

October Begins With Cool, Crisp Weather

By Nanalee Nichols

Crisp, cool, clean, that's the way the weather feels these days. In a surprising, almost unprecedented early arrival, autumn seems to have hit East Texas.

The mercury on the front porch thermometers and official ones as well, hit in the middle 40's over the weekend, setting some records, and nearly breaking others for cold weather in late September. Rain soaked parched ground as the front hit.

Usually nearly as hot as August, September this year has been milder than normal, and drier too.

Very little cotton harvest is left, most farmers taking advantage of early maturity and excellent stripping weather to get the crop in, most without any ever getting rained on at all.

Farmers have also taken advantage of the good weather and early harvests to get much of their land ready for winter, or to plant in wheat.

Fall gardeners have patches of greens pushing up, and some even have second crops of radishes and other vegetables to grace their tables.

Hay producers are finishing up on their second cutting, hay production being about average this year. The results of the 1980 drought and the last two winters' extreme cold are slowly disappearing on the meadows.

For some reason, autumn air always seems crisper and different than summer air! It always feels as if it is a traveler, stopping by from a different part of the world.

Summer's stifling heat always seems as if it is generated right on the premises...and at the time seems to promise to never leave.

As usual, and with more abruptness than usual, summer has been defeated once more, and leaves are beginning to tumble down prior to the first frost.

In all probability, there will be some more warm weather, but thermometers will probably not see the higher nineties any more this year. Another cold front is predicted for this weekend, so dusty stoves and empty wood heaters can look forward to some more usage to take the "edge off the chill" against Saturday and Sunday!

By: Nanalee Nichols

I spent the weekend in Dallas. More specifically in Richardson and Plano.

The purpose for one of my rare and off-times reluctant excursions into the world of the big city was a writer's conference at the University of Texas at Dallas. Which, naturally, logic being what it is, is located in Richardson. It also follows naturally, that the hotel provided for out-of-towners attending the event was in Plano.

But, I digress. At the conference we were given a bulk folder of all kinds of information. One list contained all the names and place locations of the participants. And out of about two hundred, eight of us were away from the Dallas-Ft. Worth Metroplex.

We met a lot of city people, you bet! We enjoyed the whole thing immensely.

Attending a dialogue workshop, I listened avidly to what the most marvelous instructor had to say. He admitted that he wasn't a native Texan, and couldn't teach much about Texas dialect, he gave some examples of using dialect in dialogue, mostly from Maine and New Jersey.

And he proceeded to advocate becoming a professional eavesdropper in order to listen to the WAY in which people speak in order to better write the way people speak. He, personally, goes down to the hardware store to overhear the old-timers talking and whittling.

One expression particularly delighted him. "Stretched out plumb to the school house door."

Well, after the workshop, we began talking about expressions. Did you know that there are people who never heard about "Happy as a dead sow in the sunshine"? They never heard of using the words "extry" or "deef", either.

"Somebody left the gap down", denoting the norther that moved in, was also new to them. In fact, they didn't even know what a gap was!

Before the conversation was over, I think about six budding authors were taking notes...of my dialect! Which was both flattering and a little embarrassing. They had such a good time as I fished for new East Texasisms. They learned a lot. Me, I just enjoyed the whole thing! If they think me a little provincial, a little small townish, there's a good reason....I am!

Red River County Library Notes

It's "Large Print" season again at the Red River County Library in Clarksville. During the months ahead, the Library will share with other libraries in Northeast Texas an ever-changing collection of standard works printed in oversized type.

Among the present offerings are works of fiction to suit every taste, from Bunyan's "Pilgrim's Progress" to Erma Bombeck to Louis L'Amour to Perry Mason. If small print tires your eyes, with or without your spectacles, stop by the Library and try to find your kind of book in your kind of type.

Rebels Take Big Win Over Karnack

By Diana Eudy

It was a long ride to Karnack last Friday night for the Rivercrest Rebels, but it was well worth the trip! The Rebels bounded to victory 21-6 to claim their first win of the season. The game with Karnack opened the district play for this year. Jerry Belcher rushed for 110 total yards with Bubba Simpson not far behind with 103.

Coach Terry Giddens said, "I thought we executed our offense well. They are coming along. Our defense held strong, like they have the rest of the year. The boys all worked pretty well as a team."

He continued, "We play Harmony Friday night. They are a pretty big team and a good aggressive ball club. Harmony has a good veteran coach that coached against me when I played in high school."

The Rivercrest defense held the Indians to only six points in the contest. Karnack's Alan Webb carried the ball into the endzone for the Indians.

Clint Stephenson, 167 pound sophomore fullback, bulldozed into score territory for the Rebels with 1:36 remaining in the first half. Stephenson carried nine times for 66 yards for the night. He also played well on defense.

Rivercrest didn't waste any time starting off the second half with another touchdown. The Rebels marched into the endzone in seven plays with senior tailback, Jerry Belcher, doing the honors. The extra point was good for a 14-6 lead over the Indians. The points were scored with 8:06 remaining in the third period of play.

The Rebels weren't ready to quit yet, however, and racked up another score in the fourth quarter. Shane Wright went in from the two yard line for the touchdown. The extra point was good for a score of 21-6, Rivercrest.

The Rebels marked up an offensive total of 297 yards for the evening. They made 19 first downs to Karnack's four and totally dominated the game.

Rivercrest will hold their Homecoming October 4 as they host Harmony. The Homecoming Queen and her court will be presented during pre-game ceremonies beginning at 7:15 p.m. Kick-off will be at 7:30 p.m.

Nominees for 1985-86 Homecoming Queen are Jena Mangrum, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Phifer of Bogata; Donna Jo Davis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Don Davis of Johntown; RaNell Burns, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Burns of Bogata; and Kelly Anschutz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tony Anschutz of Talco.

UNAUTHORIZED ENTRY! This pickup, driven by Jerry Knight of Bogata, crashed through the north wall of Dean Ward's Grocery about 9 p.m. Friday night. It did heavy damage to the store, and damaged goods also.

Sparks, Wood, Ballard Claim Football Loot

Austin Sparks of Pattonville is $12 to the good this week, after capturing the first place prize money in the football contest. He missed five games and picked Rivercrest to win 14-0.

James Wood of Bogata claims $7 after missing five games and picking Rivercrest would win 14-6.

Joel Ballard of Deport missed six games and said Rivercrest would win 12-6, for $5.

Nobody guessed the upset of number oen ranked Auburn or the tie between Detroit and Colo-Pickton.

The winners of last week's games were: Rivercrest 21-Karnack 6; McKinney, Paul Pewitt; Pittsburg; Como-Pickton tied Detroit; Alabama; Arizona State; Baylor; Tennessee; St. Louis; Chicago; Georgia Tech; Georgia; North Texas State; Nebraska; Texas; Southern Methodist; Kansas City; Raiders; Miami.

Rivercrest To Hold Open House

THE OLD BRIDGES that cross White Oak Creek between Meadow's Curve and Greenhill are to be replaced according to Titus County Commissioner.s The bridges had been condemned some time ago but people continued to travel them. Elton Welch, 81 year old Talco resident, helped his dad haul gravel to put on the road while the slough bridge was being built. The creek bridge was already in use and was old at that time. Welch recalled that his dad drove one mule team and he another while hauling the gravel. Welch was 16 years old at the time.

Letter To Bogata News:
Dear Judge:

In accordance with our great Constitution, we are assured of having government by the people and for the people. My feelings are you have violated my rights as a citizen by removing Mr. H. Drue Pirtle from his commissioner's position.

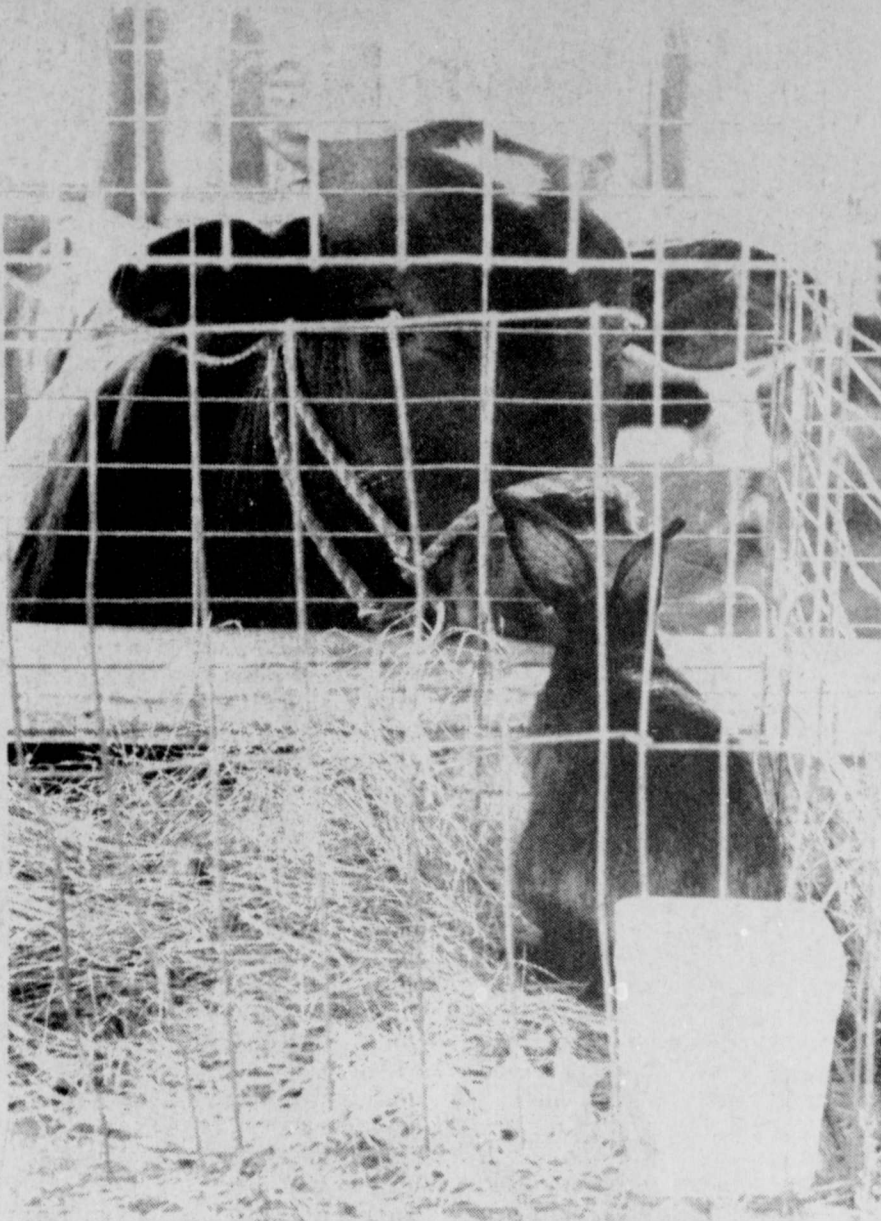

He was elected by voters from his precinct and removed for reasons I view more as a personality conflict than legal. Mr. Pirtle is a very shrewd businessman and a person whom I feel had the best interest of the people in Precinct 1 as top priority.

Correct me if I'm wrong, but didn't you dismiss Mr. Bruce Scott, a former commissioner, for similar reasons. He announced as a candidate for another precinct while still holding office. If this is true, I think you were well aware of the legality of Mr. Pirtle accepting two elected positions.

We, as citizens, are urged to vote and get involved in our government system. We ask ourselves why, when another person can so easily over-ride our majority vote with an appointment of his pleasing.

I still urge voters not to become discouraged and when their next ballot is cast for the position of County Judge, remember as citizens we want a respected representative that will not defy us of our constitutional rights.

Sincerely,
Douglas Hawkins

Time To Plant Winter Pastures

By Herb Brevard
The time has arrived for getting seed in the ground for winter pastures, says Dr. Sim A. Reeves, Jr., agronomist. Small grain pastures should be planted immediately and clover-ryegrass pastures should be planted in the next two to three weeks.

If sod-seeding is planned, Reeves says to graze the warm season grasses down to less than three inches before planting. When sowing clover and ryegrass seed in a sod, either disk the area lightly or drag the field so that the seed will get in contact with the soil. Be sure to inoculate all clover seed to be planted with the proper inoculant.

If small grain is sowed on a prepared seedbed and disked in, a packer should be used to firm the soil. If the seed are planted with a drill that has a packer wheel, the use of an additional packer is not necessary.

Reeves advises using plenty of seed, regardless of the type winter pasture being planted.

Clover-ryegrass pastures should be fertilized with phosphorus and potassium at the time of planting. Delay any application of nitrogen until after a killing frost to prevent the warm season grasses smothering out the new plants.

Small grain pastures on a prepared seedbed need nitrogen in addition to phosphorus and potassium at the time of planting.

Armyworms Can Threaten Pastures, Lawns

By Paul D. Payne
As pastures, meadows and lawns green up farmers and homeowners should be on the lookout for the fall armyworm. Although we have not received any report of the worms in Lamar County, they have been found in many counties south of us and as close as Titus County.
The coolest weather will lessen the likelihood of an armyworm outbreak. We would not expect a widespread outbreak, but rather spotty occurrences along fence lines, trees or around buildings.
Adults of the worm are ash gray moths with mottled forewings. They lay batches of eggs on foliage which hatch in about five days.
Individuals with newly planted wheat or winter pasture should inspect their fields often as an entire field can be wiped out over night. Insecticides should not be applied until worms are seen in the area. Effective insecticides include Dylox, Sevin and various products containing Bacillus Thuringiensis.

Managing risk is one of the keys to farm financial survival, and Lamar County producers are invited to a short course on that topic October 1-3 at the Stiels Farm Comoputer Training Center at Thrall. The farm is located on U.S. 79, about a mile east of Thrall or six miles east of Taylor.
Purpoe of the short course is to acquaint crop producers with numerous yield and price strategies.
The price being paid cotton farmers for cottonseed at area gins is about half that paid a year ago. This is not good news for cotton producers, but it is music to the ears of area dairy and beef producers.
Cottonseed at the prices being quoted currently are a good buy. Many livestock producers have called seeking nutrition level of the seed compared with cake and cubes.
Cottonseed supplies about half as much digestible protein per pound as does 41 percent protein cottonseed meal, but has one-fourth more total digestible nutrients, because it is so rich in fat.
For fattening cattle, cottonseed is an economical substitute for part or all of the cottonseed meal in a ration. Whole cottonseed have a crude protein value of 23 percent and a total digestible nutrient value of 90 percent. this compares to a 72 percent TDN value of cottonseed meal and cake.
So, if you have a place to store the seed and a way to feed them, feeding cottonseed could be the way to go this winter.

Now Paying 9.49%.

In the 1800's, baseball was a child's sandlot game. Then came the curve ball, the slide, the crowds and the legends—like Babe Ruth. Baseball had become our national pastime.

Some things never change. But one great American tradition has changed—U.S. Savings Bonds. Now Savings Bonds pay higher variable interest rates like money market accounts. Currently, Bonds are paying 9.49%.

Just hold Savings Bonds for five years and you get the new variable interest rates. Plus, you get a guaranteed return. That means you can earn a lot more, but never less than 7.5%.

You can purchase Bonds at almost any financial institution, or easier yet, through the Payroll Savings Plan where you work.

Buy U.S. Savings Bonds. Like baseball, they're another part of our proud heritage. For more information, call toll-free 1-800-US-BONDS.

U.S. SAVINGS BONDS
Paying Better Than Ever

Variable rates apply to Bonds purchased on and after 11/1/82 and held at least five years. Bonds purchased before 11/1/82 earn variable rates when held beyond 10/31/87. Bonds held less than five years earn lower interest.

In Memory of Jess English

My Dad
By Becky Martin

He used to walk the fields of cotton
Never thinking someday they'd be forgotten.
He used to haul those bales of hay
Hoping it would all be different someday.
Now Dad worked so hard and long
But Dad was sad and all alone.
So God sent a woman into his life of forty-two years, my Dad's wife.
From their love came a girl and boy
That made their hearts proud with joy.
Then came six little kids more
Not knowing it would be such a chore.
Now Mom and Dad had to work long and hard
For their little kids would have starved.
Now we're all bigger, older and grown .
and Mom and Dad sit talking all alone.
Mom's doing what she came up knowing,
Cooking, cleaning, quilting and sewing.
And Dad thinks no one seems to care
As he sits watching from his wheel chair.
And he feels so useless as he sheds a tear
Cause he can't do the things he did in his younger year.

On January 5, my Dad took his life,
Left behind 8 children, a home and a wife.
But Dad's left us with years of smiles and joys
About the times when he was just a boy.
I wish there was an easy way
I could ease Mom's pain every day.
But now we just weep and wonder
And hope to see him in the blue yonder.
When he'll stand so big and bold
As he walks in the streets of purest gold.

Infants' Cavities

Teeth are susceptible to decay as soon as they appear in the mouth, usually around six months of age.

Especially susceptible are the four upper incisors which can decay when a baby is continually put down to sleep with a bottle filled with sugary liquid.

Liquids such as milk, formula, fruit juice, soft drinks, sweetened tea, fruit drinks and sugar water contain natural sugars that can decay the teeth.
