Christmas and the rig continues to turn this week. The rig is just across the street from a residential neighborhood that has benefitted from the petroleum exploration.

In Runnels County, 16 people have filed for election won't have a say in any of it if you aren't registered to vote. Texas Secretary of State Esperanza "Hope" Andrade and Runnels County officials are reminding Texans that Feb. 1 is the deadline to register to vote in the 2010 Primary Elections

"Register-ing to vote is easy, said Andrade "Texans may find a voter registration application at their county elections offices, some post offices and libraries, or online at: www.votexas.org."

Locally, Runnels County voters can pick up voter registration cards at the Runnels County Courthouse, Winters City Hall or Ballinger City Hall

Individuals may also check online to determine if they are registered or update their registration information if they have moved throughout the state. Any changes to a voter's existing registration should be made by Feb. 1 to be applicable to the Primary Elections this March.

"Voting is an important part of being a Texan and my office is committed to ensuring that every eligible voter to eight local offices, but you understands their rights and can have confidence in the integrity of our elections process," said Andrade. "As we move forward into the New Year, I hope that my fellow Texans will join me in participating in this great democratic process."

For further information or to request an application to vote early by please mail, contact the County Clerk's Office at 365-2720.

Sixteen people have filed have filed the paperwork seeking election to eight county offices up for grabs this spring in Runnels County.

Candidates were required to formally file Jan. 4 with their respective party chairs for a spot on primary election ballots in March.

Seven of those people filed for the post of Runnels County Judge. Three have filed for Justice of the Peace, Precinct 2.

Countywide fundraiser set for Trent's Retreat

By FLOYD INGRAM Winters Enterprise Editor

Trent Ueckert was the best this county had to offer, but cancer took him at an early age.

Now businesses and individuals across Runnels County are being asked to offer their best in a fundraiser to help build Trent's Retreat this summer between Ballinger and Winters.

"One day our typically healthy 13year-old son Trent was practicing junior high football and within a week, he was diagnosed with a rare and aggressive form of childhood cancer called intraabdominal desoplastic small round cell tumor," said Misty Ueckert, Trent's mother. "Trent was a fun-loving teenager whose constant smile and desire to other families to share this same experilive life to the fullest was an inspiration to all who knew him.'

A steak/shrimp dinner and live auction is planned for Feb. 20 at St. Joseph's Parish Hall in Rowena to roundup the final dollars necessary to break ground on Trent's Retreat — a place where families undergoing the rigors of cancer treatment can go to rest and recooperate.

"Fortunately for us, we had insurance and a supportive community, friends and family that allowed us to concentrate on Trent and our family as well as take some fun weekend getaways," said Ueckert. "We are thankful for the time we were able to spend together during these trips and we want ence. This is the goal for Trent's Retreat.'

The plan is to break ground on Trent's Retreat by June.

The retreat will be a two-bedroom, handicapped accessible cabin on Elm Creek between Ballinger and Winters that will be made available at no charge to pediatric cancer patients and their

"We hope to include activities such as a paddleboat, fishing, nature/bicycle trail, hillside slide and miniature golf," said Ueckert. "We want it to be a place for kids, a tranquil get-away for parents and most of all a place for families to

Like any teenage boy, Trent Ueckert loved football, motorcycles and hanging out with friends. A special fundraiser to help build a cancer rest center in Runnels County in Trent's honor will be held in February.

Atmos Energy says aid available to help pay for home heating

Gas company official encourages those who need help to call for assistance

With the recent extremely cold temperatures we have had across much of the United States, Atmos Energy advises its customers that energy assistance funds are available for those who need help paying for home heating.

"Like last winter, this heating season will be challenging for some customers, and Atmos Energy is ready to help connect our customers in need with energy assistance agencies," said John Paris, president of Atmos Energy's Mid-Tex Division. "Some agencies have a new supply of federal or state funds to help people pay their utility

A recent survey by the National Energy Assistance

Association found that the number of households receiving energy assistance funds reached record levels for the second year in a row. The survey 8.3 million showed American households received aid in 2009, up from 6.1 million the previous year.

Congress passed and President Obama signed legislation to provide $5.1 billion in funds for lowincome Americans who need help paying energy bills. This latest funding for the federal Low Income Home Energy Assistance program (LIHEAP) includes $4.5 billion in formula funds and $590 million in contingency funds.

Atmos Energy customers can find a local energy assistance agency on the company's Web site at www.atmosenergy.com by clicking on Home Service and on the link for energy assistance agencies. Customers also can call the company's customer contact center for assistance toll-free at 1-888-286-6700.

Because of high winter-call volumes, customers are encouraged to call during afternoon, evening or the weekend.

"Most important, customers who need help should contact one of these energy assistance agencies or call us early, rather than wait until the last minute, if they are having trouble paying their bills," said Jeff Hardgrave, Atmos Energy's vice president of customer service."Often a payment problem can be resolved easily if a customer calls us early."

IRS urges Texans to e-file tax return

FROM STAFF REPORTS

More than three million Texans were still filing tax returns with paper forms last tax season.

"They are missing out on faster refunds and safer filing options," said Clay Sanford, an IRS spokesman in Dallas.

In the 20 years it has been available, IRS e-file has processed 800 million tax returns safely and securely. E-file, combined with direct deposit, means a refund in as few as 10 days.

"Your tax return will get handled much faster if you use e-file," Sanford added. "If there is an error on your return, it will be identified quickly and can be corrected right away."

E-file is much more secure than paper forms because there's nothing to expect in the mailbox as refunds can be electronically transferred directly into account. If you owe tax, the same safety measure applies because there is no need to write a check. The program even allows taxpayers to file early and pay later by scheduling an electronic funds withdrawal to be debited on or before April 15.

Software greatly reduces the chance of making errors when you e-file your return. However, some people just print the computer generated return and mail it to the IRS instead of hitting the "Send" button. Still, by mailing a computer-printed return, taxpayers miss out on some important benefits, like the peace of mind of an official IRS acknowledgement that your return was received for processing.

Virtually everyone can prepare a return and file it for free. For the second year, the IRS and its partners are offering the option of Free File Fillable Forms. Another option is traditional Free File. About 98 million your checking or savings taxpayers - 70 percent of all taxpayers - are eligible for Respiratory infections can be a serious complication for anyone with or without chronic lung diseases. An ordinary cold that causes only sniffles in someone else continues into pneumonia.

Because of this, you must make every effort to prevent infections, learn the early danger signs, and see your doctor when any symptoms appear.

Preventing Infections

1. Take care of yourself every day, drink plenty of fluids, eat a nutritious well-balanced diet, sleep 7 to 8 hours every night, and learn to conserve energy.

2. Stay away from people who have colds and flu (if at all possible).

3. Take special precautions with your personal hygiene by using good handwashing techniques. 4. Ask you physician about flu and pneumonia

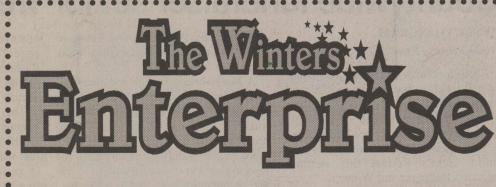

5. Keep a positive attitude for a good winter.

Old age is all about mind over matter

Keeping mind, soul and body together is a worthy lifetime goal.

A challenge in advancing years is to ignore age, when possible. (Love that welcome sign in Florida: "where midlife begins at 70.")

To frame the moment, a few nights ago I was immersed in TV political analysis. A "talking head" described Martha Coakley's futile senatorial campaign: "I wouldn't call it a Hindenburg campaign or a Titanic campaign. It was more of a Hindenburg-crashing-intothe-Titanic campaign." Since the next light moment on the station might have been hours away, I decided to channel

Next was a smiling Bob Barker. This 87-year-old host of The Price is Right set an American TV daytime game show record with his 35-year run.

A TV personality for more than 50 years, Barker "changed gears" in 2007 when he left the show in favor of writing and other pursuits.

An animal rights champion, Barker was on TV to promote his autobiography, Priceless Memories. "My body is still a deadly weapon," he joked. "In fact, it is killing me."

RCHC visits Paint Rock's pictographs

By BETTY THOMASON RCHC Reporter

It is one of the most historic and mysterious spots in Texas and it's in our own backyard.

One of the largest groups of Indian pictographs in Texas can be seen on limestone bluffs located on Kay and Fred Campbell's ranch, a few miles north of Paint Rock.

The drawings, primitive and crude, depict mostly symbols and geometric designs, but some represent people and animals. The site has been in the Campbell family since 1870. Some of the pictographs remain as much a mystery today as they did when the whiteman first glimpsed them.

On Saturday Jan. 9, eight members and one guest of the Runnels County Historical Commission enjoyed the Painted Rocks excursion. After presenting an informative history about the Indian artwork, Kay Campbell led the group to see the pictographs on limestone bluffs that overlooks an Indian hunting ground.

The drawings are thought to be up to 500 years old and some even older.

A short distance to the south of the site is the Concho River, which served as an important water source for the Indians. Most of the drawings are thought to have been drawn by nomadic Indians, but some Indians did stay for longer periods as evidenced by some ceremonial remnants that can be seen.

The color red, derived from oxides of iron, dominates in the drawings. White, black and yellow also appear as pictographs on the bluffs.

Graffiti defaced some of the rocks and dates back to the 1800s. Now, Kay and Fred Campbell guard the site against vandals.

Comanches, Jumnos, Lipans, Tonkawas, Apaches and others left their mark at the painted rocks. It is not known why this spot was selected for these paintings, but several discoveries and observations over the years helped to solve a few of the mysteries. One symbol, in particular, seen on the rocks depicts a

According to a brochure, on Dec. 21, 1996, a sun dagger of light was observed pointing to the center of this painting. Apparently, certain tribes celebrated the winter solstice when the ray of sunshine formed the "Sun Dagger" in the center of the drawing.

Another solar marker appears diagonally over one of the illustrations of a walking figure at each Equinox. It is thought to show an Indian ascending into the "Happy Hunting Grounds."

On June 21, 1998, Dr. Bob Robbins discovered lines of light pointing to the drawing of a turtle within a circle creating a summer solstice mark-

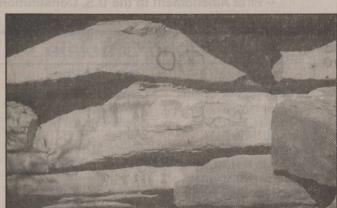

The morning of the RCHC tour started out at 17 degrees, but after a lunch at the Country Corner near Paint Rock the group was able to make the trip over to the painted rocks and enjoy the 50 degree weather on the warm, sunny side of the Next RCHC meeting will be March 13 with the time and place to be announced later. All meetings are open to the public.

A solar marker appears diagonally across the the figure at each Equinox. It is believed to show ascension of spirit to "Happy Hunting Grounds."

Each year at winter solace, Dec 21, a dagger-like ray of sunshine will point to the center of the shield. This pictograph at Paint Rock is appropriately named the "Sun Dagger."

Some figures were painted upside down indicating death. A bear track pictograph shown with robed and unrobed hourglass figures within the track.

DPS warns parents:

Mexican cartels and gangs recruiting in Texas schools

FROM STAFF REPORTS

The Texas Department of Public Safety is warning parents across the state to be aware of efforts by Mexican cartels and transnational gangs to recruit Texas youth in our schools and communities.

These violent organizations are luring teens with the prospect of cars, money and notoriety, promising them if they get caught, they will receive a minimal sentence.

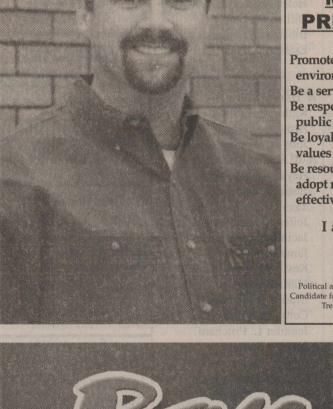

The Mexican cartels constantly seek new ways to smuggle drugs and humans into Texas are now using state based gangs and our youth to support their operations on both sides of the border.

For example, Laredo natives Gabriel Cardona and Rosalio Reta were recruited in their teens to be hit men for posed primarily of former Mexican military commandos, originally served as the enforcement arm of the Gulf Cartel, but have since become their own cartel. El Paso teens have been recruited to smuggle drugs across the border, many with the packs taped to their bodies.

While such recruitment is growing across Texas, juveniles along the Texas-Mexico border are particularly susceptible. In 2008, young people from the counties along the Texas-Mexico border accounted for just 9 percent of the population in Texas, but 18 percent of the felony drug charges and gang-related arrests.

"As these dangerous orgathe Zetas. The Zetas, com- nizations seek to co-opt our children to support their criminal operations, it is more important than ever that parents be aware of these risks, talk to their children and pay attention to any signs that they may have become involved in illegal activities," said Steven C. McCraw, director of the Texas Department of Public

To protect our communities and our children from these powerful and ruthless criminal organizations, local, state and federal law enforcement agencies and the District Attorneys in Texas border counties are working together to detect, disrupt and deter Mexican cartel-related crime along the Texas-Mexico border.

AIR PERMIT RENEWAL PERMIT NUMBER 43553

APPLICATION Mueller Supply Company, Inc. has applied to the Texas Commission on Environmental Quality (TCEQ) for renewal of Air Quality Permit Number 43553, which would authorize continued operation of the painting operations at the steel fabrication facility located at 1915 Hutchins Avenue, Ballinger, Runnels County, Texas 76821. The existing facility is authorized to emit the following air contaminants: organic compounds, nitrogen oxides, sulfur dioxide, carbon monoxide and particulate matter including particulate matter with diameters of 10 microns or less and 2.5 microns or less.

This application was submitted to the TCEQ on December 28, 2009. The application will be available for viewing and copying at the TCEQ central office, TCEQ Abilene regional office, and the City Library of Ballinger, 204 North 8th Street, Ballinger, Runnels County, Texas, beginning the first day of publication of this notice. The facility's compliance file, if any exists, is available for public review in the Abilene regional office of the TCEO.

The executive director has determined the application is administratively complete and will conduct a technical review of the application. Information in the application indicates that this permit renewal would not result in an increase in allowable emissions and would not result in the emission of an air contaminant not previously emitted. The TCEQ may act on this application without seeking further public comment or providing an opportunity for a contested case hearing if certain criteria are met.

PUBLIC COMMENT You may submit public comments, or a request for a contested case hearing to the Office of the Chief Clerk at the address below. The TCEQ will consider all public comments in developing a final decision on the application. The deadline to submit public comments is 15 days after newspaper notice is published. After the deadline for public comments, the executive director will prepare a response to all relevant and material, or significant public comments. Issues such as property values, noise, traffic safety, and zoning are outside of the TCEQ's jurisdiction to address in the permit process.

After the technical review is complete the executive director will consider the comments and prepare a response to all relevant and material, or significant public comments. If only comments are received, the response to comments, along with the executive director's decision on the application, will then be mailed to everyone who submitted public comments or who is on the mailing list for this application, unless the application is directly referred to a contested case hearing.

OPPORTUNITY FOR A CONTESTED CASE HEARING You may request a contested case hearing. The applicant or the executive director may also request that the application be directly referred to a contested case hearing after technical review of the application. A contested case hearing is a legal proceeding similar to a civil trial in state district court. Unless a written request for a contested case hearing is filed within 15 days from this notice, the executive director may act on the application. If no hearing request is received within this 15day period, no further opportunity for hearing will be provided. According to the Texas Clean Air Act §

382.056(o) a contested case hearing may only be granted if the applicant's compliance history is in the lowest classification under applicable compliance history requirements and if the hearing request is based on disputed issues of fact that are relevant and material to the Commission's decision on the application. Further, the Commission may only grant a hearing on those issues raised during the public comment period and not withdrawn.

A person who may be affected by emissions of air contaminants from the facility is entitled to request a hearing. If requesting a contested case hearing, you must submit the following: (1) your name (or for a group or association, an official representative), mailing address, daytime phone number, and fax number, if any; (2) applicant's name and permit number; (3) the statement "[I/we] request a contested case hearing;" (4) a specific description of how you would be adversely affected by the application and air emissions from the facility in a way not common to the general public; (5) the location and distance of your property relative to the facility; and (6) a description of how you use the property which may be impacted by the facility. If the request is made by a group or association, the one or more members who have standing to request a hearing and the interests the group or association seeks to protect must also be identified. You may also submit your proposed adjustments to the application/permit which would satisfy your concerns. Requests for a contested case hearing must be submitted in writing within 15 days following this notice to the Office of the Chief Clerk at the address below.

If any requests for a contested case hearing are timely filed, the executive director will forward the application and any requests for a contested case hearing to the Commissioners for their consideration at a scheduled Commission meeting. Unless the application is directly referred to a contested case hearing, the executive director will mail the response to comments along with notification of Commission meeting to everyone who submitted comments or is on the mailing list for this application. If a hearing is granted, the subject of a hearing will be limited to disputed issues of fact relating to relevant and material air quality concerns raised during the comment period. Issues such as property values, noise, traffic safety, and zoning are outside of the Commission's jurisdiction to address in this proceeding.

MAILING LIST In addition to submitting public comments, you may ask to be placed on a mailing list for this application by sending a request to the Office of the Chief Clerk at the address below. Those on the mailing list will receive copies of future public notices (if any) mailed by the Office of the Chief Clerk for this INFORMATION Written public comments or requests for a public meeting or contested case hearing should be submitted to the Texas Commission on Environmental Quality, Office of the Chief Clerk, MC-105, P.O. Box 13087, Austin, Texas 78711-3087, or electronically at www.tceq.state.tx.us/about/comments.html. For more information about this permit application or the permitting process, please call the Office of Public Assistance, Toll Free, at 1-800-687-4040. Si desea información en Español, puede llamar al 1-800-687-4040. General information regarding the TCEQ can be found at www.tceq.state.tx.us.

Further information may also be obtained from Mueller Supply Company, Inc., 1915 Hutchins Avenue, Ballinger, Texas 76821-4401 or by calling Mr. Clayton Smith, Consultant at (512) 250-1410.

County party primary elections will be held March 2, and the General Election November. Candidates had from Dec. 3 to Jan. 4 to formally file papers with the county and state.

State law requires a candidate to appoint a campaign treasurer before accepting or expending campaign contributions. For more information about local election filing procedures or to request an candidates packet, contact the Runnels County Clerk's Office at 365-2720.

While Runnels County Clerk Elesa Ocker is charged by the county with the mechanics of the election and can answer most voting questions, she is not the final authority on election policy and procedure.

Questions regarding reporting procedures, contributions or expenditures of any candidate or political action committee can be to be directed to the Texas Ethic Commission at 1-800-325-8506. Questions regarding election law can be directed to the Secretary of State at 1-800-252-8683.

For more voting information, visit: www.votexas.org or call the Secretary of State's voter hotline at 1-800-252-VOTE (8683).

The history of Rowena and the community that makes up this town west of Ballinger will be presented at a benefit luncheon at 1 p.m. Jan. 31, at the S.P.J.S.T Hall in Rowena.

Author Art Mavrode and Pat Vancil are writing a book about Rowena and they need the community's help in gathering stories and financing the publication of their book.

In the new book the storyteller is anonymous, but represents the pride of many of the present day residents of Rowena.

Biscuits (Rev. Monte Jones) will also be preaching at Zoar Community Church during its morning worship service which begins at 9 a.m.

Attendees are urged to RSVP at 325-234-8545 so organizers can obtain a food
