

Cotton Country Comments by Clyden Comedy

The Farmin' Filosopher sez years ago he was working a dollar a day, and after finishing this year's income and tax report, he's still working a dollar a day, but it's a lot more complicated!

Authors have a bad time of it really.

Take for instance our old friend Jerry Rogers of Rogers Point, Wyoming. His first book was a huge success. Titled "The Oldtimer", it's still selling at a satisfactory pace. An autographed copy stands in my showcase, well read.

He stopped in for his annual visit recently. While catching up on news of each other, I inquired about his new book. "All finished," he said. "All lacks is a title. Another friend recently wanted to know something about it," he continued. "I told her the main character was—to put it bluntly—somewhat lacking in the mental department."

"Oh," the friend replied knowingly. "It's an autobiography."

New Haskell Free Press office manager Lee Barnett, a native of Berlin, Germany, is only a happy American. She, much more than the native-born citizen, can honestly appreciate our way of life to the fullest. She learned to enjoy football, and is a great fan. She has learned, too, to keep a sense of humor as she goes along the way of being Americanized.

Take, for example, a moment in her life some 8 years ago.

Returning from a necessary trip to Abilene, Lee was listening intently to a Baylor game. They were on the 10 yard line, and holding. A highway patrol siren finally filtered into Lee's consciousness and she, being the wife of Haskell's Chief of Police, shamefacedly pulled to the side of the road.

Aware that she must have been speeding, she listened to the officer with one ear, while concentrating on Baylor's touchdown try with the other. He gave her every chance.

"Do you have an emergency, lady?"

"I certainly do," replied Lee, trying hard to cooperate.

And she reached down and pulled on the emergency brake.

But that's not the end of the story.

He asked for her driver's license. She had left them home.

"What is your name, please?" he asked, with pencil poised over the ticket pad.

"Lee Dabow Barnett". He wrote.

"No, no, on my license, I think it's Lee Gertrud Barnett."

He scratched out and wrote below.

"Oh, no, just a minute, I think it's on my license as Lee-oni Dabow Barnett."

He scratched out, and wrote again, below.

"I AM sorry," she said again, but it might be . . ."

But it was too late. He tore up the ticket. There was no more room on it anyway. He instead cautioned her to drive more carefully.

P. S. Baylor DID make that touchdown. And Lee, properly chastised, drove home safely.

Cotton Harvesting Continues

MUNDAY—Cotton harvesting gained momentum last week as fields dried enough for field activity to resume in most of the area serviced by the Munday Cotton Classing Office, reports Shirley A. Sewell, Officer-in-Charge. According to the USDA's Consumer and Marketing Service, 3,319 samples were classed this week, bringing our season's total to 6,517.

Quality statistics for the week ending Dec. 24, 1971, show the quality of the cotton classed to be slightly better than the previous week. This week 9% of the cotton graded in the white grades compared to about 1% last week. 42% of the cotton was classed as Strict Low Middling Light Spotted, 25% graded in the Spotted grades, which was about the same as the previous week. 31% of the cotton classed was reduced in grade due to bark or grass, up 9 percentage points over last week. The staple lengths show 15% staple 30, 46% staple 31, 31% staple 32, and 8% staple 33 or longer.

The micronaire readings continue to be good with 97% of the cotton reading in the desirable range of 3.5-4.9.

Pressley fiber strength tests conducted by the USDA's fiber laboratory at College Station show an average breaking strength of 77,000 pounds per square inch.

Cotton prices increased this week with farmers offering freely. Prices received by farmers ranged from 28.75-30.00 cents per pound for all grades offered with staple lengths of 31 through 34.

Cotton harvesting was interrupted most of this past week by unfavorable weather in the area serviced by the Munday Cotton Classing Office, reports Shirley A. Sewell, Officer-in-

Rain, Sleet, Shine And Snow Recorded In Haskell For Dec.

According to Sam Herren, official weather observer for Haskell, the county received almost every kind of weather possible during the month of December. It was an unusually warm month and the 79 degree reading that was recorded on Dec. 25 was one of the highest readings in history for Christmas Day. The low reading of 28, on Dec. 18, was also unusually warm. Three inches of snowfall was recorded on Dec. 3 which was the first snow this winter. Precipitation was recorded on 12 days totaling 2.37 inches, which is 1.04 inches over the monthly average of 1.33 inches.

Small amounts of moisture through the month kept most cotton fields just damp enough to stop the cotton harvest for most of the month.

During the first seven months of 1971 only 8.63 inches of precipitation was recorded which is 5.68 inches below normal. During the spring and summer most of the county looked like it had not rained all year. Then with 11.47 inches gauged in August (a record amount) spring flowers began to bloom and everything looked like spring.

Roses were still blooming the last day of December and several trees were budding.

The total yearly rainfall of 30.30 inches was 7.10 inches above the yearly average of 23.20.

1971 was a very mild year, temperature-wise, with both an unusually cool summer and warm winter.

1972 started off with cold weather, snow and sleet, with a low temperature of 15 degrees recorded on Jan. 4. The high reading for the week was 64 degrees, recorded on Jan. 2. A light snow and some sleet fell the fourth giving .03 inches of moisture.

Free Press Has Birthday

By DON COMEDY
Editor

With this issue of the Free Press we begin the eighty-sixth year of publication. The first issue, dated Jan. 1, 1886, was printed in Throckmorton. During the past eighty-five years, the paper has had only six owners, speaking well of the support given to the paper by the town. During this time the paper has not, to the best of our knowledge, missed a single issue.

The first issue printed in Haskell was in May of 1886. H. C. Leonard, who established the paper, brought an army press, a stand, a piece of slate for an ink table, a six column composition roller and a few pounds of type which was used to print the paper for two years.

In 1913, owner Oscar Martin wrote, "The Free Press prospered, and in 1888, purchased a Washington press and more type and material. It has continued to until now and represents an investment of more than ten thousand dollars."

In August of 1970 the Free Press was purchased by the partnership of G. E. Talkington and Bill Comedy and was incorporated under the name of Haskell Free Press Publishing Co., Inc. During the past seventeen months several changes have been made which include remodeling of the office and a new front page format for the newspaper.

This is a time for New Year's resolutions, and on the birthday of the Free Press, the entire staff resolves to better serve the public through the year of 1972.

C.A.P. Staff Urges Voter Registration

The Haskell C.A.P. staff is encouraging voter registration throughout the county. 1972 is a voting year and every vote cast will count.

Mrs. Robertson and Mrs. Rodela attended the staff meeting in Abilene last Monday where they gave monthly reports and discussed projects for the new year.

Mrs. Chester Cunningham, director of the quilting project, has announced that four large quilts and a crib quilt are finished and work is progressing on several more. The ladies meet every weekday morning except Thursday at the C.A.P. center. Anyone interested in night classes for quilting can contact Mrs. Cunningham and arrangements will be made.

Indians Open District Play

The Haskell Indians opened district play Tuesday night, defeating the Anson Tigers. Both the girls and boys A teams lost to the strong Tiger team.

The B team defeated the Anson B team by a score of 64-42 with three men in double figures. Randy Ivy led with 26 and was followed by Kippy Grand with 21 and James McCoy with 10.

The girls lost a close game by a score of 42-38. Mary Elliott led the Maidens with 11 followed by Pam Colbert and Glenda Chapman both with 10, and Jerry Walton with 7.

During the boys game four technical fouls and 54 personal fouls slowed the game somewhat but plenty of fast basketball was also seen. The Indians did not really get rolling until the fourth quarter when they scored 31 of their 67 points. The Tigers, a very tall team, controlled rebounds and led during most of the game.

Joe Kretschmer paced the Indians with 21 points followed by Bobby Cobb with 11 and Jackie Young with 10. Robin Colbert had 9, Jim Bob Mickler had 6, Frank Jircik and Tim Pringle both had 4, and Joe Mickler had 2.

Friday night the basketball teams will journey to Stamford to meet the Bulldogs in their second district game of the season.

Dr. Sarles Is Lions Speaker

The regular meeting of the Haskell Lions Club was held Tuesday at Fekers Restaurant with Bud Pogue, president, presiding.

Wallace Cox led the Lions song session, accompanied by Ellen Walling on the piano.

Dr. Harry Sarles spoke to the Lions about a 'four letter word'—Love—and about the fine image Haskell has among the surrounding towns. Dr. Sarles said that everyone should make a New Year's Resolution to be kinder and love everyone we come in contact with throughout the new year.

Introduced as guests were Earnest Cowger of the Stamford Lions Club, Cathy Money, Guy Davidson and J. F. Cadenhead III.

NEW YEAR BABY

Haskell's first baby of the New Year was born Sunday, January 2, at 6:50 p. m. in Haskell Memorial Hospital. Jesus Dovalina, 6-pound son of Mr. and Mrs. Lorenzo Fernandez, Jr., and his mother are both in good condition.

Farmers Union To Publish History

Beginning with this issue of The Haskell Free Press the Haskell County Chapter of the National Farmers Union will publish a weekly advertisement giving the history, goals and ideals of the National Farmers Union. Willard Mullins, president of the local chapter, will furnish the material that gives information dealing not only with the national organization but with the county chapter as well, and tell how each can benefit the rural farmer.

Founded in Texas in 1902 and named the Farmers Educational and Co-operative Union of America, the National Farmers Union is one of the three largest farmers' organizations in America with more than 300,000 members in 40 states. In the State of Texas, there are just less than 9,000 members.

The Farmers Union has a strong lobby in both the state and national capitals that is constantly working for the betterment of the farming industry.

Anyone can become a member of the National Farmers Union with the same voice and membership advantages but with no voting privileges, whereas only people who receive 65 percent of their annual income from an agricultural source can become voting members.

Two Accidents During Holiday

Two accidents were reported in Haskell County over the New Year's weekend. The first was Friday night at 7:45 p. m. involving a 1969 Ford driven by Billy Don Storey of Weinert.

The car was reported traveling south on U. S. 277 when it struck a large concrete block at the corner of North Avenue E and 6th Street. The car bounced back onto the highway, turning over. Passengers in the car were Delores Jane West of Haskell and Jack Anderson Davis Jr. of Olney. Miss West was taken to the hospital by her grandmother where she was treated for minor cuts. Storey received several broken teeth but was not treated at that time. The automobile was totaled. Patrolman Skip Lane investigated the accident, assisted by Haskell Chief of Police Tom Barnett. No citations have been issued at the present time. The fire department was called because of leaking gasoline.

The second accident was reported at about 2 a. m. and was investigated by Texas Highway Patrol officer James Davis. The accident took place about five miles north of Weinert on U. S. 277 where it was reported a 1966 Ford ran off the road and overturned. Passengers in the car were Donnie Hise, David Parson, both of Haskell, and an unidentified girl. Only minor injuries were reported.

YOU NEED TO BE REGULAR IN CHURCH ATTENDANCE

America stands far above other nations. It was founded on deep roots of faith in God. This faith appears to be dropping. Rather than worship God, the Lord's day is spent fishing, golfing, boating or visiting.

You owe it to yourself to be regular in church attendance — You will be surprised how much regular church attendance will brighten your life. You'll be a better person.

You owe it to your family to be regular in church attendance — Nothing is quite so tragic as the man who provides education, food, raiment, shelter and entertainment but never gives his family anything spiritual.

You owe it to God to be regular in church attendance — Even some of the church were in danger of becoming inspired writers of the "And let us call one another to provoke love and good works forsaking the assembly ourselves together in a manner of some is; horting one another as much the more as ye day approaching." (Heb. 24-26). So, to fail to be would be in opposition to God's will.

The Church of Christ extends a friendly welcome to all. Each congregation is completely independent and seeks to follow God's directions in faith, doctrine and practice. A free BIBLE CORRESPONDENCE COURSE, send your name and address to the address below.)

A. B. E. Project Establishes Classes

The Rule Co-op. A.B.E. project has established classes at Haskell, Weimert, Knox City and Rule. All classes meet at the high schools except the Haskell classes which meet at the C.A.P. center.

Classes are held every Tuesday and Thursday from 7:30 p. m. for two hours each evening. Students can enroll at anytime or can start back after a period of absence since the students are taught individually. The tuition is free as well as the materials.

By attending these classes and starting at one's own level, a student reviewing the eight grade subjects will be ready to take the General Educational Development Tests. If the student passes these tests the Texas Education Agency will issue him a high school diploma.

The Haskell and Knox City classes are also directed to help the non-English person to learn English since these classes are taught by bilingual teachers.

Mr. H. L. Guess, superintendent of schools at Weimert, plans to start classes in typing and bookkeeping on Monday night, Jan. 10, at 7:00 p. m. at Weimert. If you want to take these courses, contact him.

Plan to start back to school now if you did not finish high school.

VA Questions And Answers

Q—What businesses are subject to pre-notification and reporting their price increases?

A—Firms with annual sales or revenues of $100 million or more are subject to pre-notification and reporting. In general, these firms must notify the Price Commission in advance and obtain approval of proposed price increases. In addition, they must file quarterly reports with the Price Commission. Firms with annual sales or revenues between $50 million and $100 million must file quarterly reports with the Price Commission, but they do not need to obtain approval of price increases.

Forms for pre-notifiers and reporters are available at the local offices of the Internal Revenue Service.

Q—Are dividends and interest subject to legal restraints under the Economic Stabilization Program?

A—No. However, the Committee on Interest and Dividends, established by the President, will formulate and execute a program for obtaining voluntary restraints on selected interest rates. The Committee will also continue the voluntary program for the restraint of dividend payments, subject to possible changes of standards and coverage.

The President has asked Congress for amendments to the Economic Stabilization Act to provide stand-by authority to impose mandatory control of interest rates and dividend payments. However, the use of this authority is not expected to be necessary.

Whenever you use a grass waterway you want a dense, vigorous growth of grass that will carry a flow of water without erosion. Also, your grass waterway should be established before any water is turned into it. Thus, it needs to be ready before you install the terraces, diversions, or contour rows that will discharge into it. In addition, the waterway should be permanent. Some waterways can be successfully reworked but this may be difficult. The goal is a grass or grass mixture that you can maintain permanently or re-establish easily.

The best location for your waterway is a depression or draw that is a part of the natural drainage pattern. These pieces require a minimum of shaping. The soil here is usually deep and fertile, and moisture is favorable for good grass growth. Water from terraces, diversions, and rows can be guided into the waterway easily. But if your field has no natural draw you will need to construct a channel.

Your waterway should be wide enough and deep enough to hold the largest flow of water from the heaviest rain expected on an average of about once in 10 years. It should not overflow onto bare, unprotected soil. The size needed to carry the water depends on the soil, slope, grass cover planned and the amount of drainage in acres going into the waterway.

Every water problem is different and needs in-depth planning and design to solve the problem.

For more information about a waterway on your farm contact your local Soil Conservation office.

Just Wait Till You Have Children of Your Own by Erma Bombeck and Bill Keane... Just wait till you have children of your own" is one of the classic threats that parents have resorted to when all else fails to influence their offspring. And it takes on added comic force here as two of America's foremost family humorists present a hilarious look at the teenagers of today.

Erma Bombeck and Bill Keane each do their own thing to depict life with a teen, with the common garden variety that puts in a full school year, has some normalcy, and drives people nuts. In "Games Teenagers Play", "The Rise and Decline of Parental Smarts", and theories on "How to Build a Teenager... If You Want To", the dialogs, scenes and characters are familiar parts of the average American family, but given to the warm Bombeck-Keane treatment they become special and very funny.

The HASKELL FREE PRESS

HASKELL, TEXAS 79521, THURSDAY, JANUARY 6, 1972 NUMBER ONE

As Mrs. Bombeck notes in her introduction, she and Mr. Keane set out to write a book about the foibles of teenagers without putting them down, and the result is a truly light-hearted account of what actually goes on between the generations.

Addie Pray by Joe David Brown... The heroine of Joe David Brown's new novel is Miss Addie Pray, an 11 year old orphan of monumental shrewdness, who becomes the will and imaginative confederate of her conman companion Long Boy in the darkest days of the Depression.

Together, they embark on a series of confidence tricks that take them from one end of the South to the other.

Addie Pray is one of the most engaging pieces of fiction to come down the pike in a long, long time, as warm, funny, hard-edged and no-nonsense as its remarkable young heroine—and destined, we believe, to become a permanent piece of fictional Americana.

Eleanor and Franklin by Joseph P. Lash... No other American marriage has had such far-reaching consequences for history as that of Eleanor and Franklin Roosevelt. In outline, the story of this partnership of 45 years is well known. But here, for the first time, it is told in the depth that its importance warrants and with an understanding that brings it into new and brilliant focus.

For many years, Joseph P. Lash was a close friend and political associate of Mrs. Roosevelt. From personal knowledge, the vast Hyde Park collection of papers, and formidable research has come an incomparable work... filled not only with a wealth of new material but with a superb sense of both personal drama and historical event.

Cotton harvest picked up some during the fair weather over the Christmas holidays. Lisle Gin of Rule has ginned 1,250 bales up to this time and had some cotton on the yard but, with the inclement weather will be caught up. Rule Co-op Gin has ginned 1,542 bales up to this time. Damp weather has prevented the cotton stripping for a while but, it is hoped that fair weather will allow the farmers to get the remaining cotton out of the fields. This is the latest cotton has ever been harvested in the Rule Community. It should be completed within 4 weeks with weather permitting. The only good thing is that farmers are receiving a better price for cotton this year.

Tax Guide For Farmers

(Dallas, Texas) — The 1972 edition of the "Farmer's Tax Guide" is now available from county agricultural agents or the Internal Revenue Service, Ellis Campbell, Jr., District Director of Internal Revenue for North Texas, said today.

The booklet, IRS Publication 225, shows how farmers should fill out the 1040 tax return and which schedules should be attached. A listing of important Federal tax dates for farmers can also be found in the publication.

Written in non-technical language, the tax guide contains many examples of how farm transactions are handled for Federal income tax purposes.

Although primarily written to help farmers prepare their 1971 tax return, the Guide is useful as a reference throughout the year.

Programs For Rural Projects

The following facts came from the Land Improvement Contractors of America Newsletter. The information deals with the Agricultural Conservation Program which was recently renamed the Rural Environmental Assistance Program.

- 1. This Program was authorized by the Congress in the Soil Conservation and Domestic Allotment Act of 1936 at not to exceed $500 million a year. 2. In terms of 1971 dollars, this would require $1.5 billion a year. 3. Even though Congress directed the Administration to spend $195.5 million for the 1972 Program, the Office of Management and Budget impounded $55.3 million leaving only $140 million to be distributed over 50 States. 4. Over 9,000 County Committees and 100,000 Community Committees are elected by farmers in the 3,000 Counties to administer this Program. 5. Over 1 million farms have participated in it every year. 6. It is in use in every agricultural county in the Nation. 7. Farmers have to match the Federal share with their own money and carry out the practices. 8. The Soil and Water Conservation practices are long-range improvement practices worked out at the County, State, and National level as being in the National interest. 9. No other nation in the world has engineered such a far-reaching effort on controlling and improving the environment. 10. Contrary to popular opinion, soil run-off, not sewage, is the greatest pollutant of our Nation's waters, and the planting of millions of acres of legumes, grasses, and millions of forest trees has retarded this run-off each year since 1936. 11. While opponents have criticized the Program as a subsidy to agriculture, it is actually the investment of Federal funds in improving the ecology for all the people while insuring the Nation's productive capacity for future generations.

3.8 million widows and dependent widows were paid $433 million by social security in July '71.

United Methodist Women to Observe 'New Records' Is Call To Prayer and Self-Denial Rotary Program

Members of the Women's Society of Christian Service of First United Methodist Church, of Haskell, will participate this month in one of the most important annual observances of United Methodist women throughout the United States.

The Call to Prayer and Self-Denial focuses on prayer, a deepened spiritual life, a guided mission study, and a much needed self-denial offering for special mission work in the United States and around the world. Over 1 1/2 million women in approximately 34,000 societies and guilds in all 50 states will join in the observance.

The Call—inspired by the needs, and the opportunities to be made possible by self-denial gifts—is sponsored by the Women's Division of The United Methodist Board of Missions, the national body through which the local women's societies and guilds function.

The major events of the observance are the Quiet Day, prayer, meditation, a silent meal, and an interpretation of the mission projects for which the special offering will be made.

The Call to Prayer and Self-Denial for women of the church will be celebrated at 9:30 o'clock January 5, 1972, in the sanctuary and at the monthly circle meetings.

Each year the Women's Division designates mission projects in the United States and overseas to receive the special offering which is given as part of the Call to Prayer and Self-Denial. This year the projects chosen because of urgent needs are:

(1) UNITED STATES: Self-initiated Voluntary Service wherein concerned young people recognize needs and take steps to meet them, serving people by starting new forms mission before requesting minimal financial aid; and, Extended Involvement of Existing Projects in Community Life directed toward increasing the coordination of mission schools and institutions with the lives of seriously impoverished and isolated people in their communities, especially in Appalachia.

(2) OVERSEAS: Vocational and Technical Programs to Confront World Hunger and Poverty, such as nutrition extension programs; fundamental education; agriculture and food production; and family planning; continuing education for professionally-qualified nationals; and technical training programs for local occupations or self-employment.

Monetary support through special self-denial offerings will help make this work possible. Last year the Call to Prayer and Self-Denial offering totalled more than $600,000. Each woman who takes part is asked to save over a length of time and then bring her offering for the designated projects. Women are also requested to pray for the workers and those served by these projects.

The theme for the 1972 Call to Prayer and Self-Denial is "Open Up Your Life"; Missionaries and nationals from around the world have provided much of the basic information for use in talks on mission projects.

TEXAS FARMERS UNION APPLAUDS STRATEGIC RESERVE BILL

The following statement was issued on Dec. 14 by Texas Farmers Union President Jay Naman of Waco at the Farmers Union Office:

"Texas farmers have achieved a signal victory in the passage by the House of Representatives of the Strategic Reserve Bill (H. R. 1163) introduced by Congressman Smith of Iowa, that will authorize the Department of Agriculture to maintain reserve inventories of 300 million bushels of wheat and 720 million bushels of corn and other feed grains. These stocks will be locked away from the market to be used only when there is an emergency demand. An amendment to the Smith bill, increasing price support loans on wheat and feed grains by 25 percent on the 1971 and 1972 crops, is particularly meaningful in the light of the tremendous over-production of wheat and feed grains this year and demoralized prices. This amendment, (H. R. 8290) introduced by Rep. John Melcher of Montana, is an important adjunct to the food reserve legislation."

"We hope that President Nixon recognize the importance of this tion and see the value not only to but to consumers. With his assistance bill should receive prompt approval Senate and be ready to take effect to assist in relieving the markets of excessive stocks of feed grains and about an immediate strengthening. A veto of this bill by the President be a crippling blow to the nation grain and wheat producers."

"Farmers Union has traditionally supported the strategic reserve concept and has been the motivating force behind several implementing bills in recent years. We have felt that a reserve program for food and fiber is as important to national defense and the public welfare as is a program to provide a strategic reserve for certain metals that might be needed in case of defense. Under the program passed, farmers will be able to provide badly needed food and fiber for the security of our nation and be assured of a level of compensation for their contribution to the national welfare."
