The Wonders Of Windsor Wowed Us!

Nanalee Nichols
Editor's Note: I meant to close this column out this week, but a number of people have told me not to do that just yet...they want to hear more. Since no one has voiced an opinion to the contrary, I shall continue for this week and next.

Last week I had a birthday. I didn't like it.

I joined the ranks of the unfortunals when I decided that I wouldn't have any more. Or at least not admit to them. Instead of holding at 39 for ten years, I thought I'd hold at 38 instead.

I can remember very, very clearly when I thought that being young was a personal achievement.

I felt a little contempt for older people, and a whole lot of pity.

The realization that I would someday be the same age as they just didn't soak in.

I was sure I'd always be a teenager, or in my twenties!

I suspect that, too, is hardly original. An awful lot of young people feel exactly the same way. Oh, well, their day is coming!

But back to my 38th birthday. The absolutely terrible thing about it was that I woke up feeling older. I swear, my back ached. My joints were stiffer than usual. My head held dozens and dozens more white hairs than they had the day before.

Those wrinkles that were just beginning to show had matured overnight!

Cindy made things sooo much better by putting on my card, "One more until the BIG 4-0." With friends like her...who needs...well, you know the expression.

My husband told me that me being older made him feel older. He also laughed and reminded me that I was older than him to begin with.

Thanks a lot, buddy.

The trees in my brother's back yard were planted the summer I was born. He reminded me that those were getting to be big trees...old trees.

Thanks a lot, brother.

It went on that way the whole day. By the end of the afternoon, I was considering what type of wheel chair should purchase, what kind of dentures I needed, and wondering when the hearing aide would become necessary.

Then I recalled what Vera Grogan, a spry 81, always said. As she rolled up another paper she would grin and look up with "Well...I don't know but one way to quit having birthdays...and I'm sure not ready to do that yet."

Thanks, Mrs. Grogan, from the bottom of my heart. I'm determined now that when I'm her age, I'll feel the same way. Hey, you're only as old as you feel!

of the room seemed perfectly natural. Huge chandeliers of Waterford crystal grace the length of the room. Light sparkled and bounced off the gold and crystal, and one could only gaze and gaze until the neck gave out!

Closets were big rooms with priceless paintings within, bedrooms held beds fifteen feet high and decked with golden embroidery and velvets, carved woods and ostrich plumes.

We spent hours going from room to room. We saw the mahogany dining table where President and Mrs.

Reagan dined with the heads of state. The table was closed to its smaller proportion walls while we were there...it would only seat 75 people. When all the leaves are in it, it will seat 150!

Also at Windsor, Madame Trussard's waxworks had an exhibition called "Royalty and Empire". These hundreds of wax figures were absolutely astonishing. One expected them to move and breathe.

Devoted to the reign of Queen Victoria, they followed her through the course of her lifetime, from young woman to her death.

Inside the theatre, the most amazing figures of all spoke, moved and commented upon the age. Charles Dickens and Florence Nightingale spoke their piece, and Victoria and Albert told their dreams at the beginning of her rule.

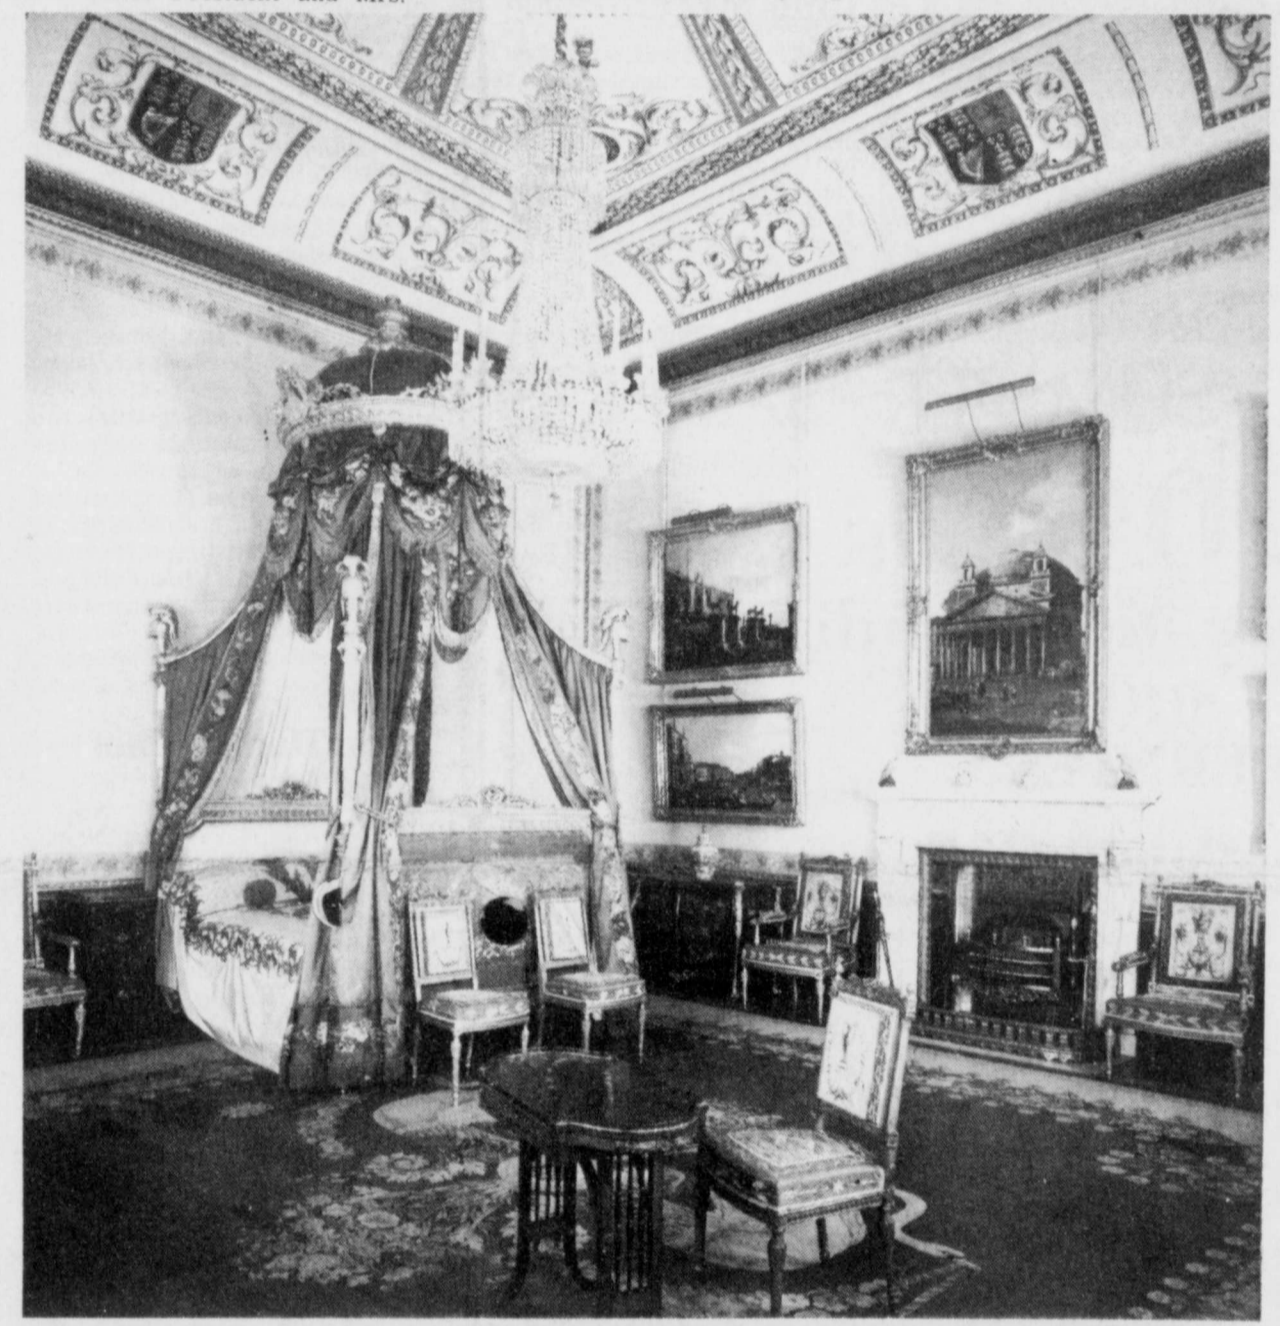

Even her little dog, lying at her feet, perked his ears at her voice, wagged his tail and yawned!

After the awesome experience of Windsor, it was pleasant to drive out into the countryside to Runnymede.

Here, breeze touched meadows rolled while peaceful cattle grazed upon the hillside.

Runnymede is famous for being the site the Magna Carta was signed on. This world famous document was the beginning of "Justice Under The Law" and the beginning of legal process as we know it.

It wasn't hard, as we wandered across the empty meadow, to imagine the jingle of harness and bits, the flash of bright cloaks and armour as mounted knights and barons, kings and dignitaries met on this hallowed ground for various ceremonies, including the signing of the Magna Carta, back in the ten hundreds.

SOME BEDROOM! The King's State Bedchamber at Windsor Castle is quite elaborate, as this picture shows. It has actually been several centuries since royalty has used the room for sleeping, instead, secret affairs of state were discussed and settled in bygone

We walked on down a fence line, then up a winding path through handsome trees. There, inscribed on plain granite, was a monument to John F. Kennedy, set in the center of an acre of land that Great Britain gave to America in memory of the assassinated president.

The rain began again after we had our walk, and we drove home (how easy it was to think of our friend's place as home), through gathering dusk.

A fire, (yes, in July) took away the chill when I sat in Mic's living room sipping iced tea... (we had the craving, old habits are hard to break).

We began to talk about some of the expressions we heard among the British.

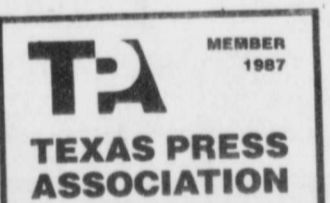

"Full of beans and bus tickets" is their expression for feeling happy and ready to go.

"There's not enough room to swing a cat in" speaks of tight spaces.

For me, the one that sent me off into gales of laughter was "To hell with poverty...give the cat the goldfish!"

"The weakest to the wall" we found out, is an ancient expression. It seems that originally there were no seats in church...only a long bench along each wall of the building. There the crippled, infirm and ill would sit, while all others stood...hence the expression!

We went, as always, to bed early, because we were always tired and happy after a day filled with our friends and their lovely nation.

of absolutely stunning choir pews carved hundreds of years ago. Every now and again I was struck by the multitude of lives that went into the creation of all this beauty.

One can picture the wood carvers and gilders going about their business within some huge structure before it's completion, hundreds upon hundreds of them painstakingly chipping out works of art.

In Windsor Castle itself, we entered a room which almost literally took me to my knees in shock.

Overhead was the most fabulous ceiling I had ever seen. Done all in gold, it was intricate, yet so perfectly proportioned that the immense size

The bride is the daughter of Al and Sherin Kline of Dallas. The groom is the son of Talmadge and Dorothy Morgan of Mt. Pleasant.

LACI JO Taylor, daughter of David and Teresa Taylor of Talco, celebrated her fourth birthday Saturday, August 8 at McDonald's. Laci received many nice gifts and enjoyed eating cake and ice cream. Those attending were her parents, David and Teresa, her grandmother, Patsy Tyer, Jewel Rountree, Linda, J.J. and Lindey Moffat, Clea, Brandon and Keaton Millhorn, Susie, Justin, Leslie and Brandon Skelton, Donna, Steven and Susan Hearn, Robin, Kristen and Meagan Sims, Michelle and Allison Hanks, Judy and Clint Birchfield, aunt Beverly and Joey Taylor, aunt Tammy Tyer and aunt Tawana Teffeler.

BIRTHS

A son, Travis Allen, was born Monday, August 17 to Mr. and Mrs. Allen Grogan of Los Angeles, California. Grandparents are Dr. and Mrs. Earl Wayne Grogan of Rockville, Maryland. Great-grandmother is Vera Grogan.

Matthew Kent was the name chosen for the son born August 4 to Roy W. and Mary Tillman of Mt. Pleasant. Grandparents are Ed and Ruth Watson of Cleveland and Roy E. and Esther Tillman of Bogata. Great-grandmother is Mrs. Francis Wheeler of Huntsville.

The bride's chosen colors of white, dusty rose and silver gray were apparent throughout the ceremony and reception. Floral baskets of iris, snapdragons and gerber daisies flanked the altar of the chapel which was accented by the unity candle.

Eric Goldstrom, the chapel organist, presented the processional, "The Prince of Denmark March" by Clark, and the recessional, "We Thank Thee, Lord" by Bach.

The bride was escorted to the altar by her brother, Timothy Kline, and given in marriage by her parents. She was gowned in white satin with a sweetheart neckline and short puffy sleeves. The fitted bodice was accented with seed pearls, lace and embroidery. A chapel length train with lace insets extended from the dropped waistline. She wore her mother's wedding veil, a crown of pearls and illusion. She carried a cascade bouquet of baby's breath and freesia centered with phalaenopsis orchids. A concealed blue garter completed the tradition of "something old, new, borrowed and blue."

The groom was attired in a white tuxedo with a dusty rose cummerbund, bow tie and freesia boutonniere. The best man, Jimmy Smith of Clarksville, and the groomsmen, Edwin Lee of Glenn Heights, Bobby Smith of Irving, Mike Trapp of Arlington and Richard Mch of Dallas, wore identical silver gray tuxedos with cummerbunds, bow ties and boutonnieres of matching dusty rose. The ushers were Chuck Earley of Arlington and Jim Earley of Tyler.

The matron of honor, Connie Darrow of Arlington, and the bridesmaids, Julia Knight of Shreveport, LA, Cecile Kitlock of Dallas, Christi Schmidt of Arlington, all friends of the bride, and Tessa Morgan of Irving, sister of the groom, wore tea length dresses of dusty rose taffeta with sweetheart necklines, pointed drop waistlines and ruffled sleeves. They each carried a free form bouquet of gerber daisies, iris and astromaria.

The bride's mother chose a blue textured silk tea length dress with pink accents. The groom's mother wore a tea length dress of pale olive champagne with bone accessories. The mothers each lighted a candle during the ceremony, with which the newly married couple lighted the unity candle.

Following the wedding ceremony, the bride's parents honored the couple with a reception in the R.L. Thorntone Alumni Center on the SMU campus. Rose and silver balloons decorated the area. The bride's table was covered with a rose satin cloth centered with the lemon-filled bridal cake, topped with a cascade of flowers. Crystal bowls of punch flanked the cake, with the groom's traditional chocolate cake on a side board. The buffet table held small sandwich meats, cheeses, vegetables, dips, a watermelon fruit basket and other hors d'oeuvres.

Piano music was provided in the parlor room by Harrietta Flachmeier, a friend of the family.

Members of the houseparty for the reception were Randa Collins and Lana Collins of Corpus Christi, Cathy Knebel of Hockley, cousins of the bride, and Melissa Casey of Stafford.

Eileen Fortney of Dallas presided at the registry.

At the close of the reception, in place of rice bags, silver and rose colored balloons were distributed to the guests and released when the couple left for their wedding trip to Orlando, Florida.

The bride is a 1981 graduate of Lake Highlands High School in Dallas and 1985 graduate of Stephen F. Austin University in Nacogdoches. She is employed as a math teacher with Ennis Independent School District. The groom is a graduate of Rivercrest High School of the Talco-Bogata Independent School District and a 1985 graduate of the University of Texas at Arlington. He is employed by the Mesco Metal Building Company in Grapevine. Upon their return from their wedding trip, they will be at home in Arlington.

Following the wedding rehearsal on the night before the wedding, the groom's parents, Talmadge and Dorothy Morgan, were hosts for the rehearsal dinner at Hoffbraur's in Dallas. The wedding party, their guests, and the immediate families of the bride and groom celebrated the occasion. Special guests were grandparents of the bride, Rev. and Mrs. A.L. Phennig of Austin, Mrs. Olive Kline of Pittsburg, PA and grandmother of the groom, Mrs. W.L. Brueck, Sr. of Woodville and aunts, Mrs. George W. Smith and Mrs. Murphy Davis, also of Woodville.

The Best Way To Keep Your House Cool May Be With a Blanket

It seems strange to use a blanket in the middle of summer. But to keep cool air inside your house, you need the blanket effect of proper insulation.

Without proper insulation, your home loses cool air in the summer (and warm air in the winter). Your cooling/heating system must work harder to maintain a comfortable temperature. The proper amount of insulation will make your home more energy efficient and comfortable.

See if your home meets the recommended "R" value for your area by contacting us today for a free booklet on energy efficient homes.

Smith-Vaughan Exchange Wedding Vows

Melissa Jan Vaughan and Warren Todd Smith were united in marriage Saturday evening, August 15 at Richardson East Church of Christ in Richardson. The ceremony was performed by Larry James, minister of the church.

The couple exchanged vows before a wedding arch flanked by two matching seven branch candelabras all decorated with greenery and variegated pink roses and bows.

The bride was escorted by her father, Jennings Harley Vaughan, at-tired in a full length gown of white satin made by her mother, Pansy Vaughan. She carried an arm bouquet of a dozen varigated pink roses and baby's breath accented with ribbons of varigated pink and tied with a bow of delicate lace.

Her sister, Sarah Hughes of Capistrano Beach, CA, served as matron of honor. Cara Ballard of Keller, DeeAnn Hutson of Friona and Shannon Worley of Kingfisher, OK served as bridesmaids. All wore matching pink print tea-length dresses and carried small arm bouquets of varigated pink roses and baby's breath.

The bridegroom was dressed in white tails with a boutonniere of two pink roses. Kevin Bentley of Oklahoma City, Ok served as best man. Groomsmen were Terry Watkins of Oklahoma City, Ok and the bridegroom's two brothers, Black Smith of Garland and Scott Smith of Allen. They were dressed in charcoal gray tuxedos with pink bow ties and cummerbunds. Ushers were David Vaughan, brother of the bride of Richardson, Marc Hughes, the bride's brother-in-law of Capistrano Beach, CA and Robert Carter of Dallas. The candlelighter was Chris Vaughan, nehow of the bride from Dallas.

The bride's sister, Sarah Hughes, played prelude music on the piano. Several songs were sung by friends and members of the church.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the church fellowship hall. The guests helped themselves to a buffet including roast beef, fried chicken strips, rolls, vegetables, fruit and cheese and crackers. The bride's four-tiered wedding cake was covered in fresh pink roses and topped with a miniature bride and groom. The chocolate groom's cake was made by the bride's next door neighbor.

Followign a honeymoon trip to Hawaii, the couple will move to Oklahoma City where they will be living until April when they graduate from Oklahoma Christian College and move back to the Dallas area.

The bridegroom's parents are Walter and Jane Smith of Richardson. Mrs. Mae Alsbrook of Bogata is the bride's grandmother.

If you have a household member for whom last month's income was higher or lower than usual, list the person's expected average monthly income.

Verification: The information on the application may be checked by the school year.
