SHERIFF ALLEN CAPTURES A VALUABLE PRIZE

Our popular sheriff, W. C. Allen, proved himself a very diligent officer last week, when he went to Swisher county and captured a very valuable prize in the person of Mrs. Alice Yancy, who will share his joys and sorrows. The marriage was performed Wednesday of last week, and Mr. and Mrs. Allen are this week receiving the congratulations and best wishes of many friends with whom the Free Press joins in these happy felicitations. We give the write-ups of the happy affair from the two Tullia papers, which is far better than we can do so at this long range:

Warrant Issued After Arrest

Sheriff W. C. Allen, of Haskell was seen Thursday morning on the streets of Tullia, making his way toward the court house in company with Mrs. Alice Yancy. Several friends went over, with a view of offering themselves as bondsmen, if necessary. County Clerk T. A. Ross was busily engaged in writing out the papers under the direction of Sheriff Allen.

The county judge and the justice of the peace expected the papers to be filed with them, or one of them; and they were primping for the occasion and looking up some forms of law, the handsome sheriff escorted his pretty prisoner to the Presbyterian manse, where, Rev. J. R. Sharp performed the ceremony that made them husband and wife.

The sheriff's only reason for arresting the fair woman was that he loved her dearly and needed her to help him—care for the prisoners in the Haskell county jail. After congratulations by a number of friends the happy couple left on the afternoon train for their future home at Haskell.

The bride is a charming and accomplished young woman. She is a sister-in-law of our fellow townsman, Mr. William Hearne.—Tullia Herald.

A Sheriff Gets Married

W. C. Allen, sheriff of Haskell county, arrived in Tullia Wednesday afternoon and drove out to the home of Wm. Hearn, four miles east of town, and where Mrs. Alice Yancy, also of Haskell, was visiting her sister, Mrs. Wm. Hearn.

Thursday morning Mr. Allen and Mrs. Yancy came to town and the Sheriff quietly informed Tom Ross that he needed some official documents. The big, fat jolly County Clerk caught the cue at once and said: "Write the names down on this slip of paper." The request was promptly complied with, the papers were issued and the official seal applied. A rush was made for George Reid's automobile, in which the lady was seated. The Sheriff climbed into the car and seated himself by the lady's side. About that time Rev. J. R. Sharp stepped up and in a brief, but impressive ceremony, authorized Sheriff Allen to return to Haskell with Mrs. Yancy as his authorized and legal "boss." A few minutes later they were on the train homeward bound.

The Enterprise congratulates the Haskell county sheriff on his successful get-away with his prize. Our Sheriff Crawford got woefully mad when he learned that a fellow sheriff had slipped into his county and made a very valuable capture, without making application at the Swisher county Sheriff's office for requisition papers, and had he been notified of the affair just a few minutes earlier, before the train left, he would have arrested the intruding sheriff and kept him over one night upon the charge of a breach of good fellowship.—Tullia Enterprise.

Goods Returned.

Once an old darky visited a doctor and was given definite instructions as to what he should do. Shaking his head he started to leave the office, when the doctor said:

"Here, Rastus, you forgot to pay me."

"Pay yo' for what, boss?"

"For my advice," replied the doctor.

"Naw, sub; naw, sub; I ain't gwine take it," and Rastus shuffled out.—Norfolk Ledger-Dispatch.

THE COUNTY FAIR WILL BE A WINNER

We are greatly pleased to announce to the public—the farmers of Haskell County in particular—that arrangements are being made to hold a County Fair in Haskell next month. There is to be a street Carnival here during the week beginning Oct. 12th., under the auspices of the Haskell Fire Department and it is planned to have a three days' fair covering the dates Oct. 15, 16, and 17th.

About $300.00 has been subscribed by the business men of the town to be offered in premiums on farm and garden products, poultry, etc. The committee having the matter in charge could not get the premium list ready this week, but promise to have it ready for publication next week.

It is urged that every farmer in the county begin to pick out and set aside the best specimens of all his products for exhibition. While the premiums will not be large, they will "help some;" but it is expected that the greatest inducement or incentive will be the friendly rivalry between neighbors and the different sections of the county to show the best specimens. Then the social meeting together of the people from every part of the county and the discussions and exchange of opinions and individual experiences as to farm methods and varieties of crops, etc., will be entertaining and beneficial to all.

For several years fairs like this were held in Haskell and they were a source of real pleasure and benefit to all those who participated in them, but during the drouth period they were discontinued, unfortunately. Now, however, that daylight has broken upon West Texas again, we hope that this small beginning will lead to a permanent organization that will give us a county fair each year.

We warn you not to be too modest and fail to bring your specimens for fear that some else will have better ones. We have several times seen the persons who thought their specimens hardly worth bringing prove to be the winner. The premiums will cover varieties of wheat, oats, corn, cotton, maize, kafir, feterita, sorghum, cow-peas, peanuts, broom-corn, cushaws, pumpkins, potatoes, melons, the various kinds of garden vegetables, poultry, hogs and many other things which we don't think of now, but which the committee doubtless will put on the premium list.

In closing we want to commend the business men who are contributing the money and, also the gentlemen who are doing the work, for their enterprise and public spirit and when the fair is over we hope and believe that the farmers will have shown an enterprise and a spirit which we can commend even more loudly.

Come on, lets forget for a day or so the years and cares that are turning our heads gray and have a big time and a good time.

An Urgent Call.

In response to a call from the Executive Committee of the "Laymen's Meeting," more than fifty mothers met at the Methodist church Sunday, September 20th. In very brief talks from two of the men who had been appointed by the committee some very practical and very important matters were brought to our attention concerning those who should be and who are nearest every true mother's heart.

The committee retired and after some discussions it was unanimously agreed to call another meeting of the mothers of Haskell for September 27th, at 4 p. m. to discuss further plans for the best interest of our young people.

We feel that now is the opportune time, while God is calling them to a better life, and we believe they are desirous of a better life. Mothers, if you love "your own," this meeting is for you. Be sure and come and don't expect some other mother to feel more interested than you do.

Cotton Pickers

Mr. W. F. Mayo, of Durant, Oklahoma, was here the first of the week, and he said owing to excessive rains up to June, and drouth since then in his section of the country, that a great many of his neighbors wanted him to look into the prospect for cotton picking here. He was enthused over the splendid fields of cotton he saw here, and will report to his neighbors and friends that we have the cotton to pick. Any letters addressed to him will be turned over to some one wanting work.

HASKELL COUNTY'S IMMENSE MELONS

W. A. Hutto, of the Rule community brought a load of water melons to Haskell Monday and in the load was 16 melons, none of which would weigh less than seventy-five pounds, and one of them was weighed and tipped the scales at 102 pounds. Mr. Hutto could hardly sell them at 35c and 50c. We have been told that large melons sold on the market in the large cities at from 8 to 10 cents per pound. It looks to us like some way could be found to market the immense crop of melons that annually go to waste in Haskell county. These melons were raised without any extra culture. A forty pound melon is a common product in this section, and the melons raised here, are the sweetest and finest flavored we ever saw. The bigger they are the sweeter the flavor.

Two Papers, One Price

In another column of this paper is a clubbing ad of this paper and The Abilene Morning Reporter-News published at Abilene making the two papers for the price of one. By accepting this clubbing offer now you can secure this paper and a daily paper, both one year for only $3.00, which is the price for a year's subscription to the Abilene Morning Reporter-News, a twenty-four page War Atlas can also be secured with this offer for 25c additional. All subscriptions must come through this office.

Big Harvest

Farmers of this section need hands to head maize. The crop is enormous and the yield is the biggest that this section has ever made.

ACREAGE TAX ON COTTON IS LEGAL

Washington, Sept. 17.—That the United States Supreme Court decisions support the idea that the Federal Government can restrict the production of cotton by a tax laid upon the acreage is the decision of a special committee composed of Senators Clarke of Arkansas, White of Alabama and Williams of Mississippi and Representatives Hardwick of Georgia and Burgess of Texas, appointed by the Congressional Cotton Conference.

The committee will suggest two plans to the conference.

One is a tax upon persons, firms or corporations engaged in planting or producing cotton as follows:

Ten cents per pound of the 1915 production which is in excess of 50 per cent of the 1914 production and which planter was not engaged in planting this year, but will be in 1915, his tax at 10c per pound is to be based upon what the land involved produced in 1914.

The alternative proposed plan is for tax of $20 per acre on the same condition given above.

Members of the committee declares that the Federal Government has the exclusive right to control the cotton production by a prohibition tax.

Zoorary.

There is no place like the House of Commons for a "nice derangement of metaphors." It will be a long time, however, before we have a mixture equal to the outburst an effusive orator who said: "The British lion, whether it is roaming the deserts of India or climbing the forests of Canada, will not draw in its horns or retire into its shell!"—Tit-Bits.

Sunday Schools Increasing
 The Free Press is gratified to note the continued increase in attendance of the different Sunday schools of our city, as reported by the three represented in the paper. We will be glad to have a report from the other Sunday schools if the superintendents will make it to us each week. There is nothing more important in church work than the Sunday school. The boys and girls of today will be the men and women of tomorrow, and if the proper training is given them, the future public affairs, both religious and political, will be in better hands. And there is no better place than the Sunday school for such a training. Hence if when we get the boys and girls to attend the Sunday Schools, we are doing that much for posterity and our country's future. Let the good work go on and continue to increase in Haskell.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured
 by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.

Sudden Matrimony.
 One of the most sudden cases of matrimony is reported from Bulawao, South Africa. There a young couple presented themselves one Saturday afternoon on the magistrate's tennis lawn and interrupted the game by demanding to be married.

"Why on earth," said the magistrate, "did you not come to see me this morning?"
 "But please, sir, we only met at lunch for the first time."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

Kongo's Arrival in New York.

The scenes attending the arrival of the largest elephant ever known "Kongo," were most remarkable. From the time the people of this country, some twelve months ago, read of the capture of Kongo, there has been a curiosity to see this huge beast. At the "round-up" of elephants, in Siam, last spring, there were twenty-three elephants captured—this being the entire haul for the season. Among the few held last season, was the real monarch of the Jungle—an elephant that has been the goal of every hunter to the forest for years. This big beast was Kongo. Immediately the concessionaries of the San Francisco Exposition cabled to secure this big beast for the wonderful trained animal exhibit they will have during the Fair. The promoters of the Yankee Robinson shows happened to have Mr. Harvey Hale, their European representative in Siam, at the time of this offer. Without any conferring with the owners of the big circus, he secured this big feast (for an enormous rental) for the coming season. It is expected that the principal cities of the country will be visited by the show during that time.

The arrival of Kongo in New York, as stated above, was witnessed by tens of thousands of people. He was lowered from the vessel by means of a large car, heavily ironed and secured with enormous chains. As the big steam derrick hoisted Kongo in air to be lowered to the harbor, he emitted a terrific "bowl" of the desert. This is a noise peculiar to this species of animals in extreme fright. He was immediately taken to the yards of the Pennsylvania yards where, in a specially constructed car, he was brought to the Yankee Robinson shows. The unloading from the cars of this beast is well worth your time. Kongo is unloaded usually about six in the morning and taken to the lot immediately.

 Publisher Richmond "Coaster," Waco, Texas, says that Grigsby's LIV-VER-LAX Cured him. Read his Statement.

Most people of sedentary occupation, such as editors, bookkeepers, office employees, stenographers and others who spend their lives indoors are more subject to the ravages of malaria than those who take a large amount of exercise out of doors.
 Mr. Shannon devotes much of his time to writing and was a great sufferer from bilious headaches until he took LIV-VER-LAX.

On his own statement, this renowned remedy cured him, just as surely as it will cure you of Constipation or other malarial symptoms. These symptoms are the signals ahead of serious complications if not eliminated.
 There is no compromise with malaria. You must get it or it will get you. The ounce of prevention in the form of LIV-VER-LAX may save even your life from malaria, from which nearly every one in this climate suffers in a greater or less degree, develops rapidly when it once gets a hold on your system.

The Baptists Entertained

The Baptist congregation had a "Get Acquainted" entertainment at the church last Friday night, and it was a very pleasant affair. Quite a large crowd was present to enjoy the good fellowship and association the occasion afforded. Rev. L. L. Sams, the pastor, made a short talk, also O. B. Norman, Superintendent of the Sunday School, both of which were very much enjoyed. An instrumental duet by Mrs. T. B. Russell and Mrs. D. Scott, was very highly enjoyed. Several male quartettes added to the pleasure of the occasion. Fruit punch was served, and those in attendance had a jolly, good time in social conversation.

If there is a bucking horse in your neighborhood that no one can ride, bring him in on Yankee Robinson circus day, and Texas Bill and his band of rough riders—some of the best in the world—will see what can be done about handling him. Texas Bill and his cowboys, cowgirls, Mexicans and rough riders of the world, are with Yankee Robinson circus and they will ride any bucking horse you bring them.

HOW TO GET STRENGTH

after any sickness is purely a matter of nourishment, whether the attack was an ordinary cold or severe illness; the weakened forces cannot repulse disease germs, and this is why a relapse is so often fatal or why chronic weakness often follows sickness.

Restoring strength to millions of people for forty years has proven the real need for taking Scott's Emulsion after any sickness; nothing equals it—nothing compares with it. Its pure, medicinal nourishment, free from alcohol or opiates, promptly creates rich blood, strengthens the nerves and lungs to avert tuberculosis.

Latest Fashion Tendencies as Expressed in the Fall Styles

In general, the styles this season are more becoming than they have been for many a day, and are distinguished by graceful lines.

The new silhouette shows a tendency toward the normal waistline, and is given variety in the suits by the use of the cape coat and the moderately fitted coat, and by the many styles of skirts.

The suit coats this season are particularly interesting. They are longer than last season's models. The long tunic accentuates the length of the coat in many cases and gives the length of line so sought for this season.

Many skirts are made with tunics, either straight or plaited. The under or lower skirt is just wide enough to permit comfortable walking. The skirts are somewhat shorter, too.

A decided feature of the separate coat will be the cape-coat, developed in a variety of novel forms. All have the popular flare effect at the bottom.

Sleeves show greater eccentricity than ever—the set in sleeve is back again, together with variations of the kimono and cape effect.

In collars—the Gladstone and new Military collars are the most popular, and it's remarkable how well they have been developed in the heavier materials.

The Bischof models on display at our store embody these new style features in a way wonderfully becoming, and not in the least extreme. Come in and stay as long as you like, looking over these charming styles. We'll be glad to help you select the one that suits you best.

Our Prices Range from $10. to $45.

A good number of ladies met Monday evening in a very spiritual Bible lesson. If love can constrain you to exertion, you must be active. Can you, if truly a Christian, contemplate the costly sacrifice and nameless agonies of the Son of God, and yet remain indifferent to the prosperity of the cause for which He died? Give to Him your time and talent, and eternal glory will be yours.

We urge all our members to be present next Monday at the Presbyterian church in a joint meeting of the different Societies of town. These meetings are a blessing to all. Come.

BUY-A-BALE SENTIMENT IS STILL GROWING

The Buy-A-Bale movement hit this town last week and has passed into the stage of Bought-A-Bale.

Clay Kimbrough led off in the Buy-A-Bale movement, and the following have taken up the Bought-A-Bale movement, all of whom paid ten cents a pound for the cotton and have their bale on exhibition:

Tom Brooks, the restaurant man, one bale; The Farmers State Bank, one bale; W. H. Murchison, lawyer, one bale; The Haskell National Bank, one bale; A. B. Mason, Laundryman, one bale; John Couch, lumberman, one bale; Hunt Bros., Dry Goods and Clothing, one bale; L. M. Garrett, one bale; Hancock & Co., two bales; Farmers Supply Co., one bale; Montgomery & Gresham, one bale; the Christian Church, one bale. Rev. J. D. White got up the money Wednesday evening in a short time to buy a bale for the benefit of his church. The idea was a good one, and he soon had the money for a bale.

There may be others who have bought, but we have not learned of any others who have. The movement is spreading and is helping to make the spot market.

Haskell Church Buys First Bale.

A. D. Rogers Supt. and Treas. of Texas Missions for the Church of Christ in Texas is asking each of the more than 500 churches in the organization to Buy-a-Bale of good cotton from some worthy person who is compelled to sell, at ten cents a pound, and store the cotton in the church houses until the price is ten cents and up, then to sell and give the proceeds to missions.

The first Christian Church of Haskell led by their pastor, John D. White, made up the money Wednesday and bought a bale from Mr. N. T. Carter and had it consigned to A. D. Rogers Supt. and treasurer, and stored it in the church building.

This movement was started last Monday, and Haskell has the honor of getting in on the ground floor.

Mr. Rogers who is here attending The Central West Texas District Convention, says he will push this plan, and he thinks that those who can ought to keep their cotton off the market, so those who are compelled to sell, can get ten cents. Many of the business men in the city had the pleasure of participating in the grand movement.

The St. Louis Business Men's League has joined the "buy-a-bale" movement. Its secretary has orders for 3,569 bales at $50.00 a bale. Those interested in the movement said the disposition of the entire country seemed to be to aid the cotton planters of the South.

The secretary said this "buy-a-bale" movement might become a world movement later on.

The St. Louis Post Dispatch is of the opinion that a million or more Southern farmers must wholly or in large part substitute other crops for cotton next year. The Secretary insists that six million bales must be taken off the market.

Buys 12,000 Bales.

One of Baltimore's biggest corporations, not connected with cotton manufactures, today contracted for 12,000 bales of cotton at a cost of $600,000. It is to be delivered in equal quantities during October, November and December. The cotton will be sent to markets in Spain to be manufactured into goods.

How To Give Quinine To Children.

FEBRILIN is the trade-mark name given to an improved Quinine. It is a Tasteless Syrup, pleasant to take and does not disturb the stomach. Children take it and never know it is Quinine. Also especially adapted to adults who cannot take ordinary Quinine. Does not nauseate nor cause nervousness nor ringing in the head. Try it the best time you need Quinine for any purpose. Ask for Quinine original package. The name FEBRILIN is blown in bottle. 25 cents.

The Big War.

There has been no decisive battles in the great world war, but the armies have been kept in touch for weeks and killed as many of the men as machine guns could kill. In one place the English drove the Germans back, and claim to have found nine miles of ditches full of wounded and dead Germans. We predict that the people in Europe are going to get so full of the empty glories of war for about three generations that instead of raising their children for battlefields, they will cultivate the arts of peace. Judging by the criticisms of Englishmen and German editors and statesmen they could not believe Mr. Willson was sincere when he announced his policy toward Mexico, and they thought him an amateur liar as a diplomat.

Diarrhoea Quickly Cured

"My attention was first called to Chamberlain's Colic Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy as much as twelve years ago. At that time I was seriously ill with summer complaint. One dose of this remedy checked the trouble," writes Mrs. C. W. Florence, Rockfield, Ind. For sale by all dealers.

Missionary Convention.

The Central West Texas District Missionary Convention, of the Christian Church met with the Christian Church at this place Wednesday night to hold a three days meeting. Quite a number of people from over the district are here, among whom are some of the most noted preachers of the church. The Free Press, on account of having to go to press Thursday afternoon, is unable to give a report of the meeting, but we hope to give a full report in our next issue.

We take this method of thanking our many friends and patrons for the large number of letters we have received telling us of the truly wonderful results gained by the use of Hunt's lightning Oil in the treatment of Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Headache and other character of pain. We appreciate this spontaneous outburst of approval. A. B. Richards Medicine Co., Sherman, Texas.

The Joint Debate

As per announcement, Rev. T. B. Prescott, of Abilene and Mr. A. E. Blackwell, of Oklahoma, met in joint discussion at the court house in this city last Saturday afternoon, the subject being, "Resolved that Socialism is against the Christian Religion the Marriage Relation and the Home." Mr. Prescott affirming and Mr. Blackwell denying.

The discussion began promptly at about 2:20 p. m., and was conducted on a high plane, each speaker displaying an earnest belief in what he contended for, and as is usual in such discussions, each claiming the victory. Speaking from an unbiased standpoint, we thought the discussion was an interesting one, and we enjoyed it, and each speaker was successful in bringing out good points. A large audience was present and were fair in giving expressions of approval when a point was made that appealed to them.

Col. F. B. Baillo Visits Haskell

Col. F. B. Baillo, representative of the Western Newspaper Union, at Dallas, was in this city Thursday and called to see us. Col. Baillo is an old newspaper man, his home being in Cleburne, Johnson County. He is known by nearly every newspaper man in the state, with whom he has had dealings, especially since his connection with the Western Newspaper Union, which is a ready print house, and all are his friends. He is a jolly, big-hearted fellow. Always has a word of good cheer for his fellows. He has recently suffered a great sorrow in the loss by death of his wife, with whom he had lived for forty-four years and reared a good family. The newspaper fraternity throughout the state, as well as other warm friends, deeply sympathize with him in this great sorrow.

Clean-Up Day Observed

In accordance with the Mayor's proclamation the people observed last Saturday as clean-up day and as a result the Jack of weeds and grass and other debris on streets and alleys is very much in evidence this week. The rain interfered some with the work, but the people are still cleaning and mean to get their premises in a clean condition. Many began the campaign even before Saturday, and ere long we look for a clean Haskell. We hope that every street, alley, vacant lot, sidewalk and yard may be clean before the county fair opens up. Let's not let up on the good work, but make our town the prettiest in cleanliness in West Texas. We can do it.

The Methodist Auxiliary.

The Methodist Auxiliary met Monday Sept. 21st. Twenty-five ladies present. All earnest interested and anxious to do something in the service of the Master. New members have been added to the roll at each meeting. Every woman is invited and urged to attend these meetings and see what is being done, see what a help and blessings you may render to some one.

The eggs sent in Monday made a nice bucket full and added some money to our treasury. Don't forget think two or three won't count; they do, and every little helps to make the indebtedness on the paragonage smaller.

"A Bible woman is supported in China ($60 a year) through the money raised by the Sunday eggs of the hens of the members of a Missionary Society in the Memphis Conference. It has been estimated that if our people would give the Sunday eggs from their hens for ten weeks it would net $200.00.

May our zeal be roused and hallowed and may each one be fitted to the task for which she is called.

The Auxiliary will meet with the other church societies Monday Sept 28, at 3 o'clock at the Presbyterian church.

A Trespasser

By DWIGHT NORWOOD

One spring morning when the trees bore that first pale green of the season which is more delicate than any other of their many beautiful tints Miss Miller saw a party of children come through the gate-way and go romping over her grounds. They appeared to be under the care of a single person, a man. Indignant at this entry into her domain without permission, she strode down the driveway to meet them.

"Pardon me, sir, but did you not see the notice?"

"I saw that trespassers would be prosecuted under penalty of the law."

"Well, then, why did you bring these children in here?"

"Because I knew they would be delighted to be here."

"And you were willing to subject them to prosecution?"

"No; they are minors. If any one is to be prosecuted it is I."

"And you were willing to be prosecuted yourself?"

"Certainly, so long as I thereby give pleasure to these children."

"If you had asked permission I might have granted it."

"That would have been more polite. I admit, but politeness begins at home. You have not put up a notice that any one wishing to enjoy your grounds may apply to you for permission and you will consider the application. You have given warning that any one trespassing on your grounds will be prosecuted under the law. I accept the terms of this notice. I bring these children on to your premises, and it is your privilege to prosecute me."

He handed her his card, turned away and joined the little ones, who were racing about, laughing and shouting.

Miss Miller was astonished, outraged. There seemed nothing for her to do but act upon the notice she had put up on herself. As for the children, she felt quite relieved that they were minors and the man was responsible for them. Returning to the house, she ordered out her pony cart and drove into the village to see her attorney. He was out of town, but would return late that night. She stated the case to a student in his office, who told her that she might swear out a warrant for the arrest of the trespasser, Mr. Gilbert Chase, who was principal of a school. Miss Miller was loath to act without the advice of a competent person, but she was very angry, partly because her notice had been set at defiance and partly because the young man had succeeded in placing himself in a very unfavorable position and her in a very unfavorable one. Acting on impulse, she swore out the warrant, and Mr. Chase was arrested as he was leaving her grounds. He furnished bail to appear the next day for trial and was permitted to go where he liked in the meantime.

The next morning Miss Miller appeared against the accused, stating that a notice was nailed to a tree near the entrance of her grounds giving warning to trespassers. The justice asked the prisoner if he was represented by counsel, to which he replied that he would conduct his own case. Then he added:

"I refuse to answer to this charge on the ground that there is no law of the land to compel me to answer."

Miss Miller had left word for her attorney to come to court in time to conduct the case, and at this juncture he entered. As soon as he was informed concerning the matter, addressing the justice, he said:

"My client, your honor, enters a nolle prosequi."

"What's that?" asked Miss Miller.

"You drop the case."

"I drop the case! Indeed, I do so such thing."

"The prisoner has stated the fact correctly; there is no law to punish him for trespassing on your premises."

"No law! Well, what are all such signs for then?"

"Probably to frighten trespassers. They don't mean anything."

The lawyer was mistaken, but Miss Miller did not learn that until later.

Miss Miller after paying the costs left the court in company with her attorney. At the door they parted, the lady going to her home. The first thing she did after getting there was to carry a small ladder and a hatchet with her own hands to the tree supporting the notice and, mounting the ladder, smash the board with the hatchet. Then throwing the hatchet on the ground she stalked to the house, leaving her keeper to take away the fragments and the means of their destruction.

The person who stood for Miss Miller in place of parents was a white-headed old lady with a benevolent face. Her grandchild having neglected to ask her advice in the first place, now that the damage was done, went to her, confided to her how she had been treated and asked her how she might punish the schoolmaster.

"If you ask me, my dear, what it is incumbent on you to do to set your self right I will reply that you should write him an apology, first, for objecting as you did to his bringing the children to enjoy the grounds and, second, for having him arrested."

This was a bitter pill for Miss Miller to swallow, but she swallowed it. When it was all over she found that his action had given her a high instead of a low opinion of him, and he is now the manager of her estate. The grounds are open to any one who conducts himself properly.

Oldershaw Castle

By JOHN TURNLEE

While examining an old manuscript of my great-grandfather bearing the date of 1773 I came across the following record of an incident that occurred to him while traveling on the island of Jamaica. It was written in my progenitor's hand and in the old fashioned spelling and with numerous capitals. It ran thus:

I was riding along on horseback toward St. Pedro. Not far from me was a ridge on which was built a very curious looking house. There was a tower among the other parts, from which I judged one might view the whole country roundabout. While I was wondering who might live in such a strange looking place I saw a mounted negro galloping toward me. When he came up to me he reined in his horse and said to me:

"My master, Mr. Oldershaw, invites you to dine with him at his castle on the ridge, to stay the night and as much longer as you will."

I had experienced so much hospitality thus far in Jamaica that I was not as much surprised at this strange invitation as I would have been under other circumstances. I thought that I would accept it and go into St. Pedro in the morning. I rode on, bidding the negro ride beside me and asking him questions about Mr. Oldershaw and his castle. I was informed that he was an Englishman who had come out to Jamaica a few years before, had bought a tract of land and built upon it what he called Oldershaw castle. He was the only white person in it, the rest being his negro slaves.

I found Mr. Oldershaw at the entrance of his abode ready to greet me. He bore the stamp of an English gentleman, with much more of friendliness in his manner than the average Englishman would have shown a stranger. He told me that he lived a lonely life and from the tower of his castle watched with a telescope for travelers and on seeing one invariably sent a slave with an invitation.

Never would a suspicion of the man have entered my head had I not known that Jamaica at that time was the dumping ground for the "black sheep" of English families. So it at once occurred to me that Mr. Oldershaw, being an English gentleman, might have been sent to Jamaica by his family to get him out of the way.

We dined sumptuously, partaking of the luscious fruits of the country and drinking the choicest of wines. My host pressed the bottle upon me, but I noticed did not drink much himself. We were served by the negro who had borne my invitation. He never spoke, obeying his master's slightest look, going and coming noiselessly. Indeed, there was something in this stillness pervading the place that gave me a desire to get out of it. Then, too, there was something about my host's hospitable manner which gave me the idea that it was not genuine.

My host and I smoked some delicious cigars after dinner that he told me he had just received from Havana. When bedtime came I was shown to a room beautifully fitted up with every convenience and was left to myself. But something I could not account for warned me that I was in danger. I traveled, like every one else in that country, armed. I had not the face to take my arms to my room, but I had a cane with a sword in it, and this I caught up as I went upstairs.

By this time I was in terror. I tried to poohpooh my fright and called myself a fool for conjuring up imaginary dangers. But I could not get myself into that bed. Instead I lay down on a lounge. An hour passed and I got no sleep. Another followed with the same result. In that hot climate bedroom doors are not closed. I thought I heard a noise on the stairway without. I had noticed curtains on all the windows, and, slipping to one of them and catching up my sword cane as I passed, I put myself behind a curtain. Some one stole into the room. I heard footsteps near the bed, then a sound like a sword plunging through a mattress.

A man drew a lantern from under his cloak and held the light over the bed. He was Oldershaw. I knew by this time that he had intended to murder me, and my only chance was to kill him before he recovered from his surprise at finding the bed empty. Drawing my sword, I left my hiding place and made a lunge, running the blade clear through his left side. He sank down with a groan and was still.

But one idea absorbed me—to get out of the place with my life. I descended the staircase hurriedly, but softly, my dripping blade in my hand. Opening a door at the foot of the stairs, I stood at the entrance of a lighted room in which were half a dozen blacks apparently waiting for something. They looked at me in astonishment.

"Clear the way!" I yelled, and sword in hand, strode past them, they covering from me, and gained an exit not only from the room, but from the castle.

Once outside I ran till I reached St. Pedro. There I told my experience and went back with an armed force. Oldershaw's castle was vacant. Underneath it a pit was found containing numerous skeletons. They were doubtless my predecessor travelers who had died at the castle.

Who Oldershaw was and what induced him to commit these crimes I never learned. It was suspected that in England he had been crazed by some great wrong.

The Steamship Widow

By M. QUAD

Copyright, 1914, by Associated Literary Press

The pilot had not yet left the Monarch, bound from London to Sydney, when I was fairly well posted on the passenger list. There were twenty ladies in the cabin, and half the number had their husbands along. There were thirty-five men, and an odd ten were free of bondage. Of the twenty ladies three or four were single, three or four were widows and others had left husbands in England or were going to join husbands in Australia. When this list had been boiled down there was just one to fall in love with, who was down as Mrs. Ethel Warner. That means she was a widow, twenty-five years old, and rich and good looking. Before we were off soundings I had made up my mind to fall in love with Mrs. Warner.

On the third day out, which is the proper time to begin a flirtation, provided the weather is all right, I found that the other twenty-four men were of my way of thinking.

It is easy enough to bring about an introduction on shipboard. If you can't find a mutual acquaintance, then introduce yourself. When I got ready to fall in love with Mrs. Warner I walked up to her, handed her my card and a few compliments, and the thing was done. She was pleased to say that she was glad to make my acquaintance, and an hour later I was in love.

Mrs. Warner was as well bred as she was handsome. She asked no questions about five or six children. She didn't express surprise that I had lived to the age of forty without having fallen in love before. She might have shown some little doubt in her look or speech when I said that I was going out to Australia to sell out my sheep ranches and return to England with $200,000 and marry and settle down, but nothing occurred to alarm me. At the end of a couple of hours I felt that I had won her, and there could be no sort of doubt in her mind that she had me hooked fast. I walked about knowing that twenty-four men envied me and hated me and called me names behind my back, but not for long. That same evening a young doctor who was going out to the colony got some one to introduce him, and I saw Mrs. Warner hanging to his arm as lovingly as she had hung to mine. Later on I found the doctor in his cabin. The impetuous shrimp had retired to grin and chuckle and feel puffed up. I am an aggressive man. I allow nobody to interfere with my vested rights. I determined to squeak that doctor right on the start, and when I had been admitted to his cabin I didn't lose a minute in saying:

"Sir, I desire you to understand right here and now that I am as good as engaged to Mrs. Warner, and I want no more of this lollipop business!"

"If you are engaged to her she does not know it," he replied after recovering from his surprise.

Then we had a scrap, in which blood was drawn and clothing torn, and it was understood that as soon as we landed in Australia there should be a shooting match. On the next day the widow was mine for a couple of hours. While I talked love more or less, I felt it my duty to warn her against the other twenty-four men in the most solemn manner. The lady thanked me over and over again for my more than brotherly interest, and when I at last handed her to a seat and went off for a smoke I was ready to ask her to name the day.

After tiffin that evening, when I had gone to my cabin to change coats, the door was suddenly banged open, and a fellow named Richards entered. I had learned that he was a needy lawyer, going out to the colony in hopes to better his purse.

"Sir, I want a few plain words with you!" began the miserable wretch as I confronted him. "I am as good as engaged to Mrs. Warner, and if you will only bear that in mind hereafter it may save you trouble."

We came together. We clawed, kicked, bit and pulled hair, and we were both badly damaged when we got through.

As soon as I could properly appear on deck I decided to settle matters one way or the other. I was waiting for the widow to appear when I was invited to the smoking room to debate a matter of business. I found the other twenty-four men there. When the meeting had been called to order a callow youth arose and inquired if it was understood that the whole twenty-five of us were in love with some woman. It was so understood. He then stated that he felt himself engaged to that woman and wanted to know if the rest of us did. We felt so. Then the callow youth asked if any one had a suggestion to offer. Twenty-four suggestions were offered in chorus, but the callow youth turned them all down for one of his own.

Then everybody drew in his breath and turned on his neighbor, but before a blow had been struck the purser and a lady stepped inside. It was Mrs. Warner. She nodded and smiled to each man of the twenty-four, and then the purser cleared his throat and said: "Gentlemen, permit me to introduce my wife. If her little escapade has been the cause—"

But we all rose up and bowed and laughed and shook hands all around, and during the rest of the voyage peace and harmony prevailed to such an extent that the run was voted a bore.

PROSPERITY OF TEXAS
Will Be Practically Set Forth at This Fall's Exhibit.

Dallas: The State Fair of Texas for 1914, which opens Saturday, October 17, and continues to November 1, in accordance to the vast number of entries being received at the office of W. H. Stratton, secretary at the State Fair, gives every assurance that it will be the "best" and "biggest" ever held, while the interest that is being shown all over the state and from other sections of the country indicate that the attendance this year will be a record breaker.

This year the mammoth agricultural building has been fitted up with spacious booths for the big exhibits from the farms and products to be shown in various divisions. In the cotton, corn and other farm displays liberal cash awards will be made, and every farmer in Texas has a chance this year of winning a rich share of these prizes as competition is wide open, besides entries for individual farm exhibits are being made in greater number this year than ever before.

The pace that Texas is making as a great agricultural state will be shown in the increased exhibits at the State Fair this year, in all divisions and from all sections, while the contest for awards and honors among counties and individual exhibitors will be keen as well as of interest to thousands of visitors who come to see not only what Texas can do when its great products are assembled and placed on view upon a grander scale than ever before, but to see the countless other exhibits of equal interest that will be shown this year at the State Fair of Texas.

THE BIG POULTRY SHOW.
Many Poultry Clubs and Exhibitors From Poultry Raisers and Fanciers at State Fair This Year.

Dallas: The State Fair of Texas Poultry Show, which opens October 17, and continues to November 1, marks the opening of the poultry show season, while this show is pronounced by prominent poultrymen who attend exhibits all over the country as the best equipped and best lighted poultry show in the country.

The State Fair of Texas Poultry Show is also visited by more interested people than any other show in the Southwest. It comes right at a time when both farmers and fanciers have money to buy birds and many fine ones are sold to farmers to help make the million dollar industry possible.

Secretary W. H. Stratton says: "From the increased list of entries received for the State Fair Poultry Show this year the biggest display of fine chickens, ducks, turkeys and pet stock is most promising. While the display in general this year will be unequalled both in quality and number of individual exhibits."

The display of fine arts and the art loan collection will be one of the biggest features at the 1914 exposition.

ACRES OF FINE EXHIBITS.

Amazing Novelties and Features, Educational, Entertaining—Some Wonderful Improvements Will Be Noted in Buildings and Roadways.

Dallas: During the sixteen days of the State Fair of Texas, which opens Saturday, October 17, under the most auspicious conditions, with such splendid preparation, increase of exhibits and with a whirlwind of amusements of the highest order, every promise made by the fair management to make this year's fair and exposition the best of its kind ever held in Texas or America will be fully carried out and demonstrated.

Every department will be filled to overflowing with an array of exhibits demonstrating the marvelous development of Texas and the Southwest in every field of human endeavor. Exhibitors and the general public throughout the Southwest as well as visitors from other sections of the country will find at the State Fair of Texas a rare educational as well as a recreational opportunity—an enterprise of vital importance and value for the success and betterment of every enterprise and industry in the state.

Indeed, declared the fair management, we are getting in fine shape for "A Different Fair" this year, a greater fair in every way, and one that will appeal to the sound sense of every man, woman and child in Texas, one where instruction and recreation will be blended in perfect harmony and conducted on lines of the highest order.

In Vehicles, Implements and Machinery at State Fair of Texas—A Big Educational Feature.

Dallas: "Never have farmers and visitors had such an opportunity as will be presented at the State Fair this year to see such an interesting display of machinery, farm implements and vehicles of every description, as these exhibits will be made on a larger scale than ever before," declared Mr. J. C. Duke, director in charge.

Judging by the amount of space already signed up for exhibits in this department, these displays will be of exceptional interest and many new ideas and improvements in machinery, implements and vehicles will be shown.

As Josh' Billings quaintly said: "Tain't no use arguing again 'a success.' This division of the State Fair of Texas has always been a success and keeps on growing bigger every year. It gives farmers an opportunity of studying the latest and best productions in farm machinery and vehicles, and competent demonstrators will be on hand to explain the merits of their exhibits."

DOG SHOW AT STATE FAIR.

New York Expert to Judge Kennel Show at State Fair of Texas This Year.

Dallas: In accordance to information received by W. H. Stratton, Secretary State Fair of Texas, Mr. James Mortimer of New York has been secured to judge the Dallas Kennel Club show, which will be held October 23, 24 and 25.

Mr. Mortimer is one of the oldest judges in the business and is the man who has superintended the New York dog show for some thirty years. He has also directed the management of the Danbury, Connecticut, dog show for about twenty years. He will judge the Winnipeg, Manitoba, show October 13 to 15, and will come direct to Dallas from Winnipeg. An exceptional exhibit of fine dogs may be looked for at the State Fair of Texas.

Individual Exhibit Farm Products.
Dallas: "All one can say of this splendid feature at the State Fair this year," says Secretary Stratton, "is that it will bring out a fine lot of individual exhibits from farmers who will show what the individual farmer of Texas can do."

The awards of cash prizes are liberal for these exhibits as offered by the State Fair of Texas, besides the additional special awards as offered by the Texas Land and Mortgage Co., Ltd., of Dallas, will tend to spur on interest in these exhibits and many entries have been made.

Big aggregation of amusements.
Racing at State Fair this year will afford the most brilliant turf program ever provided. The greatest and speediest horses in America will participate and contest for $50,000 in purses and stakes.

Indeed, declared the fair management, we are getting in fine shape for "A Different Fair" this year, a greater fair in every way, and one that will appeal to the sound sense of every man, woman and child in Texas, one where instruction and recreation will be blended in perfect harmony and conducted on lines of the highest order.

Roy E. Fox's Theatre.

One of the live wires of the theatre world has been with us this week, and has as live a bunch as the road affords.

We speak of none other than that clever actor-manager, Roy E. Fox. Mr. Fox, personally, is what the whole country will have to return to before confidence will entirely be restored. And, what do we mean by that? Well, he does not expect to get everything for nothing. He gives you a good show for 20 cents. It is clean and wholesome, and every man and woman acts well his or part. Then, Mr. Fox makes so many other points of his show interesting that people get the habit of going, because they get something for the going.

It used to be that the show man wanted it all. That was a little while ago. That sort of a show man goes broke every twice-a-year, as a general thing. A long time ago the show men were like Fox—they could meet you and howdy, and when you left them you would have information, they would have information and both be friends.

That was a fine show Monday night, ditto Tuesday night and so on till last night. The tent has been crowded, the music was good and every actor and actress has made real friends in Stamford. The management's unique plans will always win.

Mr. Fox is conducting nightly contests with his show. He put on a shoe-lacing contest Monday night for the boys. There were $2.50 in all prizes. Great was the fun. A wood-sawing contest for the ladies, Tuesday night with a five-dollar prize, was a winner. If you think ladies cannot saw wood, unless somebody wants them to say nothing at the same time, you should have been there. Nail-driving and other contests were on, and Saturday night he gives away the silverware.

Tonight, tomorrow at matinee and tomorrow night, then the engagement closes in Stamford.

Stamford Leader.

Wentworth California, writes: "It did wonders for my Rheumatism, pain is gone as soon as I apply it. I recommended it to my friends as the best Liniment I ever used." Guaranteed. 25c at your Druggist.

Perhaps You Know.

"Begorra," observed Pat, "making love to a widow is a quare thing to do. Before you begin ye know what the end will be and yet you're scared that mebbe somethin'll happen. Ye make up your mind it's no use tryin' and thin ye discover ye've gone so far can't back out. It's full av disappointments and hopes and in the end comes the greatest surprise av all whin just what ye expected happens."—Puck.

Explained.

"What's yours?"
"Coffee and rolls, my girl."
"One of those iron-heavy, quarter-inch, thick mugs of coffee was pushed over the counter. The fastidious person seemed dazed. He looked under the mug and over it.
"But where is the saucer," he inquired.
"We don't give no saucers here. If we did, some low-brow'd come pilin' in an' drink out of his saucer, an' we'd lose a lot of our swellest trade."—Savannah News.

Best for Constipation

Mild and pleasant to take, Simmons' Liver Purifier is recognized as the best liver medicine now in use. It causes no unpleasant feeling, but gives new life and vigor to the liver. Sold in 25c yellow tin cans only.

To Be Determined.

"Lady," said Plodding Pete, "is that dog going to take a bite out of me?"
"Can't you see he has a good disposition?" snapped the woman.
"He began to wag his tail as soon as he set eyes on you."
"I know it. But is he wagging his tail because he's friendly or because he's hungry?"—Washington Star.
