

Nichols
Worth

By Nanalee Nichols

I had a wonderful birthday weekend. I fulfilled one of those little dreams most of us have, and went flying in a Steerman.

For those who may not know what a Steerman is, it's an open cockpit, vintage biplane.

To me, it's what flying is all about...the wind whipping the face, the earth slowly moving by below. It's a feeling of total peace and contentment, a disassociation from the world below. No panel of dozens upon dozens of instruments, just basics like altimeter, air speed and fuel. It's basic flight.

The pilot dipped and dived, did wing overs and generally delighted me.

When we finally landed and taxied up for fuel the awesome, AT6 was sitting out on the pad.

"Let's just give you a ride in this" the pilot grinned. I lit up like the proverbial Christmas tree.

But some things don't work out quite like planned.

The AT 6 is another vintage aircraft. It was used during World War II to train pilots, and is as different from a Steerman as can be imagined.

It possess well over 600 horse power, arrayed in radial majesty.

The AT 6 doesn't crank up without drawing a small crowd of aircraft buffs.

Soooo, I managed to scramble up on the big silver wing. The pilot points to this tiny little metal flange behind me, high up on the side of the aircraft.

"Put your foot on that, grasp the side of the cockpit and pull yourself up straight, then step down into the seat" he said.

I tried timidly. I didn't make it. I looked down on the ground, which suddenly seemed a lot further down than I realised.

Below me was a grinning circle of unfamiliar male faces.

There was one familiar face...that of my smiling husband, armed with a camera.

One of the men said "Don't worry, if you fall, just throw yourself into the cockpit head-first".

Sure. Oh, Yeah. Right. I'm going to be wedged headfirst in the seat of an AT 6 with strangers laughing their heads off. I'm going to take this risk while my spouse is merrily shooting pictures. Uh huh.

I try again, only to flop back down on the wing.

The pilot, a true gentleman, says "Oh, well, it's no problem, we've got a ladder around her somewhere".

That scene rises up before me. I've SEEN that airport ladder. It's about as old as the airplane, in fact, maybe older. It looks like it was used to scale castle walls in medieval times!

I can see my bulk wobbling up to the tip top of that structure, and leaping into the cockpit.

The potential for total humiliation was just too great.

I shake my head-stop and think, then my eyes fasten on my still smiling husband.

"Let him go instead" I say softly.

I want you to know he didn't say anything to the effect of "go ahead, it's your birthday". He didn't offer to get the ladder, or hold it, or anything else.

In fact, he almost knocked me off the wing in his hurry to get UP there!

I scrambled down, face burning in embarrassment.

That's how I came to sit on the grass and watch him taxi off in that incredible machine, to have a wonderful time.

But, I had a wonderful time too, in the biplane. So it all balanced out. But, I think we made a mistake.

If we'd taken a video camera to film my attempts to get in that plane we would, without a doubt, have become richer. No way that funniest home video program could have passed THAT one up!

Retirees Are Raising The Roof!

These Men Spend "Golden Years" Living "Golden Rule"

By Nanalee Nichols

The scene is Cunningham, workmen toil under the Texas summer sun. Sweat glistens on brows...and faith shines from their faces.

With smooth efficiency this building crew has raised four church walls within three hours, and have the inside walls cut.

Their average age is seventy. Yet it would be difficult to find a work crew that could match them in excellence and enthusiasm.

The sign proclaims "Built for the Glory of God by Texas Baptist Men". There's a lot of joking about putting up a note that says "And One Methodist Man", for one of the twenty three workers on the job Monday morning at Cunningham was retired Methodist instead of Baptist.

They may be the hardest working group of retirees anywhere around. They work from January until October each year, building churches where ever there is a need.

Last Thursday and Friday this crew came into Cunningham. Their camping trailers are neatly rowed up, their trailer, loaded with all their tools and equipment, is on site. The slab was ready. Ten working days from now, the Cunningham Baptist Church will be complete except for sheet rock finishing and painting.

Their pay for this job is one meal a day...the rest of the time their wives, who are also on hand, will be fixing food for them.

Cunningham church members are there to assist in any way possible. Rev. Glen Renfro can't get the smile on his face quite wiped off.

And Monday morning, when the first wall went up, there was more than one tear of joy shed.

There are three other crews working in Texas right now.

They have been doing this for nearly thirteen years.

Olan Miles is the co-ordinator for this crew, and had much to do with the whole idea of retirees serving the Lord through building churches.

A soft spoken, pleasant man whose devotion is very evident, he speaks of growing up on a farm as a youngster.

"When a farmer was injured or sick, everyone pitched in and worked the crop until he was well...when the church building burned everyone came in and they built it back" he remembers.

"I got to thinking that this type of thing would be a real mission".

The groups don't build churches where a congregation is wealthy enough to just hire it done with no "pinch".

No strangers to this area, they have built the Lakeview Baptist Church after the Paris tornado, and the Emberson church after that tornado.

So far this year they have built 26 churches. In addition, they conduct revival services during the construction period!

This Sunday, six days after they began, these laymen will conduct services in the new building!

Each meeting will feature a different speaker as they witness for God. The idea of people helping people in this manner is nationally known.

This association has been featured on CBS, NBC and many local stations.

They have built churches as far away as Hawaii and Alaska.

They hail from all over the state: Beaumont, Midland, La Mesa, Woodville, Austin, Corpus Christi and even Clovis, New Mexico.

Patient wives adjust to being "on the road" most of the year. They gather with local church women for fellowship and fun, frequently at the old church structure. They visit door to door, and carry on mission work like their men.

Tools are purchased through donations and a mission fund.

When asked what happens when a really expensive piece of equipment goes out Olan smiles "Somehow there is always a donation or fund to meet the need". "It just happens" he continues.

Each crew consists of a lead electrician, lead plumber, lead carpenter, a superintendent of trailers, and a spiritual leader.

The plumber is that lone Methodist. He jokes that he isn't going to plumb them a Baptismal Font, and that the Cunningham Baptist will have to "sprinkle".

Their tool trailer is a masterpiece of organization. From radial saws to hammers, everything has a proper place. Their temporary electric hook-ups, and everything they need to begin work smoothly, is all on hand.

Very few of them are actually pursuing the work they spent their life time as an "employed" (it's impossible to see these men as retired) people doing.

One worked for Southwest Bell Telephone, another was a machinist. They come from varied walks of life, and spend their time now working for God.

They will be here only a short time, but in that time they do so much.

They asked that an invitation be extended to everyone to attend their services...Sunday morning at 11:00, then Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday at 7:00 at the new church, just west of Cunningham on the main road.

Driving off, a glance in the rear view mirror shows each and every one of them back at work again, sawing, using hammers and nail gun intent on their purpose.

It's impossible not to feel good after watching these dedicated at work.

It's also impossible not to wonder how much more could be achieved in life if more of us could learn to work together to get things done.

These so called "retirees" have added real meaning to the term "Golden Years" for their gift is beyond price...their gift is of themselves.

Malone- Dobbs United In Marriage

Misty Michele Malone and Glen Lee Dobbs, Jr. were married in a formal double ring ceremony at the Highway Full Gospel Church in Paris at 7 p.m. Saturday, June 28th. The Rev. Dverle Archer, Minister at Highway Full Gospel Church, officiated as the couple pledged their vows to each other.

The bride is the daughter of Lawrence and Rita Malone of Taylortown. Her grandparents are David and Frieda Mauldin and C.L. and Ora Lee Malone of Taylortown. The bridegroom is the son of Bud and Paulette Dobbs of Paris and the grandson of Margie Pitcock and the late Paul Pitcock and Arlie and Lillie Dobbs of Paris.

The traditional wedding march and recessional were presented by Kim Roach, pianist. Clifton Mauldin, of Oklahoma City, sang "More" and "Love Me Tender" and Henry and Sissy Long, of McKinney, sang "All My Life".

The wedding scene was decorated with a white heart-shaped archway covered with peach flowers and accented with peach bows. On each side of the archway stood white candleabras holding 15 inch, peach tapered candles decorated in similar fashion to the arch. Baskets of greenery sat at the base of the candleabras.

The bride was escorted by her father and given in marriage by her parents. She wore a white satin gown fashioned with a sweetheart neckline and short ruffled sleeves of twinkle cloth at the shoulder, and fitted lace sleeves down to the wrist accented with seed pearls and iridescent serpins. The full skirt was gathered at the basque waist and decorated with matching appliques and ruffles which flowed into a chapel-length train. The brides cathedral-length veiling of illusion fell from a wreath of satin flowers and pearls, and formed pearl embellished puffs at the back and was designed and made by her mother. She carried a silk bouquet of peach roses and carnations.

The attire of the bridal attendants carried out the color theme of the wedding. Their full-skirted, ballerina-length dresses of emerald green satin featured sweetheart necklines with a gathered ruffle forming a small sleeve accented with bows at the front and back. They carried lace fans decorated with flowers and ribbons in peach and green.

Lori Malone, of Taylortown, attended her sister as maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Becky Williams, of Tyler, Sandee Dingman, of Pattonville, of Paris, Angie Robbins, of Greenville, Shelley Ladd, of Pattonville, Mendy Dobbs, sister of the groom, of Paris, and Christal Gilbert, cousin of the bride, of Taylortown, was flower girl.

Kyle Smith of Paris served as best man. Groomsman were Bruce Watson, of Cunningham, Brad Watson, of Taylortown, Bradley Ogles, cousin of the groom, of Sulphur Springs, and Chad Longs, of McKinney. Josh and Dusty Malone, of Lamar Point, cousins of the bride, were ring bearer and escort.

Ushers were Jeff Fendly and Wes Winters, both of Paris. Candlelighter was Jeffery Gilbert, cousin of the bride, of Taylortown.

Cynthia Sides, of Arkansas, Aimee Archer, Miriah Feemster, and Kasey Bell, all of Paris passed out rice bags to all the guests.

After the ceremony, a reception was held in the Fellowship Hall of the Highway Full Gospel Church in Paris.

Members of the houseparty were Kathy Malone, aunt of the bride, of Lamar Point, Deddie Gilbert, aunt of the bride, of Taylortown, Donna Archer, Glenn and Marilyn Bell, Geney Simpson, Karen Graham, all of Paris, Cathy Flippin, aunt of the groom, of Sumner, Barbara Woodard, Delores Gordon, both of Paris, Carolyn Ladd, of Pattonville, and Rhonda Dockray of Paris.

Following the wedding, the couple will make their home in Lewisville.

The bride is a 1989 graduate of Prairiland High School. She attended Paris Junior College, and is currently enrolled at the University of North Texas in Denton, where she will continue her education in Biology.

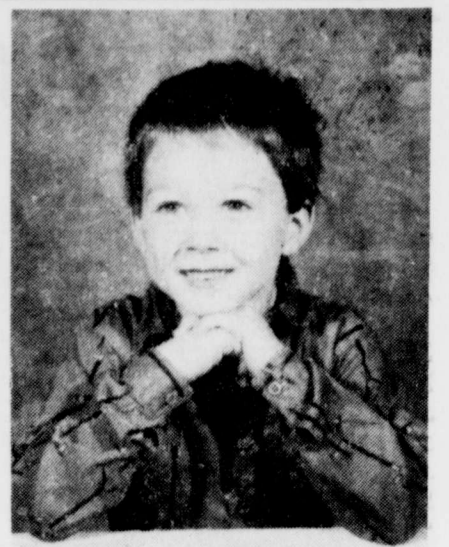

The bridegroom is a 1988 graduate of Prairiland High School. He is employed at Flex-O-Lite, and plans on attending school in the fall and becoming an electrician.

Letter To The Editor:

To The Editor:
If people drove around Bogata, just up and down the streets, they would be surprised at the number of houses they would find that are vacant with the yards grown into nearly forests. Some are so overgrown that it is hard to find the house! Almost in every case, the person or persons who own these places are old people and are in the nursing home. Usually all the money these people have is their Social Security check each month, about $200 or $300 a month. They only get about $30 a month for their own personal use. That certainly isn't enough to pay for keeping their property decent, and so it gets very overgrown. These vacant, overgrown places are ripe for thieves and vandals. These type people then, under the cover of darkness, break into these houses (which is breaking and entering) take furniture and other things (which is theft) and then usually just trash the inside of the house (which is vandalism). These type persons are about the lowest there are for they have no respect for other people or their property. If the shoe was on the other foot and what they did to these old people were done to them, you could hear them yelling and hollering all over Red River County about THEIR rights being violated! Never mind that these same type people had violated their rights and property of an old person who is unable to help himself.

Sincerely,
Bettye Jane King
