Rivercrest Rebels Fall To Tough Maud 14-7

By Diana Eudy

The Rivercrest Rebels fell to the Maud Cardinals last Friday night at Johntown 14-7. The field was a soggy mess of mud but the two teams didn't let that stop them. The stands were not very full for the last Rebel home game with fans expecting more of the typical Friday night rain we have experienced this season.

The Cardinals controlled the first quarter scoring with 4:19 left. Maud thing, and hard to achieve. Take house keeping for instance. The windows in a home can just be freshly washed, the floors waxed to a healthy shine, the carpets vacuumed and the table tops polished until they reflect images, but let one magazine be out of place and the whole effect is ruined!

Really, a tiny spot of clutter, or a crooked window shade can make a room someone spent hours on look less than perfect.

Hardly seems fair, does it?

Yards are yet another of those hard to perfect things. The grass can look like a professional golfer's dream, the shrubs can be so even it looks like someone has used a level on them, and the fences can be trimmed as straight as an arrow, but let one tough, stubborn little stem of weed raise it's head back up after the lawn mower has passed, and bingo....it looks messy!

Cars, yet another example. After an afternoon of washing, cleaning, polishing and waxing, scrubbing whitewalls and wheel covers, cleaning the inside, but step back and take a long look and somewhere, somehow, there will be a streak or smear!

The list seems to be endless...something always mars our Intempts at perfection.

To The Editor:

My mom and dad send me the Bogata News, and I enjoy it very much. I was pleased to see that you were focusing on former residents of Bogata. As I thought about people who had touched my life, they would fill up the paper, but there are a few that I would like to mention. As a child, I spent many happy hours in Bogata with my grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. C.C. DeBerry and Mr. and IMrs. Kirb Lowry. My grandmother and granddaddy DeBerry would plan a meal, and then Granddaddy would go to the store and buy what they needed for that meal. As a result, we made several trips a day to Leonard Kisner's grocery. Each trip, Gran would say the same thing, "Don't you think we need to buy a Guess What?" Now, Guess Whats were boxes of candy with a surprise inside. I can tell you those surprises were great, but I cannot tell you what the candy tasted like, because as a child, I never liked sweet candy, so the candy went in the trash. Is that not a perfect picture of what Grandparents are like? Leonard pop out and do its famous song. Kisner was a loyal friend to my grandparents. After they went to the Stephenson. There is no way to tell how many kids in Bogata he has "fixed up" with a horse and gear for the Bogata rodeo. If you wanted to ride and didn't have a horse, all you had to do was see Dess, and he would see that you had a horse to ride. But it didn't have to be the rodeo. Anytime you wanted to ride, he would go out and catch a horse and help you saddle it. I know there were many times when he didn't really feel like going out and running down an old horse in the heat of the day, but he never let us know that.

Another person who was dear to me was "Grandma Stephenson." This is the only name that I know her by. When I would stay with my Grandmother and Granddaddy Lowry, I would ask if I could go "play" with Grandma Stephenson, and "play" she did. She had dolls from her childhood that fascinated me, and a coo-coo clock that she would make coo-coo as many times as I wanted her to. I can still see her standing on a chair running that clock around so the little bird would

These are just a few of the people who have touched my life in past years. There are many others! Some have passed on and some are still among us, like Mary Lassiter who has done so much over the years for her community, and has meant so much in my life. There are the Dennys who stand out in my mind. They have for so many years provided a Christian environment for young people. I have skated many miles there on Saturday night, and have many, many fond memories from good times there. I think that in these rushed times that we live in, it is good for us just to go back now and then and remember! Sincerely, Janie Lowry Ballard Gladewater, TX

Of course, it really doesn't matter, because the first time the kids tear through the house, it rains and the grass grows, or the car splashes through a puddle, the whole effort pretty well goes down the drain anyway.

So don't worry about a messy house, lawn or car, or anything else...hey, mankind wasn't meant to achieve perfection, even in cleaning!

Bangs Vaccination Clinic Set

On November 10 at 7:30 a.m., a Bangs Vaccination Clinic will be held at the Red River County Livestock Auction Barn reported Bob Moody, county extension agent. The clinic is being conducted by the TAHC and there will be no charge to the producer for these vaccinations. Moody states that regulations going into effect January 1 are:

1. Heifer calves born after January 1 of this year which are between 4 and 12 month of age and acquired and used for breeding, grazing, dairying or confinement in a dry lot not under quarantine must be ofticially vaccinated according to amended regulations.

2. Heifer calves born after January 1 of this year which are unvaccinated when they are over 12 months of age may change ownership only after being spayed or consigned to a livestock market to be spayed or "S" branded prior to sale; or consigned directly to slaughter, quarantined feedlot or quarantined pasture.

Schedule Changes

> This week's paper will have a different format for the television schedule. It will no longer be in a seperate "tabloid" size, but instead will run on two pages inside of the regular paper.

This new format is being done with an eye towards increasing the economic feasibility of the television schedule, and still pleasing our readers, many of who have expressed a definite desire to have a tele vision schedule.

The style is still the same, and two channels that have not been widely available in this area have been dropped from it, so that it is now easier to read.

We hope this new style is satisfactory with everyone.

Remember....these are your papers, so feel free at any time to contact us with suggestions on what will make them better!

Mud Turtles And Kids

By Wm. C. Barnard One time, I think it was about 1915, we were living on Granddad Barnard's place south of Deport. Mustang Creek ran nearby, and Osie, Ed and I spent a lot of time playing along its banks.

One day we found a small mud turtle. We had been told that if a mud turtle got a hold of you, he wouldn't turn loose until it thundered. We played with, and teased the little turtle for a while, and he became very unhappy and cantankerous about it.

He would snap and bite at everything that came near him. I attempted to pick him up by the tail, and in the process he grabbed me by a finger. He clamped down real hard and wouldn't let go. After giving some thought to the situation, we decided to go home and let Mother get him loose.

We started out and the turtle held on. It didn't hurt so bad unless I shook him or jarred him, then he would clamp down real hard. I was tiptoeing along slow and easy so as not to excite the little scamp and make him bite harder, when all of a sudden, Ed, in as loud a voice as a five year old boy could make, cried out, boom! boommm! Blammmm! rummmble! boom! boommm! He was running along by my side and watching the turtle. I asked what he meant by all the noise and he said, "I am trying to make the turtle think it's thundering so it will let go."

It didn't help but, when we got home, Mother cut his head off with a butcher knife. That relaxed his steel trap jaws. JOHN THROW-residents of Red River Haven Nursing Home in Bogata participated in a Halloween Carnival Monday night. One of the events was the John Throw. The participant had to throw a roll of toilet tissue through a johnny seat to win a prize. By Herb Brevard Recent rains have been a boost to most winter pastures in East Texas, with small grains, ryegrass and clovers growing well in most areas. Dr. Sim A. Reeves, Jr., cautions producers against turning cattle into the pastures too early.

The plants need to develop a good root system and be well anchored in the ground before grazing begins. Generally, plants are six to eight inches tall before the root system is adequately developed. If the soil is wet and boggy, cattle will pull up many of the plants during grazing. Reeves suggests watching the cattle when they are first turned on winter pastures to determine if they are pulling up the plants. If the plants are being pulled up, take the cattle off and wait until the soil is a little drier and the plant roots are firmly attached.

If the temperature warms considerably, producers should watch for armyworms. A few isolated cases have been reported.

If the winter pasture was not fertilized when planted, Reeves suggests applying fertilizer as soon as possible. A rule of thumb is 50 to 60 pounds each of actual nitrogen, phosphorus and potassium per acre.

If fertilizer was applied at planting, keep following soil test recommendations and watch the plants. If areas around manure piles remain green and other plants are light green or yellow, an application of nitrogen is probably needed.
