

A Look At Today's Farming Image

What is a farmer's life like? Americans believe that it is a difficult business, entailing hard physical work, a great deal of risk, and most Americans feel that the family farm is vanishing!

These, and many other facts about farming's image have been released in a booklet by AGFOCUS, a project of America's Governors, Inc.

The information was assembled primarily by a Gallup Survey interviewing by telephone 1,507 members of the general public.

In addition, twenty-five U.S. Senators, Representatives and Congressional Aides were interviewed, and telephone interviews with 226 journalists, business leaders, academics and state government leaders were conducted.

In the first of a series, this article will attempt to use these figures to present exactly how most of the nation seems to feel about agriculture.

Eighty-nine percent interviewed believed that farming required a great deal of business management, and ninety percent believed that the business is constantly buffeted by changes in prices received for crops.

Sixty-six percent agreed that soon there will be no family-owned farms, but only big business farms.

Surprisingly, 58% of the Americans interviewed, felt that a college education WAS needed to be a successful farmer.

This seems to indicate that the "hay-seed chewing, overalld good

First In A Series On How Agriculture Is Perceived

ole boy" image of the American farmer is just that...an image, not reality in the minds of most people. Who knows farmers? Half the public said that they have close contacts with relatives or friends who are farmers.

However, in the east, that ratio drops to only 37%, due to the high concentration of metropolitan cities.

Only 9% of the people contacted were currently engaged in any kind of farm work.

The decline in U.S. farm population is self-evident in the studies findings, that 53% of people 65 years or older once lived or worked on a farm, which only 32% of those aged 18 to 34 had ever been connected with a farm.

The survey also found that the more affluent a person was, the less likely he was to have had contact with rural life.

Only 6% of the people surveyed thought that farming was the kind of work they would most like to do. More popular careers were computers, medicine, teaching, the law, skilled craftsmanship. Being a beautician or a truck driver was, however, ranked lower than farming!

About one in four Americans would be pleased if their children chose farming as a career.

A 1985 survey of California high school students showed that they had a poor perception of agricultural work and were not being encouraged to pursue it as a career.

The advantages being perceived in farming were being self-employed, self-sufficient in food needs and living in the country.

Eighteen percent of the respondents to the poll saw NO advantages in farming.

The poll seems to point out that Americans are not encouraging their youngsters to engage in agricultural activities, and that they are more aware of the problems facing farmers than might be thought.

In the next article, a look will be taken at The Impact of Modern Farming Methods, Economics of Food Prices, and the Problem of Overproduction.

NICHOLS' WORTH

By: Nanalee Nichols

There are many, many questions in this world. Hopefully, the answers to some of them will come along before I die. If not, perhaps Saint Peter or someone "higher up" will see fit to answer them.

For instance...where do houseflies stay during freezing weather. At the first ray of sunshine, here they are. They obviously don't have time to hatch, so they must be staying somewhere!

What would chairs look like if our knees bent backwards? I asked an orthopedic surgeon that once...he's still thinking about it.

If everyone could have a third eye...what would be the very best place for it?

What does the post office DO with a letter during the week it takes it to travel forty miles?

How does the Internal Revenue Service automatically know which tax returns are due refunds and which owe money? They must have a way to tell without processing...because those folks who owe money get processed immediately...while those who are to receive a refund don't get processed before May.

What REALLY happens if you remove one of those tags from a mattress or cushion that reads "do not remove under penalty of law"?

How do ants know when there is a picnic five miles away?

How can cats automatically tell the warmest or the coldest spot in a house without a thermometer?

Why does the news media refer to a bombing in Lebanon as an "incident"?

How does a flying rock on the highway know exactly the driver's line of vision to hit and create a chip in the windshield?

How do kids know by instinct how to operate video games, VCR's and other computerized equipment.

And last...but certainly not least...how come there are so many more...em...horses' backsides than there are horses?

Everyone, I'm sure, has their own collection of little questions to be answered. These are only a few of my favorites...feel free to contribute to the collection!

Grass Fires Plague Area

Bogata and the surrounding areas were plagued last week with several grass fires. The Bogata Volunteer Fire Department has been kept extremely busy answering the calls to the fires.

Volunteer Fireman, Rex Huddleston, advises that people should be careful in burning trash and leaves due to the wind and dry conditions.

"Everyone's cooperation will certainly be appreciated by the Fire Department," said Huddleston.

First Baptist Makes Plans For New Building

By Mollie Williams

The First Baptist Church in Bogata has begun making plans for the building of a new church and facilities. The old building was completely destroyed by fire in November of 1986.

The church has purchased eight acres of land on North Main Street, across from Huddleston's Grocery. The land was purchased from Billie Smiley Hervey.

According to Building Committee Chairman, C.D. Glass, many of the members desired to relocate in order to have a safer place for the children and more parking space.

"Also," added Rev. Bob Posey, pastor of the church, "members were not happy with the two-story building that we had and wanted to build the new one all ground level. This would take a lot of space at the old site, leaving very little room for parking."

Members have approved a tentative plan for the new building, which is to be 21,000 square feet. This is 6,785 ft. larger than the former building. In addition to the facilities offered by the destroyed building, the new building will have choir rooms and an office complex.

Members of the Building Committee are C.D. Glass, chairman, Mary Ann Ward, Buddy Damron, Glen White, Johnny Topping, Jerry Gray, alternate, Robert Canfield, alternate and Vince Blankenship and Rev. Bob Posey, ex-officio members.

The insurance settlement on the fire is expected in the next two weeks and bids will then be taken for the project.

"We're really excited about the new church building and the cooperation of our members has really been good," said Chairman Glass.

The meeting will be held at Rivercrest High School beginning at 6:30 p.m., with a dinner in the cafeteria and the program following in the school auditorium.

Monday's dinner is being sponsored by the Red River County Industrial Foundation and there is no charge, the activity being financed by a number of contributing sponsors.

Although the evening is not designated as a family-style social event, Watson said there is an open invitation.

The coordinator said the purpose of the dinner is to encourage a wider acquaintance and communication between all the citizens of the county.

Serving arrangements will be in charge of retired County Extension Agent Bob Moody. On the menu will be barbecue beef, beans, onions, pickles, bread, a dessert and soft drinks.

Representative Teleford Visits Schools

State Representative Barry Teleford, D-DeKalb, toured the Rivercrest, Bogata and Talco campuses and visited with teachers and students on Friday, January 30.

Rep. Teleford is a freshman in the 70th Texas Legislature.

Rep. Teleford lunched with superintendent Harold Cowley in the Rivercrest Cafeteria and visited there with the cafeteria workers. As the high school students gathered in the cafeteria for lunch, Rep. Teleford mingled among the group and introduced himself to the students.

After lunch, Rep. Teleford spoke to Mr. Stockton's U.S. History class about the legislature and his job as the state representative and allowed the students to ask questions. According to teacher Donald Stockton, students expressed concern about House Bill No. 72, no pass, no play rule. Rep. Teleford explained the rule to the students, driving home the problem of reaching an age too old to play pro ball and not having sufficient education to get a good job. Another concern of the students which was discussed was the Junior Exit Level Test.

"I think Rep. Teleford really helped the students to better understand some of the rules that are affecting them," said Mr. Stockton, "and, I'd like to see him come back after he gains some experience in the legislature," he added.

Principal James Smith, discussed the pros and cons of the Teacher Appraisal System with Rep. Teleford. Rep. Teleford then reviewed the system with Rivercrest teacher, Randy Copeland.

"We feel very privileged that Rep. Teleford took the time to come to our school," said Mr. Smith.

Rep. Teleford spent the rest of his time here touring the Bogata and Talco Elementary campuses, visiting with teachers, and talking to students.

FIRST BAPTIST Secretary, Alice Ann White, recently resigned her job after six years of service. (Staff Photo by Mollie Williams)

FBC Secretary Resigns

Alice Ann White, the secretary for the First Baptist Church in Bogata for the past six years has resigned. Mrs. White worked her last day as church secretary on Friday, January 30. In addition to the customary duties of a secretary, Mrs. White helped with the publication and mailing of a monthly newsletter and a weekly bulletin. She also helped in preparing lesson material for the church's Sunday School teachers, answered the church phone, and aided other staff members. She worked in the church office Tuesday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 12 noon. Since the fire, which completely destroyed the church and it's facilities, the staff has used the house provided for the minister of music and youth as the office. "I've certainly enjoyed my years of serving as secretary of the church, but I'm looking forward to having more time for my volunteer work and some other things I enjoy doing," Mrs. White said.

Check Your Safety Savvy

We at Texas-New Mexico Power Company are concerned about electrical safety. That's why we've developed this safety checklist. If you're a parent or teacher, you can clip this ad and use it to teach your children or students to use electricity wisely.

afety Checklist

- Avoid the use of water around electrical outlets or appliances. Water conducts electricity, especially around bathtubs, sinks or swimming pools.
- Never touch a power line with anything, including antennas, tree pruning tools, ladders, or kite strings.
- If you see a fallen power line, do not get close to it. Report it to either our office or the local law enforcement officials.
- Parents of young children should childproof their electric outlets.

Use and enjoy the benefits of electricity — the safest and cleanest power choice — but make sure that it is not used carelessly. Call or visit our office today for more information.

Rivercrest Schedule Light Last Week

By Stan Anderson

The Rivercrest Rebel basketball teams played a light schedule last week. The only games on tap were scheduled against the Como-Pickton Eagles in Johtown.

The Rebel boys JV played the first game of the night and had to come from behind to take a 69-67 win over the Eagle JV.

The Rebelettes had the first varsity action of the night against an Eagle team that Rivercrest had narrowly defeated earlier this season.

The Rebelettes got off to a somewhat shaky start, allowing the Eagles to take an 8-6 lead at the end of the first quarter. But the Rebelettes exploded for 18 points in the second period and held Como-Pickton to only nine points, as the Reb team went into the locker room with a 24-17 edge over the Eagles.

The second half opened with Rivercrest still pounding away at the Eagles. Five Rebelette players contributed to the cause by combining for 17 third quarter points. This effort gave Rivercrest a 41-29 lead going into the final period.

The fourth quarter saw the Eagle team outscore the Rebelettes 14-9, with Rivercrest's only field goal being a long distance bomb by forward Rachael Smith. But the Reb fens did find some redemption at the free throw line. Rivercrest made six trips to the line and connected on seven of eleven attempts, as the Rebelettes hung on to win 50-43.

Rebelette forward Rachael Smith led the Rivercrest attack with 11 points, followed by Barbi Rackliff with 9, Kim Clark, Lori Alford and Cindy Thompson each chipped in 8 points.

The final game of the evening had the Rebel men facing an 0-5 Como-Pickton team. The Reb team wasted little time establishing their dominance as they rolled up a 21-10 lead behind the sharp shooting of Chris Anderson, Brad Anderson and David Bush. The second quarter saw Rivercrest pull further ahead with reserves Craig Savage and Marvin Anderson scoring eight points each. Six of Anderson's points came on a 6 of 6 performance from the free throw line. The Rebs led 39-22 at the half.

The third quarter found Rivercrest putting away the game with a 22 point team effort, ten of those belonging to postman Chris Anderson. The Rebs had doubled the Eagles' score, 61-30. The final period had most of the Rebel starters getting a well deserved rest, but also saw the Reb bench continue to pour it on the hapless Eagles, as the Rebels went on to blast the Eagles 78-45.

Senior post Chris Anderson led all scorers with 20 points, Craig Savage followed with 15, forward Brad Anderson poured in 10 points, Dvid Bush and Marvin Anderson each had eight points, Wade White and Brad Branch each finished with six points and Russell Rozell and Brad Wood finished with three and two points, respectively.

This week Rivercrest gears up for two more district contests against Leonard and Honey Grove, with the Rebels trying to grab a piece of second place by knocking off Honey Grove Friday night.

IN MEMORY OF
EDDIE GLOVER
By Francis Provence, His Aunt

God only loaned him to us for just a while, and now He has called him home.
His mission in life has been fulfilled, and we are all a-joe.
He was kind and cheerful to everyone and you would never know.
That each breath he drew was an effort, but he never let it show.
He has paid the debt that we all have to pay, the one thing we cannot shun.
Because we aren't even promised tomorrow, and the day has just begun.
God called him home to a better place and our hearts are heavy as stone.
But he was laughing and talking one moment and the next one he was gone.
Now he is in peace with no pain to bear, his breathing as silent as stone.
But we can rest in peace because we know that God has called him home.
