Christmas crime time

By Sgt. Kevin Dye
Base Crime Prevention Monitor

The Christmas season is upon us and so is crime. People in the Reese community should consider ahead of time how they can protect their homes if they leave the immediate area.

The security police have a program where those living in Reese Village can have their home checked while they're away. This program also includes vehicles being left behind. Simply stop by the security police desk and fill out a card. Checks will be conducted regularly by security police patrols and annotated on the card for your review upon return.

Another problem that accompanies the holidays is shopping. Children nine and under cannot be left unattended in vehicles without the supervision of an adult. Checks are conducted at the commissary and base exchange. Please consider the tragic consequences if a child was hurt.

Just a reminder, don't drink and drive! Call a friend or have pre-arranged plans for a ride home. Designated drivers and taxis are always good options. Our goal this year is to have an accident free holiday season. Please help us help you, and let's make the holidays safe and crime free.

SUPT does good things for ATC, Air Force

The Specialized Undergraduate Pilot Training is going to do good things for Air Training Command and the Air Force. In addition to improving pilot training and saving money, the change to SUPT will begin modernization of ATC's training fleet and allow the command to address specific needs of other major commands.

UPT as we know it today is a single-track, single-syllabus effort. Everybody gets basically the same training, whether they're going to fly F-16s or C-5s.

Col. Willard Grosvenor, director of requirements in Headquarters Air Training Command's Directorate of Plans and Requirements, said there is a very minor amount of tailoring — involving only a handful of rides — at the end of today's 52-week long training program.

For those going on to fly fighters, the tailoring involves four-ship formation flying; for tankers or transports, the tailoring involves instrument and navigation training.

"Our biggest limitation is hardware," according to Colonel Grosvenor. "The T-38 looks like a fighter, and there's only so much you can do for the other aircraft. We've tailored the training as much as we can."

Studies show that specialized, or tailored, training is more economical and trains better pilots, as well. "So, we have a dual benefit of better training and less cost," said the colonel.

Under SUPT, students will go through a primary phase of flying training, followed by one of two specialized advanced tracks — a bomber-fighter track or a tanker-transport track.

Congress approved $14.1 million to start the new training program, scheduled to be

Pilots to receive bonuses up to $12,000 in 1989

Congress has authorized the Air Force to begin paying aviator continuation pay (ACP) of up to $12,000 per year to eligible Air Force pilots who agree to remain on active duty through their 14th year of active commissioned service. The program begins Jan. 1, 1989.

Aviator continuation pay, or pilot bonuses as it is commonly known, is a provision contained in the 1989 Defense Authorization Act. The bonus will be paid in varying amounts to fixed-wing pilots who are currently entitled to flight pay, who have completed their initial active duty service commitment for undergraduate pilot training (UPT), and who have less than 13 years of total active duty service. Annual payments will continue until the pilot completes 14 years of active commissioned service.

Eligible officers will be notified by their squadron commander or equivalent level supervisor. An initial eligibility roster and information package will be distributed to all base personnel offices. It will identify pilots eligible to begin participating in the program in January, February and March of 1989.

Pilots who want to receive their bonus on Jan. 3 (the first duty day after New Year's Day) will be able to do so under special procedures being set up by the Air Force Military Personnel Center and the Air Force Accounting and Finance Center. Because of the short lead time, these pilots will have a grace period until March 31 to decide if they want to participate in the program before payment amounts are affected. Approximately 80 percent of all pilots eligible to participate in the ACP program during fiscal year 1989 are eligible on Jan. 1.

Pilots signing up for the bonus must agree to remain on active duty until their 14th Anniversary of active commissioned service. The only active duty service commitment that affects eligibility for this program is the one for UPT. In order to participate in the program, officers must have completed the commitment for UPT. Whether or not a pilot participates in the program does not affect any other entitlements, promotions or assignment eligibility.

Because of fiscal year Congressional funding, the fiscal year 1989 ACP payment covers only nine months or three-fourths of the year. The second payment will be made nine months after the first and will establish the date for subsequent full annual payments. For example, if a pilot is eligible for an annual payment of $12,000 in January 1989, the officer will receive three-fourths or $9,000. On Oct. 1, 1989, the officer will receive the full $12,000 payment. Subsequent $12,000 payments will be made every October. The final payment will be prorated through the 14th year of total commissioned service.

Payments are subject to a 20 percent deduction for Federal Income Tax, and if applicable, state tax withholding.

The amount a pilot receives under the ACP program is based upon completed years of active duty service. The preceding example applies to pilots who have completed six to seven years of service as of Jan. 1, 1989.

The following table outlines the payment schedule based upon completed years of service:

Completed years of service	FY 89 (only) amount	FY 90 and beyond amount
6-7	$9,000	$12,000
8-9	$8,250	$11,000
10	$7,125	$9,500
11	$6,000	$8,000
12	$4,875	$6,500

Eligible pilots should contact their squadron commanders, or equivalents if not assigned to a wing structure, for additional information concerning the aviator continuation pay program. (AFNS)

Second chance for education benefits

If you initially entered active duty between July 1, 1985 and June 30, 1988, you were eligible for the Montgomery GI Bill. If you elected not to participate then, you now have a second chance!

Recently enacted legislation has set an open period for enrollment between Dec. 1, 1988 and June 30, 1989.

All members eligible for this program will receive notification letters through their units. Those who decide to take advantage of the GI Bill will have to contribute $1,200 to the fund during the 12 month period following their election. The resulting benefits will be $300 per month of school attendance for 36 months, for a total of $10,800. This educational assistance can be used either while you are in the Air Force or after discharge.

This opportunity will not be offered again. Please contact Education Services at 3634, or stop by Bldg. 920, Room 139, for more information.

Bits & Pieces

Congratulations

It gives me enormous pleasure to announce the newest Undergraduate Pilot Training Wing Commander. Colonel Jim Higham will become the new Wing Commander of the 14th Flying Training Wing at Columbus AFB, Miss. Columbus is getting one of the finest officers in the command and the entire Air Force as a whole. The dedication to excellence shown by Colonel Higham has led to the continuance of Reese as the finest base in Air Training Command. His innovative leadership has brought about countless base improvements. One needs only to look at the new buildings and projects in-the-works to see that Reese is well prepared for the future—a future Colonel Higham has personally molded.

My time at Reese has been the highlight of my years in the service. I know nothing less awaits Colonel and Nancy Higham. Marie-Jacques and I will miss them, as will Reese and the entire community. Godspeed and all our best wishes for good fortune in your newest challenge.

Be Smart

Next week is National Drunk and Drugged Driving Awareness Week. The purpose of this week is to remind us of the senseless tragedies happening every day on our highways due to drunk and drugged drivers. Over 600 active duty military personnel have died each year for the past five years due to automobile accidents. Over 20 percent of these accidents were caused by legally intoxicated individuals. Any time you mix alcohol or drugs with driving, no matter in what amounts, you run the risk of injuring yourself and others.

Responsible drinking during the holidays is an important start to a safe holiday season. An even more important safety tip, is to take advantage of designated driver programs. Take time before you start celebrating to find a safe way home. If you host the party, be a true friend, don't let intoxicated guests drive home. Think beforehand and have alternative ways home available to all of your merry makers. The Christmas Season is a time to relax and celebrate. Let down your hair, kick up your heels and have a great time. Do me a favor while you're at it. Be Safe! Be Smart! Don't mix drinking and driving.

Get ready

Reese has a long history of excellence. Throughout a long list of wing commanders, base commanders and personnel at every level, Reese has maintained itself as a shining star in Air Training Command. The six month inspection schedule has been announced. The 64th Flying Training Wing has been projected for its Unit Effectiveness and Mission Capabilities Inspections from May 7 - 19, 1989. The dates can change, but now we have a general time frame for which to prepare.

There are many new faces on the base since the last cycle of inspections. The framework is there for another excellent evaluation. The challenge will be for the veterans of the past to show the way and continue Reese's history of excellence with the abundant help of the new members of our Reese family. During the next round of self inspections take an honest look at yourself and your workplace. Make the needed corrections to keep your office perfect. Help newcomers to understand their jobs, and by all means identify areas that need improvement. Take time now and Get Ready!

Kudos...

To the 64th Supply Squadron, Material Storage and Distribution Branch, for receiving the Air Training Command Outstanding Material Storage and Distribution Branch Award for 1988. The competition for this award was very close but our Reese pride and excellence showed through nonetheless. Congratulations from all of us

Col. Mark H. Lillard III

Season's Greetings

on a job well done.

To Captain Bob McManaway, 64th Student Squadron, MSgt. John Mangan, 64th Supply Squadron and all the counselors who volunteered their time and effort to put on last weekend's Chaparral District, Boy Scout Merit Badge Fair held at Reese. The time generously spent by the counselors and the valuable experience gained by the scouts will pay immeasurable dividends in the future for both. Thanks!

Change of command schedule

The Wing Change of Command ceremony is Dec. 20 at 2 p.m., and will take place on the flightline, if weather permits, otherwise it will be held inside Hangar 82. At that time, Col. Mark H. Lillard, III, 64th Flying Training Wing commander will bid us his farewell and Col. Monroe S. Sams, Jr. will make his introduction.

The itinerary for the event is as follows; 2 p.m. parade starts, immediately following is the change of command, and shortly after, a reception.

Lieutenant Gen. Robert C. Oaks, Air Training Command's commander, will preside over the ceremony.

Colonel Gerald W. Deakin, Deputy Commander for Operations, has been appointed as the Commander of Troops for the parade and ceremony.

Parade practices are from Dec. 8-19, times, places and personnel required to attend are as follows:

- Dec. 12 and 13 at 2 p.m. on the north ramp for all key personnel
- Dec. 14 at 2 p.m. in Hangar 82 for skeleton masses (16 personnel in each mass)
- Dec. 15 at 4:30-5:30 p.m. in front of Base Operations for skeleton masses
- Dec. 16 at 2-3 p.m. in front of Base Operations for all personnel
- Dec. 19 at 1 p.m. in front of Base Operations for all personnel

Any additional information pertaining to the parade practices, contact SMSgt. J. T. Washington, PME Center, at 3635. Lieutenant Col. Kevin A. Collins is the project officer. He can be reached at 3655.

RANDOLPH AIR FORCE BASE TX 78150-5001

SUBJECT: Air Training Command Suggestion Program

The Air Force Suggestion Program continues to be the best. Fiscal year 1988 culminated with a record-shattering $345 million in tangible savings. Air Training Command's share of that was over $6.6 million. While this is good, there is still room for improvement.

I am asking that each of you make a concerted effort to get your folks to improve productivity through the Suggestion Program. In this time of austere funding, we must find ways of doing things better, faster and cheaper. Our dollar resources may be limited, but certainly not our human resources. By creating a positive work environment, our individual creativity and innovation will run rampant. Encourage your folks to find ways to save and to contribute their good ideas. Just as important, urge your evaluators to provide prompt and thorough evaluations, and fully document tangible savings. An idea can go a long way given today's fiscal environment.

While the Suggestion Program provides a means to reward our innovative thinkers with cash awards, the program interfaces with other programs designed to provide recognition. Most notably are the Presidential Recognition and Secretary of Defense Award programs which recognize suggesters for their initiatives. These programs serve to further emphasize the value of individuals' good ideas and their contributions to productivity excellence. I urge you to ensure your folks get all the honor they deserve.

I encourage your personal involvement and support to ensure this year is a productive and successful one. The Suggestion Program staff stands ready to assist you in any way possible. Do not hesitate to contact your local base manager or the Air Training Command manager, Phyllis Lane, AUTOVON 487-2484.

Medical personnel aid casualties

By SrA. Greg Spraggins
Editor, Roundup

Approximately 15 Reese hospital personnel and numerous casual students participated in a joint military-civilian mass casualty exercise last week.

The exercise, an explosion in the field house at Lubbock Christian University, also involved three downtown hospitals, EMS services and helicopter evacuation teams.

"These type of exercises give us considerable experience in handling mass casualty situations," said 1st Lt. Ron Carrell, Medical Readiness Officer. "Another valuable experience we get is working side by side with the civilian medical personnel in complex situations. Working as a team with other organizations is something you can't get from a book."

Reese not only provided triage with the two doctors and medical technicians on hand, but also did all the make-up work to give the estimated 75 casualties life-like wounds.

This added a little more reality to the exercise.

"This exercise proves more than ever that if an actual accident occurs, Reese team members are ready and able to handle the situation," said Lieutenant Carrell.

Toys for Tots Christmas campaign underway

By SrA. Victor Fulton
Toys for Tots Project Officer

Now that Thanksgiving has passed, our thoughts turn to Christmas shopping. During your shopping sprees, please remember those less fortunate children around Lubbock who may not get to enjoy a new toy this Christmas.

The U.S. Marine Corps Reserve 'Toys for Tots' box or the 1958th Communications Squadron are welcoming donations that can bring smiles to area youth.

The Toys for Tots program is designed to provide needy children in the local area with Christmas joy. The project, which began in 1947 by Reserve Marine Corps Col. (then Maj.) Bill Hendricks, has since evolved into a nationwide campaign, complete with benefit concerts, sporting events, corporate involvement and celebrity support.

Through his contacts as a Warner Brothers executive and with the Advertising Club of Los Angeles, Colonel Hendricks was able to initiate a publicity campaign that, in the past, featured such notables as John Wayne, Art Linkletter, Angie Dickenson, Charlton Heston, Henry Winkler, William Shatner and Bob Hope. This year the celebrity chairman is Danny Thomas.

To place emphasis upon the uniqueness of each community, the program is tailored to fit local needs. This year's program, kicked off this week by the Lubbock Marine Corps Reserve Unit, will provide a happy Christmas to the Lubbock area youth. In order to make this a Merry Christmas, the Marine Reserve, along with the 1958th Communications Squadron, will be asking for your donations of new, unwrapped toys. Also, any help from volunteers in collecting and distributing these toys is welcomed.

Look for the Toys for Tots donation boxes in public access areas and in you unity orderly rooms.

If you would like additional information about the program, contact the Communications Squadron at 3884. Remember, while you are doing your Christmas shopping, how easy it would be to make some child's Christmas much happier. It only takes a minute or two to donate a toy.

Scouting's Merit Badge Fair 'first-of-its kind'

By 2nd Lt. Nicolette Ladoulis
Roundup Staff Writer

The South Plains Boy Scout Merit Badge Fair last weekend, hosted by the Chaparral District Advancement Committee and Reese AFB, was the "first-of-its-kind." Approximately 200 scouts aged 12 to 18, met at Reese. Together, they earned over 150 badges and met requirements for many more. Members from 17 troops attended, some coming from as far away as Post, Texas and Clovis, N.M.

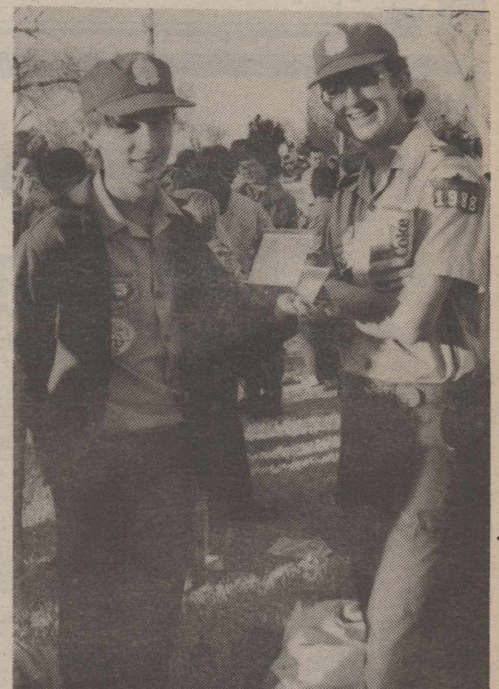

Capt. Robert McManaway, from the 64th Student Squadron, former chairman of the Chaparral District Advancement Committee and representative of the Commander's Youth Relations, worked with MSgt. John Mangan, from the 64th Supply Squadron planning the event's activities.

Fulfilling requirements for a single badge normally takes weeks, but by using the base's resources and volunteers, boys were able to earn up to three badges. Badge workshops were offered in 22 unique activities. Doug Glure, from the sheet metal shop, instructed the scouts in metal working. Volunteers from the fire department offered a firemanship course. Capt. Mark Garrard, from the legal office, set up a mock trial, in the courtroom, for the law badge. SSgt. Randy Pratt, from the Physical Fitness Center, taught personal fitness. From the 54th Flying Training Squadron, 1st Lt. Ken Bartczak instructed the scouts in aviation while Capt. Greg Johnson helped with the stamp and coin collecting badges.

The 1958 Communications Squadron's SrA. Doug Knoll and SrA. Mark Gilding held a computer workshop in the Data Automation building. SMSgt. Darrell Johnson and Sgt. Kevin Dye, from the 64th Security Police Squadron, taught fingerprinting techniques and traffic safety.

Orienteering leaders included: SSgt. Mike Sistik, 54th Flying Training Squadron and SSgt. Karl Kurtz, 35th Flying Training Squadron. SSgt. Michael Rolens, from the 64th Student Squadron, offered a wood carving workshop. The most popular badge, citizenship in the world, was taught by SrA. Rodney Henkel, from the accounting and finance branch. During Airman Henkel's class, 2nd Lt. Eduardo Garcia, student exchange pilot from the Dominican Republic, made a guest appearance to talk about his country.

Due to the Merit Badge Fair's success, another has been scheduled for Feb. 25.

Those interested in assisting with the ensuing fair, contact Capt. Robert McManaway at 3385.

Drunk/Drugged awareness week begins

By TSgt. Frank R. Lechuga
Drug and Alcohol NCO

The national observance of Drunk and Drugged Driving Awareness Week begins Sunday.

With December come an increased number of occasions to drink. For those attending social gatherings where alcohol is served, if you are driving, the best and safest advice is don't drink. Insist on your right not to drink, ask for juice, soda or other non-alcoholic drinks if they are not readily available. There is no need to apologize.

If you do choose to drink, take these steps to protect yourself and others:

- Set a limit and stick to it. Plan ahead to stop after a certain number of drinks.
- Choose a driver who agrees not to drink; you'll be sure to have a sober driver.
- Drink slowly, sip drinks, don't gulp them. Give your body time to handle the effects of alcohol.

• Eat before you drink. Food in your stomach slows down, but does not stop the absorption of alcohol in your system.

• Stop in time. Stop drinking well before you plan to drive. Be sure your body has had time to eliminate the alcohol from your system.

• Know what you are drinking. Know what and how much is in each drink. Don't let someone surprise you.

• Be honest with yourself. Alcohol affects all of the skills that are needed to drive safely. You are kidding yourself if you say "Alcohol doesn't affect how I drive."

• If you've been drinking, have a sober friend drive you home, or take public transportation or stay overnight. If a friend has had too much to drink, don't let him drive. Take away the keys if necessary.

The Reese Health Promotion Committee has approved some non-alcoholic drinks that not only taste good, but are good for you:

Wassail-Old English Favorite

- 2 quarts apple cider
- 2 cups orange juice
- 1 cup lemon juice
- 2 to 2 1/2 cups pineapple juice
- 1 stock of whole cinnamon
- 1 tsp. whole cloves
- Sugar or honey to taste

Combine all the ingredients and simmer for a half hour. Serve directly from the pan or keep in a crockpot on low temperature. Serves 20.

Cranberry Lemon Punch

- 2 bottles white grape juice
- 6 cups cranberry juice cocktail
- 2 cans frozen pink lemonade, thawed
- 3 cups club soda
- Ice

Combine grape juice, cranberry juice cocktail and lemonade, (not reconstituted). Refrigerate until needed. Put ice in a punch bowl at serving time, add juices and club soda. Serves 35.

RECOMMENDATIONS FOR NOMINATION TO THE BOARD OF DIRECTORS REESE FEDERAL CREDIT UNION

Reese Federal Credit Union will accept recommendations for the Board of Directors through December 15, 1988.

Each nominee must be at least eighteen (18) years of age and must sign a certificate stating that he or she will serve if elected.

If you are interested in being nominated for a position on the Board of Directors, you should submit a statement of qualifications and biographical data. Data should include member's name, present position, title, employer, length of membership in Reese Federal Credit Union, a statement of qualifications for the position, and statement of willingness to perform all required duties.

Recommendations should be directed to the Nominating Committee, Reese Federal Credit Union, P.O. Box 333, Reese AFB, TX 79489.

News Briefs

Family Services closed for holidays

The Family Services Center will close for the Christmas-New Year holiday season from Dec. 19 through Jan. 2. Regular hours of operation, 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. resume Jan. 3. The emergency contact number is 3754, the Command Post. The last day for brochure loan out is Monday, to be returned by Wednesday. The books are available to read the remainder of the week, in the office.

Park College registration continues

Registration for the Spring I term of Park College at Reese continues through Jan. 13. The classes start Jan. 14 and end March 10.

The courses; Labor Relations, Principles of Marketing, Introduction to Guidance and Counseling and Russia in the Twentieth Century, are open to military personnel and their dependents, and base civilian employees. For Air Force members, the cost per course is $57, after tuition assistance. Pell Grants, Guaranteed Student Loans and VA benefits are available. For more information, contact the Education Center at 3634 or 6318, or stop by Bldg. 920, Room 130c.

Food drive through Dec. 16

Collection boxes are located on the second floor of the Simulator building (Bldg. 930) through Dec. 16 for participation in the annual Food Bank of Lubbock food drive. We encourage all Reese personnel to donate canned and dry goods to this worthy cause.

'Operation Ride Along'

The 64th Security Police Squadron 'Ride Along' program is available to all Reese personnel and their families. The program allows people from the Reese community to experience the operations of the security police field up front. Participants are allowed to ride in security police vehicles as they perform standard patrolling duties. For more information call Sgt. Kevin Dye at 3615.

Adopt-a-Dorm

The Company Grade Officer's Council, with the cooperation of the Base Exchange, is sponsoring the "Adopt-a-Dorm" program for the Lubbock State School. To participate in the program, stop by the lobby of the BX and take a bell off the Christmas tree. The ornament has a school resident's name on the front, and the gift he or she would like most to receive on the back. Purchase the gift and attach the bell to it for identification. Then, drop it off, unwrapped, by Thursday, in the box in the BX lobby, or at Lt. Joan Kinsey's office (Bldg. 75).

South Carolina Palace Chase

The South Carolina Air National Guard invites anyone interested in the Palace Chase Program, or separating from active duty, to contact them to find out what AFSC's part-time vacancies are available in. They offer many excellent benefits, from an extra income to educational assistance, plus retirements. Call AUTOVON 583-8214 ext. 329.

Santa's Christmas party

Tickets are on sale at the Enlisted Open Mess and Officer's Open Mess for the Enlisted Wives Club's "Santa's Christmas Party." The party is tomorrow from 1-3:30 p.m. at the Enlisted Open Mess. Cost per child is $1, adults are free, and must accompany the child.

Parents are asked to bring a wrapped and tagged gift for each of their children and Santa will distribute the gifts. (Gift not to exceed $5 in value).

For more information, contact Barbara Gamble at 885-2244.

WIC offers free food, health care

For many Texas women and children, the free food and health care offered by the Women, Infants and Children (WIC) Program has been a great help. WIC invites Reese members to apply.

The WIC program gives foods such as milk, eggs, cheese, juice, cereal and beans to women and children. For babies, WIC provides infant cereal, juice and formula with iron. WIC also provides basic health care and classes on how to eat well for better health.

To qualify for WIC, you must be either a pregnant or breast-feeding woman, a baby or a child under age five. You must need WIC foods to be healthy. And you must meet WIC's rules for how much money your family can make.

Income guidelines are generous. For example, a family of four can gross $21,550 per year and still qualify for WIC services.

WIC representatives from the Lubbock Children's Health Clinic are available on the first and second Monday of every month. Come to the base hospital, Pediatric Clinic Monday to apply for WIC benefits!

TTU Counselor at Reese

A counselor from Texas Tech University is available at the Education Center Wednesday from 1-3 p.m. If you have questions regarding undergraduate opportunities at TTU, call 3634 for an appointment.

Complaint system program

The Security Police Complaint System is a program developed to keep the 64th Security Police Squadron advised of misconduct or problems with security police members at Reese. If you have any problems or questions, call SMSgt. Darrel Johnson at 3612 or Capt. Danny Thomas at 3614.

Reese reservist openings

Separating from the Air Force and remaining in the local area? Want to stay in touch with the Air Force and get retirement credit for the years you've already served? If so, look into becoming a reservist at Reese in the Disaster Preparedness career field.

You would be cross-trained by attending two two-week schools at Lowry AFB, Co., and you would be required to train at Reese two days a month. A two-week annual tour is also required.

As a disaster preparedness reservist, you would work with the active duty members and train in the areas of chemical warfare defense, shelter management, decontamination and classroom instruction.

By becoming a disaster preparedness reservist, you are eligible for many benefits, including use of the base exchange and commissary. The pay and allowances are equal to those paid on active duty along with the retirement plan.

implemented at ATC bases beginning in 1992.

Today's generalized UPT students follow a single track starting in the T-37 Tweet and progressing through the supersonic T-38 Talon aircraft. Then, based on the students' overall performance, the operational needs of the Air Force and student desires, graduates are assigned to a particular type of aircraft.

Under the SUPT concept, students will be identified for specialized training tracks by the Pilot Selection and Classification System before entering primary flight training.

After completing the primary phase, students will enter into the advanced track representing the operational requirements of the following-on major command.

"Our current UPT is adequate," Colonel Grosvenor said, "but it is not optimum for anybody and this lack of optimization is growing. We're at a point now where the lack of suitable equipment has forced major commands like Military Airlift Command and Strategic Air Command to teach initial skills — and that should be our responsibility at ATC."

Going to specialized UPT does two things.

"It begins the modernization of ATC's training fleet and allows us to address unanswered needs of other MAJCOMs," said the colonel.

Modernization of ATC's fleet will begin with the acquisition of a yet-to-be-selected, "commercially available" twin-engine jet for the tanker-transport track. Bomber-fighter track pilots will fly the T-38 Talon.

The new aircraft will augment the T-38 fleet, relieve stress on it since only half the students will complete advanced training in that plane, and make it last longer.

Addressing unanswered needs of other MAJCOMs involves acquiring hardware to better train pilots — for example, those who will fly cargo planes. "As it is now," Colonel Grosvenor said, "we train these pilots in an aircraft configured considerably unlike the aircraft they'll actually fly for the Air Force. Under SUPT, that won't be the case during their advanced phase of training."

Another benefit with SUPT is that, although the training will still be 52 weeks long, students will get 10 percent more flying hours. That means more specialized time for the pilots.

For tanker-transport pilots, there will be three crew members on each mission, Colonel Grosvenor explained. "The training aircraft will have three seats, so we'll have two students on each sortie. One student will sit in the left seat and have access to the controls. The other student will be in an observer's seat behind, but between the front seats. While observing, the student will also participate in flight deck duties — participate in the crew concept.

"Also, while watching his classmate at the controls, the student observer is learning valuable lessons that will help him later," Colonel Grosvenor said.

Bomber-fighter students will graduate with roughly 210 flying hours once SUPT starts. Tanker-transport students, with an extra 100 or so observation hours, will graduate with almost 320 hours, 200 of them in a flight-deck configured aircraft. (ATCNS)

Air Force News Notes

Strength up

Air Force strength increased in October as 348 more people joined than departed. On Oct. 31, there were 576,794 people wearing Air Force blue, down almost 30,000 from the same time last year. Strength of all the services at the of October was 2,130,216, down nearly 8,000 during the month and approximately 42,000 in the last 12 months. The figures exclude 72,000 military people paid from other appropriations.

Officer selections

Sixty-two enlisted people were chosen for Officer Training School (OTS) by a selection board that met at Air Force Recruiting Headquarters, San Antonio, Texas. The board considered 163 active duty members.

Applicants not selected who met the board for the first time will be considered by a second board if they still meet eligibility requirements and have not withdrawn their applications.

Ski meet

The 27th Annual Alpine Air

Force Ski Meet is March 12-17 at the Snowbasin Ski Resort, Utah. Entry fee of $125 covers a five-day lift pass, ski area rental, awards and a banquet.

Entry forms are available at the base Morale, Welfare and Recreation Office. Deadline for entries and payment of fees is Jan. 22. For more information call David Ovard at AUTOVON 458-3525.

Sword presentation

The Air Force Headquarters Order of the Sword was presented to former Secretary of Defense, Caspar Weinberger, in a formal ceremony on Nov. 19 at Andrews AFB, Md.

The award is the highest honor the service's enlisted corps can bestow, and only the second time the sword has been presented.

Mr. Weinberger said, "Without any exaggeration whatsoever, the Air Force Order of the Sword stands at the pinnacle of the military career I've had. I cannot tell you how grateful I am."

Promotion boards

The Air Force will convene the calendar year 1989 colonel promotion board July 17. The board had been slated to meet March 27. The board will consider the 1968 year group in the promotion zone. The calendar year 1989 lieutenant colonel board will consider the 1973 year group in the promotion zone. For more information call or visit the Consolidated Base Personnel Office Customer Service Unit.

Selection board

Air Force Sister Service Senior Level Noncommissioned Officer Professional Military Education selection board meets Feb. 14 at Randolph AFB, Texas. The board will choose senior NCOs to attend the Army Sergeants Major Academy and the Navy Senior Enlisted Academy.

The exchange program broadens the perspective of senior NCOs and improves understanding of the other services. Graduates are awarded the same credit as graduates of the Air Force Senior NCO Academy.

For more information, contact the Consolidated Base Personnel Office Customer Service Unit.

TEAMWORK:

"When the call first comes in on the radio, our trauma team starts preparing for the arrival of the patient. In an emergency situation, time is important so we plan ahead, together as a team."

Dr. McDougal first joined Lubbock General's Emergency Center staff in 1983 when they were expanding their services. Today, virtually all major and minor subspecialties are represented 24-hours-a-day in the Emergency Center. "We're as aggressive as we can be to meet our patient's needs. Because we see all levels of emergencies, working together...quickly...is vital. Our team includes nurses, physicians, respiratory therapists, radiology technologists, laboratory personnel, secretaries, and more. Every person is important."

One-man army kept the enemy at bay in Korea

In November 1950, the massive Red Chinese offensive was driving the United Nations forces under Gen. Douglas MacArthur back down the Korean peninsula.

Near the Chosin Reservoir, 8,000 U.S. Marines were confronted by human waves of Red Chinese infantry that struck with incredible fury.

In the midst of one of these terrible battles, one Marine private discovered that he alone defended his company's position. All of Hector Cafferata's comrades were dead or wounded.

As the intensity of the Red Chinese attack increased, Private Cafferata noticed a swarm of communist troops advancing toward his hilltop position.

Using a Browning automatic rifle and hand grenades, Private Cafferata succeeded in stopping the first wave. Then, making a conspicuous target of himself, the lone Marine ran up and down his company's line, snatching up and firing every weapon he could lay his hands on as he went.

The idea was to make the Red Chinese think the position was heavily manned. So effective was the ruse and Private Cafferata's one-man stand, he killed 15 enemy soldiers and wounded countless others.

He also held the hill until other Marines were able to move up and reinforce his devastated company.

The following day, during yet another assault by massed Red Chinese, an enemy hand grenade landed in a gully occupied by some of Private Cafferata's comrades. The private spotted the grenade on its way into the gully, rushed to it, picketed it up and tossed it out of harm's way — but not before its explosion ripped away part of one of his fingers and seriously injured his right arm.

Later, a sniper's bullet found Private Cafferata and put him out of action. He was evacuated and recovered from his wounds following medical treatment.

Still later, Marine Private Hector Cafferata, an Hispanic American, was awarded his nation's highest recognition for valor in combat — the Medal of Honor.

High School teams to shoot it out at Reese

By SrA. Greg Spraggins
Editor, Roundup

Today and tomorrow, 16 high school teams will shoot it out for the honor of winning Reese's annual Christmas Classic Basketball tournament.

The tournament has become one of the top high school basketball tournaments in the Southwest since it was started in 1974. The tournament is divided into large and small school divisions, and played over a three-day period at Reese's Physical Fitness Center.

The participating schools in the Commander's Division are Levelland B, Allen Academy (Bryan, Texas), Monterey B (Lubbock), Colorado City, Coronado B (Lubbock), Sudan, Shallowater and Floydada high schools.

Participating schools in the President's Division are Dunbar, Big Spring, Frenship (Wolfforth, Texas), Tulia, Coronado, Lydia Patterson (El Paso), Levelland and Cathedral (El Paso) high schools.

Today, games are scheduled for 10 and 11:30 a.m., 1, 2:30, 4, 5:30, 7 and 8:30 p.m. Tomorrow, games are scheduled for 10 and 11:30 a.m., 1, 2:30, 4, 5:30, 7, and the championship game at 8:30 p.m.

During their time on base, each team will have an individual assigned to it as an escort. They will help the teams solve any last minute problems that may arise and can arrange for guided tours of the base and its facilities. The following is a list of teams with their sponsoring escorts and squadrons. Come out and support your team.

Frenship	Capt. Edward Wheaton	Student Squadron
Big Spring	TSgt. Stacey Gardner	Services Squadron
Dunbar	SSgt. Gary Fleenor	Field Maintenance Squadron
Colorado	SSgt. Frank Turner	Mission Support Squadron
Levelland	2nd Lt. Joe Feaster	USAF Hospital-Reese
Shallowater	MSgt. Thomas Madigan	Security Police Squadron
Cathedral	A1C Holly Fletcher	Civil Engineering Squadron
Floydada	TSgt. Henry Madgwick	54th Flying Training Squadron
Allen Academy	SSgt. Larry Close	Organizational Maintenance Sq.
Sudan	1st Lts. Buckholtz and Goeres	35th Flying Training Squadron
Colorado City	1st Lt. Dave Carrell	Supply Squadron
Lydia Patterson	Capt. Madge Morris	Civil Engineering Squadron
Monterey B	1st Lt. Jeff Moore	Mission Support Squadron
Coronado B	1st Lt. Jeff Moore	Mission Support Squadron
Levelland B	1st Lt. Jeff Moore	Mission Support Squadron

The Air Force is interested in telling the participating team members, cheerleaders and fans of its numerous career opportunities for both men and women.

The Christmas Classic is a unique way of exposing these students to some aspects of Air Force life.

Hopefully, through their visit to Reese, some of the participants and fans may develop an interest in pursuing an Air Force career after graduation from high school, in college through the Air Force ROTC program, or as a cadet at the U.S. Air Force Academy in Colorado.

Fitness and health

By SSgt. Randy Pratt
Physical Fitness Instructor

I see books, booklets, pamphlets and magazine articles almost everywhere advertising a 1,001 different diet plans. Most contradict each other. Which one can I rely on?

Inaccurate nutrition guidance and health fads were reported in literature as early as 1976 and became more popular in recent years due to the large supply of books available to the public. Food faddists have learned that it is easy to make a fast buck by selling health claims to the public that will help improve and extend life. They claim special virtues for foods such as yogurt, blackstrap molasses, raw sugar, honey, sea salt, stone-ground flour, vegetable juices, wheat germ oil and foods grown without chemical fertilizers.

Most faddists make spectacular health claims that are not scientifically proven and do not conform to good nutrition standards. The health risks and costs involved can be enormous. No single food can supply all the nutrients needed by the body. Good nutrition is derived from a combination of foods that provide the necessary nutrients. Using the four basic food groups as a guide, you can easily ensure the ten leader nutrients are included in your daily diet. This is the most economical and safest way to achieve a balanced diet and good health.

Like miniskirts, disco and toga parties, diet fads come and go. Just when people are about to give up on the current craze, another one comes along that they think might work. Some are appealing because they promise quick and easy weight loss. But unless the diet is balanced nutritionally — as many of these aren't — it could be harmful if used over a long period of time.

The only way to lose weight effectively and permanently is through regular exercise and a low-fat, well-balanced diet. Try to make your diet a permanent lifestyle rather than just a few weeks or months.

Questions about exercise, fitness or sports, may be written down and sent to the Reese Physical Fitness Center, 64 ABG/SSRS, or called in to 6020. An answer will be given in writing and some of the select ones will be published in the Roundup.

A Christmas story

*'Twas the night before Christmas, and somewhere on base,
A tree had been decorated and trimmed with haste.*

A flicker of flame, although it was slow, from defective wiring began to glow.

*From out on a lawn, someone saw the glow,
The fire department was called to let them know.*

*Down the street, with red lights flashing,
Came the first truck with sirens blasting.*

*As the firemen fought the raging blaze,
Saint Nick came flying through the smokey haze.*

*When he saw the fire, to his team he gave a whistle,
And away they all flew like the down of a thistle.*

*Everyone watched him, and they knew he was right,
When they heard him exclaim as he drew out of sight.*

*"A merry Christmas we all can enjoy,
If fire safety we will employ."*

Christmas decorating tips

- Check Christmas wiring for defects (frays, cracks or breaks).
- Insure live trees are watered properly to prevent drying out.
- Insure that candles are placed away from combustible and hanging materials.
- Never leave home with Christmas lighting left on.

(This information was provided by the Reese Fire Department. For more information about fire safety call 3686.)

Tips for Christmas tree safety

If a natural tree is part of your traditional family celebration, the Army and Air Force Exchange Service urges you to take as much care choosing it and keeping it fresh as you do in the trimming.

A fresh tree will stay green longer and be less of a fire hazard than a dry tree. Joseph A. Werres, chief of AAFES' Quality Assurance, Testing and Analysis Branch, suggests you look for these signs:

- A fresh tree is green.
- Needles are hard to pull from branches.
- When bent between your fingers, fresh needles not break.
- The trunk butt of a fresh tree is sticky with resin.
- When the trunk of a tree is bounced on the ground, a shower of falling needles shows that the tree is too dry.

Cut off about two inches of the trunk. Mount the tree in a sturdy, water-holding stand with wide spread legs.

Fasten large trees to walls or ceiling with thin wires: they'll be nearly invisible.

Fill the base holder with water. Keep it full of water while the tree is inside (just as you would fresh flowers). Remember, heated rooms dry trees out rapidly, creating fire hazards.

Don't rely on chemical coatings or sprays to flame-proof your tree, cautions Werres.

Place the tree carefully, away from fireplaces, radiators and other heat sources. See that it is out of the way of traffic and doesn't block doorways.

A long-standing goal begun

By SrA. Kimberly Nelson
Roundup Staff Writer

After 13 long grueling months, the hard work and long hours finally pay off.

The 64th Supply Squadron recently competed in the Air Training Command's Material Storage and Distribution (MS and D) branch competition.

Reese competed against 10 other bases within the command, and after a two-phase selection process expanding over a four month period, the 64th's MS and D branch was selected as the best in ATC.

Phase I began July 20, with the establishment of criteria for the competition's brochure. Due to funds limitation within the command, brochures were required instead of individual visits (as done in the past).

The brochures were to include; an introduction, surveillance visits, warehouse inspection visits, ground safety inspections, warehouse improvement projects, photographs, recognition programs, personnel assigned, MS and D workload data and vehicles maintained.

On Sept. 14, the two finalists, Reese and Columbus AFB, Miss., were announced. These contenders would then undergo Phase II of the competition... an actual on-site visit.

The ATC two-member surveillance team arrived at Reese on Oct. 13. After which, MS and D presented them with a slide and audio show prepared by branch members with the help of the base photo and audio visual labs.

Following the presentation, the team proceeded to the main warehouse for an inspection of each section within MS and D.

Throughout the inspection, the team examined everything from personnel and job performance to facility appearance and upkeep. They inspected the seven warehouses, covering about 43,000 square feet and over 31,000 warehouse items including everything from toilet paper to aircraft parts to gasses and acids. The team not only examined the appearance of the warehouses, but also ensured items were stored and handled properly.

"The participation and enthusiasm from the wing command down to the newest assignee to MS and D was the means behind our success," said James Truelock, Chief, MS and D branch regarding the "Best in ATC" announcement.

MS and D has yet to relax, however, "We must sustain our reputation of cleanliness and friendliness," said CMSgt. David McClintock, superintendent, MS and D branch. "Even after the award is presented, we'll soon be preparing for the 1989 competition.

Although the ATC competition began in July, preparation for the competition began "in October 1987, and a long-standing goal was set," said Chief McClintock.

"Our efforts are directed towards supporting our supply customers in the most efficient manner, while providing a better environment for our own personnel. All initiatives undertaken during this period were guided by this goal," he added.

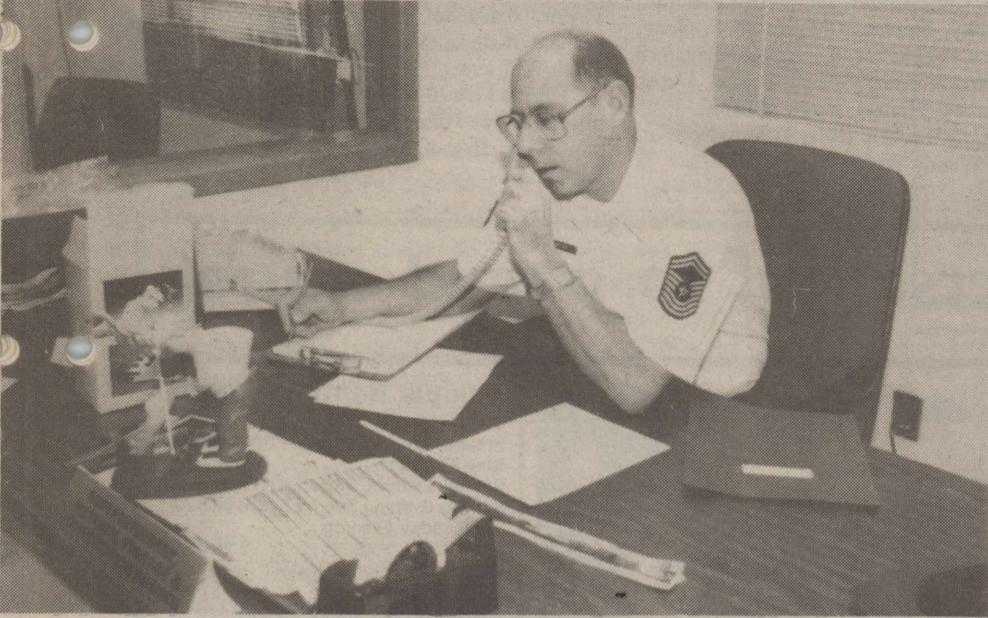

Despite 67 percent manning, the enthusiasm and combined team efforts of the branch allowed them to continue their expanded mission, which included monthly deliveries of over 6000 line items, while also participating in self-improvement projects throughout the offices and warehouses.

Because of their projects they were able to acquire 34 percent more warehouse space, allowing for SSgts. Derald Jones and Paul Richard to begin their part of the preparation, in January, with a rewarehousing project. They started with the relocation of the AIC John Wilson assisted in storage relocation, warehouse painting, and was responsible for the art work and preparation of the slides used in the presentation.

MSgt. Schimaine Williams, TSgt. Jean Becerril and SSgt. Ruth Mitchell, had the responsibility of renovating the receiving area to provide maximum accessibility of incoming property.

Their establishment of the "clear line" policy not only drastically reduced the amount of overtime being worked, by eliminating backlogs, but was instrumental in obtaining an overall inventory accuracy rate of 99 percent.

Jerry Mullenix was responsible for ensuring the optimum upkeep of all storage areas.

SSgt. O. J. Williams, renovated the bench stock office and holding areas, and innovatively handled and distributed bench stock items using the most efficient means possible.

MSgt. John Myrick and SSgt. Richard Ely were responsible for ensuring the serviceability and upkeep of the pick up and delivery section and the seven vehicles assigned to them. During the last Management Effectiveness Inspection (MEI), ATC's MEI team noted, "Vehicles were spotless, and a strong vehicle control program was in effect. Daily and weekly vehicle inspections, combined with driver pride, gave the branch the distinction of having some of the best looking vehicles on base.

MSgt. John Mangan, inspection section supervisor, initiated a sound inspection program for maintaining cure dated items, such as petroleum, and suspect items for Air Force use.

ABs Rutilio Palmas, Wendy Florida, Ronald Liston and Daniel White and Amn. Jacqueline Loftin, sent to Reese direct duty from basic training, were tasked with painting the entire main warehouse, to include applying a high gloss anti-skid sealer giving the floors a mirror-like finish.

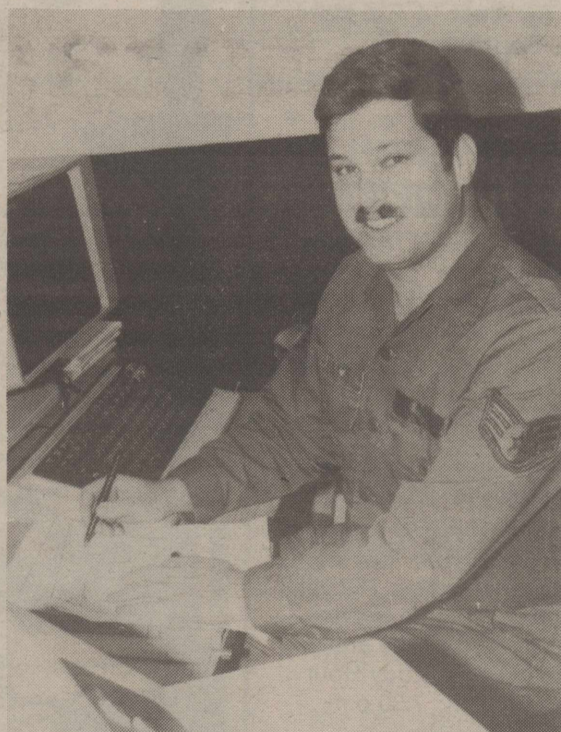

Personnel established an entry control system for the main warehouse. Entry way beam sensors and gates were installed, and area badges were instituted.

Other warehouse improvement projects included: complete renovation of the local purchase area; safety improved handling of 55 gallon drums; segregated storage to provide safer handling and easier accessibility of flammable and combustible assets; upgraded bin row facings and replacement of location labels; extended service life of existing computer equipment and increased the accessibility of fast moving items.

The following personnel, along with doing their everyday jobs, assisted in various self-improvement projects; SSgt. Jimmy Watson, Sgts. Armando Quinones, John Ganske and Sarita Ely AICs Carl Mair, Michael Cornett, Richard Frazier, Ernest Young, Daniel Zach and Nancy Ford, Lawrence Schepers, Jerry Billington, Joseph Rosendo, Robert Chandler, Carl Tarter, Pat Riley, Eladio Mora, Eufemio Rodriguez and Claud Hance.

The 64th Supply Squadron's Material Storage and Distribution branch has previously received the award as ATC's best in 1984, and were runner up in 1986.

"With the Olympics going on during the same time, Sergeant Quinones helped to inspire the competitive edge by coming up with the branch's motto of 'we want to win the gold—the MS and D gold!'" concluded Chief McClintock.

SSgt. O. J. Williams reviews a bench stock checklist for location shortages.

Jump-starting your battery safely

During the winter months, you may encounter a situation where your vehicle's battery won't start the car. Your car may have been sitting in the cold for a long period of time and now you need a jump-start.

Several thousand people each year are injured, many seriously, when car batteries explode during attempts to jump-start cars. The National Society to Prevent Blindness reports that almost three-quarters of these injuries are to the eyes. This is why it is extremely important for you to know exactly what you're doing before you attempt to jump-start a battery. Please read about the correct procedure.

Here are the basics for jump-starting a battery. Park the cars so they are not touching to avoid setting off a spark. No one should be allowed to smoke in the area since hydrogen and oxygen seep through the vents into the surrounding air when a battery is being charged. Any source of flame at this time can set off a violent explosion that splashes sulfuric acid in every direction. This acid can burn skin and cause blindness if it gets into a person's eyes. It's a good idea to keep safety goggles in your car so that you can wear them in case of an unexpected jump-start.

Before you hook up cables, set both parking brakes, put both transmission in park or neutral, and turn off ignition, lights, and accessories on both cars. Make sure the batteries are the same voltage.

Clamp one jumper cable to the positive terminal of the dead battery. (Battery markings tell you which terminal is which. The positive terminal will be marked with "pos," "P," or "+." The negative will be marked "neg," "N," or "-.") Attach the other end of that cable to the positive terminal of the good battery. Make sure clamps are tight so they won't spark. Wiggle each one to get a good "bite."

Any source of flame can set off a violent explosion that splashes sulfuric acid in every direction.

Next, clamp one end of the second cable to the negative terminal of the good battery. Then make the final connection on the stalled car's engine block, away from the battery — never on the battery itself. This final connection is the one that sparks, so you want to be far from the battery. Start the car with the good battery, then start the stalled car. When the car with the bad battery starts, remove the jumper cables in the reverse order of how you connected them. The first one you disconnect will cause a spark, so remove the one farthest from the battery first.

Remember that the best way to jump-start a car is the safe way. The trick is to keep the spark and the gases from getting together. Know what you're doing before you start — be defensive.

Don't forget goggles when jump-starting

According to the National Society to Prevent Blindness, more than 12,000 people needed emergency room treatment in 1981 for injuries they received while jumping dead batteries. The society estimates that 90% of these injuries could have been prevented through the use of protective eyewear.

The society suggests the motorists always carry safety goggles in their cars and wear them whenever it is necessary to jump-start a car, change a tire, or do any work that could result in an eye injury. An exploding car battery can throw casing, tool bits, or chemicals into the eyes, so caution must always be taken during a jump-start.

The jump-start a car properly, park so that the cars are not touching. Turn both car ignitions off. Make sure the batteries are both negatively grounded and the same voltage. Connect a jumper cable to the positive terminals of both batteries. Clamp one end of the other cable to the negative terminal of the good battery, then clamp the other end to the dead car's engine block.

Start the car with the good battery, then the stalled car. Then, move the cables in the reverse order of how they were put on.

Santa Land Church to present Christmas pageant to open Saturday

Santa Land will open for its 32nd year on Saturday, Dec. 10, at K.N. Clapp Park, 44th and Ave. U.

Opening ceremonies begin at 5:30 p.m. with Dean Killion and the Westwind Brass Band performing holiday music, followed by Mayor Pro Tem Joan Baker lighting the 60 foot Christmas tree, and of course, introducing Santa and Mrs. Claus, who will then visit with all their friends and listen to Christmas wishes.

Santa Land will be open nightly on Dec. 10 through Dec. 23 from 6 to 10 p.m. There is no admission charge, and parents are invited to bring cameras.

As in the past, a variety of lighted Christmas scenes will be arranged in a semi-circle around a Yuletide bonfire.

Features to be enjoyed include a life-size Nativity scene, an animated reindeer barn, Frosty the Snowman, and a number of other holiday characters. A variety of musical and dance groups will also perform during the two weeks. In addition, hot chocolate, popcorn, and other treats are available from Mrs. Claus' kitchen.

First Baptist Church of Lubbock will present the third annual Lubbock Christmas Pageant featuring this year's theme, "How Great Our Joy."

The Sanctuary Choir, Orchestra, Children's Choirs and Drama Cast will ring in the season.

There will be caroling, bells, chimes, children, and pageantry as First Baptist shares with Lubbock the joy of the birth of Jesus Christ.

"How Great Our Joy" will take place in the sanctuary of First Baptist Church, 2201 Broadway, Lubbock, on Friday, Saturday and Sunday evenings, Dec. 9, 10, 11, at 7 p.m. each evening.

Featured soloists will be local talent J. B. Mann, Peggy Swift, David Fincher, Jan Lee, Scott Lamphere, Bob Johnson, Rhonda Stege, and Mike and Barbara Hardy.

First Baptist, The Family of Love, invites all of Lubbock to celebrate and worship with them at this special time of year.

Child care will be provided.

Volunteers needed for Senior Santa Program

Lubbock Parks and Recreation still needs many more volunteers to help with this year's Lubbock Senior Santa Program. This event provides a personal visit and a special gift to homebound elderly residents in Lubbock.

Funded totally by donations, this program has been recognized by the Texas Recreation and Parks Society as the best new program in Texas. Last year, approximately 1,400 seniors were served, and at least that many are expected this year. We still need many volunteers to make these visits.

The program starts on Dec. 12 and runs through Christmas.

If you or your organization would like to donate a brief amount of your time for this very special program, please contact: Newt Wheeler at 762-6411 ext. 2675.

Family yule trail bus trip available to everyone

Lubbock Parks and Recreation invites your family to join in for an evening of old-fashioned Christmas fun by participating in the Family Yule Trail Bus Trip.

On Dec. 16 at 7 p.m., busses will be boarded at Rodgers Community Center, 3200 Amherst, to tour Santa Land and the beautiful Christmas lights at Texas Tech, Lakeridge, downtown, and throughout the city.

After the tour, the busses will return to the community center for hot chocolate and caroling.

Cost of the bus trip is $1.25 per person, and must be paid by Monday, Dec. 12. To make reservations, call 762-6411 ext. 2702.

Chapel Notes

Newcomers chili dinner

A newcomers chili dinner is tomorrow from 6-8 p.m. at the Base Chapel. The dinner is to honor all recently arrived families and baptized babies of 1988, and is sponsored by the Catholic Parish/Community Life. Reservations can be made by calling the chapel no later than today. For more information contact Barbara Chauncey or Friar (Capt.) Bill Martinez at 3237.

Children's Christmas Service

The Reese Catholic Parish is celebrating a special Children's Christmas Service entitled "Star Light, Star Bright," Thursday at 7 p.m. at the Base Chapel. All personnel and their families are invited to attend. Following the service, refreshments will be provided for everyone attending.

Penance Service

The Reese Catholic Parish is offering to all Catholic families a Penance Service on Dec. 16 at 7 p.m. This is a time to come back to the Lord through the use of the Sacrament of Reconciliation (confession). Friar (Capt.) Bill Martinez is also available Dec. 19-23 from 12:30-1 p.m., and Christmas Eve from 3-6 p.m., for private confessions.

1989 Air Force Invitational ski meet

The 1989 Air Force Invitational ski meet is March 12 - 17 in Snowbasin, Utah. This is a permissive TDY for all military personnel. For more information call Mr. Trevino at 3783.

Win a mini detail

Let the Auto Hobby Complex give your car a Christmas present! Just fill out the entry blank at any of the following MWR activities: auto hobby complex, recreation center, bowling center, package store, library, fitness center or arts and crafts center, and drop it in the entry boxes provided. The drawings are Dec. 16.

Wrestling and Boxing training camp

Persons interested in the 1989 Boxing and Wrestling training camp must fill out an AF Form 303. The deadline for boxing's sign up is Dec. 20, and wrestling's deadline is Jan. 5. This is a permissive TDY for all military. For more information call Mr. Trevino at 3207.

Gingerbread village

Come to the Officers' Open Mess and see what Pauline and her staff have cooked up. The OOM is inviting everyone to bring their children over to see the Christmas village made of gingerbread. A free treat will be given to each child.

Y.A.B.A. Christmas party

The Y.A.B.A. child/parent rock 'n bowl Christmas party is Dec. 17 at the Windmill Lanes. The rock 'n bowl party fun begins at 2 p.m. Food and prizes are available to be won!

Base running track closed

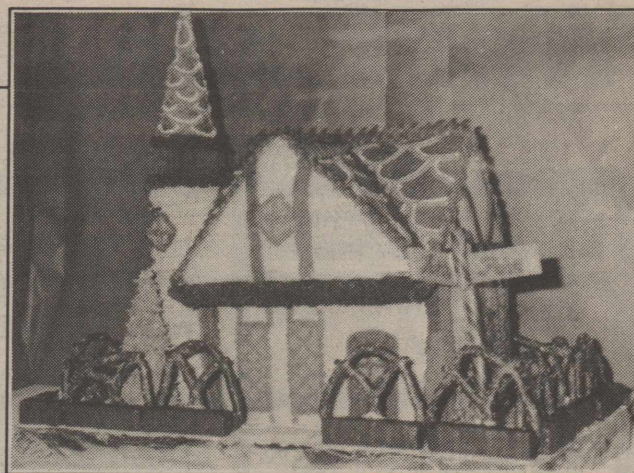

The base track is closed for repainting of lines until further notice. For more information call 3783.

Fitness Center closed

The Physical Fitness Center is closed Thursday from 7:30 - 11:30 a.m. for the monthly floor maintenancing.

dropped into the snowball. On Dec. 23 a drawing will be held to pick the lucky winners of the gingerbread houses.

Holiday Day Camp

The Youth Center is sponsoring a Holiday Day Camp for the Christmas holidays. The day camp consists of two, one-week sessions. The first week runs from Dec. 19 - 23, and session two runs from Dec. 27 - 30. The camp is Monday - Friday from 8 a.m. - 4 p.m. at the Reese Youth Center. Day campers enjoy such activities as bowling, movies, field trips, arts and crafts, tournaments and much more. Camp fee is $35 per week, or $8 per day. For more information call the Youth Center at 3820.

Eddie Beethoven live tonight

High Plains Rock 'N Roll presents Eddie Beethoven and the Sons of Fun, tonight from 9 p.m. - 1 a.m. at the Mathis Recreation Center. Entertainment includes live original rock 'n roll by Eddie Beethoven, and rock 'n roll hits from the 50's, 60's and 70's.

Eddie Beethoven and the Sons of Fun is a four piece band, consisting of: Joe Time on the drums, Dan Yates as the lead guitarist, Eddie Beethoven providing the vocals and rhythm guitar and Denny Smith on the bass.

Eddie has entertained music fans for more than 17 years, in towns from New York to California. Eddie Beethoven and the Sons of Fun are getting geared up for a Texas and European tour.

Veterinary Clinic hours for December

Capt. Marlyn Goodbary, base veterinarian, is available Dec. 19 and 20. During the remainder of the month, the clinic will be open, but the doctor won't be available to care for your pets. The clinic is closed Dec. 26. Normal hours of operation resume in January.

Learn what life was like between 600 A.D. and 1600 A.D.! See knights battle with primitive weapons, watch the ladies do calligraphy, needlework and weaving on small looms.
