The other afternoon, a kid with a jam box on his shoulder went by the office, music blasting away, feet moving to the beat.

The thought crossed my mind just how great one of those noisy little contraptions would have been back when I was a teenager. (Yes, folks, I know I'm showing my age.)

systems weren't in existence e late sixties. In fact, transistor radios were the newest development, along with eight track tapes!

Thanks to my brother, I had one of the smallest transistor radios around. It was a Sony, black, about the size of a hand-held calculator and an inch thick. It was popular with all the kids because of its extreme portability. Of course, it only received AM stations (FM...what was FM?) and those sounded absolutely AWFUL coming from that tiny speaker.

But it was portable, and had a pretty good volume.

The only other alternative back then was the car radio. That was great, but sure could run the battery down as we all sat around at the park, lake, etc. listening to the latest hits. More than one poor soul let it go too far and ended up having to be pushed or boosted off before going home. Teenagers are all the same, they haven't changed much over the things, just like today's kids do. To achieve it, we sometimes would have four or five transistor radios blaring away, all tuned in to the same

Nowadays, there isn't a problem, one good jam box will provide enough sound level to shatter the toughest ear

Sound systems in cars now are fabulous...multiple speakers, great tuning, digital read-outs. Compared to the old push button AM radio in the cars we drove, there simply is no contest. Back then, some electronic "genious" could always rig up a speaker system tied into a radio. Thisprovided the desired volume, but sacrificed audible lyrics, the tiny vibrations usually managing to overcome the coherence of the song. (Of course, there wasn't always a lot of coherence to begin with.) All in all, today's teenagers have it across the board better when it comes to listening to music. How we would have loved all those neat cassette players, AM-FM systems, compact discs, etc. etc. back then. Progress marches on!

Bogata City Marshall Resigns

Bogata Mayor W.T. Harbison reported that the City of Bogata has received a letter of resignation from City Marshall, Ted Byndas.

According to Mayor Harbison, due to an increase in cost for insurance coverage for Law Enforcement, the City had to put Byndas on "off duty without pay" until a solution could be worked out with the insurance company. At the City Council meeting which was held Tuesday, January 13, the council discussed ways to offset the insurance increase. The council voted in favor of asking Byndas to cut his hours to take a cut in pay for his services. This solution was presented to Mr. Byndas. The letter of resignation was received a few days later.

"I'm real sorry we could not work things out with Ted," stated Mayor Harbison. "We really hate to lose

According to Mayor Harbison, council members were to meet Tuesday afternoon, January 20, with an applicant for the position of City Marshall.

Rivercrest Loses Consecutive Games

By Stan Anderson

The Rivercrest basketball teams lost ground against the district leaders last week in consecutive losses to Honey Grove and Chisum.

The Reb teams traveled to Honey Grove last Monday night with the Rebelettes slated for the first varsity contest of the evening.

Rivercrest found the going touch, early in the contest. The Warriors jumped on the Rebelettes at the start and rolled up a 15-2 lead in the first period. The only Reb score coming on a jumper by forward Lori Alford. The second quarter was not much better, as the Rebelettes only managed three field goals and a total of 9 second quarter points. While Honey Grove widened their lead, 25-11, to end the Rivercrest opened the second half looking inside to post players Cynthia Thompson and Barbi Rackliff. But the tandem had their work cut out against the taller Honey Grove team. Both players combined for 11 hard earned points in the third quarter, only to have the Warriors forge ahead 40-22. The fourth quarter scoring equaled out, with each team canning 12 points. But any Rebelette rally would be near impossible, with Honey Grove holding an 18 point advantage and eventually taking a 52-34 win over the Rebelettes.

Cynthia Thompson led the Reb scoring with 15 points, Lori Alford followed with 8, Barbi Rackliff was next with 4, and Rhonda Collins finished with three. Kim Clark and Rachael Smith had two each.

The Rebel men were faced with the tough task of stopping a high scoring Warrfor team. The Rebs used a stingy defense to slow the Honey Grove cagers and play to 7-7 first quarter tie. The second quarter continued the defensive struggle as both teams effectively shut down each other's offense. Rivercrest managed only five points during this quarter, while the Warriors streaked to a 16-12 halftime

Both teams opened up their offenses during the third quater with Reb post Chris Anderson bearing most of the load, scoring eight of the Reb's 14 points in this quarter. But Honey Grove edged a little father ahead, taking a 31-26 lead going into the fourth quarter. The final period proved to be the Rebels undoing as they only scored four points to the Warriors seven. Honey Grove's defense turned back a strong Rebel charge late in the game as they held on to win 38-30

Reb postman Chris Anderson led the Rivercrest attack with 14 points, followed by David Bush with five, Brad Wood with four and Russell Rozell with three. Brad Anderson and Craig Savage finished with two points

Friday's action pitted the Rebel teams against another top-ranked basketball power, the Chisum Mustangs

The Rebelettes appeared to be ready for the Mustangs, playing Chisum to a 12-8 difference in the first quarter with the Mustangs holding the advantage. Rivercrest opened the second quarter with forward Rachael Smith connecting on three long distance jump shots during the quarter, only to see the Mustangs retaliate by unleashing powerful running attacks that netted Chisum 24 points in the second quarter, giving the Mustangs a 36-20 halftime lead.

The second half had Rivercrest playing catch-up to a 20-point Mustang lead. Rachael Smith continued dropping her long range bombs as the Rebelettes hurried to get back into the game with Chisum holding a 49-29 lead going into the final quarter. Rivercrest picked up the pace during the fourth quarter, scoring 15 points behind Rhonda Collins' 7 point effort, only to have the Mustangs answer with a 15 point effort of their own and eventually take a 64-44 win over the Rebelettes.

Rachael Smith and Rhonda Collins shared the scoring honors with 12 points each, Barbi Rackliff followed with 8, Julie Stewart came off the bench for six, Kim Clark, Lori Alford and Cynthia Thompson each finished with two points.

The nightcap featured the Rebel varsity against the 10th ranked Chisum Mustangs, undefeated in district play for the past nine years.

The first quarter started fast as both teams used the running game effectively, scoring 12 Reb points and 13 for Chisum. The second quarter proved almost identical to the first. Coach Wake Wood utilized almost his entire bench as he ran 10 players in and out during the second period of lay, only to have the Mustangs pull ahead 29-24 at the half.

The second half opened with the Rebs looking inside to senior postman Russell Rozell, who single-handedly ripped off the first eight points of the quarter and a total of 10 for the third period, only to have Chisum keep pace and maintain their five point lead and a 47-42 advantage going into the fourth quarter.

The final period opened with Rivercrest staying with the inside game, but saw the Mustangs pull farther ahead with an eight point lead at the 5:00 mark. Coach Wake Wood called time out at this point to discuss the comback bid. Three minutes later, the Rebs had pulled within two points, 59-57, when Chisum called time out. Seconds later Rivercrest tied the game at 61, sending the game into overtime.

Rivercrest gave up two quick baskets and quickly found themselves playing catch-up ball again. Reb postman Chris Anderson had the opportunity to tie the game with a pair of free throws, but misfired on the front end of a 1-1, and connected on the second shot. A Reb foul gave Chisum one more free throw and a 67-65 lead. A last second mid-court shot by Anderson fell short as the Mustangs hung on to win 67-65.

Russell Rozell led the Reb attack with 22 points, Chris Anderson had 13, guard David Bush finished with 8, Craig Savage and Brad Wood chipped in four each. Marvin Anderson finished with three points and Danny Brown had one point.

Rivercrest will be on the road this week as they travel to Cooper Tuesday and Wolfe City Friday night, trying to improve their records in the Originating in the heart of God, developed in the Word and will of God, The Inspirations are an enthusiastic, sincere, clean cut group of fundamental conservative Christian gentlemen with a desire and an objecvitness to a needful and sinful rough the medium of gospel music. They sincerely appreciate the many wonderful opportunities God has graciously afforded them to present their gospel ministry to millions by means of TV, records, and personal appearances.

Since their beginning in the spring of 1964, at the Swain County High School in Bryson City, NC deep in the heart of the Great Smoky Mountains, The Inspirations have taken their stand for the good and right and decent principles of living, and have not laxed in their stron gcommittment to set high standards in their persona lives, even though much of the world around us has departed from the great moral values our society was founded upon. Their sincereity and dedication has awarded them a great host of prayerful supporters and friends who continually show their love and appreciation for The Inspirations often imitated yet never duplicated old-time Southern-Mountaineer style gospel singing. Each year this fact is attested to by thousands of loyal gospel music lovers who attend the singing in the Smokies at Inspirations Park during the month of July, August, September and October at the best known family orientated music festival in the

Martin Cook, manager and pianist for the Inspirations, was born and raised in the rural community of Caney Fork near Cullowhee, NC. He studied music early in life and began playing publicity for conventions, churches and camp meetings as a boy. He is a graduate of West Carolina University with a masters degree in Math. He and his wife, Ora Blanche, have two sons, Myron and Michael and one daughter, Marsha. Myron is now the bass guitarist for the Inspiratins. He is attending Southwestern Technical College. Martin and Myron enjoy many different hobbies such as horseback riding, camping, hunting, fishing, swimming, hiking and weightlifting.

Archie Watkins has been the first tenor for The Inspirations since their organizations. He was born and raised in Swain County and is tremendously honored that the good Lord would allow him the privilege to live in the beloved Great Smoky Mountains. Archie is featured on such songs as "They're Holding Up The Ladder", "Praise God and Country", and the classic "Amazing Grace". He and his wife Cindy and their daughters, Melissa and Amy, live in Shoal Creek about six miles from Bryson City. They also own and

It was his voice that folks all over the country first took notice to the Inspirations first and probably greatest hit song, "Jesus is Coming Soon". He still is featured on that song, along with "The Next Step You Take' and "He'll Hold To My Hand". He is single and lives with his parents behind their home church, Arlington Baptist Church. He spends a lot of time studying since he attends Western Carolina University.

He has some great songs he is featured on such as "The Wonder of "Your Tears Are Wonders". Touching God", "In Heaven Mama's Won't Cry" and "God is Still on the Throne". He and his wife Tammy have two sons, Chris and Trey. They live in Toot Hollow near Bryson City. Troy's hobbies include model building, radio DJ. hunting and fishing and attending Southwestern Technical College.

Mike Holcomb moved from Jasper, GA where he was born and raised to Bryson City, NM to sing bass for the Inspirations in 1972. He has had some of the best songs ever written for a bass singer to be featured on such as "When I Wake up to Sleep No More", "Is That Footsteps That I Hear", "You Don't Have to Wait" and "He Made A Way For Me". He and his wife, Bavaria, have two children, a son Nathan and a daughter Niccole live in the Deep Creek community about a mile from the Great Smoky Mountains National Park border. Mike also answered to call to preach the gospel as well as sing it in 1978. He preaches at every opportunity. His hobbies include fly fishing, basketball and listening to tapes of messages by favorite preachers A Night of Inspiration is an evening program featuring each of these talented individuals who by divine intervention were brought together to present the gospel message that these Inspirations love so dearly. Sportsmanship Taught In Former School Days

By Mollie Williams

Everyone likes a good sport. Right? It's always refreshing to be able to see losing parties lose graciously and winning parties show modesty in victory in any type of competition. I'm not able to say that I have always been a good sport, because many, many times I wasn't, but it was not because I did not have good examples or good teachers of good sportsmanship.

Back in my school days, we were taught that good sportsmanship was always top priority and that to win was great, but to lose after having done our best, was no disgrace. We were taught that sportsmanship demands honesty, fair play, cooperation, competitive spirit, respect for authority and rules, acceptance of responsibility, and respect for others. We wee also taught that the true sportsman plays hard to win, but respects his opponent an daccepts defeat gracefully

We were very fortunate to have some really good coaches back then. who taught us some very valuable principles. The only sports the girls were able to participate in were softball, basketball, track and volleyball. Basketball was our main sport. I never remember any of our coaches from the seventh grade through twelfth grade ever acting out of order at the games or allowing us to get away with showing poor sportsmanship. We did, at times, act wrong, but boy did we ever pay! There were always plenty of laps and sit-ups to fit the crime in the weeks to follow.

sident at one particular game has stood out to me down through the years. It occurred in the school year of 1959-60, when I was a seventh grader, and Kenneth Pirtle was our coach. We were playing one of our rival teams, Hagansport. We were pretty sure of a victory that night, and went with that attitude. Apparently we were a little too sure of ourselves and the Hagansport team outplayed us. When the buzzer sounded to end the fourth quarter, we realized we had lost the game. As our team made our way to the dressing room, we all began to cry over our loss. Mabel Hale, who was the eighth grade teacher, always went with us to our games. She made her way to the middle of the gymnasium court in two fast strides, turned us all around, and preceded to shame us for our lack of sportsmanship. I'll never forget looking into her disappointed face and hearing her tell us to dry our eyes and to promptly make our way over to compliment the opposing team for a well-played game. She further informed us that Bogata Junior High would, from here on, be known for its good sportsmanship. We were ashamed and quickly did what she told us to do. We were very careful to obey her in all the games from that night on. I'm sure I can speak for all the others, as well as myself, in saying that was a good lesson well learned by us all. Thanks,

Dormant Oil Spray Time Coming Up

By Herb Brevard
Petroleum oil is normally applied to fruit and nut trees in late February. According to Dr. James Robinson, entomologist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, petroleum oil is the term applied to what was previously called dormant oil. Dormant refers to the season in which the oil is applied. Petroleum more accurately identifies the source of the

Some petroleum oils are labeled for the rate of four percent while the more refined oils are labeled for the rate of one and one-half to two percent. This readily translates into four parts per 100 or one and one-half of two parts per 100.

Robinson says that recently, insecticides such as Lorsban have been labeled to be added to the petroleum oil spray. This is a superior method of control compared to petroleum oils alone. These sprays can be used on pears, peaches, plums, apples and

Sprays containing petroleum oil control aphids, mites, scale insects and pecan phylloxera. These insects are easier to control during the tree's dormancy because lack of foliage on the trees permits better spray coverage and weather conditions have weakened the overwintering

For most areas of Texas, February is an ideal time to apply petroleum oil sprays. The later in the dormant season the materials are applied, the more effective they become, Robinson says. Petroleum oil should never be applied when the pink bud on peaches or the green tip on pecans is

A classic from colonial times, Boston Baked Beans from New England is a modern version of a native American staple. The Pilgrims learned of the dish from the Narragansett and Penobscot tribes and quickly gave it a special position at Sabbath meals when cooking was forbidden.
