By Nanalee Nichols We're celebrating an anniversary of sorts

We survived the busy, happy month of December...always the best month of the year. And survived the doldrums of January when everyone sits around staring at the accounts and wondering where the next meal comes from...for January is traditionally the poorest month of the year.

We overcame setting up a bookkeeping system. Not without some problems, not without using preserverance...and some patience and understanding on the part of our valued usual. At the Bogata office, we repainted, carpeted and put up new curtains. One of the biggest chores was cleaning out corners that hadn't been touched in years.

It's been a fascinating two months...with lots of hard work and lots of fun.

What it boils down to is...we love it!

American agriculture is one of the largest industries in this country. Financing this industry has been one of the integral parts of banking. Why is this a fact? You can predict a lot of things but the growing of crops is one of the most unpredictable things in this world. Therefore, it takes all types of financing to keep American agriculture alive. The types in general being short term, long term and per crop financing. To grow a crop farmers have to have more short term financing than any other industry and this is basically the banks' portion of putting food on the American table. Banks deal withh the farmer on the same basis as any other customer in loaning money, but over the years the American farmer has proved to be without a doubt one of the best short term money borrowers in this country.

Meets
The board of directors of the Bogata Cemetery Association met January 27 for their annual meeting. The following officers were re-elected for the coming year: president, W.C. Barnard; vice-president, Mrs. William Rozell; and secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Glen White.

The financial statement for the past year was reviewed and approved. It was noted that revenues from donations were down while expenses were up. General maintenance expenses had greatly increased during the past year, over $5,000 alone having been spent for mowing of the cemetery. A large expense was incurred in the surveying and staking of the new addition known as the East Addition.

During the summer, the pavillion was repaired and repainted, and chemicals were purchased and applied to help control sand burr growth.

Donations can always be made to any member of the board or to Mrs. Glen White, Route 1, Box 314, Bogata, Texas 75417.

In addition to the officers of the association, other members present at the meeting were J.N. Lee, Bill White, Mrs. Sue Hudson, Mrs. Ralph Harbison, Mrs. Jack Troutt and Mrs. Gaylord McCluer
