Ground Corps Meeting Tonight At City Hall

Meeting to organize a local Ground Corps for Civil Defense will be held tonight at 7:30 at City Hall.

Civil defense, once regarded as primarily a problem for the heavily industrialized metropolitan areas, has become a matter of serious concern for the entire nation—urban and rural alike.

H-bombs powerful enough to wipe out an entire city and capable of creating a radioactive fallout pattern more than 200 miles long and 40 miles wide have created a situation in which no single individual in the entire nation—whether on a farm or in a probable target city—can be considered safe from enemy attack.

This altered situation has been recognized in the proclamation of National Civil Defense Week, to be observed from Sept. 9 through Sept. 15. Civil Defense Week will be opened on Sunday, Sept. 9 with a all-star radio and TV broadcast. During the balance of the week, local civil defense organizations throughout the nation will stage a variety of observances and test exercises. Special emphasis will be placed upon the civil defense role of smaller communities and rural areas.

No one can forecast with certainty where enemy bombs would fall. However defense planners know that nuclear weapons are employed most effectively against centers of population and industry. They have published the list of what are considered to be "critical target areas"—the most likely targets for enemy attack. These critical target areas include 42% of the population of the United States, 45% of the nation's hospitals and 60% of the professional health personnel. However, they include only 3% of the land area of the United States.

If any, or many, of the critical target areas were to be hit by enemy bombs—a possibility which the Air Force says is within the capabilities of a potential enemy—it is easy to see what a tremendous task would be made those living in the non-target areas. It would be their responsibility, unless they were temporarily immobilized by radioactive fallout, to provide shelter and food for the millions of temporarily homeless evacuees from the cities. They would face the job of caring for untold thousands needing first aid, medical care or hospitalization. Theirs, also, would be the responsibility for helping to put the stricken cities back into production and making it possible for America to fight back.

Their normal responsibilities would suddenly be transformed into a critical defense responsibility—the responsibility of producing, processing and getting to improvised points of need the food that is required for survival next week, next month and next year.

The task would be enormously complicated by the fact that the small towns and farms of America can in no sense be regarded as an automatically safe haven for the evacuees from the cities - or even for the permanent residents. With surface bursts of nuclear weapons producing clouds of radioactive fallout, any community in the nation might be faced with a local self-protection problem.

Thus, if America is to remain strong enough to survive an enemy-created nuclear disaster, it is necessary that rural America be prepared to cope with defense problems of enormous complexity. The answer lies in building civil defense organizations on a community level, as all important, co-ordinated, county-wide, State-wide, regional and national defense organizations.

Survival plan studies, authorized by Congress, now are under way in many major cities. It already has become apparent that the survival of the population of a single city calls for a coordinated defense plan, requiring the cooperation of

Yellowhammers Open Season Here Friday With Munday Moguls

Coach Marvin Sanders says his Yellowhammer squad is ready for the Munday Moguls Friday night.

The Hammers take on the Moguls on the home field in their first game of the year, in a non-conference tilt.

Sanders says he has only one injury, Lloyd Hurst with an injured ankle. He has been showing well in the backfield and at end, but will probably be out for some time.

Munday with the all-district Amerson, has a new squad, but always produce a good team.

Sanders says he is well satisfied with results of the training camp. His boys are becoming conditioned and are hustling. They looked good in scrimmage last week against Anson, Thursday and Saturday with Stamford and Winters at Abilene.

Let's give the Hammers a good crowd for their opening game.

many political subdivisions - perhaps dozens of counties, even several states.

The strength of America, for civil defense, lies in its rural areas. A strong, well-organized civil defense will help guarantee that our nation can survive the most devastating attack that any enemy can launch.

Game Warden Active In Fisher County

A man charged with poisoning a stock tank to kill fish in the south part of the county was arrested by Game Warden M. T. Reinhardt and Sheriff Bus Rollans Wednesday. Officers made a trip to Odessa in connection with the case which started at 2:30 in the morning. Complaint was filed in county court before Judge Bruce McCain and examining trial was waived. Defendant was released under $1000 bond.

Reinhardt said that the state game laws are extremely "stiff" on poisoning or dynamiting and seining of stream, lakes or tanks.

The pealty upon conviction is $50 to $100 fine plus a compulsory jail sentence of 60 to 90 days.

Reason for the heavy penalty is that where poisoners or dynamiters work over a body of water and get maybe 60 or 70 pounds of fish—they leave about 400 pounds to be found later by owner of the tank.

Fifteen game law violations have been filed in this district in Fisher and Scurry counties this week since dove season opened, Reinhardt said. Several people are facing charges for violation of the game laws in Fisher County, he said.

The chief complaint is hunting from the road. Hunters ride along and shoot from car or highway. This is a violation of the law and works an extreme hardship and presents much danger for farmers and cattle.

Using "unplugged" guns is also the basis for some complaints.

Korean War Vets Urged To Apply Early For School

Korean War veterans planning to start to school this fall should file their applications now to beat the last minute rush, officials say.

They expect some 6,500 veterans to be in schools and training establishments in this region and by applying early veterans can help prevent delay in processing their papers.

The completed application, along with a photostat or certified copy of the veterans seperation paper, should be sent to the ubbock VA regional office and not to VA in Washington.

Since the law allows only one change of program, veterans should be sure they have chosen the course that will lead to their educational goal. If not certain, they should ask VA for vocational counseling. Next, veterans should be sure the course they plan to take has been GI-approved by the state. They should also complete arrangements for admittance to their school before filing applications with VA.

Caution Urged On Passing School Bus

Three state agencies—the Texas Education Agency, the Texas Highway Department and the Texas Department of Public Safety joined this week in making an appeal to the public to observe carefully the oft-neglected Texas law which requires all vehicles to stop when approaching a school bus loading or unloading children.

Texas school buses were involved in 379 accidents in rural areas (outside city limits) during 1955. Three children and two adults were killed in these accidents.

The law says, in effect, that upon meeting or overtaking from either direction a school bus which has stopped on the highway for the purpose of receiving or discharging children, the driver shall stop immediately before passing, the proceed with due caution at a speed which is prudent and does not exceed ten miles per hour. The law does not apply within city limits.

"Even one preventable accident, as we all know is one too many. A study of the various replies which have been made to the question of what drivers of other vehicles should do when they approach a school bus which is loading or unloading children reveals a startling lack of understanding and a great deal of misunderstanding concerning what the statutes require."

According to J. W. Edgar, commissioner of education, all school buses are equipped with flasher lights front and rear and usually mounted high on the bus. Flashers are used only when the bus is in the process of stopping or is stopped to receive or discharge children.

In conjunction with the educational program for drivers of all type vehicles, the State Department of Education is preparing a bus drivers' handbook for distribution to the 8,000 school bus drivers in Texas. The manual will include pertinent safety regulations affecting school bus drivers.

Edgar said information about the law would continue to be distributed in all parts of Texas "until every citizen has had an opportunity to understand the importance of this law." He suggested that superintendents might want to enlist the help of parents, students and local service groups in spreading facts about the law to all Texas drivers.

C. A. Seatons Observe 50th Anniversary

Children of Mr. and Mrs. Charley A. Seaton assisted their parents with open house at the Seaton home Sunday in observance of their 50th wedding anniversary.

Relatives and friends of the couple called between the hours of 3 to 5 p. m.

Mr. and Mrs. Seaton were married Sept. 2, 1906, in front of the Church of Christ parsonage in Roby. The minister, A. S. Bailey, performed the ceremony with the couple still sitting in the buggy in which they had traveled from near the present town of Rotan to Roby.

Both are long time members of the Church of Christ here. Mr. Seaton is also a member of the Odd Fellow Lodge, of which he is lodge deputy and past grand officer. He is also a member of the local Rebekah Lodge.

The Seatons farmed in Fisher County for most of the 50 years of their married life, moving to Rotan April 10, 1950, on Mrs. Seaton's birthday.

Mr. Seaton was born near Alvarado, in Johnson County, Sept. 8, 1885, and came with his parents to Fisher county July 5, 1900, from Indian Territory. They lived near the present towns of Rotan and Royston during the early years.

Mrs. Seaton is the former Donnie Klepper, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Klepper, and was born in Johnson County, near Cleburne, April 10, 1888. Her parents moved on the old Ramby place just north of the city limits of Rotan, in 1902.

Mrs. Seaton has only one sister, Mrs. Tobe Mabon of Spur, and she attended the anniversary affair. Her two brothers, Willie Klepper and D. L. Klepper were unable to attend.

Mr. Seaton's two brothers and one sister attended. They are Grover Seaton of Brownfield, Oscar Seaton of Hamlin and Mrs. F. T. Grayson of Lamesa.

The couple received informally in the living room of their home. Mrs. Seaton has been confined to a wheel chair for several years.

A daughter, Mrs. O. C. Ashton greeted guests at the door. A son, John Seaton, invited them into the dining room, where a daughter, Mrs. Dave Posey and daughters-in-law, Mrs. C. A. Seaton Jr., of Snyder and Mrs. John Seaton of Rotan presided.

In other rooms of the home were two other daughters, Mrs. Cleo Anderson of Sweetwater, and Mrs. Clarence Counts.

The anniversary table was laid with handmade crochet cloth over gold and centered with the anniversary confection, iced in white and gold. Appointments were in crystal and silver.

Mr. and Mrs. Max Luther and son, Bob of Austin, came Friday to visit her parents, Dr. and Mrs. Ewell Jenkins.

Health Dept. Making Study of Chagas Disease

Austin—State Health Department laboratory personnel this week launched a three-year study of Chagas disease, a rare but potentially dangerous disease entity in Texas, State Health Commissioner Henry A. Holle announced this week.

Dr. Holle said the study, which began September 1, is being supported by a $10,000 research grant from the National Institute of Health. It will run an estimated three years.

Dr. R. B. Eads, chief of the department's entomology section, will be the principal investigator. The study will concern the entire state but will be mostly confined to Gulf Coast regions, the commissioner said.

Only two human cases of the disease have ever been reported in the United States—one from Corpus Christi and one from Houston. Both occurred last year. Why more cases haven't developed has long been a matter of puzzlement, since six species of the transmitting bugs in Texas have been found to be naturally infected.

The affliction is transmitted by various species of reduviid or triatomina bugs, commonly called kissing bugs, giant bed bugs, blood suckers, or assassin bugs. Dr. Ead invited the public to participate in his investigations by sending bug specimens to him at the State Health Department laboratory in Austin.

"We'll examine them as a means of determining the geographic dis-

The infection is transmitted, investigations have shown, in the debris of infested bugs. Experience in South America has shown that young children are most usually attacked.

Eads said his study would consist chiefly of cataloguing various species of bugs, subjecting them to laboratory tests for infection, and searching for mammal hosts of the causative organism.

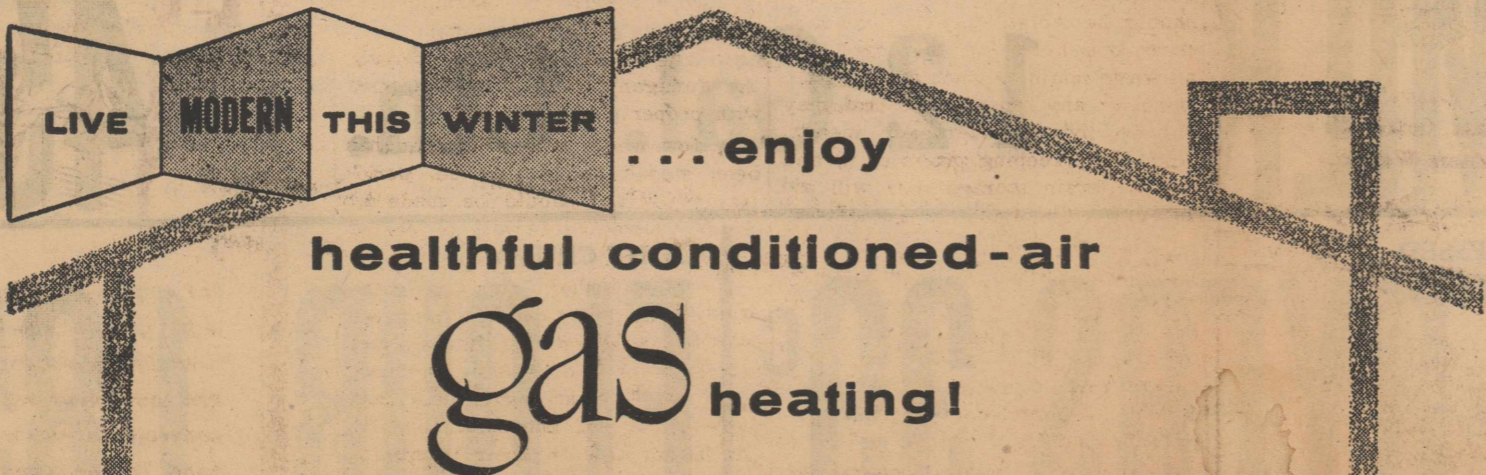

tribution of the infection," Eads said.

He said also that the laboratory was maintaining a colony of triatomina bugs and that specimens would be supplied on request to private physicians interested in xeno-diagnosis of acutely ill patients suspected of having Chagas disease.

The malady has been of considerable concern in regions of Central and South America for many years, the health authorities said. It first vaulted into prominence as a public health threat in Texas in 1939 when Dr. Packchania of the University of Texas Medical Branch discovered natural infection in a high percentage of the bugs captured in a house in Three Rivers, Texas.

Subsequent investigations by health officials showed that Texas has at least six species of the bugs capable of harboring the natural infection. The reservoir of the causative organisms, known scientifically as "trypanosomes," are mammals of various species. Most prominent reservoirs in Texas are said to be wood rats, armadillos,

Parmelly-Strckland
Wedding At Tye Friday

Betty Louise Parmelly and Curtis Glendon Strckland were united in marriage in a double ring ceremony read in Tye Baptist Church at 8 o'clock Friday evening. Rev. J. Temple Lewis, pastor, officiated.

Mr. and Mrs. Kline Parmelly of Abilene are parents of the bride. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Truett Strckland of Rotan.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a ballerina length dress of white embroidered organza over taffeta. Her elbow length veil of illusion was fastened to a tira of pearls. She carried a pearlized white Bible topped with a pink orchid.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Edd Jones and bridesmaid was Mrs. Clifton Bode. They wore organza over taffeta with matching head-dresses of net and seed pearls. Their white satin basket bouquets held pink carnations. Mrs. Jones was dressed in turquoise and Mrs. Bode in pink.

Robert Phillips of Dallas was best man. Ushering were Rob Masby and Alton Smith, cousin of the bridegroom from Rotan. Can-lighters were Charlene and Gray Strckland, sister and brother of the bridegroom of Rotan.

The all-white altar was centered with a greenery arch entwined with white ribbon and wedding bells. Baskets of white gladioli were placed in front of the candleabra holding burning white tapers. Mrs. Hollis Parmelly, aunt of the bride, organist and Bobby Smith, cousin of the bridegroom, soloist, presented the wedding music.

The reception was held in the church parlor. Mary Frances Moore, Kathryn Kimmey and Mrs. A. L. Teaff served the cake and punch. The bride's table was laid with a white cloth and centered with a double heart creation based with pink asters.

The couple will live at 2543 S. 16th st in Abilene. He is employed by Jordan's Creamery. She is a 1956 graduate of Abilene High School and the bridegroom is a 1955 graduate of Rotan High School. He also attended Draughon's Business College.

Robert Jenkins and Joe Kennedy visited in Houston last week end, where Robert was groomsmen in the wedding of W. S. Newell Jr., and Miss Martha McAshan of Houston. The boys were roommates at Texas University the last two year.

Mrs. George Harrell of Anson, and her daughter, Mrs. John Hays and Bonnie Mae of Graham, visited Mr. and Mrs. O. D. Weathersbee Sunday.

Optometrists Warn Of Children Vision Defects

Fifty per cent of all children who fail reading have an uncorrected vision problem, according to Texas Optometric Association which recommended better care for the 35 million pupils entering school this month.

The Association said the figure was based on a University of Chicago study of causes of reading failure.

As further evidence of the importance of vision to school achievement, it cited an Ohio State University study. There it was found that among children with "normal" vision, 78% were scholastically 27% were partial failures; and none were total failures.

Among children with vision problems, only 44% were scholastically satisfactory; 19% were partial failures; and 37% failed in all subjects.

"With the aid of modern science, almost all children can have their vision brought up to par," the Association said. "The greatest need is for more diligence in discovering the cases that need care. Better vision screening methods are needed in the schools to supplement the superficial Snellen letter chart test."

The Association praised modern teachers for their ability to detect symptoms of vision problems observed as the child does his school work.

Ernest Roberts and Natalie Morris Married In Roby Baptist Church

Wedding vows were exchanged Thursday evening at First Baptist Church Roby by Miss Natalie Morris of Roby and Ernest D. Roberts of Rotan.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Morris of Roby and Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Roberts of Rotan.

The double ring rites were read at 7:30 o'clock in the evening by Rev. H. E. Crone of Dallas, uncle of the bride.

Branched candelabra flanked by baskets of white gladioluses and potted palms were linked together with white streamers at the altar.

Mrs. N. D. Miers gave the wedding music and accompanied Miss Lauretta Bunn of Sweetwater as she sang Because, The Sweetest Story Ever Told, and the Wedding Prayer. Miss Bunn wore a cotton satin dress in dusty rose with white carnation corsage.

Candles were lighted by Miss Janet Neves of Lubbock, whose dress was made like those of the other attendants and who had a wrist corsage.

Mrs. Juanelle Morris was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Mineola Parker, Mrs. Orlena Lay and Miss Jimmie Lee Hammit. Mrs. Morris is a sister-in-law of the bride. Mrs. Lay and Mrs. Parker are sisters. Miss Hammit is a cousin of the bridegroom.

All wore dresses of dusty rose cotton satin with matching hats trimmed in eed pearls. They carried showered nosegays of white carnations.

Ushers were Bill Morris of Snyder, brother of the bride and Jerry Stuart.

Groomsmen were Frank Nayfa and Freddy White of Rotan, also Bill Morris. Derrell Hale was Mr. Robert's best man.

Wearing a street-length dress of white cotton satin, the bride entered with her father. The dress was designed with a scoop neckline and short sleeves. The bridal veil of imported illusion fell from a tiara of lace and seed pearls. The bride wore a single strand of pearls given her by the bridegroom. Her flowers were two gardenias atop a white Bible.

The reception was held in the

The medical research program which the Kenny foundation is sponsoring at its own treatment centers and a number of universities across the country is not limited to the field of polio, but includes other neuromuscular disorders of various kinds, he asserted.

"Included on the medical advisory committee and planning committee set up by the Kenny foundation to help provide greater service," Kline said, "are doctors who are affiliated with the various departments of the following schools:

University of Minnesota, Minneapolis, Minn.; Stanford university, Palo Alto, Calif.; University of California, Los Angeles, Calif.; New York university, New York City, N.Y.; Columbia university, New York City, N.Y.; Ohio State university, Columbus, Ohio; Baylor university (hospital), Dallas, Texas; Mayo clinic, Rochester, Minn.; College of Medical Evangelists, Los Angeles, Calif.; McGill university, Montreal, Canada; Washington university, St. Louis, Mo.; University of Wisconsin, Madison, Wis.; University of Michigan, Ann Arbor, Mich.; University of Illinois, Urbana, Ill.; Herman hospital, Houston, Texas, and Marquette university, Milwaukee, Wis.

"The Kenny foundation's expanding rehabilitation program offers help to persons of all ages who have nerve, muscle or joint disabilities which our medical staff believes may be lessened by such treatment."

The program of the Kenny foundation is made possible through funds attributed by the public.

Although the drouth has cut our grain sorghum crop short, we will still have some grain harvested and stored. With the storing of grain we have the problem of protecting the grain from insect damage.

Insects destroy millions of dollars worth of stored grain annually. It has been estimated that insects eat as much as 2% of the nation's farm-stored grain monthly. Stored grain pests are capable of destroying large quantities of farm-stored grain in Texas. Losses may be due primarily to storage structures that are not clean when filled with grain, or due to high temperatures and high moisture contents which are an incentive to a build-up of insect infestations.

The primary insects that infest stored grain are the rice or corn weevil, lesser grain borer, Angoumois grain moth and the granary weevil. Other insects that may damage grain are the cadelle beetle, saw-toothed grain beetle, flat grain beetle, confused flour beetle, rice moth and Indian-meal moth.

Preventive measures are very important in protecting grain from insect damage. Grain storage structures should be constructed to exclude all outside moisture and be easily accessible for inspection and fumigation of the grain. Grain should be stored only in bins that have been cleaned thoroughly of all waste materials such as old grain, trash, or any other debris that may furnish living quarters for insects. Good housekeeping practices in and around grain storage bins will aid in eliminating insect infestations.

After the bin and outside area have been cleaned thoroughly, spray the inside and outside area with any of the following formulations at the rate of 2 gallons per 1,000 square feet of surface area. DDT, 2 1-2%; Methoxychlor, 2 1-2%; or TDE, 2 1-2%.

The above mentioned insecticides are available as wettable powders and emulsion concentrates. Add 2 pounds of 50% wettable powder to 5 gallons of water or 1-2 gallon of 25% emulsion concentrate to 5 gallons of water to acquire the recommended spray mixture.

Frequently, the rice weevil and Angoumois grain moth infest grain in the field before harvest. In many instances, it is advisable to fumigate soon after the grain is stored or not later than two weeks after storage.

Several liquid fumigants are effective for use in controlling stored grain pests. The following is a few of them, Carbon tetrachloride 100% Carbon disulphide 20%, or Carbon tetrachloride 95% plus Ethylene dibromide 5%. These are formulated as various combinations and sold under different trade names. Directions for use as given on the label should be followed closely.

Hand sprayers with a capacity of 3 to 5 gallons are satisfactory for applying liquid to grain. The fumigant should be discharged over the surface of grain in an even pattern and as a course stream or spray.

Every precaution should be followed when using the fumigant. Do not smoke near the building or equipment during fumigation. In most all cases, the person applying the fumigant should be equipped with proper gas masks.

A few weeks after the grain has been stored and fumigated, periodic inspections should be made at about two week intervals to see if injurious insect are present.

Motorists Urged To Watch Children At Play

"Drive slow, let'em grow!"

That was the plea of G. C. McFadden, president, Texas Safety Association, Inc., to motorists this week as he emphasized the importance of the child safety program the Texas Safety Association, Department of Public Safety and the National Safety Council are conducting this month.

"Each year we kill thousands of our youngsters in traffic accidents," McFadden said. "And the tragic part of it is that most of these deaths could have been prevented."

He placed most of the blame for our high child pedestrian fatality toll on drivers. He admitted children are often careless in traffic, and that they bring about dangerous situations. But he emphasized that drivers can do much to counteract the effects of this heedlessness.

"Careful driving practices and constant alertness are the drivers best safeguards," he said. "He must learn to expect the unexpected from children, and to act quickly to save a heedless youngster from harm."

McFadden pointed out that the present high traffic accident fatality rate among children will have far-reaching effects on the nation's future.

"These children are our country's hope for tomorrow," he said. "From the ranks must come the statesmen, clegymen, doctors and scientists of the future. Every time we cut a youngster down in traffic, we weaken the country's future strength."

He advised drivers to observe the following rules to protect youngsters in traffic:

1. Keep a sharp lookout for children at all times, but especially in school zones, near playgrounds and other places where children gather.
2. When in the areas of school zones, playgrounds, etc., be alert for traffic signs, signals, traffic police, school patrols and children themselves.
3. Don't be juvenile yourself by trying to compete with bike riders. Give them a break.
