This Saturday Blue Gap Post Office re-dedication

WINTERS ENTERPRISE

WINTERS- The Z.I. Hale Museum and the Runnels County Historical Commission will host a re-dedication of the Blue Gap Post Office on Saturday, March 1, 2014 at 2:30 p.m. at 120 North Main in Winters. A reception will follow at the adjoining Winters Public Library where they will be observing open house for their new addition to the library.

The Blue Gap Post Office is a log cabin that was built in 1878 in the gap of Table Mountains 16 miles east of Winters. It served as a U.S. Post Office from 1878-1882 and also was the stage stop on the Round Rock to Buffalo Gap Stage Line. It served as an office, store, dwelling, and eventually for storage in later years. The Blue Gap Post Office was designated a Recorded Texas Historic Landmark in 1966.

The owner of the property wanted the partially-collapsed structure removed and he donated it to the Z.I. Hale Museum in Winters. The oak logs were carefully labeled and stored out of the weather for several years. Early in 2013, a construction crew consisting of retired builders — Fred Watkins, Charles Brewer, Roger Stephenson, and Mike Kozelsky — began reconstructing the 136 year-old building at a site on Main Street in Winters. The crew has spent literally hundreds and hundreds of volunteer hours on the project.

About $4,000 is still needed to pay for the Blue Gap Post Office Project. Donations can be sent to Blue Gap Fund, Z.I. Hale Museum, PO Box 211, Winters 79567.

Everyone is invited to join in the celebration of the completion of this extraordinary project.

Making our kids Internet-safe conference to be held at WHS

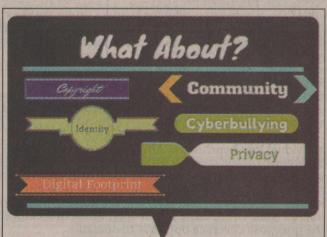

WINTERS ENTERPRISE STAFF REPORT

WINTERS- A digital footprint, the data trail left by a person's online actions and interactions, can have an enormous impact on our children's lives. It goes far beyond anything they can imagine. We as adults need to help our children understand how to make good choices online and how to be good digital citizens.

In the digital environment in which we all live, it is imperative that we take the opportunity to educate our children how their actions today can have a lasting impact on their lives and the lives of others.

Winters ISD is honored to host Mr. James Paul Cummings, Jr. on March 3, 2014 from 6-7 p.m. in the High School Auditorium. Mr. Cummings is a professor at ASU and Senior Special Agent for the Department of Homeland Security specializing in Homeland Security Investigations.

'Medicaid, Social Security, in need of reform'

Mike Conaway brings legislative update to Runnels County constituents

RUBEN CANTU-RODRIGUEZ WINTERS ENTERPRISE

BALLINGER- The unviability of the Affordable Care Act, the need for a Medicaid and Social Security reform, and the much required changes to the Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program, were some of U.S. Representative Mike Conaway's talking points during his legislative update, held Wednesday, February 19, 2014 at the Ballinger City Hall.

ary 19, 2014 at the Ballinger City Hall.

Before a packed hall Conaway said that debt ceiling increase was the last big item between now and the election "right or wrong is done, the only other thing left before the election is the spending bill, the Appropriations Bill for Fiscal Year 2015 starting October 1," he said.

The congressman said that at a billion less than spent in 2009, the Appropriations Bill has a very significant reduction from the high water mark for the current administration.

"Now there is no excuse for legislators for getting their work done before September 30, so we won't have another government shutdown over an argument because we can't agree on how much we can spend," Conaway said.

He added that some of the programs in need of a reform are Medicaid and Social Security, which will be running out of financial resources in 2024 and 2031 respectively.

"We have been postponing this because it's a long way until 2024, but the changes will be draconian... I wish I had a better story to tell you."

Regarding executive orders that the federal government has been issuing, Conaway considered that as constitutional overreach.

"It's about the institution of the legislative body and he (Senate Majority Leader Harry Reid) should be as offended as we are, but he is not, there are law suits in the process," Conaway remarked.

Republicans in the House, he said, tried to defund the Affordable Care Act by reducing the IRS spending by $526 million "we couldn't specifically earmark that to not implement the cost of the Affordable Care Act, but if you give the IRS less money to spend then they got to pick and choose what they spend."

Conaway explained that the legislature has faced three "must-pass" bills in a row, and they have passed with strong bi-partisan support. Those bills, he said are the total spending budget that passed back in December, the Appropriations Bill and the Farm Bill.

On the Food Stamp program, Conaway said that if he gets re-elected there's a good chance that he can be the next Chairman of the Agricultural Committee in the House, which has supervisory oversight over the Food Stamp program.

"We have not held one hearing in the last five years over the Food Stamp program... What I intend to do if I become chairman of that committee is hold those oversight hearings, in 2015 and 2016, and show the American people what's working and what is not working."

He added that when 10 percent of the Food Stamps recipients are able bodied adults, under 50 and with no dependents, the program is in need of a deep reform. Conaway also said that according to a study, people on welfare is making up to $16 an hour, and by getting a job or going just $1 above the poverty level they would loose all those benefits.

"We need to find a way to compensate and go through different shades of gray rather than having a black and white program."

Funerals and obituaries Marvin L. Jones

Marvin L. Jones, 80, of Winters, Texas passed away on February 24, 2014 at 10:35 a.m. at Abilene Regional Hospital. He was born August 19, 1933 in Hemphill, Texas to Marvin F. and Virgie (Woods) Jones. He was reared in Beaumont and graduated from South Park High School and attended Lamar University. Marvin graduated from Houston Baptist University in 1967 as a member of the first graduating class and as the first accounting major. Marvin was active in numerous business endeavors through the years. He started working while in college as a band instrument repairman, serving a four year apprenticeship in the field. Subsequently he was active in the retail business, optical field and banking, in the Beaumont area. Marvin was licensed to preach by the First Baptist Church of Vidor, Texas. In 1965, he married Norvelie Rachford in Beaumont and they were later divorced. They moved to Houston where he graduated from Houston Baptist University. He was in the banking industry during that period. He was a member of the State Banking Department examining force. He later was employed in corporate accounting for a large insurance corporation and in hospital finance. In 1970 he entered public service as Director of Finance for the Children's Protective Service Agency in Houston. Marvin met and married Nancy Norman in 1976 while living in Houston. In 1978, Marvin and Nancy moved to Winters to assist her father, John Norman, in the various family businesses. He opened an Income Tax and bookkeeping business and managed the insurance business of John Norman. He also assisted in the farming operations and operated the Lazy N Stables. In 1983, they moved to Dallas and Marvin joined Dallas County Government retiring in 2003 as Financial Administrator of the Dallas County Criminal District Attorney's Office. Following the death of his wife Nancy, he returned to Winters to make his home in 2005.

Among Marvin's interests was writing, although none of his works were ever published. He was an advisory director of the Z.I. Hale Museum, which he and Nancy helped found. He was a founding director the Winters Area Foundation and was president of the board, a member of the Winters Lions Club, a director of the North Runnels County Hospital District and a director of the West Central Texas Council of Governments, where he also served on the Executive Board. He was a lifetime Associate Member of the Sheriff's Association of Texas. Among his civic endeavors were membership in the Vidor, Texas Optimist Club of which he was a distinguished president and a zone committee chairman, the Orange County Chapter of the American Cancer Society of which he was a vice president, membership of the Runnels County Child Welfare Board and chairman of the Region IV Child Welfare Advisory Council. Marvin was a member of the Pilot Committee for Mental Health Services in the 1960s from which developed the Regional Mental Health Services program known as Mental Health/ Mental Retardation Authority. Marvin was a founding member of the Board of Trustees of the Southeast Texas Mental Health Center. He also held membership in many professional associations over the years.

Among the special honors he has received was being listed in Who's Who in the South and Southwest and Personalities of the South in the 1970s and International Who's Who in Public Service in 2001. He also has received commendations from the Texas Department of Public Welfare, the Dallas County Auditor's Office, the Dallas County District Attorney's Office and the North Texas Auto Theft Task Force. He received the Ronald Reagan Gold Medal, an Eisenhower Commission from the Republican Committee and was a life member of the Republican National Committee.

Genealogy was another of his special interests. The Jones family has been traced to Colonial Virginia, later moving to Georgia and then to Texas. The Woods family were also traced to Colonial Virginia and his greatgrandfather received a land grant from the Mexican government in what is now Newton County in 1827. His great-grandfather McCree arrived in Texas in 1865 or 1866, having served as an officer in the Confederate Army. The family lost their South Carolina plantation as a result of the Confederate defeat. He settled in Jasper County and was an early official of that county.

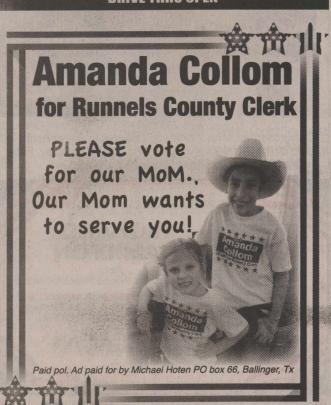

Survivors are a good friend, Kim Gilles, his niece, Edith Jones and her daughter Elizabeth, his niece, Elaine Woodard and her son Joey, his nephews James Cline and Allen Cline. He is survived by other friends and relatives. He was preceded in death by his wife Nancy, his parents, his brother Sam Jones and a sister Mary Cline.

Services will be held Thursday, February 27, 2014 at 10:30 a.m. at Winters Funeral Home Chapel with Bro. Heath Powers officiating. Burial will be in Fairview cemetery under the direction of the Winters Funeral Home.

In lieu of flowers memorials may be made to the Winters Area Foundation at P.O. Box 211, Winters, TX 79567.

New Farm Bill discussed at Blackland conference

BLAIR FANNINSPECIAL TO THE WINTERS ENTERPRISE

WACO - It's decision time for farmers under the new 2014 farm bill, according to a Texas A&M AgriLife Extension Service economist who discussed details at the recent Blackland Income Growth Conference in Waco.

Dr. Jason Johnson, AgriLife Extension economist in Stephenville, said farmers have a one-time irrevocable decision to choose either price loss coverage (also known as PLC) or agricultural risk coverage (also known as ARC) as a revenue protection plan.

The ARC program offers either a county level or an individual loss benchmark. "It's very possible to have different crops or commodities enrolled in different programs. If you decide you want to go with agricultural risk coverage, you could go county level or individual level. If you go individual level you are making that election for your entire farm. If you don't make that choice, the price loss coverage option is the default.

Using the county level benchmark, different crops may be enrolled in different programs, Johnson said. "One crop could be enrolled in PLC and others could be enrolled in ARC."

Johnson advised all producers to give each option thorough analysis and determine how they apply to their particular option, risk level and management plans.

MOLLIE - RED AUSTRALIAN SHEPHERD LOST NEAR FM 2647 (S.E. of Winters) PLEASE CALL KAREN @ 325-723-2242 or 325-668-9526

Overall, he said, the new farm bill should not be relied upon as the producer's only source of a safety net - individual crop insurance selection and marketing plans will be counted on heavily to fend off potential losses.

Price loss coverage payments occur if the U.S. average market price for the crop year is less than the crop's reference price, he said.

Farmers who choose ARC and select the individual coverage rather than the county average will be covered at 65 percent of base rather than 85 percent with the county average benchmark. The benchmark is developed through a county Olympic average for yield and price. Numbers for the last five years, minus the high and low, and averaging the remaining three provide the basis.
"Multiply the average yield times the average price for the benchmark," Johnson said.

Also available through the Title 11 crop insurance offering is a "shallow loss," supplemental coverage option (SCO) to cover gaps in crop insurance protection.

Cleaning up the house

Randall Davis Winters Chief of Police

Spring is approaching our community and with the warmer weather also comes spring cleaning for most of us. The City of Winters has already begun experiencing some effects of people cleaning properties and disposing of waste with the disposal of some unlawful refuse at the Convenience Center. The Convenience Center has had an increase of dumping of material not intended for the facility. The only items allowed to be placed in the Convenience Center are brush, tree trimmings and items of wood only, The dumping of metals, old furniture and household garbage are strictly prohibited at the facility. Persons are allowed limited access to the facility and can gain access by contacting the City of Winters City Hall but are prohibited from entering the area without authorization.

The City of Winters has made arrangements for placement of items not allowed to be disposed of at the Convenience Center in roll off dumpsters located on the east side of the City Yard, located in the 400 blk. of Weeks Street. Access to the roll off dumpsters can be gained by contacting the Winters City Hall or contacting the Supervisor Jack Davis Sr.

The Winters Police Department is continuing enforcing the cleanup of dilapidated and abandoned properties in the city. Many properties have been allowed to fall into noncompliance with safety and health codes and remain a haven for stray cats, dogs, mice while harboring other health concerns. The same properties are considered a fire hazard and at the least, eye sores, responsible for lowering area property values, and raising complaints from neighbors.

Many property owners have received notices of their properties being in violation and have failed to, or have not attempted to bring the properties up to code. I have directed officers of the Winters Police Department to revisit those cases previously referred to the Police Department and refile the necessary warnings and follow up with the issuance of citations to those in violation until the violations are corrected. These people finding their properties in violation still have the opportunity to correct the violations and bring the properties up to safety codes before receiving notices to appear in court or pay fines, but it is the intent of the Winters Police Department to follow up on these violations.

Other matters in the effort to clean up properties have resulted in property owners or occupants of properties placing large piles of brush or refuse in the alley ways behind the properties. The Winters Police Department is requesting, if the piling of brush is unavoidable, please do so at the edge of the property line near the roadway and City Hall be contacted at (325) 754 4424, for a scheduled pick up. There will be a $10.00 fee charged to your water bill for each scheduled pickup.

Persons found responsible for blocking an alley way with refuse and failing to correct the violation may face additional charges. It has never been the intent of the Winters Police Department, nor is it now, to produce revenue through the issuance of citations. But it is our intent to provide a safer community for us all to live in. We are asking the citizens of this community to work with us by being responsible for our own properties there by ensuring a stable, safe, attractive and prosperous community we all are proud to call home.

Weather Whys

Q: You sometimes hear of people having the "winter blues." Is there such a thing?

A: The answer is a definite yes, says Brent McRoberts of Texas A&M University. The technical name is seasonal affective disorder, or SAD, and it is a mild form of depression caused by long winter months and not much sunlight. "The disorder almost always occurs in northern parts of the world, those that receive a lot of snow and when the daylight hours are shorter," McRoberts explains. "There are from 2 to 5 million cases reported each year in North America, and people who think they have SAD usually complain of 'the blahs' at the start of fall and it continues until spring. Usually, there are very few cases reported from spring through summer."

THE ORGANIZATION OF RUNNELS COUNTY

Ballinger elected county seat

The railroad and booming town of Ballinger get businesses started in 1887

CONTRIBUTED BY RUTH COOPER

WINTERS- Looking back, on the first afternoon of the lot sale, big business really began when the First National Bank was organized in the baggage car of the train pulled into town by a Cyrus K. Holliday coal burning type locomotive. Men of vision could see that people had come to remain in the new town, and it needed a financial institution to take care of future banking needs. Some of the men were from out-of-town as well as local. The stockholders were William Davis, R.A. Smith, T.S. Hill and D.M. Baker, all of Ballinger, Sylvian Blum, a railroad official from Galveston, also W.C. Parks and Brooke Smith of Brownwood.

The bank opened its doors in a frame building on the corner of Eighth Street and Hutchings and continued there until about 1891 when a twostory stone structure was erected at the same site.

September 30, 1887 was the date of a special term of the Honorable Commissioners' Court of Runnels County. The County Judge, Sylvester Adams, two commissioners, M.C. Bright and C.H. Willingham; Sheriff John M. Formwalt; W.D. Towner, County Clerk were all in attendance at the Courthouse in Runnels City. The boundary line for Runnels and Concho counties as established by the County Surveyor was approved and accepted, then recorded in the court minutes. The boundary line for Runnels and Tom Green counties was also approved and accepted. For his work, the County Surveyor, Mr. H.E. Dickenson was paid $354.50. This included: Surveying lines, surveying connecting lines and putting up 35 stone markers in each line. With everyone receiving their pay for four days work each of $3 per day, the court adjourned until the next regular term.

The next regular meeting of the Commissioners' Court was held November 17, 1887. The Commissioners' Court met in Runnels City at the Courthouse. According to the minutes recorded in the records as follows: "Whereas the county seat of Runnels County has never been located; and said county is organized and two hundred resident voting taxpaying bona fide citizens of said county have petitioned me to order an election for the purpose of locating the county seat of said county. Therefore, I Sylvester Adams, County Judge of said Runnels County by virtue of my office and the authority vested in me by law do hereby order an election to be held at the various voting precincts in said County of Runnels on the 21st day of December, A.D., 1887 for the purpose of locating the county seat of said Runnels County is hereby ordered to post notices of said election in the various voting precincts of said county." The railroad's city was determined to become the location of the county seat. With only a few people left in Runnels City, Judge Sylvester Adams ordered a new election. (With tongue in cheek), Judge Adams declared that the county seat of Runnels County had "never been located" and set December 21, 1887 as the day for locating it by an election. Obviously the county seat had been located and established but the statement overcame the necessity of waiting five year from October 9, 1886 as previously declared to hold another election. Even though the new election would be illegal, it created very little problems. People pointed out it being illegal, but no one filed a challenge. December 28th, A.D. 1887 was the date of a special term of the Honorable Commissioners' Court of Runnels County, Texas at the Courthouse in Runnels City. The first order of business was to approve and pay the bond of $1,000 for the County Judge, Sylvester Adams. The court then looked at the results of the election held December 21, 1887 to determine the location of the county seat of Runnels County, Texas.

The following vote was polled with the following results: Runnels Precinct No. 1, votes polled for location at Ballinger-11 votes, against-none; Content, Precinct No. 2, votes polled for location at Ballinger-14 votes, against-1: votes polled at Ballinger, Precinct No. 7 for location at Ballinger-221, against-none for a total of 246 for location in Ballinger and 1 vote against.

January 2, 1888, County Judge Sylvester Adams and the County Clerk, W. L. Towner met in the Courthouse. The County Judge declared the votes cast in Runnels County were a total of 247 with 246 for and 1 against moving the county seat to Ballinger from Runnels City. He declared that in accordance and obedience to the vote, the result was to declare the county seat of Runnels County to be the town of Ballinger.

For whatever reasons, the railroad enterprises failed, it was very clear that the people of Runnels City desperately wanted the railroad and made a concerted effort to get it. Loss of the railroad cost the city its life, although Ballinger still had to perform an illegal maneuver to take away the county seat title from Runnels City and legally, Runnels County's seat of government is located where it was originally declared to be in the Garmes Survey near Elm Creek in the original election held in 1880.

A granite marker erected by the State in 1936 along FM 2887 at the site of the Town of Runnels marks the area of the once thriving town carved out of the prairie. A short distance away, the town's cemetery can be seen on the hill.

To all Runnels County Residents.

It would be an honor to serve this community as your next county clerk. Over the past three years, I have worked with our county judge and when I told him of my intentions to pursue the office of county clerk, he strongly encouraged me to do so. I feel that the standard of work that I have exhibited speaks volumes and I would like to carry that standard into the office of county clerk. If given the opportunity, I have every intention of maintaining the integrity of this position and will do the job to the very best of my ability.

Thank you for your consideration on March 4th.

Veteran's Corner

The Department of Veterans Affairs has announced that 1 million Veterans, service members, and family members have benefited from the Post-9/11 GI Bill since the program's inception in August 2009. The Veterans Benefits Administration, which administers the program, has distributed over $30 billion in the form of tuition and other education-related payments. Over the next few years, as more than a million service men and women end their military careers and return to civilian life, education will be at the forefront of that transition and helping our veterans succeed in the classroom so they can go on to find good jobs to support their families. The Post-9/11 GI Bill is a comprehensive education benefit created by Congress in 2008. In general, veterans and service members who have served on active duty for 90 or more days since Sept. 10, 2001 are eligible. On average, VA processes the initial claims for Post-9/11 GI Bill educational benefits in 23 days. Service members also have the opportunity to transfer the benefit to immediate family members. The Post-9/11 GI Bill also provides work-study programs, tutorial assistance and license and certification test reimbursement. For more information, contact Sandra at the Veterans Service Office at 602 Strong Ave on Tuesdays and Thursdays from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m., or call 365 3612.

My goals if elected. I am committed to improving services for our seniors. I hope to improve our senior citizen center, and meal program without increasing the cost to taxpayers. Holding the line on our tax rate. Many of our citizens in Runnels County cannot afford any higher expense, especially those on fixed incomes. Improving our roads, with a high priority on bus, and postal routes. I want our school children to have a safe and smooth ride. Having an efficient operation. I have a lot of experience with equipment, and staff. We will have a good preventative maintenance program that will keep equipment in good shape, and safe to operate, while holding down costs. I would appreciate your vote. I am looking forward to serving. Thank You.

THE IDLE AMERICAN It's round-up time in Texas...

Commetary by Dr. Don Newbury

For the longest time, "round-up time in Texas" meant "headin' up and movin' out" cattle. Cowboys atop horses undertook the massive undertaking.

They paid special heed to the "young 'uns" —
"little dogies," if the song lyrics are to be trusted. (NOT doggies, "dogies," long "o.")

Whoops, hollers and thundering hooves were sounds of excitement, all of this happening "when the bloom was on the sage," harmonized by the Sons of the Pioneers....

In Sweetwater, Texas, however, when "roundup" is mentioned, locals think of their community's world-renowned extravaganza, begun 56 years ago by the Sweetwater Jaycees. They dreamed of a community-wide event to control the ever-growing numbers of Western Diamondback Rattlesnakes that were plaguing farmers and ranchers. That was in 1959.

None of them could have envisioned the enormity of an annual event that has become the world's largest rattlesnake round-up. Visitors from around the world attend, sometimes upwards of 30,000. Little did the organizers realize that they had birthed an idea that had teeth - uh, fangs — in it....

They'll be at it again March 7-9, doing "all things rattlesnake," and much, much more, including the 54th annual run of the Sweetwater Rifle and Pistol Club's Gun, Knife

However, he forgot....

A city guy bragged about participating in the roundup annually for many years. A friend asked how many rattlesnakes he's rounded up so far. "None," the participant answered cheerfully, "when you're looking for rattlesnakes,

No matter. At this happening, one can be "up close" or "far from" the reptiles at the coliseum. The whole deal is a muchmagnified coming together of people who discover each year how much fun it is to be with others. Memories are made for the rest of the year — and beyond — of this West Texas community where, for 72 hours, there's a "whole lot of hissing going on." For more rattlesnake round-up information, contact the Sweetwater Chamber of Commerce. No matter your question, they'll try not to laugh. And if you can't find a motel room, camp out. You might be able to find a shade beneath one of those giant wind generators not far from town....

A farmer plants corn in Burleson County near Caldwell.

Texas crop prospects not good at this time

SPECIAL TO THE WINTERS ENTERPRISE COLLEGE STATION - Dry topsoil and low subsoil moisture, along with cooler than normal soil temperatures, are having a chilling effect on spring nanung, said Dr. Travis Miller, Texas A&M AgriLife Extension Service agronomist and Texas A&M University soil and crop sciences associate department head, College Station. Most of Texas is going into the fourth year of drought, Miller noted. Drought ratings edged slightly higher, with 58 percent of the state ranging from moderate to exceptional drought, according to the U.S. Drought Monitor and reports from AgriLife Extension personnel

"At least in the fall, we had quite a bit of rain across the Blacklands, parts of the Gulf Coast and East Texas," Miller said. "There's deep soil moisture there, but in some places it's getting a bit too dry on the surface for good planting conditions. Only a few weeks ago in some areas, such as Southeast Texas, fields were too wet to get in to work. But after a couple of dry weeks, a dry or crusty soil surface can still make planting into moisture a challenge.

But for those areas with subsoil moisture, it's the cooler than normal soil temperatures that pose some concern about late plantings, Miller said.

"Farmers are very hesitant to put very expensive seed in cold soils," he said.

Though the crop prospects aren't good at this time, there's still time for many areas to catch up, Miller said. The corn-planting season began about Valentine's Day for the Gulf Coast and can be as late as mid-June for the more northern areas of the state.

The Texas High Plains remain the worst hit, he said. There are pockets that have some moisture, but overall, the Panhandle, South Plains and Rolling Plains remain very dry, Miller said.

More information on the current Texas drought and wildfire alerts can be found on the AgriLife Extension Agricultural Drought Task Force website at http://agrilife.tamu. edu/drought/

AgriLife Extension district reporters compiled the following summaries:

Central: Livestock were in good condition with continued supplemental feeding. If moderate temperatures continued, spring green-up was expected to begin soon. Crops were starting to suffer due to the lack of rain. Corn planting was underway. Some trees have begun to bud out with the warmer weather. High winds and little rain increased wildfire danger. Rolling Plains: Daytime temperatures were in the 60s and 70s with plenty of sunshine. Farmers took advantage of the weather by preparing fields for the upcoming crop year. Those cultivating and listing fields noticed that subsoil moisture content was higher than expected thanks to the snow and rain during the winter months. However, soil moisture was extremely variable, with some no-till fields showing moisture to four feet deep, while pasture soils were only moist to about 6 inches deep. The rain and snow helped pastures and rangeland, but with dry and windy conditions, growth slowed. With minimal winter wheat, livestock producers were providing supplemental feed to cattle daily. Live-Stock were in fair to good condition. Some producers were shipping calves to take advantage of the high cattle prices as well as to relieve grazing pressure on pastures. Ponds and lakes still needed runoff. West Central: Very warm, dry and windy conditions persisted throughout the week, drying out soils. Temperatures were unseasonably warm in most areas. Field activity was underway in preparation for spring planting. Some producers were spraying winter weeds. Crops were showing signs of stress due to lack of moisture. Wheat was beginning to break dormancy with the warmer days. Livestock remained in fair condition. Stock tank water levels continued to drop, and livestock water was in very short supply. Supplemental feeding continued to increase.

In Far West: The region was warm and dry. Some counties were considering burn bans due to the dry conditions. Val Verde County had a wildfire break out on Feb. 21 on the Moody Ranch along the Rio Grande River. Approximately 1,600 acres and one structure burned. Homes and farms along San Felipe creek were in jeopardy until the Texas A&M Forest Service and local emergency management teams worked through the night into Saturday to contain it. Preparations for spring planting proceeded. Fallplanted onions came out of dormancy and were at the four-leaf stage. Cotton land was being prepared, with pre-irrigation expected to start the first week of March. Alfalfa was also coming out of dormancy, and being irrigated with return flows. Pecan growers finished hedging and started clean up. Some pecan orchards were being irrigated with return flows from the city, while other farmers were using their own wells. Cows continued to calve, and livestock producers were putting out supplemental feed and

Keith Collom is proudly asking for your vote for his daughter, Amanda Collom, a 1995 Winters graduate, in the Republican Primary for the office of Runnels County Clerk, election to be held on March 4th.

Amanda has served as a Deputy Clerk in the Runnels County Clerk's Office since 2010. Amanda will provide a smooth, cost effective transition for our county.

Amanda, who is a 5th generation Runnels County resident, moved back to the county to be near her family and to raise her children. Amanda has always been in the business of serving others and has always done so with a positive attitude.

Elesa Ocker (our County Clerk since 1998) trained Amanda and would not be retiring if she did not believe that Amanda was prepared to do the job, and leaving the office in good hands.

Amanda attended the County and District Clerk School last month and is prepared to meet the State's new mandatory systems which must be in place by January 1, 2015. Amanda was also selected as a Board Member at the State Conference in December to assist in the final developments of the new Vital Statistics System which also goes into effect January 1, 2015.

Please vote in the best interest of our County • Vote Amanda Collom for Runnels County Clerk • Thank You

Social Security announces new compassionate allowances conditions

WINTERS ENTERPRISE

BALTIMORE- Carolyn W. Colvin, Acting Commissioner of Social Security, announced 25 new Compassionate Allowances conditions, including a dozen cancers, bringing the total number of conditions to 225. The Compassionate Allowances program expedites disability decisions for Americans with the most serious disabilities to ensure that they receive their benefit decisions within days instead of months or years. The new conditions also include disorders that affect the digestive, neurological, immune, and multiple body systems. "We are dedicated to providing vulnerable Americans with faster access to disability benefits through our Compassionate Allow-ances program," said Act-ing Commissioner Colvin. Social Security disability benefits are a vital lifeline for individuals who are facing severe diseases and we must ensure that they receive the benefits they rightly deserve." The Compassionate Allowances program identifies claims where the applicant's disease or condition clearly meets Social Security's statutory standard for disability. By incorporating cutting-edge technology, the agency can easily identify potential Compassionate Allowances and quickly make decisions. To date, almost 200,000 people with severe disabilities have been approved through this fast-track disability process. The Compassionate Allowances program is a significant initiative that highlights collaboration between government, medical experts, advocacy groups, and members of the public. Social Security has conducted public outreach hearings and gathered feedback from various stakeholders to identify conditions that are most likely to meet the agency's definition of disability.

"I am extremely pleased that the SSA has included

Prostate Cancer in its Compassionate Allowance list - a decision that will save lives, and give more patients access to treatment options," said Congressman Elijah Cummings (D-MD). "Working with constituents fighting this disease, I know just how life altering it can be, as well as how many will benefit from this change in policy.

For more information on the program, including a list of all Compassionate Allowances conditions, please visit www.socialsecurity.gov/compassionateallowances.

Cattle raisers expo kicks off in San Antonio April 4

WINTERS ENTERPRISE

FORT WORTH- Nearly 200 exhibitors will showcase their products and services to cattle producers across the state at the 37th Annual Cattle Raisers Expo during the Cattle Raisers Convention April 4-6 in San Antonio.

'The Cattle Raisers Expo is the largest expo in Texas and Oklahoma designed specifically for ranchers," said Pete Bonds, TSCRA president. "We invite ranchers all sizes to come and experience this special opportunity to visit with other ranchers and learn more about the tools they need on their home ranches."

Thousands of ranchers will have the opportunity to interact with companies selling the latest products and services for cattle managers, landowners, and wildlife and pasture management. In addition to equipment and management tools, western wear and jewelry, attendees can also learn more about different products and services including animal health products, animal identification, herd management, real estate, veterinary services, seed products and more.

Meat cutting demonstrations, the Special Ranger Silent Auction, youth contests, Kids Korral and team roping contests courtesy of Dragsteer will also take place in the expo, as well as breakfast Saturday for all attendees.

The Cattle Raisers Expo runs from noon to 7 p.m. Friday, April 4, and 7 a.m. to 6 p.m. Saturday, April 5, at the Henry B. Gonzalez Convention Center in downtown San Antonio. The expo is open to the general public. Day Pass admission is $10. Free day passes will be available on the TSCRA Facebook site at www.facebook.com/tscra.

For more information visit the Cattle Raisers Convention website at www.tscra.org/convention.

TSCRA is a 137-year-old trade association and is the largest and oldest livestock organization based in Texas. TSCRA has more than 16,000 beef cattle operations, ranching families and businesses as members. These members represent approximately 50,000 individuals directly involved in ranching and beef production who manage 4 million head of cattle on 76 million acres of range and pasture land primarily in Texas and Oklahoma, but throughout the Southwest.

Spring lawn and garden workshop set for March 20 in Monahans

STEVE BYRNS

PECIAL TO THE WINTERS ENTERPRISE

MONAHANS - The Texas A&M AgriLife Extension Service office in Ward County will conduct their Spring Lawn and Garden Workshop from 5:30-8:30 p.m. March 20 in the Ward County Convention Center, 400 E. 4th St. in Monahans.

Those planning to attend should RSVP to the AgriLife Extension office in Ward County no later than March 14 by calling 432-943-2682. Individual registration is $12. The fee includes snacks and refreshments.

"The goal of this workshop is to give local homeowners the knowledge and resources needed to maintain a sustainable home landscape in arid Ward County and our surrounding area," said Caleb Eaton, AgriLife Extension agent in Ward County.

"West Texas is a land of extremes," Eaton noted.
"This being said, landscaping methods and resources for other parts of the country or state often do not fit our extremes," he added.

"Without proper planning and knowledge of what works and what doesn't, local homeowners risk wasting time, money and resources on a landscape that is not sustainable in our harsh climate," he said.

Eaton will be joined by Jeff Floyd, AgriLife Extension horticulture agent for Ector and Midland counties in presenting Lawn Management for Arid West Texas, Tree Care 101 and Alternative Landscaping Options.

Eaton said that as an added bonus, he's asking participants with specific landscape-related questions or who have a picture of a problem within their landscape to email those to him at cleaton@ ag.tamu.edu by the March 14 RSVP deadline. Questions and/or pictures appropriate to the subject matter will be covered at some time during the workshop, he said.
