Apples for the Students hits Winters

Winters Enterprise
 Staff Report

WINTERS, Texas.- Winters Elementary School received a donation in electronics and sports equipment, through the Apples for Students program, an initiative in conjunction with a local retail store.

Brillia Reagan, Winters Elementary principal and the students thanked Lawrence Brothers grocery store and the community for their participation in the Apples for the Students program. Through their generosity the school was able to select items like Canon cameras, baseball bats, digital recorders, ladybug houses, Flip video cameras, and PE equipment. These items will be used by and for the students. "We are grateful to IGA and Lawrence Brothers for providing this program and especially to the people who deposited their receipts in the boxes provided at the checkout areas," said Reagan. Apples for the Students has dramatically enhanced the educational opportunities for millions of students and teachers in America. Embracing all 50 of the United States, the U.S. Virgin Islands, Puerto Rico and Australia, Apples for the Students has contributed more than $250 million in classroom learning tools free to participating schools.

Getting ready for the Texas 4000

Ruben Cantu-Rodriguez
 Winters Enterprise

WINTERS, Texas.- Winters citizens, kids and even the swimming pool is getting ready for the Texas 4000, a cancer treatment bike fundraiser from Cedar Park to Alaska, which will be touching base here on June 8-9.

The riders are expected to arrive in Winters on June 8, have a hamburger meal and share with the people at the swimming pool, after that they will spend the night and restart the 4,687-mile journey in support of cancer research.

Everybody is invited to the meal with about 30 riders, in an effort to get the community involved with this cause.

Riders will be braving with 70 days of rain, sleet, wind, snow, hail and heat in a metaphor for the struggle cancer patients face each day.

"This summer the riders will battle hail, rain, wind and snow, yet at the end of the day they will get off their bikes and rest. Cancer patients do not have that luxury," said Sense Corp Texas 4000 for Cancer Executive Director, Jamille Ruesahm.

For the seventh year, more than 40 student riders will start their journey in Austin with a 70-mile community bike ride called Atlas. From there riders head north, separated into two routes: Rockies and Coastal.

Both routes start on June 5, in Cedar Park headed to Lampasas, on day two teams separate and the Rockies route goes from there to Brownwood, for a 71-mile trip; on June 8 the bikers will get to Winters on their hard journey.

"It is absolutely astounding to see these young riders put their bodies and minds to the test an travel more than 4,500 miles each year to draw awareness to cancer," said Keat Wilkins, Sense Corp CEO.

This ride, compared in length to the Tour de France, is the longest charity bicycle ride in the world.

Throughout the journey, riders stop along to educate people about cancer early detection, prevention and treatment, visit patients and raise funds for research.

The travel offers hope to ill people, and the riders dedicate their daily ride to someone fighting cancer.

Riders take the challenge to honor the people fighting cancer, in memory of those who have lost the battle with this disease and to support life-saving by bringing knowledge about cancer prevention and treatment to communities.

Death Notices

Mary Jean Patrick

Mary Jean Patrick, formerly of Farwell, died Sunday morning at a Winters nursing home. She had lived in Winters for the past five years. She was born March 23, 1923 in Rio Oso, California. She graduated from Pampa High School, attended Texas Tech, and later married James Walter Patrick on February 2, 1946. They lived in Farwell for most of their lives. He preceded her in death in 1973. Surviving are her daughter, Susan Conner and husband Randall of Winters, and her son, Roger Patrick and wife Carolyn of La Place, Louisiana. Among the survivors are six grandchildren, Eric Patrick of San Antonio, Kevin Conner of San Angelo, Dennis Conner of Tucson, AZ, Shelli Richard and husband Ronnie of Dallas, Alicia Cardillo and husband Peter, of Atlanta, GA, and Craig Conner of Lubbock. Also surviving is her sister, Gail of California, as well as many nieces and nephews. After retiring from the insurance business and working at her husband's seed company, Kelly Green Seeds, Inc., Mary Jean enjoyed her Farwell friends and her grandchildren. She was recognized as citizen of the year in Farwell in 1992. She was an avid photographer, as well as a painter, and enjoyed supporting the Farwell schools in many activities. Funeral services were held on Tuesday, May 18, at 2:00 p.m. at First Baptist Church, Farwell. The family received friends from noon until service time at the church. Interment was at Sunset Terrace Cemetery in Farwell.

Memorials may be sent to Winters Area Foundation, PO Box 211, Winters, Texas 79567 or First Baptist Church, PO Box 129, Farwell, Texas 79325.

On June 25, 2010, wedding is planned at South Padre Island.

History of Police - Part VII

'Nick Names'

Wikipedia, states that a nickname (also spelled "nick name") is a descriptive name given in place of, or in addition to, the official name of a person, place or thing. The term hypocoristic name is used to refer to a nickname of affection between those with a close emotional bond. The term diminutive name refers to nicknames that convey frustration, smallness, or contempt.

A nickname is sometimes considered desirable, symbolizing a form of acceptance, but can often be a form of ridicule and a "put down".

The police are people empowered by the community to enforce the law, protect property and reduce civil disorder. The word comes from medieval French police, from Latin politia ("civil administration").

Alternative names for the police force include constabulary, gendarmerie, police department, police service, crime prevention, protective services, law enforcement agency or Garda Síochána. Members can be police officers, troopers, sheriffs, constables, rangers, peace officers or Garda. Russian police and police of the Soviet-era Eastern Europe are (or were) called militsiya. Because police often deal with people in various situations, nicknames have become numerous. Many slang terms for police officers are decades or centuries old with lost etymology.

In the next few articles, I thought it would be interesting to explore some of these nicknames for our profession and share them with you. Some of the terms I discovered while researching this article I found to be quite interesting. Of course, most of the nicknames I discovered are not "terms of endearment", but they are interesting all the same. Here are a few that start with the letter "B".

Chief Nathan Johnson

their wake. "Bear in the Air" is a reference to a police chopper. "Bear in a plain brown wrapper" is a reference to an unmarked patrol car.

Berry
Originating from blueberry, referring to the blue uniform most officers wear.

Big Blue Machine
A somewhat derisive term to describe the perception of any large regional police service.

Black and White
Usually refers to a police car, but also extends to the police themselves.

Blue Meanies
This is a 1960's hippie slang term for the police; it was used in the Beatles film the Yellow Submarine, although many viewers may not have realized its significance. The term was first known to be used during the Free Speech Movement when referring to the Alameda County Sheriff's Office.

Bobby
This term is no longer widely used in Britain, though it can occur with a mixture of affection and slight irony in the phrase "village bobby" which refers to the local community police officer. The term "Bobby on the beat" is often used in politics in reference to a return to more community based policing including foot patrols by one local officer (bobby) of his own small area or "beat". It is derived from Robert Peel (Bobby being the usual nickname for Robert) the founder of the Metropolitan Police and it also refers to the rate of pay a police officer got in Peel's day which was "one bob a week". In Britain, volunteer Special Constables are sometimes referred to as Hobby Bobbies.

Boys in blue
A reference to the blue uniform worn by some officers.

Thank you for your support of our local Winters Police Department officers as we try to do our duty to the community. May God give us the wisdom, discernment, and courage necessary to serve our community well.

Semper Fi,
Chief Nathan T. Johnson

Letter to the Editor

Safety concerns at lake Winters

Dear Editor,

Mom and I would like to take this means to express our lingering concerns about hunting and safety on Lake Winters.

An example of one of the most bothersome was a letter-to-the-editor last fall from the duck hunter from San Antonio (David Secrest). This person (we have never met) stated we were "self serving." Mr. Secrest proceeded to imply we had "sinister" and "hidden motives" concerning our call for safety. And too, Danny Prado seems to imply the same bothersome implications in his testimonies before the Council.

These implications are not true. Mom and I would like to state we have no "sinister" or "hidden agenda" motives. We have clearly stated for more than a year we are working for and requesting safety. And that is it. The "it" is safety.

The recommendations of the committee concerning this matter are important. If implemented and enforced it would help. However implementation would not completely solve the safety issue.

Consider, for example, how difficult it would be to enforce the 150-yard "set-back" from a property line fence. Think of the enforcement difficulty when the main road for 1.5 miles is basically adjacent to our property. Consider too, most of the past illegal vandalism involved shooting up our property has been with shotguns (from this road).

Limited access by vehicles will help. However, once the lock combination is given out it is only a cell phone call away to whomever. This will be abused.

Deer hunting with dangerous high-powered rifles and/or shotguns will continue. But hopefully reduced. A lot of folks have hunted deer illegally on this little strip of land on the east side of the lake for five decades. Some of them are going to find a way. And they are going to be "ticked off" if someone tries to stop them. They are thinking, "It has never been enforced before then why now?"

This is possibly the only city owned property anywhere that allows firearms and hunting where kids play, fishermen fish, camper's camp and looker's look.

The proposed gates/fencing, as suggested by Chief Johnson and the committee, are necessary for any control or management or enforcement by the City.

For the above reasons

(and more) we would like to again request you solve the problem by closing this public use area for hunting for any species and by any means (including unleashed dogs). Then enforce it.

Mom and I will cooperate in any way we can to assist in accomplishing safety for all.

Sincerely,
B. D. and Nolo Gene Davis (your neighbors)

By John DeMoss Jr.

Ever watched kids play? They seem to be able to turn anything they find into a toy. Boys can take a box and that thing can be turned into anything from a castle to a fort, a race car, or even a tank. Babies seem to be happy with just about anything. These little guys are thrilled and happy with life.

I saw a video of a little guy in his walker watching the family dog running back and forth in the house. He was laughing uncontrollably. It was great! It brings a smile to my face every time I see it.

In another video, the momma was surrounded by her four daughters while the daddy was video taping his family. We learned later that the dad was making funny faces, causing the quads to giggle and laugh. I couldn't help but laugh out loud; it was absolutely beautiful.

Our Lord Jesus promised us that we may have and enjoy life and have it in abundance. John 10:10 AMP

People, that abundant life is found only in a one-on-one personal relationship with the Lord Jesus Christ. He comes into our lives by invitation only. Ask Him into your life today and begin that abundant life.

Paschal graduates from Hardin-Simmons

Winters Enterprise Staff Report
WINTERS, Texas.- Marci Jeanel Paschal received a Bachelor's of Behavioral Science degree with a major in Psychology and a minor in Communications from Hardin-Simmons University. Commencement Exercises were held on Saturday, May 8, 2010, in Behrens Chapel on the HSU campus. Before Marci graduated from Winters High School in 2005, she enrolled at Austin School of Massage and received her certification as a Licensed Massage Therapist in May 2006. During this time she was also enrolled at Angelo State University, majoring in Communications. In the fall of 2006 she continued taking her basics at Tarrant County Junior College in Mansfield while spending time with her sister. She enrolled at Cisco Junior College in January 2007 where she received an Associates of Arts degree in May of 2008. She was accepted to Hardin-Simmons in the fall of 2008. In June of 2009, she began working towards a Veterinary Assistant certification through Animal Behavioral College and received her certificate in February of this year. But her greatest and most cherished accomplishment is her two-year old son, Remington "Remi" Chase.

Those attending Marci's graduation were: her son Remington, parents, Keith and Shelia Paschal, sister, brother-in-law and nephew, Michelle, Nick and Nathaneal Wagner, Grandmother, Betty Paschal, aunt and uncle Janie and Jay Davidson, and long time friend Christina Perrie Davis. Also attending were her first grade teacher Mrs. Cheryl Sneed who taught her to read and her high school teacher Mrs. Cindy Davis who taught her to write "correctly". Following commencement ceremonies and reception, Marci was honored with a luncheon at MCM Elegante Suites Hotel as a gift from her parents.

Marci Jeanel Paschal received a Bachelor's of Behavioral Science.

Winters Athletic Report

By Stephen Hermesmeier

Athletic Physicals for 2010-2011

The end of the school year is upon us, and the athletic department is trying to get an early jump on the 2010-2011 school years. We have arranged for doctors and nurses from Action Sports Medicine in Abilene to come to Winters on Tuesday May 25, at 4:45 pm for athletic physicals. All incoming seventh, ninth, and eleventh grade boys and girls are required by the UIL to have a physical. The cost of the physical will be $15.00 with a portion of that coming back to our school as a donation. Please contact the athletic department at 754-4653 or 977-0733 if you have any questions or concerns.

Athletic Banquet

The Winters Booster Club will be hosting the Athletic Banquet on May 20 at 7:00 p.m. in the high school cafeteria. Parents and Blizzard supporters may purchase their tickets from Booster Club members. See you on Thursday.

HS Track

Coach Motheral/Hermesmeier
Zannie Slimp and LeeAnn Taylor competed at the State Track Meet last weekend and both came home with sixth place in their events. Zannie ran the 300m hurdles in a time of 48.8 and LeeAnn ran the 100m hurdles in 16.08. Congrats to these two young ladies on all of their hard work this spring and we look forward to seeing them again next spring.

Wildlife conservation camp taking applications

Winters Enterprise Staff Report

WINTERS, Texas.- The Texas Chapter of The Wildlife Society is taking applications for high school students who would like to attend to the Wildlife Conservation Camp, and enjoy a great summer week. The camp will be held on July 11-17, at the Welder Wildlife Refuge in Sinton, Texas, and the application deadline is June 4. The Conservation Camp focuses on exciting hands-on activities with presentations led by wildlife professionals from across the state. Subject matter will include wildlife and plant identification, wetland and coastal habitats, hunting as a management tool, species diversity, conservation ethics, wildlife capture and census techniques, wildlife tracking, predator-prey dynamics, white-tailed deer management, fishing, hunter safety, shooting skills and much more. Campers especially enjoy the opportunity to interact with wildlife professionals in a variety of wildlife and conservation fields. Students considering careers in the natural sciences, are strongly encouraged to attend, the experience will be invaluable as they plan their future. The camp is designed to introduce students to wildlife conservation and management; a refuge of all sorts now in its seventeenth year, hosted by the Welder Wildlife Foundation. The Welder Refuge is a 7,800 acre privately owned and operated wildlife refuge and research facility with on-site lodging and dining facilities. Located near Sinton, Texas, the Welder Refuge is home to fabulous coastal wetlands and south Texas vegetation which boasts a plethora of wildlife including waterfowl, white-tailed deer, lizards and snakes, coyotes and bobcats, hawks and owls, and hundreds of species of songbirds. Campers will have the opportunity to view and study these animals on the refuge. The Texas Chapter of The Wildlife Society is a nonprofit, scientific and educational organization representing professionals and students dedicated to sustainable management of wildlife resources and their habitats.

Students interested must be nominated by a Texas Chapter of The Wildlife Society member, teacher, county extension agent, youth leader, natural resource professional, or local Farm Bureau and be a high school student at the time of nomination. The nominator must submit a confidential recommendation letter, limited to one page per student. Students should have a strong interest in the natural sciences and outdoor activities, and be highly motivated. Nominated students must have average (or above) grades in natural sciences and mathematics; a flexible and tolerant attitude about occasional adverse conditions, such as rain, heat, humidity, or insects among other requirements. Cost for each student is $250 including meals and housing but not transportation to and from the camp. Participants are encouraged to solicit funds from community organizations or sponsors. For applications and more information go to Texas Chapter's website at www.tctws.org.

News Notes

RUNNELS COUNTY ROUND-UP

Fishin' with Dave

Fishing Report
Dave Caudle

The black bass continue to take center stage and are being brought to the scales in record numbers. It seems that black bass in the double-digit class are being caught nearly everyday, and some are over the 13-pound mark. We have also been taking a fair number (upwards of 20 per day) of the smaller bass, along with an over eight-pounder every trip. Last week my fishing buddies, Ernie and Frankie, each caught a bass over eight with Ernie's going back in the water after being boga gripped (type of weighing scales) at nine pounds six ounces. Not huge, but who would like to go out and get a nine-pounder every trip? Sign me up for that one.

Blue cats are on the flats in good numbers with a bunch of 10-pounders brought in by jug fishermen and trotliners. Live bait and cut carp seem to be the bait of choice on the cats. I should also note that the channel cats are in shallow water, and corks and cheese bait are taking a mess of filets. The crappie seem to be done with the major part of the spawn, but some are still shallow in the upper rivers, with some very nice ones making the team.

Speaking of signing up for something, sometimes you get some stuff you don't sign up for. This past week I got a letter from the Transportation Authority with a return address in San Antonio. This letter looked official, and the envelope suggested I open it without delay because of the time sensitive message. I quickly opened the letter and found much to my surprise that Mitchell Buick*GMC of San Angelo (nothing on the envelope about that) wants my 3/4 ton, heavy duty, 2008 Chevrolet for their inventory needs. They want to buy it from me at a better than ever price. But wait--that's not all. I also get a golf and spa certificate in the amount of $250.00 just for coming to see them. I do, however, have to call for an appointment and bring my truck. I wonder if I could get the spa deal while the salesman is bumping his gums. I thought a whirlpool and backrub would be nice, as it would certainly make the sales talk more fun. I'll pass on the golf, but a fishing trip might get me in the store.

This Mitchell Bunch cannot possibly have time to sell cars and trucks with as many trips, golf games, spa treatments, special offers, and other schemes they put out. They must all be stuffing envelopes or sitting in the whirlpool trying to think of some other low down, underhanded, back stabbing, backdoor, junk yard gimmick to get you in their dealership so they can try to sell you a new vehicle. Whatever happened to honesty, hard work, a good product, and service after the sale? I believe those things do not abide at Mitchell Buick*GMC.

If the fishing wasn't so good, I think I'd go over there, let them throw a day's worth of garbage at me, play them to the sign-here time, and then hit the door. I certainly would be doing some unsuspecting spa hopeful a favor, and it might get me off Mitchell's list. But then, who knows? I might get the lucky key that unlocks the door, or scratch off four jacks, or win the trip around the world --or was that to Las Vegas? So many gimmicks I can't keep up, and I certainly wouldn't have time to take advantage of all the stuff I could win or be given just because I own a 2008 Tolver Brothers Chevrolet.

I will do as I've done for the past 20 or so years; buy my cars and trucks here, and let Harvey and the guys and girls get them fixed if needed. Besides, who would want Joseph to be in the spa with you or give you a backrub just to get you to buy a car? See you on the lake.

Conservation stewardship program deadline nears

Winters Enterprise
Staff Report

WINTERS, Texas.- Runnels County landowners still have time to sign up for the Conservation Stewardship Program (CSP) at their local Natural Resources Conservation Service (NRCS) office but the deadline for getting signed up for the second CSP ranking period is quickly approaching. According to NRCS District Conservationist Ronnie Vanicek, now is the time for landowners and producers who have considered applying for CSP to get signed up and submit documentation. USDA has announced the national cutoff date for CSP is June 11, which requires landowners submit applications quickly.

"If you've heard about the new CSP and talked with other local producers or read about others involved with it, now is the time to roll up your sleeves and get your conservation operation on the list of those recognized for a quality conservation commitment," explains Vanicek. "It's important that you get your application and paperwork submitted so you can be part of the 2010 CSP ranking period and funding cycle."

According to Vanicek, the clock is ticking for program sign-up this fiscal year. USDA just announced the final cutoff date, which gives producers a brief window of opportunity to get signed up for the CSP sign-up in

Texas State Conservationist Don Gohmert confirms NRCS teams across the state are ready to work with producers and start the process. "If you're already an NRCS cooperator and are in the system, just meet with local field office staff. Let them know you're ready for CSP." Ag producers or landowners who are new to NRCS or USDA will need to schedule an appointment and complete the application process and get the ball rolling.

CSP is a voluntary program that encourages producers to maintain existing conservation activities and adopt additional practices on their operations. The program is popular for producers who go the extra mile with conservation and sustainable operations—whether they've accomplished goals on their own, with other conservation partners, or through USDA and NRCS programs.

"CSP is the perfect program because it recognizes ag producers and landowners who do the right things and it moves them forward as they add new resource protection practices on their land," Vanicek adds.

While CSP applications are accepted on a continuous basis, only applications received by the national cutoff date of June 11 will be considered for funding in fiscal year 2010. For more information about CSP, including eligibility requirements, visit your county USDA Service Center in Ballinger today.

MAKING SENSE OF INVESTING

The meeting will take place on Wednesday, June 2, beginning at 9:30 a.m. at the Texas AgriLife Research and Extension Center, 7887 U.S. Hwy 87 North, San Angelo, TX 76901.

The Rural Energy for America Program offers competitive grants, guaranteed loans, and combination grant/guaranteed loans to help agricultural producers and rural small businesses purchase and install renewable energy systems and make energy efficiency improvements in rural areas. The program also provides competitive grants to rural small businesses and agricultural producers to help them pay for the cost of a detailed, professional, independent feasibility study of their prospective renewable energy projects. Assistance is limited to $50,000 or 25 percent of the cost of the study, whichever is less.

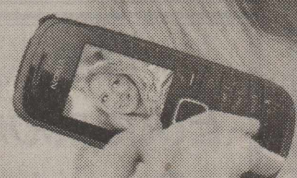

"We're excited to offer this program to those who want to save money and conserve energy, but are unable to do so without financial assistance," said Paco Valentin, Texas State Director of USDA Rural Development.

According to program details, renewable energy is defined as energy derived from a wind, solar, biomass, or geothermal source; or hydrogen derived from biomass or water using wind, biomass, or geothermal energy sources.

For more information, call your local USDA Rural Development office at (325) 690-6162 ext 4, or visit www.rurdev.usda.gov/tx/bp.htm.

Water levels improving

The water was flowing last week from old Winters lake to the new lake, even before the weekend heavy rains. This picture shows the water spill flowing on the lake Friday noon, just before the 4-inch rainfall accumulated during that night and Saturday.
