

Deputy Commander for Maintenance to retire

Colonel Ramon K. Broerman, Deputy Commander for Maintenance has announced his intention to retire July 1, 1988. Colonel Broerman has served as the DCM of Reese since January 21, 1986. He has been responsible for the activities of approximately 1,100 officers, enlisted personnel, and civilians who perform the maintenance on 74 T-37 and 105 T-38 aircraft assigned to Reese AFB.

A farewell party will be held at the Officers' Open Mess, Monday evening, April 25, beginning at 6:30 p.m. Personnel interested in attending may contact A1C Armstrong, 3461, for reservations.

Colonel Broerman will be retired at a formal retreat ceremony on Wednesday, April 27. Retired Major General Dudley S. Favor will be the presiding officer. An all-maintenance Honor Guard from both the Field and Organizational Maintenance Squadrons will stand formation.

Colonel Broerman entered the United States Navy in November 1955, serving as an Electronics Technician until December 1958, when he reverted to reserve status. He enlisted in the United States Air Force in March 1960, and was assigned as a Communications/Navigation Equipment Repairman at Luke AFB, Ariz. In January 1963, he entered the last class of the Air Force Officer Candidate School, Lackland AFB, Texas, and graduated in June 1963 as a Distinguished Graduate.

Following Avionics Officer (Fighter) School at Lowry AFB, Colo., and Keesler AFB, Miss., he served as an instructor at Keesler until November 1964 when he was reassigned to the 612th Radar Squadron (ADC) near Ajo, Ariz., as the Ground Radar Maintenance Officer and Communications Electronics Officer. In October 1966, he was an instructor and course supervisor for the Avionics Officer (Fighter) course; and Chief, Precision Measuring Equipment Training Branch, Lowry AFB, Colo.

In May 1979, Colonel Broerman was assigned to the Electronics and Training Division, Headquarters, Air Training Command, Randolph AFB, Texas, until his departure for Air Command and Staff College. In July 1975, he was assigned as Chief of Maintenance and Commander, 3345th Consolidated Maintenance Squadron, Chanute AFB, Illinois.

In January 1977, Colonel Broerman was assigned to the Technical Assistance Field Team, Doshan Tappeh City, Tehran, Iran, as an advisor to the Imperial Iranian Air Force. Upon return to the United States in August 1978, he became the Commander, 47th Organizational Maintenance Squadron, Laughlin AFB, Texas. Departing Laughlin in 1981, he became the Maintenance Control Officer and Assistant Deputy Commander for Maintenance, 82nd Flying Training Wing, Williams AFB, Ariz.

In July 1984, Colonel Broerman became the Director, Air Training Command Enhanced Logistics Support (ATC), located at Wright-Patterson AFB, Ohio, and in July 1985, was concurrently assigned as Director, Training Force Structure Directorate, Logistics Operations Center (AFLC), at Wright-Patterson AFB.

Colonel Broerman is married to the former Margaret Newman of Evansville, Ind. They have two sons, Ramon (U.S. Navy) and Kevin (U.S. Army), and a daughter, Megan. He will be leaving to take a position with a commercial aviation firm.

Continuation program available for pilots

(AFNS) — Most captains who are pilots and nearly all line majors, regardless of their career area, who are not selected for promotion may continue on active duty under a series of Air Force Continuation Programs.

The goal of the captain continuation program for pilots is to retain a corps of experienced officers in critical fields. Majors are continued to 20 years to protect their retirement benefits.

Pilots in the grade of captain who are twice passed over for promotion to major may be reviewed by a continuation board held in conjunction with the central major board.

Because selection rates under this program are based on Air Force needs and selection is on a best-qualified basis, the number picked for continuation may vary.

Selectees for continuation are offered the opportunity to extend on active duty for three years. If they are not selected for promotion, they are considered for further continuation before the first extension expires.

Those selected for and accepting further continuation can remain on active duty until eligible to retire as an officer.

Majors who are twice non-selected for promotion will be considered for continuation under one of two programs, depending on their rated status and length of service.

One program for majors is a continuation board usually held in conjunction with the central lieutenant colonel selection board.

Eligibles for continuation are normally looked at on a fully qualified basis and all those with the required qualifications are selected.

The board is not restricted by a quota, and may select up to 100 percent of those qualified. Continuation for selectees will be sufficient for them to attain eligibility for retirement.

The other program available to majors considers those in critical skills for continuation beyond 20 years of active commissioned service. Currently, because of a shortage of pilots, only pilots are considered for continuation in the major (pilot) selective continuation program.

Similar to the captain continuation program, this program is based strictly on Air Force needs.

Officers considered by the board are eligible for retirement and continuation will extend them to the 24 year total active federal commissioned service point.

All officers selected for continuation compete for promotion during the period of continuation.

More information about the captain and major continuation programs is available from the Base Personnel Office, Special Actions Unit.

Class 88-04 awards recognized

The top award winner for Undergraduate Pilot Training Class 88-04 is Capt. Merle N. Momyer Jr. of Newport Beach, Calif. Captain Momyer received the Air Training Command Commanders Cup, the Leadership award, distinguished graduate letter and flying training award.

Second Lieutenant Bert L. Dreher received a distinguished graduate and outstanding second lieutenant award. Also receiving an outstanding second lieutenant award was Peter J. Martin.

Other award winners in the class are 2nd Lt. Mitchell B. Ashmore received an academic training award, 2nd Lt. James E. Grandy received a distinguished graduate and the citizenship award went to 2nd Lt. Kurt S. Rosselit.

Mission Milestones

Mother Nature certainly was good to us last week. The wing flew 322 sorties over what was required. Both aircraft gained on the timeline putting the T-37's at 2.1 days ahead and the T-38's at 4.5 days ahead.

Bits & Pieces

Volunteers are important

Over the past several weeks one of the foremost topics on my agenda has been the importance of volunteerism. Throughout the history of the United States, volunteers have played a vital role in making America what it is today: Volunteers devoting their time, energy and skills where it is most needed.

Few would disagree that without these volunteers who have given of their time freely, we would not be the country that we are today.

What is a volunteer?

One definition of a volunteer is someone who enters or offers to enter into a service of his own free will. Joining the Air Force, for example.

Another example of a volunteer is the person who donates his time to social agencies and charitable organizations. They will go that extra mile to help someone less fortunate than themselves. They will expend time and effort helping others and not expect payment. They donate services because they care.

In the Air Force community, volunteers work in hospitals and help with family services, family support centers and youth programs. They answer telephones, lend clerical assistance, serve on committees, help with workshops and coach athletic teams and run sporting events. They babysit, help newly assigned families get settled, and lend a friendly shoulder in times of grief.

Who are volunteers?

Volunteers are people just like you and me. They are active-duty personnel, reservists, family members, retirees, civilians, senior citizens, teenagers, singles, couples, working and non-working people.

They span all age groups and education levels, yet they all have one thing in common: They want to help.

Careline

The CARE Line is prepared by Col. Mark H. Lillard, III, 64th Flying Training Wing commander, on a weekly basis. All information provided to the CARE Line will be held in strict confidence. Callers are urged to give their name and duty telephone number so that a personal reply may be made; however, neither are mandatory. Callers should use the CARE Line only after all possible means to air their views or complaints through the chain of command have been exhausted. The CARE Line number is 885-3273.

No children allowed

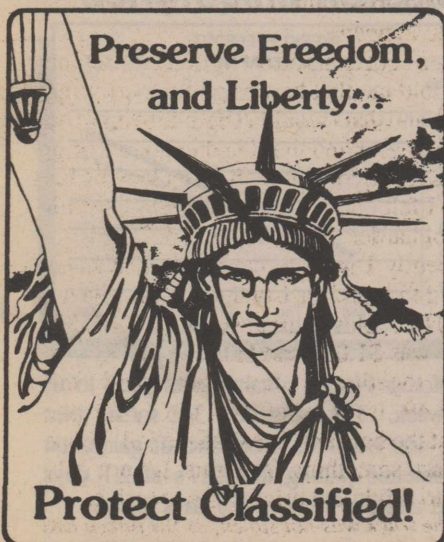

Why aren't supervised children allowed on the golf course?

We are very concerned about children under the age of six being allowed on the golf course. On several occasions, small children were injured with the balls and clubs and some have fallen off of the carts. This particular rule came into effect after a child was nearly run over by a golf cart. I realize you would like to spend your recreation time with your family, but first and foremost we must always consider the safety of our children.

Sweeper throws rocks

I have a concern about the street sweeping vehicles throwing gravel on the cars. Can something be done to minimize this problem?

These vehicles are designed to sweep the streets and vacuum the debris created by the rotating brooms. The system is not completely foolproof, but every effort is made to keep the equipment in top notch condition so that it will perform properly. We also make a special effort to use extreme caution when cleaning the streets near parked cars. Thank you for calling.

Volunteers at work

In these days of budgetary restraints, volunteerism will be more important than ever.

As we see budget cuts put into effect with many services being cut back or not funded at all, the need for volunteers to pick up even more slack is crucial to maintain the quality of service that our Air Force community deserves.

For example, during your Air Force career, you may have encountered one of the following scenarios;

- You have just been informed of your assignment after Reese and you would like more information about the next bases's location, schools, climate, housing and more;
- You walk into base hospital and need assistance from a hospital volunteer;
- You go into the Reese thrift shop and are assisted by the knowledgeable and helpful volunteers there in buying or selling used clothing or furniture;
- You arrive at Reese from another assignment and find that your basic household belongings won't arrive for another week. You need some basic household and kitchen utensils to tide you over . . .

These are but a few examples of the services volunteers provide.

Reese volunteers recognized

This past weekend, the Family Services Support Center Banquet was held. To give you an idea of the importance of volunteerism, General and Mrs. Baker drove all the way up from Randolph AFB, San Antonio so that Mrs. Baker could be guest speaker at the banquet. During her speech, she too praised the many unsung heroes, the volunteers who help serve the Reese family.

Two outstanding volunteers who were recognized for "going that extra mile" here at Reese are:

Mrs. Dorothy Jones, who was selected as volunteer of the first quarter, 1988 by the Family Services volunteers themselves. Congratulations Dorothy!

Col. Mark H. Lillard III, Wing Commander

Congratulations also go to Mrs. Josie Payne for her selection as the Reese AFB Family Services volunteer of the year, 1987. Your spirit of volunteerism, Josie, is an inspiration to us all.

I also would like to give a big thanks to Mrs. Peg Broerman for her invaluable support to Family Services.

You too can volunteer

Reese and the Air Force needs and appreciates its volunteers. If you want to do something that will make both you and the people you help feel good, volunteer. It can only benefit everyone.

April 17-22 is National Volunteer Week.

Kudos to hobby shop

I would like to express my appreciation to the Auto Hobby Shop for their very willing and professional assistance in performing maintenance on my car. Thank you for a job well done.

Thank you for calling. I always enjoy complimentary calls about the good things going on here at Reese. The folks at the Auto Hobby Shop continuously strive to offer quality service to their patrons. Even in the midst of the budget crunch, the people there are always providing expert service to all customers. Keep up the good work!

No smoking please

Currently both break rooms in the hospital are designated smoking areas. Can one be a non-smoking area for people who don't smoke?

This issue is being taken into serious consideration. In fact an AF Form 1000 for suggestions has been submitted for review by the Hospital Commander. Everything possible is being done to create a comfortable working environment for all base personnel. Thank you for calling.

Sprinkle on my golf game

I was playing golf on the golf course when the sprinklers were turned on in the middle of my game. When I went to get a refund, I was told that the prices were based on a daily rate and not on the number of holes played. I don't think the system is fair.

I want to apologize for any inconvenience you experienced while you were playing golf. The fee structure for the golf course is set up with a daily charge and does not limit anyone to the number of holes they can play. This is the reason your money was not refunded.

Whenever the sprinklers are going to be used, patrons of the golf course are notified. I'm sorry if there was a misunderstanding between you and the management at the time of the incident and hope you will continue to use the MWR facilities provided for you. Thank you for calling.

Choose your bags

Why are customers at the commissary automatically given plastic bags instead of paper bags? Is this a mandatory procedure?

As a patron of the base commissary, you are entitled to choose which type of bag you prefer. Plastic bags are given if no preference is made. The plastic bags are more economical and, for some customers, they are easier to handle. Please feel free to choose which you prefer when your groceries are being bagged. Thank you for calling.

Water all over the cars

It seems as if the sprinklers at some times are wasting water by spraying on roads and cars. I have washed my truck, driven on base and later found it was full of spots because water from the sprinklers was sprayed all over it. Can something be done about this?

It is very important to water the grass on base frequently and sometimes this will result in water running into the streets.

Facility managers are monitoring their areas to ensure there is as little runoff as possible into the streets. A lot of times, cars get spotted because wind sprays water into parking areas. Sorry for the inconvenience.

Tattoo ceremony plans underway

The annual Reese Tattoo Ceremony is May 13, at 8:00 p.m. in front of the Wing Headquarters building.

This year's theme is "Volunteerism in the Military," and focuses on the special people who give freely of their time and effort to help make the military community a better place.

Members of the Reese community are invited to bring their families and participate in this special occasion.

The Tattoo will feature fly-bys of vintage and present-day aircraft plus performances by the Air Force Band of the West from Lackland Air Force Base in San Antonio.

This is an event for the entire military family and friends. Don't miss it!

A close look at a costly evening

Editor's note: The following is a true story written by an airman stationed at this base. He did not think he was drunk. This is one of the big problems with DWI.

Because of a person's tolerance to alcohol, a person may not think he is drunk, but legally if he is past .10, he is drunk.

If you have any questions about this story, or any type of substance abuse problems, contact Social Actions at 3640.

On July 26, 1987, I was pulled over for going 45 mph in a 35 mph zone by the local police. I had been at a club for a few hours and I had about 4 or 5 beers.

When the police stopped me, they asked me where I was going. I told them that I was going over to a girl's house. The girls had pulled over about 100 yards up from where I was, and waited for me. A friend of mine was in the car with them.

The police asked me how many beers I had to drink. I told them that I only had a beer or two. I felt fine. I didn't have a buzz or anything.

The police told me to step out of my truck. They had me walk a straight line, say my ABC's, stand on one leg and count to 30, touch my nose with my finger, etc. They told me that they were going to take me downtown and give me a breath test. I couldn't figure out why. I had passed all the tests that they had given me. They told me to get back in my truck and drive it across the street and park it in a gas station parking lot.

After I parked my truck and locked it up, the officers asked me if I had a gun or a knife or anything. I told them I didn't. They took me to the county jail, where they wrote down some information about me.

Then they took me into a room that had some taped lines on the floor. They then read me my rights and asked me if I understood them and I told them I did.

They then told me that they were going to video tape me doing the tests. They gave me a breath test and I blew a .12; .10 is intoxicated. They then gave me the same tests they had given me when they pulled me over. Again I felt that I passed all the tests. After they finished, they fingerprinted me and took my picture. Then they took me to a room where there was an officer sitting behind an open window with bars on it.

He told me to take everything out of my pockets and put everything on the counter. He marked everything down on a piece of paper saying what I had with me. He then told me to take off my socks and my shoes and put them in a bag that he gave me.

They then let me call a bail bondsman to come and get me out of jail. The bail bondsman asked me how much money I had. I told him that I only had $4 with me, but I could get more. He told me that because I was in the Air Force, he would get me out and make up a payment plan for me.

After I talked to the bail bondsman I called a friend and told him I was in jail and I needed him to go down and pick up my truck so that nothing would happen to it. My friend said he would, so I gave him directions on how to get there.

After talking to him, a guard took me to a jail cell and let me in. At the time, there was only one other man in the jail cell besides myself. He was passed out in the corner of the floor. I was kind of nervous by now. I was cold and wasn't sure if I was going to get out. I had to be at work at 4.

I didn't want to fall asleep because I wanted to be sure that I heard the guard call my name when my bail bondsman got there to get me out. After a while they brought in a couple of more guys. They walked right in, lay down and went to sleep. I couldn't see how these guys could sleep. I wanted to get out so bad I couldn't even think about sleeping.

One of the guards then came over to the jail cell and called out my name. Finally, I was getting out. He took me aside and asked me what street my truck was parked on. I told him that it was in a gas station parking lot on Clovis Highway. I then asked him why. He told me that they had reason to believe that my truck had been stolen.

I couldn't believe it. I had only had my truck for about a month. This couldn't be happening to me. It had to be a bad dream. He told me that they had people looking for it and he took me back to the jail cell. All I could think about was my truck in a bunch of pieces being sold.

After a while I dozed off for what seemed like five minutes, but when I woke up the cell was full. There were guys passed out all over the floor. The place stunk so bad it could make you sick. There was a small hole in the middle of the cell, standing over it was a man probably in his 40's swaying back and forth and urinating all over the floor. When he finished, another man stood up and did the exact same thing.

I thought I was going to be sick. Here were all these drunk men lying on the floor with urine all over them. I was just waiting for one of them to wake up and figure out what had happened and go crazy, but none of them did.

I couldn't believe they had me in a cell with all these drunks. I didn't belong here.

After a while, most of the guys started waking up. They then started yelling for the guards to bring them a drink of water. They just kept screaming until finally the guard brought them a small dixie cup about half full of water. After drinking it down they started up again, yelling for more water. They finally stopped yelling when they started serving breakfast. Two inmates were serving the breakfast out of a metal cart. When they got to the cell I was in, they asked who wanted breakfast.

I wasn't really hungry, but I said what the hell, this will be the only time I'd have breakfast in jail. They gave me a tray. On it was scrambled eggs that looked more like a chunky soup, bacon (that's what they said it was anyway) a thin slice of cantaloupe, a small box of cereal, and a carton of milk. By now everyone was awake.

After seeing the tray of what they called food, I knew I wasn't hungry. I drank the carton of milk and then went to slide my tray under the cell door when a man asked me if I was going to eat my eggs. I told him I wasn't really hungry and he asked me if he could have them. I said sure, if you think you can eat them. He ate what was on the tray like he had never had food before. When everyone was through eating the two inmates came around and picked up all the trays.

One of the guards came to the door of the cell and called my name. He told me that my bail bondsman was there. He took me to another room that had a big mirror window, so you couldn't see who was on the other side unless you were up close to it.

I heard someone knocking on the window. I could see a man pointing to the phone on the wall. I picked up the phone and the man told me he was the bail bondsman, and that he was there to get me out. He told me that my bail was $300 and that it was going to cost me $157.

He asked me how much money I had and I told him I only had $4, but I could get more when I got out. He told me that since I was in the Air Force, he was going to go ahead and get me out and I could make payments. He told me he would have me out as soon as he could.

The guard came to the door and took me to a different cell. I went in and there was a guy sleeping on a steel cot. At least this cell had a toilet, but the cell was freezing cold. I didn't mind the cold though. I just wanted to get out. I asked the guard what time it was. He told me it was 6:30 a.m. I started thinking about a lot of different things while I was sitting there. I had to be at work at 4 p.m. and I couldn't be late.

Then I started thinking about what my First Shirt was going to say. This was the last thing I needed to happen to me. A lot of different things were running through my mind. They could give me an Article 15, take a stripe, take money, or even kick me out of the Air Force.

I didn't want to get out of the Air Force. I'm a good worker and I was just starting to get use to the ways of the Air Force. I looked through the bars. They had big steel doors with a small little window on them and a little door about halfway down to slide trays through. I couldn't imagine what kind of crime you would have to commit to be put in there.

There was a guy in one of them. He was yelling to the women who were in the jail cell at the end of the building. He kept asking them if he could sing to them. He told them if he sang to them, then they would have to kiss him. They told him they would, just to get him to shut up. Then he started singing. He said he wrote the song, and it sounded like it, too. He was driving me crazy. He wouldn't shut-up. He just kept singing. After every song he sang, he would stop and tell them that they owed him another kiss, and start singing again. The women in the cell were screaming at him to shut up and so were all the men, but he just kept on.

Finally, they started serving lunch. When they got to the cell I was in, I asked the guard if I could make a phone call to get someone down there to get me out. It had been a couple of hours since I'd talked to my bail bondsman and I was still in jail. He told me that they would be letting everyone use the phone in a little while. The two inmates asked me if I wanted lunch. I told them, no thanks, I had seen what breakfast looked like and I wasn't about to try the lunch.

The guard went over and asked the guy who was singing if he wanted lunch. The guy told him he did and he asked the guard if he would put his juice in a cup that he had. The guard then opened his cell and told the guy to go ahead and get his juice and lunch. The guy kind of hesitated when the guard told him to come out of his cell. I was just waiting for the guard to hit him with his nightstick the second he stepped out of his cell. But I was disappointed; the guard let him out and the guy walked over to the two inmates.

He was about 5'9", had a shaven head and a big grin on his face. He looked like someone you would see in a mental institute. He was so happy, it was funny. After he got his lunch, the guard told him to get back in his cell. Suddenly his grin turned into a frown. It was like someone took a piece of candy away from a little kid. He took his lunch and went quietly back into his cell.

After about an hour, the guard finally came to my cell and told me my bail bondsman had come to get me out. I'd never been so happy. They gave me my socks and shoes and all my stuff back and told me to sit down on a bench. Finally, I was getting out, but I still had my First Shirt to face when I got back to base. That, I wasn't looking forward to. My bail bondsman got there and took me to his office and had me fill out all the paperwork and told me I could make payments.

When I finished talking to my bail bondsman, my roommate picked me up and took me back to the dorms. I felt like I had mold all over me. I took a long shower and started getting ready for work. When I went to work everything was quiet. I was just waiting for my First Shirt to call and tell me he wanted to see me, but he never did.

The next day I went to see a lawyer that a friend had told me about. He told me his fee was $1000. I didn't think it was going to cost me that much, but after talking to him he told me that it was going to cost a lot more if he couldn't get it dropped.

That day when I got back to my room, my supervisor called and told me that my First Shirt wanted to see me. I put a quick shine on my boots and ironed my uniform. I really didn't want to see him. I wasn't sure what was going to happen.

When I got to his office he told me to come in. He told me that he was going to give me an LOR and that I wouldn't be able to drive on base for a year and that I had to go to Social Actions for Alcohol Rehab. After leaving his office, I felt damn lucky. He could have hit me a lot harder than what he did.

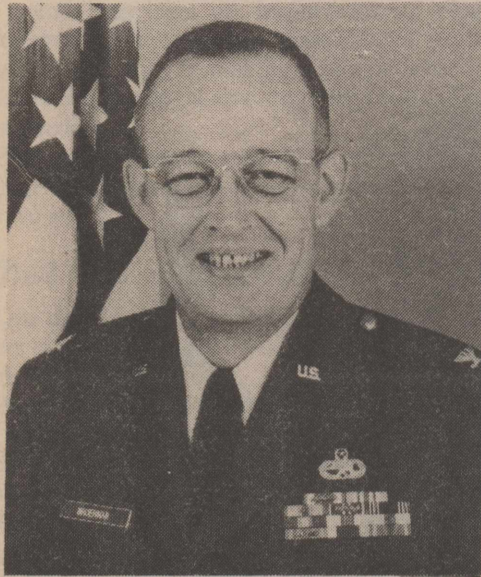

Recently I went to court. My DWI was reduced to Reckless Conduct. I was given a $1,000 fine, plus court costs of $108.49. My lawyer was $1,000 and bail was $157.

All together a few beers cost me $2,265.49. It's a lot of cash to pay for one night at the bars and breakfast in jail. I hope you learn something from this. It's not only dumb to drink and drive, it's expensive.

The truck was not stolen, as the police had thought. It was moved by friends.

DWI IT COSTS YOU

The final salute

By Col. Ramon Broerman
Deputy Commander for Maintenance

As I write this, my last column for the Roundup prior to my retirement, I fully realize that it would be expected that I would utilize these last lines to make my adieus and pass along my thanks to all my co-workers and mentors over the years.

I'm not going to do either.

First, because the column isn't long enough for me to mention all 1,000-plus of the outstanding Reese maintainers who have given me their trust and their all for the past two and a half years.

Second, over the years so many people took the time to teach me things, that I'd be ashamed to chance leaving any of them out.

So, I'm going to use this column to tell you just a little bit about the one person who has done the most for me personally and contributed most to my success over the years.

Just a month over 28 years ago, a young, scared Airman Second Class and his equally young, scared and very pregnant small blonde wife headed for Luke AFB with an old car and an attached trailer with all their worldly possessions.

The airman was experienced—he'd made three PCSs before, in another service. The small blonde wasn't. The move was rough, and so were the hungry days that followed.

Fifteen PCS moves and something over 25 houses later, with three children along the way, the small blonde is again making a short notice move, again providing the support she's made the center of her life.

As would be expected, there's been a lot of good and some bad over the years. She's lived in a few pretty nice houses in nice places. She's been alone a lot. She also spent some time in places where excitement was when her son brought in the 8-inch giant scorpion he'd dug out of the flower bed and the dog killed lizards in the living room.

Both her parents died while she was overseas, supporting her husband and her Air Force—her mother one day after she arrived in the Middle East.

She's had to be a tiger at times, facing mountain lions at the back door. And I will remember forever the time she knelt in the passenger seat of a car careening through the streets of a Middle Eastern city, .38 Police Special in hand—ready to protect me.

She's seen Paris and Rome, and a hundred other cities. She's also seen the front gate of the SAVAK prison compound closer than most American women.

She's done things many people haven't dreamed of. Through it all, she continuously expressed pride in the title, Air Force Wife.

She's passed that pride along to a lot of people, and in so doing, has made contributions to the Air Force of incomparable value.

In recent months, we've heard a lot of critical comments about spouses being forced to do things they didn't want to do and being denied the right to do the things they want. For my small blonde, those kinds of things haven't weighed heavily on her, or if they have, she hasn't ever let them detract from her level of commitment to her spouse and to her Air Force.

When I say her Air Force, that's what I mean. Certainly, it's been as much hers as it has been mine. Now, she faces perhaps her greatest challenge as she watches me hang up the uniform for the last time. I have a job and excitement to keep me going—once again, she's supporting me and my passage from her Air Force, and facing an uncertain future, somewhat like 28 years ago.

Probably, that's why they say "Air Force Wife—the toughest job in the Air Force." We talk of patriots and professionals. My small blonde truly is the image of those words. Her contributions to her country and to her Air Force are legion.

That's why my final salute is, and must be, to my Air Force Wife, Mrs. Peg Broerman.

Look at the man in the mirror

By CMSgt. Coy K. Martin, Jr.

Senior Enlisted Advisor, 64th Flying Training Wing

Several weeks ago I attended an Air Training Command NCO Academy graduation at Lackland Air Force Base. It was a festive occasion for the students as well as a re-bling event for all of us in attendance.

That evening the guest speaker recited the words of a poem that a chief master sergeant had given to me many, many years ago. In fact, it had been so long ago that I had completely forgotten about it.

Having heard the words again and the thought process they rekindled, along with the intervening years of experience, makes the advice reflected on in the verse even more appropriate today than it was twenty five years ago.

I would like to share that poem with you.

The Man in the Glass

When you get what you want in your struggle for self
And the world makes you King for a Day,
Just go to a mirror and look at yourself
And see what that Man has to say.

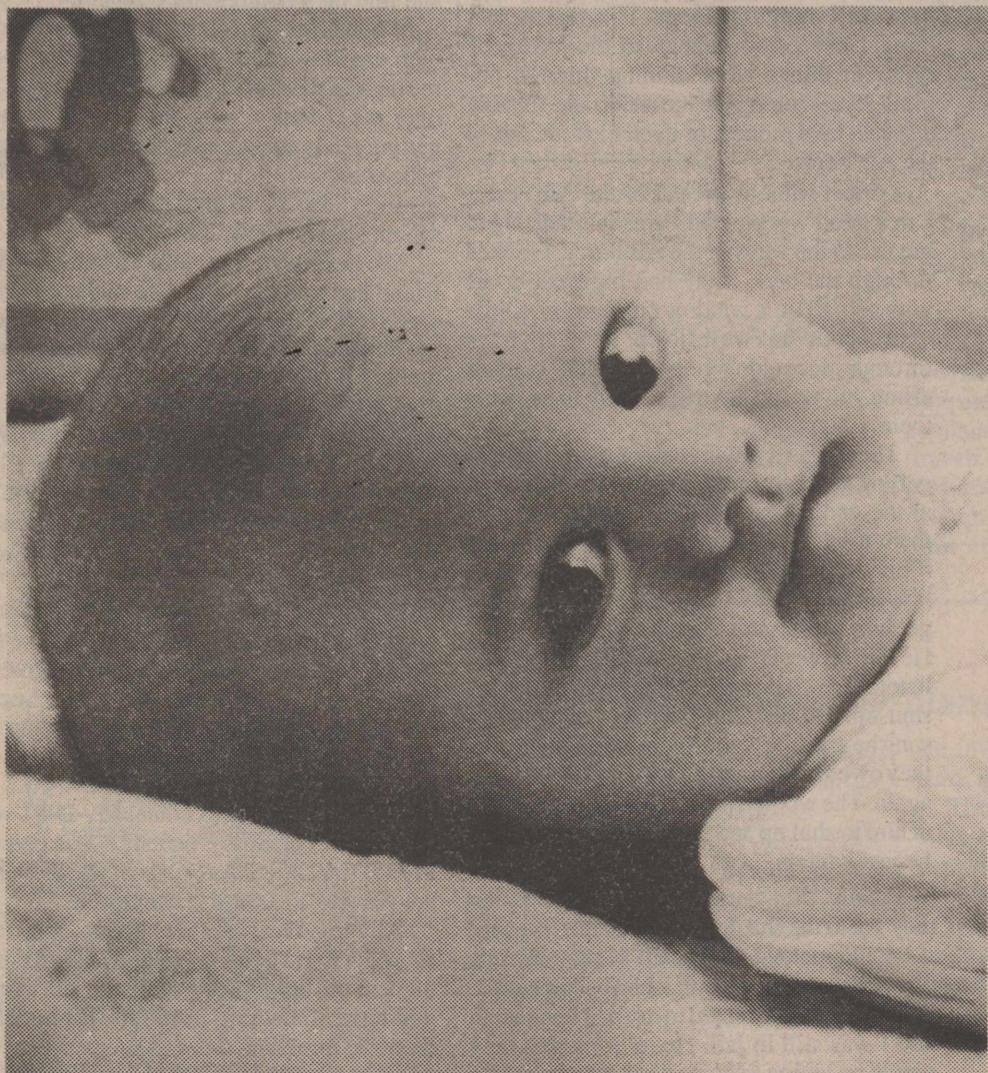

For it isn't your father or mother or wife
Whose judgment upon you must pass;
The fellow whose verdict counts most in your life
Is the One staring back from the glass.

Some people may think you a straight-shootin' chum
And call you a wonderful guy,
But the Man in the Glass says you're only a bum
If you can't look him straight in the eye.

He's the fellow to please, never mind all the rest,
For he's with you clear up to the end.
And you've passed your most dangerous, difficult test
If the Man in the Glass is your friend.

You may fool the whole world down the pathway of life
And get pats on your back as you pass,
But your final reward will be heartaches and tears
If you've cheated the Man in the Glass.

Solving your dental problems

Several dependents have had Delta Dental Claims denied because they have not been enrolled in the dental plan, when in truth, they are enrolled.

Effective immediately the DEERS Support Office (DSO) and Delta have worked out a claims error resolution process, with the concurrence of the Office of the Civilian Health and Medical Program of the Uniformed Services (CHAMPUS).

The DEERS Support Office will research denied claims and verify eligibility for claims denied as a result of incorrect information.

Sponsors or patients who have been denied payment for eligibility reasons should contact DEERS Support Office, Attention FA99, 2100 Garden Road, Suite B-2, Monterey, California 93940-5387.

The following information should be submitted:

The dental Explanation of Benefits showing the period of service for which care was denied.

The service members leave and earnings statement (LES) showing premium deductions since enrollment.

Additional documentation which certifies participation in the program, or verifies the eligibility of the dependent for whom the care has been denied.

All correspondence received will be researched against the monthly finance center tape submission to DEERS, the DEERS Dental Extract File, and the DEERS Data Base.

DSO will correspond directly with the service member if additional information is required. If DSO is able to verify eligibility, the case will be forwarded to Delta for readjudication of the claims and a copy mailed to the sponsor.

For more information contact the Health Benefits Adviser at 885-3581.

Incentives to extend tours

AIR FORCE MILITARY PERSONNEL CENTER, Randolph AFB, Texas (AFNS) -- Air Force is continuing current professional military education incentives to encourage voluntary extensions of overseas tours.

Officers volunteering to extend short overseas tours by at least six months can attend Squadron Officers' School either in a temporary duty status from the overseas area or in conjunction with a permanent-change-of-station move to the United States.

Senior noncommissioned officers previously selected to attend the Senior NCO Academy who volunteer to extend a short overseas tour by at least six months can attend the academy TDY from the overseas area.

In addition, senior NCOs previously selected to attend the Senior NCO Academy who volunteer to extend long overseas tours at least one year will be guaranteed a specific class date.

They may attend the academy TDY from overseas providing they have 120 days remaining on their assignments upon graduation, or in conjunction with a PCS move, or after a stateside PCS move.

Commander approval is required for all extensions.

For more information, contact the base personnel office customer service unit, or CMSgt. John W. Henry, AUTOVON 487-6532 or 6750.

News briefs

Administrators' day scheduled

In recognition of the Administrators here at Reese, Base Administration is hosting an Administrators' Day April 27. Administrators can be secretaries, military 702s and medical 906s. Administrators' Day is being held in conjunction with National Secretary's Day to emphasize the importance of their work. An informal luncheon will be held at the Officers' Open Mess from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. to allow supervisors and co-workers to say thank you and take their administrator to lunch. A pay as you go buffet will be offered. A slide show presentation entitled "Reese Administrators in Action" will be shown throughout the luncheon.

AFSC retraining possible

Reduction in non-prior service, the DOS Rollback and the Early Release Programs have left the potential for severe shortages in some skills. To alleviate this, HQ AFMPC has prioritized skills with existing OJT requirements in the following order: 645X1, 271X2, 472X0, 545X3, 551X0, 552X0, 552X5 and 612X1. Those eligible and interested in retraining into the above listed AFSCs should contact the Consolidated Base Personnel Office Classification and Training Unit, 3932.

EOM changes

Due to the loss of 80 percent of Appropriated Fund support, it is necessary to make some changes to the Enlisted Open Mess operation. Beginning Monday, the dining room will close operations completely. Except for special functions, there will be no feeding at the Enlisted Open Mess. Effective Monday, the cashier's cage will be open from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. and 1:30 to 7 p.m.

35th hosts dining out

The 35th Flying Training Squadron will host a dining out Saturday evening at the Officers' Open Mess. The guest speaker for the event is Brig. Gen. Robby Risner (retired).

Language training available

A complete set of books and tapes for German, Italian, Japanese, Korean, Spanish and Turkish languages are available on loan without cost at the Education Center. If you have orders for overseas or want to gain basic understanding of another language, stop by the Education Center, bldg. 920, room 139.

Polish sausage sale

The 1958th Communications Squadron Booster Club is sponsoring a Polish Sausage Sandwich sale today from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. at Windmill Park

Instructor needed

The Reese Professional Military Education Center is looking for a professional, highly motivated staff sergeant for instructor duty. If you are interested, contact SMSgt. J. T. Washington, 3635 or 3147.

Scholarships available

The Federal Employee Education and Assistance Fund has announced their 1988 scholarship program.

The scholarships will be granted for the 1988-1989 school year and range in amounts from $500 to $2,500 per award.

The scholarships will be granted to active federal employees or members of their families, based on merit.

The federal employee sponsor must have a minimum of three years of federal service, while the student applicant must be attending school full-time during the period for which the application is made.

For more information or to obtain application forms, call 1-800-323-4140 or 202-543-8685 or write FEEA Scholarship Award, 513 C Street, N.E., Washington, D.C. 20002.

The deadline for submission of applications is May 1, 1988.

Security clearance available

(AFNS) — All naturalized U.S. citizens regardless of place of birth, now can apply for defense department jobs requiring security clearances.

Previously, DOD policy limited security clearance eligibility and employment opportunities for recently naturalized citizens from certain countries. The policy set minimum residency and citizenship requirements and was in effect from June 1987 to February 1988. Now all U.S. citizens, naturalized or native, will be considered for a security clearance based on the same criteria. There is no minimum residency requirement.

Former smokers needed

If you've kicked the habit, you can help others do the same. Ex-smokers are needed to help teach the Fresh Start Stop-Smoking classes. If you would like to help, call 3536. Training through the American Cancer Society will be arranged.

Class 88-E to graduate

The Noncommissioned Officers Leadership School class 88-E will graduate April 28 at 6:30 p.m. at the Enlisted Open Mess. CMSgt. Steve Greenwell, superintendent of Military Personnel, will be the guest speaker for the event. Everyone is invited to attend. Please RSVP to SSgt. Paula Jenkins at 3147 by April 22.

Lost and found

The Security Police section has the following lost or abandoned property: one boy's jacket, one pair of eye glasses, and a motorcycle cover.

The following property was lost or abandoned at the USAF Hospital, Reese: three pairs of eye glasses, one officer's flight cap, one Air Force tie, one coin purse.

If any of the property listed above belongs to you, contact the Investigations Section at 3999.

Panama deployment involves Air Force

(AFNS) — About 150 Air Force security policemen are among the 1,300 troops who deployed to Panama April 5 through 8 to further safeguard U. S. lives, property and interests in that area.

None of the troops are from Reese, but a unit from Cannon AFB, N.M. was involved.

The Pentagon said the Secretary of Defense directed the deployment "to further our security posture" in Panama.

About 10,000 U.S. troops stationed in Panama are assigned to the U.S. Southern Command. Part of their responsibilities are to defend the canal.

An estimated 40,000 Americans, both military and civilian, live in Panama. About 14,000 of them do not live near U.S. military installations.

The Department of Defense called the deployment "reasonable and prudent." It said the move was "a reflection of increasing concern for the security of U.S. personnel and facilities in view of the growing unrest and tension (in Panama)."

Three security police ground defense units, two patrol dog squads and a small headquarters unit make up the Air Force contingent. The deployment is a temporary assignment with the return date yet to be determined.

The DoD announcement said the troops will remain "as long as needed."

The 27th Security Police Squadron, Cannon AFB, N.M.; 834th SPS, Hurlburt Field, Fla.; and 381st SPS, Whiteman AFB, Mo., each deployed a 44-man ground defense flight.

The 4th SPS, Seymour-Johnson AFB, N.C., and the 1606th SPG, Kirtland AFB, N.M., each sent a patrol dog squad of six dogs and six handlers. The 31st SPS, Homestead AFB, Fla., deployed a three-man headquarters element.

C-141 and C-5 aircraft from the Military Airlift Command transported the units. Army military police, a helicopter unit and combat marines formed the bulk of the deployment.

The Department of Defense announcement added, "if we ascertain in the future that more forces are appropriate, we will send them." No decision to do so has been made at this time.

News notes

Clothing availability

(AFNS) — Air Force men's and women's polyester and wool lightweight blue jackets and liners should be fully stocked at military clothing sales stores later this summer.

Wide-band trouser blousers and backings for posts of name plates, badges, will be available in late March. The blousers cost $1.75 and the posts cost $.85.

B-2 Construction

(AFNS) — Congress has approved $84.8 million in construction funding for Whiteman AFB, Mo., future home of the Air Force's advanced technology bomber, the B-2.

Because Whiteman currently does not have a flying mission, the money will be used to improve electrical power, training, maintenance and other facilities.

Strategic Air Command had requested $89 million. The money was included in the omnibus continuing resolution that funds federal agencies for fiscal 1988.

Direct hit

(AFNS) — An advanced medium-range air-to-air missile fired from a Navy F/A-18 Hornet scored a direct hit on a QF-86 target drone at the Pacific Missile Test Center in California, Feb. 9.

The launch marked AMRAAM's 44th success in 52 valid test firings. It was the 14th test conducted at the center and the first time the missile contained electronic counter-countermeasures software. The missile's radar lets the pilot track and fire at multiple targets on a single pass.

Academic grant

(AFNS) — Air Force Aid Society is accepting applications until April 30 for its new academic grant test program.

Eligibility for the 925 $1,000 awards is limited to dependent children of active-duty Air Force people who will enroll as college freshmen this fall. Family income and debt factors are considered. All AFAS sections have copies of the academic grant brochure and applications.

Strength drop

(AFNS) — Air Force lost 975 people in February. There were 603,599 men and women in the Air Force on Feb. 29, a 16 percent drop in total strength since the end of January.

Air Force strength since February 1987 has dropped by almost 10,000. Department of Defense-wide, there were 2,625 fewer people in uniform in February than in January.

The figures exclude approximately 71,000 people paid from other appropriations.

Move justification

AIR FORCE MILITARY PERSONNEL CENTER, Randolph AFB, Texas (AFNS) -- Air Force sponsors who wish to use the designated location move program for their foreign-born spouses and families while serving an unaccompanied overseas tour must provide more extensive justification than in the past.

The program is an exception to assignment policy that permits foreign-born spouses and their children to return to their native countries while the sponsors serve a dependent-restricted tour.

Applications are approved when it is clearly documented that the spouse will be unable to function independently in the continental United States during the sponsor's absence.

Designated moves now are approved only when the sponsors can fully document the inability of their spouses to cope on their own in the continental United States. Unit commanders must comment on the applications on why the spouses are not able to function independently.

From 1975 to 1985, applications were liberally approved. However, on Nov. 1, 1985, the Department of Defense made approval criteria more restrictive in response to unified command and overseas major command concern about the saturation of support facilities, especially DoD schools.

Last year only 63 percent of all applications were approved.

Sponsors are required to prepare their spouses to cope during any absence. Those with foreign-born spouses must consider the restrictive criteria for designated moves before they volunteer for assignment to a dependent-restricted area.

More information is available from the base personnel office customer service unit.

Arts Festival set for April 22-24 Gem & Mineral Society to host annual show

The Lubbock Arts Festival is an annual celebration of the arts, offering the citizens of West Texas an opportunity to view and purchase some of the finest artwork available.

As part of its air of festivity, the Festival also provides a rich variety of performing arts, cultural arts, culinary arts, and children's creative activities. The goals of the Lubbock Arts Festival include developing new audiences for the arts and providing access to the arts for all citizens.

'Run for the arts' races scheduled for April 23

The "Run for the Arts" will again send people of all ages racing through downtown streets and the Texas Tech campus on Saturday, April 23. The starting line for all races will be located on the north side of the Lubbock Memorial Civic Center.

The types of races held will include a one-mile course for elementary school children, a two-mile Fun Run for all ages, a 15K

(9.3 mile) race, and a two-mile Corporate Team Challenge. The latter event consists of teams of five runners, both men and women, from corporations and small businesses.

Registration for the races may be mailed to Run for the Arts, P.O. Box 2921, Lubbock, TX 79408. Late registration may be made on April 22 at the Civic Center. Fees are $8 for children and $10 for the 15K and two-mile runs. Prizes will be awarded in all events.

A pre-race seminar will be held for the contestants in Room 110 of the Civic Center, Friday, April 22, beginning at 7 p.m. Special lecturer for the seminar will be Dr. Robert Yost.

For information, contact David Lard, Race Director, 794-8851 or Ronald Key, 763-5551.

The Lubbock Gem and Mineral Society will have their 30th annual show at the Lubbock Memorial Civic Center on April 16 and 17 from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. on Saturday and from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Sunday.

There will be about 80 different exhibits of gems, minerals, fossils and jewelry on display.

Demonstrations will be given on making silver and gold jewelry.

Other demonstrations will be on scrimshaw carving, faceting, making beads and making stone and wire trees.

A special dinosaur exhibit by John Fischner from South Texas will be featured. The exhibit will include authentic scale models of many different dinosaurs which were crafted by Fischner.

Out of town dealers will offer a variety of gem and mineral related items and jewelry for sale.

There will be hourly door prizes.

The grand prize drawing will be a 26-carat faceted blue topaz stone.

Admission for adults is $2 and for students is 50 cents.

Children 12 and younger are free when accompanied by an adult.

Imagine a life without rights

By TSgt. Scott W. Hyland
Public Affairs Office, Air Force Military Personnel Center

RANDOLPH AFB, Texas (ATCNS) — Are you among the multitudes of eligible voters who can't be bothered to take the time out and cast a ballot? If you fall into that category, please read on.

Think for a moment about a life in which this constitutionally guaranteed right doesn't exist. Imagine — living under a totalitarian system of government whose representatives at every level are not popularly elected, but hand-selected by the ruling elite.

Of course, as voting rights are stripped away, so go the others.

Do you prize your rights of free speech and assembly? Totalitarian systems have no place for rights such as these.

Imagine gathering for a chat with friends on a sidewalk and being suddenly chased away or, worse yet, arrested by the secret police for assembling a crowd.

Any public statement you make must be in glowing support of the "glories of the system" or, again, you risk arrest. Detainment may be indefinite because you'd likely have no right to a fair and speedy trial.

Do you like having your right to privacy? Think for a moment about a society in which privacy is virtually absent. You can't criticize the "system," at least not without risks, especially not in the presence of your children.

Schools are part of the "system" and children are encouraged, even rewarded for informing authorities of any act of dissidence — spoken or practiced — at home. And, rest assured, authorities move swiftly and severely to quash such activity.

Do you cherish other freedoms, such as those of movement, religion and enterprise? What about the rights to keep arms or own real estate?

Sadly, the liberties we take in stride are nothing more than distant fantasies in the minds of half the people of the world.

Remember, without the courage, foresight and dedication of our forefathers who selflessly shed their own blood, sweat and tears to lay the foundation of a democratic, free United States, who knows what our destiny may have been? That of a faceless society bereft of individual freedoms?

We live in an imperfect world, fraught with conflict and oppression. Yet, fortunate as we are to have the freedoms we do, we often fail to stop and relish our good fortune, much less build on it.

It's time to revitalize our commitment to strengthen our nation by participating in its electoral process.

We have just completed 1987 — the bicentennial of the U. S. Constitution — and now we're into 1988, an election year. We are again presented an opportunity to choose our leaders and influence government processes.

As armed forces members and Americans, we have a mighty choice — let's use it.

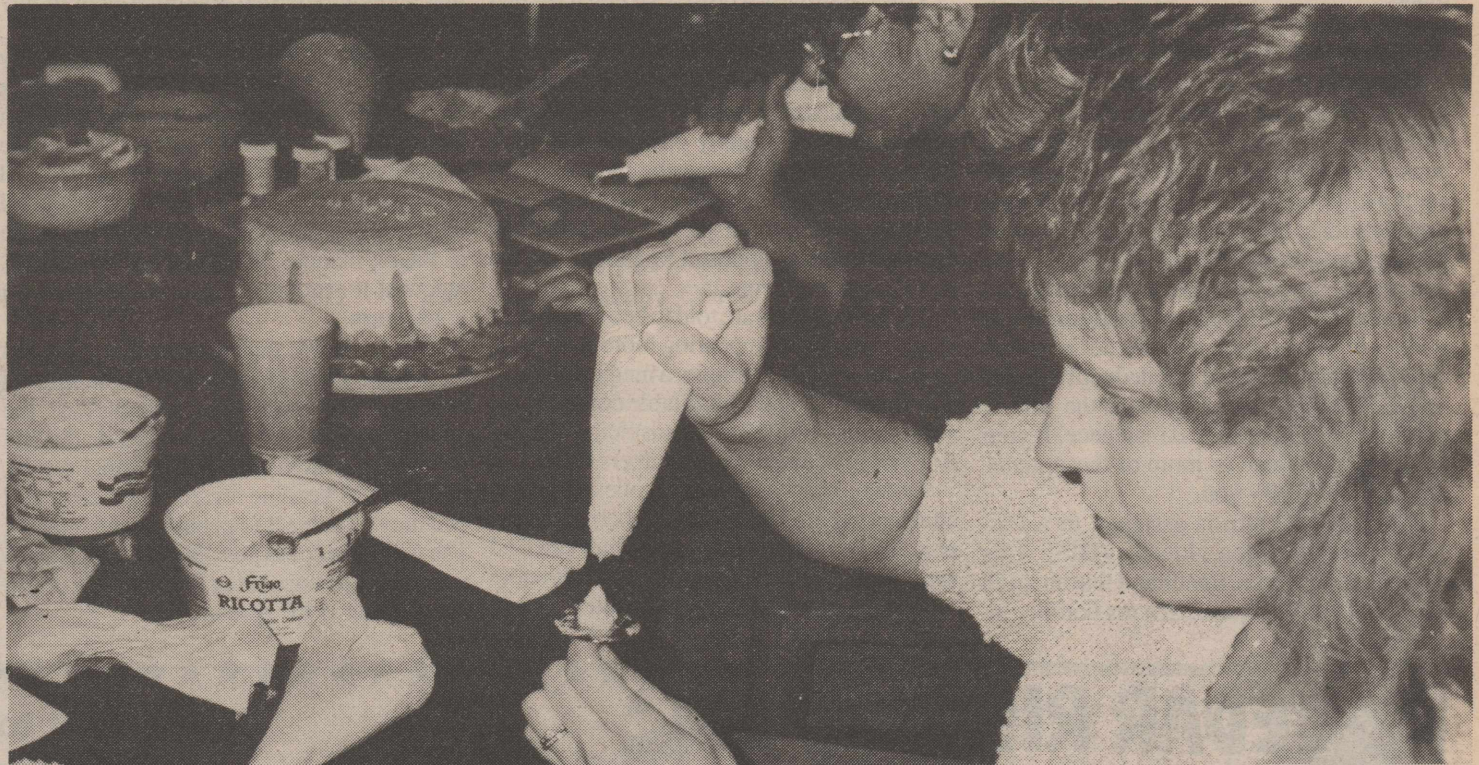

State primaries

On June 14, North Dakota and Maine will hold state primary elections.

Individuals from North Dakota serving in the armed forces and merchant marine, their spouses and dependents residing outside North Dakota need not register to vote absentee.

Ballots may be requested for the primary and general elections by mailing a federal post card application to the county auditor no earlier than 60 days before the election. Ballots are mailed to voters 40 days before the election.

Individuals from Maine in the armed forces and their family members can register and request absentee ballots for all elections in a calendar year by sending a federal post-card application to the local registration official or municipal clerk, if already registered, any time before the election. Ballots are mailed to voters 30 days before the election.

Tax audit - when fear becomes reality

Almost every taxpayer lives in fear of their tax return being audited. The chance of that happening is actually quite small, but everyone should know what to expect—just in case.

After your return arrives at your District Service Center and is sorted by type (1040A, 1040, business, and the like), it is checked manually and by computer for mathematical errors. If your return contains such an error, it will be corrected and you will be sent a notice of the correction.

You will also be sent a bill for any additional tax due or you will receive a refund check, depending on the change that was made.

Your return is then checked against a list of unallowable items. Some of these disallowed deductions are: personal legal expenses; educational expenses for someone other than taxpayer or spouse; auto expenses for donated services in excess of 12 cents a mile, contributions to non-qualifying organizations; utility taxes; fees for automobile registration and licenses, among others, that are not based on the value of the vehicle. (The method of valuation varies from state to state—in Texas, such fees are not based on value and are therefore not deductible). Finally, expenses connected with the sale or purchase of your principal residence. If your return contains one or more of these items, the IRS will notify you.

Next, your return is assigned to a Discriminating Function Number (DIF). This number indicates the likelihood that an audit of your return will result in a tax liability increase. The higher the number, the greater the chance of your return being examined.

The IRS is very secretive about how it determines DIF scores and they update the formula regularly. Nevertheless, the inclusion of certain items and the absence of others will likely increase your DIF score. For example, the absence of a deduction for property tax when a deduction for home mortgage interest is claimed will increase your DIF number. Also, the IRS computes average deductions for each tax bracket, based on previous years, and amounts in excess of these averages result in a higher DIF number.

After returns are processed and assigned a DIF number, each local IRS office requests returns from their area with high DIF scores. IRS agents then review these returns and select the ones to be audited. Two out of three such returns are usually examined. Certain items are likely to increase the chances of the return being selected for examination. For example, the IRS is suspicious of round even figures ($500 as opposed to $487—not the rounding off of cents.).

Also, examiners are told to be aware of the same exact figure appearing more than once on the return. For example, a medical deduction for $1,012 and a charitable contribution deduction of $1,012. The suspicion here is that you miscopied your numbers.

Documentation and letters of explanation attached to your return are very helpful at this point in the process. If the examiner can find supporting information on a questionable item in supplemental attachments, he is much less likely to contact you about the item or arrange for an audit of your return. So, if you file a complicated return or have included unusual or special deductions—explain!

On a positive note, certain items are considered "non-productive" by the IRS, and therefore will not trigger an audit if they are the only questionable item on your return. This category of items includes home mortgage interest, high medical expenses for large families or older taxpayers, and auto expenses calculated using the standard mileage rate (if the mileage is not excessive).

The IRS does not usually examine returns that contain only one abnormal item of any kind.

Another method the IRS uses to identify incorrect returns is a computer matching program. W-2 and other income information and interest statements (1099s) sent to the IRS are entered into the computer which will kick out any returns that have not included such information. If you receive notification of wages, income, or interest earned, the IRS received it also, so be sure to include it on your return.

If you receive such information after you have filed your return, you must submit an amended return (1040X) and include the new information. If you do not, or did not include such items on your original return, the IRS will become aware of the error and you may be subject to penalties and interest. The penalties could possibly be as high as 25 percent of the unpaid tax due and the current interest rate is 11 percent.

One of the ways the IRS determines what items they should pay special attention to is through the audits conducted under the Taxpayer Compliance Measurement Program (TCMP). The returns subjected to this type of audit are selected at random by computer.

These audits are much more detailed than DIF audits and nothing can be done to prevent them. The percentage of returns selected under the TCMP is small, but the examination is exhaustive. An agent will verify every item on your return, line by line, so be prepared.

Audits may be conducted by correspondence, in the IRS office, or in the field. Correspondence audits are used for simple items that are easily verified by mail. The majority of audits are conducted in local IRS offices. The IRS will inform you of where and when you are to meet with an agent. Occasionally, the examining agent will come to your home or place of business to conduct the audit. This occurs only if records cannot easily be transported or if you live in a remote area.

If you are notified that you are going to be audited, you have the right to rearrange the time to best fit your schedule.

You may also request that the audit be moved to a different IRS office if you have moved.

If you are selected for an audit, you should contact the Legal Office immediately for additional assistance. Appointments can be made by calling 3505.

Retreat for women planned

Reese Chapel's interdenominational Women of the Chapel are sponsoring a retreat entitled "Inner Peace and God's Answer to Burnout" on Monday. All women of the Reese community are invited to attend, free of charge. Simply call the chapel, 3237, to make a reservation.

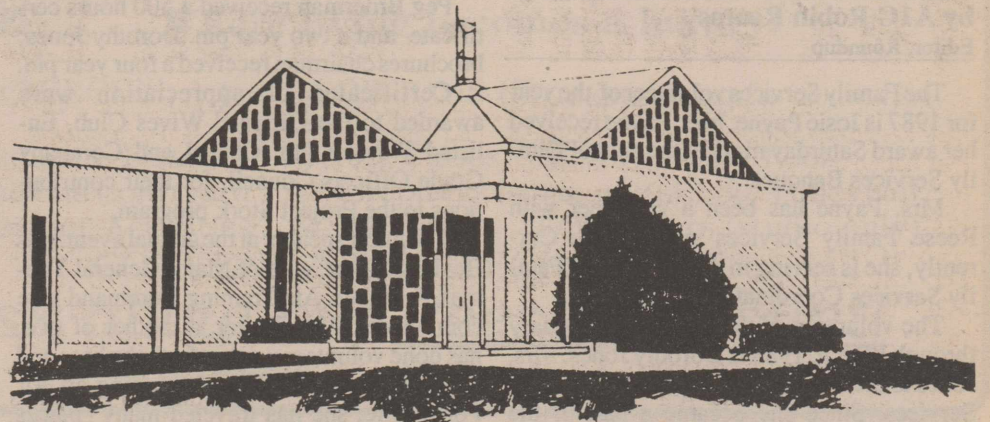

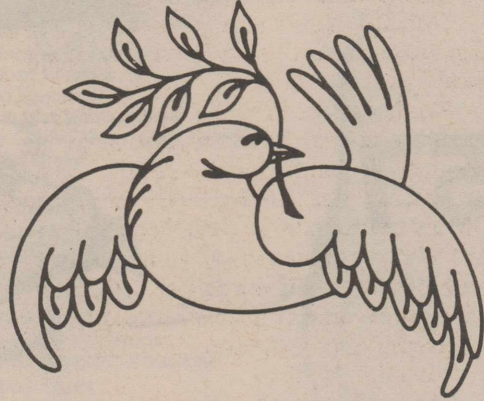

The retreat begins at 9 a.m. and ends at 2:30 p.m. It will be conducted at Reese Manor, and child care will be provided at the Chapel. A salad luncheon will be provided during the retreat. Parents are asked to provide a sack lunch for any children they will be leaving in the chapel nursery.

In this age of high pressure and tension, this retreat subject is particularly timely. Most of us experience stress in a variety of places, on the job, at home, and even during our vacations. If you could benefit from developing a healthier way of dealing with the stress in your life, this retreat is for you.

The focus of the program is ecumenical—it is designed for all Christians. Captain Michael Vasquez will present a segment on the physical effects of stress. This will be followed by the retreat's special focus on how God helps us to deal with the pressures and trials of life. Our leader for this portion will be Sister Carrie Miller, a teacher from Odessa. Sister Miller has contributed positively to the spiritual life of Reese Chapel in the past, and is highly recommended by Installation Chaplain Don Bickers.

The theme of this 1988 Women of the Chapel Retreat complements the overall 1988 USAF Chaplain Service theme: "Seek Peace and Pursue It." The most meaningful peace begins within each of us. And, we at the chapel know that the only lasting peace finds its source in the Creator of us all.

Family Services volunteers receive awards

by A1C Robin Reams
Editor, Roundup

The Family Services volunteer of the year for 1987 is Josie Payne. Mrs. Payne received her award Saturday night at the annual Family Services Banquet.

Mrs. Payne has been a volunteer with Reese Family Services since 1985. Currently, she is serving in the position of Family Services Coordinator.

The volunteer of the quarter for January through March, 1988 is Dorothy Jones. Mrs. Jones is the Brochures Chairman for Family Services. Since she became a part of the Reese volunteer force in April 1984, Mrs. Jones has accumulated more than 1,113 hours of volunteer work.

Other volunteers and the programs they are involved with were recognized during the banquet. They are Mary Heckler, Smooth Move chairman; Jeannette Hilp, Assistant Coordinator; Stacey Kampe, Reese's Pieces chairman; Cathy Straub, welcoming, and Waiting Wives; and Julie Slaughter, uniform.

Receiving certificates of appreciation and recognition for volunteer hours are Debbie Barber, Social Chairman, 250 hours; Tami Grochowski, Loan Locker chairman, 500 hours; Linda Horn, Project Stork chairman, 3,000 hours; Cheryl McCloy, Kids in Touch With Kids, 100 hours; Terri Pace, office chairman, 500 hours; Kathy Winney, publicity, 1750 hours.

Peg Broerman received a 500 hours certificate and a two year pin. Dorothy Jones, brochures chairman received a four year pin.

Certificates of appreciation were awarded to the Officers' Wives Club, Enlisted Wives Club, Chapel, and Company Grade Officers Council, for their contributions to the Project Stork program.

The guest speaker at the annual event was Beverly Baker, wife of Major General Thomas A. Baker, Air Training Command vice commander. Mrs. Baker, a mother of two, has done volunteer work at both the base and community levels. Since becoming an Air Force wife, she has traveled many places with her family, spending close to 12 years overseas.

Traveling overseas, frequent short-notice, indefinite, temporary duty assignments and the anxieties it can cause is in part what led to the creation of the Family Services Program.

In 1949, Gen. Curtis Lemay, Commander in Chief of Strategic Air Command realized a need for assistance to families that were forced to cope with such situations. A pilot program was developed designed to help families. As a result, an orientation course for wives was developed to train wives to work as volunteers welcoming newcomers, and handling emergencies in the family.

Today, the Family Service center offers numerous programs to assist families assigned to the base. Information brochures about facilities on or near stateside and overseas bases are available. Assistance is available when normal family routines are disrupted by temporary reassignment of the military member or an unexpected emergency. A lending closet of household items for transient families is available to name only a few of the services now performed by the organization.

Family Services volunteers donate their time without compensation to assist in the program available. The goal of family services is to improve the quality of the life for Air Force people and their families.

New meeting place for Commodore users

The Commodore Computer Users group will hold their monthly meetings in a new location and at a new time beginning this Sunday.

Due to construction at the Mathis Recreation Center, the Commodore Computer Users group meetings will now be held at the Base Library from noon to 4 p.m., on the first and third Sundays of each month.

If you have a Commodore and care to meet others who share your interest, come by the Library and see what is happening.

For more information, contact TSgt. Gary Siegal at 6041.

Physical fitness and your health

By SSgt. Randy Pratt
Physical Fitness Instructor

If you have questions about exercise, fitness and sports, write them down and send them to the Reese Physical Fitness Center 64ABG/SSRS, or call 6020 and ask your question. We will provide an answer to your question in writing and publish the best ones in the Roundup.

Q. I jog regularly with a friend who is approximately my size and weight. We both wear light, loose and comfortable clothing. During our run my friend perspires profusely, but I hardly perspire at all. This makes me feel that I'm not getting as much from my run as he. How should I increase my workout and still run with my friend?

A. This is an excellent question and comes at a good time. A lot of people have the misconception that sweating more means a better workout. This is not true!

The amount of sweat one exudes is absolutely not an indication of exercise quantity or quality. Sweating is a natural bodily function intended to cool down an overheated body.

Everyone's body is different. A body with an excess amount of subcutaneous fat for example, will need to sweat more than would a leaner, more muscular body, even though they may weigh the same. This is because fat is an excellent insulator and tends to keep the body heat inside.

Working out more sometimes causes more sweating, but intentionally causing your body to sweat more by using heavy clothing, plastic and rubber suits will not make a better workout. This actually decreases your body's workout efficiency by robbing the body's muscles of water they need for that workout.

In addition, raising your body core temperature through using these devices can be very dangerous. If you want to measure your workout quality, check your heart rate, not your perspiration.

During any aerobic exercise, and jogging is aerobic, your heart rate should maintain a certain range for any fitness gains to be realized. Monitor your heart's maximum heart rate. Compute this by subtracting your age from 220. Maintain 75 percent of that amount for at least 20 minutes and you can hardly go wrong.

Flightline half marathon

By Becky Pillifant
MWR Publicity

Temperatures plunged into the 40s with the wind chill in the 20s, as 72 hardy runners lined up at the starting line for the 1988 Flightline Half Marathon Ten Kilometer and Two Mile Run races.

The run was hosted by the Reese Physical Fitness Center and West Texas Running Club, at 9 a.m. Saturday, at the Reese picnic grounds. The runners took their starting positions clad in sweats, shorts, jackets and socks on their hands to keep them warm.

The winner of the Men's Open Two Mile Run was Reid Neumann with a time of 10.47. Neumann also was the overall meet winner. In second place with a time of 17.58 was James Washington, and third place went to Karl Kurtz with a 23.06 time.

The Men's Open Ten Kilometer winners were: Joel Petterle, first place, with a time of 43.54; second place Dale Kucinski in 44.51; and Hardy Bass placed third with a 53.07 time.

In the Thirty-Five and Over 10K Open, the first place winner was Robert House, 37.59; second place, Ronnie Nugent, 42.41; and Charles Solberg placed third with a 53.07 finish time.

Half Marathon 35 & Over winner was Robert Schwartz with a time of 1 hour, 59 minutes, 53 seconds.

Reese Rattlers begin season

By Becky Pillifant
MWR Publicity

With the cry of "Play Ball" from the umpire, the Reese Rattlers Men's Varsity Softball team's season began at Lubbock's Berl Huffman Field No. 4 last Thursday night against Lubbock Beverage.

In what Coach Gary Grant of the 64th Field Maintenance Squadron termed "a great comeback," the Rattlers recovered from a five-run deficit to defeat Lubbock Beverage.

The score was 17-12 as the Reese team came to bat in the last inning. Antonio Buchanan of the 64th Field Maintenance Squadron led off with a single, and after Henry Martinez of the 64th Organizational Maintenance Squadron popped out, was advanced to second by Jim Perkins (also from the 64th OMS) who hit safely.

Outstanding hitters for Reese were Leonard Jones who got four hits in four times at bat, and Vincent Johnson and Jim Perkins who each went three-for-three.

Soccer update

By Woody Wuttke
Team member

The Reese AFB Off-the-Wall Soccer team met at the O.K. Corral with the Cannon AFB Road Runners Sunday in the Lubbock Fairgrounds Coliseum. It was a see-saw battle with the Off-the-Wall team coming out on top, 4 - 3.

Reese struck first with a pass slash deflect from John Martelin to Steve "Cookie" Cook. There would be no more scoring for the rest of the first quarter.

In the second quarter, John Martelin went down and out for the season when he collided with one of the Cannon players, and dislocated his knee. Cannon came back with a quick strike against Reese. Undiscouraged, Reese's Nelson Serrao took a shot that went off the wall and which Chuck Kunde shot like a bullet into the net.

The Road Runners scored on a miscue by the Reese team to tie the score at 2-2.

Late in the third quarter, Reese got yet another chance when Mike Roberto received a centering pass from Chuck Kunde and scored a goal to put the team ahead.

If you or anyone you know is interested in playing soccer with the base team, contact Robert Montgomery at 3191 or Chuck Kunde at 791-2420.
