Briscoe Dedicates Plant

The dedication ceremonies were held at the plant at 1 p. m. with Royce Adkins, president of the Haskell Industrial Foundation and Richard Marcus, president of Herman Marcus, Inc., clipping the ribbons and opening the plant to the large number of people waiting to inspect the modern clothing manufacturing plant. Almost 2,000 people were on hand to hear Gov. Briscoe make the dedicatory address. In the Governor's address, he said, "It is a very great pleasure to be with you today and to join in this dedication ceremony of the

Register To Vote

Texas Secretary of State Mark W. White, Jr., today issued a reminder to any qualified persons wishing to participate in the November 5th General Election that they must be registered by October 5, 1974. A voter registration application may be obtained at the County Tax Assessor-Collector's office in the applicant's county of residence. The application may be filed either in person or by mail.

Many counties maintain branch offices in various locations throughout the county, and deputy registrars may be assigned to other areas. The Tax Assessor-Collector's office should be contacted for specific information.

Secretary White noted that a registration is valid for three years and is automatically extended for the succeeding three-year period by voting in a primary or general election. Consequently, many voters who have participated in prior elections need not make application to renew their registration.

Rally Huge Success

The Giant Democratic Political Rally held in Haskell Tuesday was a huge success with nearly 2,000 people attending. A number of schools permitted groups of students to attend and the Haskell High School Band provided entertainment for the gathering.

At no time in recent history has such a slate of state officials and candidates honored Haskell County at one time. The efforts of those who planned the rally and those who assisted were rewarding to the host of people present.

The activities began promptly at 10 a. m. with Royce Adkins presenting retired District Judge Ben Charlie Chapman, who in turn introduced the Honorable Bill Heatly, Representative from the 101st District, who served as master of ceremonies.

Mr. Heatly recognized a number of guests and dignitaries including Mrs. Margaret Snyder, Democratic Committeewoman of Baird, and Mr. Charles Stenholm, Democratic Committeeman of Stamford. Speakers recognized who addressed the large group were Tom Cartledge, unopposed candidate for the State House of Representatives from the 53rd District; Ray Farabee, candidate for the State Senate from the 30th District; Jack Hightower, candidate for U. S. Congress seat from the 13th Congressional District; John Hill, Attorney General; Mack Wallace, Railroad Commissioner; Bill Hobby, Lt. Governor; and Governor Dolph Briscoe. It was apparent from the remarks of all officials and candidates the Democratic Party is united and has a positive platform to present to the voters. An impressive statement by most of those on the platform was the urge for voters to become involved with government by selecting those to serve through the voting process and communication with the officials who are elected. Mr. Heatly assured the audience that if Mr. Ford can solve the inflation problem as rapidly as he can grant pardons, we are all in good shape.

Others attending the gathering were Mrs. Briscoe, Mrs. John Hill, Dale King, representing Omar Burleson, David Ratliff, former State Senator, Marshal Formby, former Highway Commissioner and presently a member of the Texas College Coordinating Board, Charles Fennell, State Representative, and a number of neighboring county and district officials. Clifford Teinert of Albany catered the barbecue luncheon after the rally activities and served approximately 700 people.

Free Press Now Offset

Bill Comedy, Publisher of the Haskell Free Press, announced today that the newspaper is now being printed offset.

According to Comedy, the changeover was initiated to provide both readers and advertisers with a better product. The new process provides more effective use of advertising space and a better general quality of the entire newspaper. Estimated cost of the offset conversion will be around $20,000.00.

The Free Press began operation on Jan. 1, 1886, and was printed in Throckmorton. News items and advertisements were taken weekly to Throckmorton by horse. Circulation of the paper at that time was 150. Today the Free Press is delivered weekly to 2,600 homes. The Free Press was printed in Throckmorton until April of that year. H. D. Leonard, who established the paper, loaded an army press, a stand, a piece of slate for an ink table, a six column composition roller, a few pounds each of pica, long primer and brevier type, and a few fonts of advertising type, ranging from 12 to 24 point into a two horse hack and began printing the paper in Haskell.

At that time the value of the equipment was estimated at roughly $150.00. Today the equipment used in the production of the newspaper is valued in excess of $100,000.00.

For over 88 years the paper was printed by the letterpress process. Letterpress uses a melted lead process. The lead is cast into a raised letter slug which prints directly onto the newsprint. The slugs are placed together to form a page. Each page weighs between 100 and 150 pounds.

The offset process is photographic and requires no letterpress equipment. Pictures of news stories and advertisements are pasted on a page size sheet and photographed. The resulting negative is placed on a thin, light sensitive sheet of aluminum. The metal plate, af-

4-H Enrollment Continues Up

COLLEGE STATION—National 4-H Week will be observed Oct. 6-12, with the theme: "4-H—We Can Make It Happen," and this offers a good opportunity to take a look at the 4-H program in Texas during the past year.

According to Dr. Don Stormer, state 4-H and youth leader for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, "4-H enrollment continues to make good strides. For 1973-74, a total of 124,747 Texas youth between the ages of 9 and 19 were active in 4-H activities. This is about an 8.75 per cent increase over the 1972-73 period."

Of the 4-H'ers, the biggest percentage live in towns under 10,000 population—33%. About the same number live on farms and ranches as live in central cities—23 to 24 per cent. Some 16 per cent of the members live in towns and cities of more than 10,000 population.

Stormer notes that there were a total of 3,433 different clubs or special groups, with at least one such club in each of the state's 254 counties.

The 4-H'ers were enrolled in nearly 200,000 different projects. Those concerning agriculture and related subjects totaled some 71,000 while those in home economics and related areas totaled about 66,000. Some 60,000 other projects were in a wide range of special interest areas.

"Almost 21,000 volunteer leaders were involved in 4-H programs and activities during the past year, up several hundred from the previous year," points out Stormer. Of this number, some 14,600 are adults while the remainder are junior and teen leaders.

"So, 4-H is continuing to progress in Texas. Programs are providing more learning and leadership experiences for youth so that they will be better equipped to take their place in tomorrow's world."

"4-H is indeed 'making it happen,' not only in Texas but throughout the nation," contends Stormer.

In Defense of the Farmer

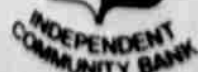

Once again the American farmer is being made the villain in a period of rising costs. It's easy to blame the farmer for higher food prices and overlook the complexity of factors that have combined to boost the grocery bill.

The group which defends the farmer is the organization of local, independent community banks throughout the nation, the Independent Bankers Association of America (of which we are a member). We know the farmer's problems. We know his income still seriously lags behind national growth. We know he is being made a whipping boy. Because we know this, we say so: Here, at home, where we share his problems, and through the IBAA, in Washington.

For generations the American independent bank and the farmer have worked together for a common prosperity, a common effort to serve the nation. Let's keep it that way . . . after all, the farmer is an important part of us.

Progressive Study Club Meets

The Progressive Study Club met for the first regular meeting of the 1974-75 club year in the Community Room. The room was decorated in a carnival theme by the yearbook committee. Mrs. Roy T. Everett, Mrs. Bailey Toliver and Mrs. Doyle High. As club members walked the midway they found a cake walk, dart game, penny pitch, animal safari, and ring toss to try their luck and bring back memories of carnival days. After much fun on the midway, a ticket in the form of the new club yearbook was presented to each member to enter the big show and hear carnival barker Carolyn Everett shouting of the coming events for the new club year. She told of programs which will consist of arts and crafts, health tips, picture taking, calorie counting, treasures new and old, dinner theatre, reading for pleasure, vacation spots, and conservation and fashion. Barker Everett happily told of plans for each of the programs and encouraged each one to begin the new year with enthusiasm and a new theme. Experience A Change of Pace.

Vote Absentee Oct. 16-Nov. 1

Secretary of State Mark W. White, Jr., today announced that all voters wishing to cast an absentee ballot for the November 5 General Election may do so beginning October 16. According to Secretary White, the proper absentee voting procedure will depend upon each individual voter's situation.

Those persons who expect to be absent from their county of residence only on the day of the election may vote by personal appearance during regular office hours at the county clerk's office.

Those persons who expect to be absent from their county of residence both during the time for voting by personal appearance and on election day can make application to their county clerk requesting that an absentee ballot be mailed to them at an address outside the county.

In addition, those persons residing within the county but unable to vote on election day due to sickness, physical disability, religious belief, or incarceration for less than a felony, can also make application to their county clerk requesting an absentee ballot by mail.

White noted that the absentee voting period for the November 5 General Election will continue through Friday, Nov. 1. In addition, White said some counties may have established additional absentee voting locations for persons wishing to vote absentee in person and suggested that anyone interested in determining where such locations may be, contact their county clerk.

educational effort to children... At the same time, regular classroom teachers are gaining new insights into the needs of all children, Ptasnik believes.

Special education resource teachers, school psychologists, and other specialists are helping other teachers better recognize the individual differences in all children.

In El Paso, for example, 60 percent of our primary grade teachers are using different ways of grouping children in the first three years of school because of their work with special education children, Ptasnik says.

Now they really plan for the child—whether he or she is above average, average, or handicapped in some way. Plan "A" special education, an emphasis on the learning needs of the child rather than his physical, mental, or emotional handicap, calls for a team effort in both diagnosing the problem and then determining how to meet it.

The school principal plays a key role, Ptasnik points out. "But, he doesn't make the decisions by himself." Before a special education student is taken out of the isolated classroom and placed in a regular session for even one period in the school day, his case is reviewed by a committee of key people—frequently including his parents.

We make sure we have due process every step of the way, Ptasnik points out. "Also, we believe it's absolutely necessary for parents to know and understand and give their consent for any step taken toward educating their child."

Once the child's needs and abilities are determined by the committee, he may be placed in a special education resource room on the school campus for part of the day or all of it. Or, he may move into the regular classes for one hour a day or for most of the time spent in school.

Students with learning disabilities may get a great deal of benefit out of spending part of their school time in regular classes with other children, Ptasnik points out.

On the other hand, some children will never be able to leave the campus resource room for any academic training.

Our job is to make sure we are making the best choice for each individual and to involve the parents and other community agencies into helping us make that choice.

Sagerton News

We ended up receiving around seven inches of rain part of last week and the week before, but it was not until last week that the stock tanks began to collect water, because the rain fell so slowly, and there were so many deep cracks in the ground to fill up.

Now the farmers are looking forward to planting their wheat and oats. Some were lucky enough to have dry planted their wheat and it is coming up very prettily. The pastures are also greening up very fast.

Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Herrington of Amarillo visited here with Mrs. Alice Lewis last weekend and with Mrs. Emma Lammert in Stamford. They are former residents of Sagerton.

The Community Picnic and Volleyball Tournament was enjoyed by young and old alike Saturday afternoon late at Herman Baitz Park. The "over 40" group won more games in the volleyball tournament, and no doubt they had more sore muscles the next morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Stegemoeller and Calvin Stegemoeller, all of Lubbock, were guests in the Leon Stegemoeller home last weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Clancey Lehrmann and Mrs. Otto Lehrmann went to Gatesville Wednesday of last week for funeral services for Berthold Holle, a former resident of this area. He died suddenly at his home Monday, Burkial was in stillwater, Okla.

The Allen Meiers and the Luther Meiers were hosts for family night for members of the Sagerton United Methodist Church at the Sagerton Community Center Wednesday night of last week. Various games were played and refreshments enjoyed.

Mrs. Otto Lehrmann became a great-grandmother Monday morning, Sept. 30, when a little daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Kenny Woods in Snyder. The grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Schwartz, also of Snyder. She is Mrs. Lehrmann's first great-grandchild.

The L.O.C. Home Demonstration Club will hold its monthly meeting in the home of Mrs. Clancey Lehrmann on Thursday, Oct. 3, at 2:00 p. m. Mrs. Barbara Elliott, County Extension Agent, will bring the program on the metric system. Visitors are always welcome, and this program will be interesting to many of us who do not know much about the metric system.

A group of our citizens interested in the Retirement Center met at the Community Center again on Tuesday evening of last week. More discussion was held on planning for the center, but there is still need for more definite applications of those who plan to live in the retirement center. If you are interested and need more information, ask at the Sagerton Post Office. There will be another meeting Tuesday, Oct. 8.

considering Haskell as a location to do business.

"What contributed most to the establishment of this new plant is the high level of local cooperation. When local citizens participate in activities which are designed to benefit all of the citizens, you can always expect good results. And with the help of the Texas Industrial Commission and the Texas Education Agency, local citizens set out to accomplish the task of locating the Herman Marcus plant in Haskell. Your success is already paying off.

"With the current economic situation, I believe it is imperative that we redouble our efforts to increase industrial development throughout Texas and strengthen the economic foundation of both urban and rural areas.

"Within the past five years more than 1,800 new plant facilities have been located in Texas—and we have learned that the industrial development of a city, or an entire state, is not something that can be taken for granted. It is not handed to a community on a silver platter, nor is it achieved by accident. Successful industrial development is the result of the concentrated and cooperative efforts of many individuals and organizations in every sector of the business community.

"Furthermore, successful industrial development requires the interest and involvement of local and state government.

"State government must do far more than merely express encouragement for industrial development—state government must create those conditions which are conducive to industry and to business. This requires the blend of many varying factors, which when considered together, can provide the proper business climate that allows industry to grow and prosper.

"If Texas is to progress, we must continue to develop better opportunities for the people... better economic opportunities which can best be realized through additional industrial development."

Gov. Briscoe further stated: "That Texas has evolved from a sprawling land of cattle, oil rigs, and farming operations to our current status as an industrial giant which is moving ahead at a pace unmatched by any of our sister states." He further stated his policy to develop a climate that encourages industrial and business investment in Texas includes a climate of state fiscal responsibility and efficient government, more trained workers and better job opportunities through improved career-oriented education, and a climate of balanced transportation. He stated that in 1973 there were 354 new plants started in Texas and 348 plant expansions reported. Gov. Briscoe concluded by saying that the many attributes of Texas make it possible for us to experience the industrial development and economic growth that spells growth and progress for the entire state.

In response to the Governor's address, Mr. Herman Marcus expressed his appreciation to the people in the area and offered a challenge to the area to provide the necessary labor force to make this the largest manufacturing plant in West Texas.

The Herman Marcus plant has generated $22,739 in new Federal taxes, $14,579 in new state taxes, and $16,682 in local taxes. The direct annual output of the firm for the Haskell plant is $1,813,894. The economic impact of Herman Marcus in the Haskell area is $4,117,539 annually.

Farabee To Address Lions

Ray Farabee will speak to the Haskell Lions Club on Tuesday, Oct. 8, at noon. His topic will be Industrial Development.

The Wichita Falls businessman and attorney has had broad experience working with a number of industries and businesses that have sought to relocate in north-west Texas. A member of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, he is a strong advocate of rural development and economic diversification in small communities.

Asked to speak frequently on industrial development, Farabee often cites Haskell as an example of a community where the citizens work actively to seek new industry and achieved successful results through well organized volunteer effort.

Farabee is a candidate to the 30th district Texas Senate post being vacated by Sen. Jack Hightower. Both Democrats were in Haskell this week to attend the Democratic Rally and dedication of the Herman Marcus plant.

After leaving Haskell last Tuesday, Farabee and Hightower traveled with the Governor to Vernon and Wichita Falls. In Wichita Falls they opened the Democratic headquarters and conferred on the Democratic platform and issues that are vital to the 30th Senatorial District.

Throughout his campaign, Farabee has been critical of over regulation by state and federal government. He favors local control to find common sense solutions to problems. He is committed to a pay as you go policy in state government and is a strong supporter of Gov. Briscoe's philosophy of no new taxes.

Farabee has been critical of past legislatures that have passed bills without appropriating adequate funds thus placing the burden on local taxpayers. He views this type of legislation as irresponsible.

Letters to Editor

Dear Editor:

Maybe the younger folks around Haskell recognized the mud in a picture in your paper last week—I recognized the boots. Right at this time, with elk hunts coming off and razor blades so hard to buy, his feet are prettier than his face anyway.
