Rotarians Hold Regular Meeting

The Haskell Rotary Club held their weekly luncheon meeting at the City Cafe at noon, Thursday, June 6, with president Charles Thornhill presiding.

Members and guests were definitely put in the mood for the coming football season by a 1973 film of the Dallas Cowboys which was shown by E. J. Stewart in the absence of Charles McCauley who could not attend. The Cowboy football team had a very successful season in 1973 despite the fact that a great number of rookie players had to be played along with the old veterans.

A good attendance of members was noted along with several out-of-town guests. The invocation was given by Rotarian Bob Beauchamp and the singing led by R. C. Couch Jr., with Joan Dean providing accompaniment.

Two Rotary Anns were present in recognition of their anniversaries. They were Mrs. Ferrell (Jae) Coston and Mrs. Charles (Louise) Thornhill. Other guests introduced by Bill Comely were Bob Heppner of Dallas who was the guest of Bob Philpot, Ron Bingham, guest of Roy Wiseman, and Dale Leggett, guest of Bill Comely.

Program chairman for Thursday, June 13, will be Brooks Middleton, and Charles Owens and Howard Perry to serve in the same capacity on June 20 and 27 respectively.

Constitutional Convention Proposes Local Gov. Changes

Article IX concerning government in the new constitution makes provision for important changes in the present constitution written in 1954.

Business News Friday

A new business establishment opened in Haskell on Friday, June 7, at 17 Ave. E. Barber Antiques will hold its grand opening on Friday, according to Ruby Turner and Gayla. The antique store will have a depression glass, primitive collectables, and will carry a limited quantity of occasional furniture. There will be open for business from 10 a. m. to 5 p. m. every week. A door prize was awarded on opening day. Talking with Gayla Nanny learned that a great deal of history and nostalgia is attached to the building housing Shop Antiques. The building was erected in 1907 by E. E. Sherrill for a barber shop and has been used continuously as a barber shop until 1964 of this year. Fixtures in the building date back to 1915. Mr. Sam Parks, who purchased the barber shop, said the fixtures were when he bought the shop. Shop has had two owners, Mr. Parks, Mr. Frank and George Brady and some fixtures were used by W. E. Weitzel Barber shop in Fort Worth and back bar, chairs, oak bench and shoe shine stand bear brand name, "Koken." All fixtures are solid oak with brass caps and the shoe shine and other pieces are made of marble. These un-furnitures are being used by new business.

Years gone by, several new houses occupied quarters in this building and the new occupied by Bynum's Hardware and Furniture. There is a stairway (now covered) in the Barber Shop Antiques building that led to a shop upstairs, and prior to a hotel occupied the second floor.

61 Attend Ladies Night Program

The annual Lions Ladies' Night banquet was held Tuesday night at the Haskell Steak House with 61 Lions, their wives and special guests attending. The meeting was called to order by president Gene Long and John McDermott led the group in singing "America." The pledge of allegiance was led by Doyle High and the invocation was given by Wallace Cox Jr.

After an enjoyable steak dinner, president Gene Long presented award pins for years in Lionism to: Garth Garrett, 10 years; Bud Herren, 15 years; Al Hinds, 15 years; Wallace Cox, Jr., 20 years; George Fouts, 25 years; William Kemp, 25 years; Royce Atkins, 25 years; Jetty Clare, 30 years; and Dr. J. G. Vaughter, 40 years. Special awards were made by Deputy District Governor Zeb Smith of Knox City, to John McDermott and Gene Long. President Long reported 11 new members last year. After remarks reviewing his year as president, Gene Long introduced the speaker of the evening, Larry Suttle, Minister of the Church of Christ. Mr. Suttle's subject for the evening was "Freedom." He stated our immediate thoughts of freedom might go back to the time of our Declaration of Independence but that freedom cannot be bought for us but rather it is an individual matter. Mr. Suttle said we have individual prisons that hinder complete freedom and we must break out of these prisons if we are to know full freedom. He suggested four prisons that hold many people and he admonished the audience to conquer these. Those he mentioned are: 1) Prison of Selfish Concern, 2) Prison of Selfish Satisfaction, 3) Prison of Hate, 4) Prison of Unbelief. In his closing remarks he said, "freedom begins with the individual." New officers and directors were installed by Joe Searcy who also presented the Past-President's pin to outgoing president Gene Long. Special guests were recognized and introduced by Gene Long. The drawing for the beautiful centerpiece was won by Mrs. Stella Tooley. Lion J. C. Yearly gave the benediction.

posed article on local government brings all provisions concerning local government under one article is a substantial improvement in the organization of the constitution.

Only three of the sections of the proposed article are entirely new and have no counterpart in the current constitution. Section 2 of the proposed constitution consists of a general statement that defines the power of counties. The present constitution does not make county powers explicit, but duties and functions are referred to throughout the current document.

A second new provision, section 4, gives local governments more local control by allowing county governing bodies to enact ordinances.

This power to enact ordinances may be granted or repealed at any time by a majority of the voters. This section is intended to allow more local control over such matters as subdivision standards, building codes, sanitation and environmental protection.

The local Government Committee and the convention felt the section dealing with the adoption of county home-rule charters was important enough (Continued on Page 5, Sec. 1)

Fire Calls Down In May

Local Club Participates In State Trapshooting Tournament

Looking for a fast, challenging sport to occupy your time? Maybe trapshooting is the game for you! Trapshooting is one of the oldest organized forms of competitive shooting, and is currently the fastest growing of all shooting sports, growing at the rate of better than 10% per year.

Trap is shot with a 12 gauge shotgun, with all the targets rising from a sunken trap in front of the shooters. The claybirds are all going away from the shooters at a constant height, but at an unknown angle, which makes it such a challenge.

Trap is shot in three events, called singles, doubles, and handicap, and each event is designed to place equal shooters in equal classes, to give them as fair a chance as possible to compete and win.

In the singles event, all shooters stand 16 yards behind the traphouse, with the shooters competing in different classes, according to their known ability, and past record in various shoots.

The doubles event, also shot from the 16 yard line, and also in classes, consists of shooting at two targets released (or thrown) at the same time, but at set angles.

The handicap event places shooters at various distances from the trap, again according to their average, based on past performances, and on their known ability. No shooter may stand closer than the 18 yard line, while the maximum distance is the 27 yard line, a goal all shooters strive for, but one which few reach. A win at any handicap event moves the shooter back various distances, from 1/2 to 3 yards, depending on the number of shooters competing, and the score broken.

Some of the best shotguns in the state and nation will compete June 12 to June 16 at Singletree Gun Club, Lewisville, for the 143 silver trophies, valued at $10,000.00, and for $5,100 in added monies, plus some $30,000 in options and purses put up by the 300-400 shooters expected during the 5 day 850 target Texas State Trapshooting Tournament. The trophies, added monies and other awards are given by the Amateur Trapshooting Association, Texas Trapshooting Assn., and Singletree Gun Club.

26th Sanders Reunion Held In Seymour

106 families registered for the 26th annual reunion of descendants of the late Mr. and Mrs. Simion Sanders, who came to Texas from Alabama in 1837. The reunion is held annually on the second Saturday and Sunday in June at Seymour Park in Seymour.

Arnold McCullough of Breckenridge, Texas was president of this year's reunion and Bobby Sanders, son of George and Stella Sanders of Euless, was elected president for next year. Bobby is a grandson of the late "Aunt Sallie and Uncle Simie" Sanders whose family was best represented this year with eight of their 10 children present along with many grandchildren and great-grandchildren. Another granddaughter and her husband, Jim and Jody Pearson of the Double J Ranch in Stamford, Nebraska furnished music and singing for dancing and entertainment. Their daughter, Bobbie Pearson, traveled the farthest, coming from Las Vegas, Nevada. Mrs. Andrew Sanders of Weinert was the oldest member present while Kristie Ingle, three months old, from Euless, was the youngest. The group presented a gift to each of these.

Cousins who had not seen each other for 40 years were there for the reunion. Families registered from: Newcastle, Delaware; Tucson, Coolidge and Phoenix, Ariz.; Wilson and Ardmore, Okla.; and many Texas towns.

A family style supper was spread Saturday evening and a barbecue beef luncheon was served on Sunday. Everyone had a wonderful time and all are looking forward to next year's reunion.

Constitutional

that voters should consider it separately. The county home-rule charter would allow the voters broader discretion over the organizations and functions of county government.

Other sections of the new article lower the population limit of cities that may adopt home rule charters from 5,000 to 1,500. Cities under 1,500 would be governed according to general law.

Another important section of the proposed Local Government Article allows cities and counties to create special districts and authorities within their boundaries. This section encourages cities and counties to provide new services which would otherwise require the creation of independent special districts, separate and apart from the structure of city and county government.

The net effect should be to reduce the demand for independent special districts which have proliferated under various sections of the current constitution.

Section 10 of the proposed article concerns city and county taxation. Tax rate limits for municipalities and counties are retained in modified form from the current constitution.

Taxes may not be levied by school districts and other special districts unless approved by the voters.

The new section does allow political subdivisions to levy additional taxes to retire bonded indebtedness. This provision should make the bonds of cities and counties more attractive to purchasers and result in lower interest charges to local taxpayers.

The proposed Local Government Article consolidates all of two articles and portions of three others into a single article with 1,400 words. The corresponding sections in the 1876 constitution contain over 9,500 words.

The general effect of the article should be to make the operation of cities, counties and other local governments more flexible, efficient, and responsive to the voters.

You Can Do It

"Dirt can cut the pile and increase wear and tear on carpets," according to television hostess, Cindy Kidwell, of the "You Can Do It!" series. Lessons in this week's half-hour program will cover carpet care when "What's Afoot in Carpet Care" airs Friday at 11:30 a. m. on KTXS, Channel 12.

Sponsored locally by the Haskell Family Living Committee and KTXS-TV, the 13-part educational television series was created and produced by home economists with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, the Texas A&M University System, through a United States Department of Agriculture grant, according to Mrs. Barbara Elliott, County Extension Agent.

Bulletins on any of the projects taught during "You Can Do It!" are available at no charge through the County Extension Office, at 864-2546, or Box 693, Haskell, Texas 79521.

Next week's program will teach care and maintenance of kitchen ranges, the agent said.

Wire Shortage Threatens

A serious baling wire shortage may cause economic hazards, Agriculture Commissioner White warned. White earlier said the shortage would be between 22 and 47 percent. Industry sources reported a 30 percent shortage nationwide and a possibly higher figure for Texas.

Prices may rise from $28 and $50 a carton to $70, White said. A year ago, the price was $13. White said a black market situation may develop in baling wire as in fertilizer. Haybaling is just beginning in the state. Ninety percent of farmers in Texas use wire to bale hay. Twine, too, is in short supply.

Vets Dependents Eligible For Aid

Public Law 93-82, enacted by the Congress on August 2, 1973, authorized a program to provide medical care for the dependents and survivors of certain disabled veterans. According to C. H. Herren, Veterans Service Officer for Haskell County, many eligible persons are not taking advantage of their entitlement under the program, known as Civilian Health and Medical Program of the Veterans Administration (CHAMPVA). Eligible to participate in this cost-sharing medical care program is the spouse or child of a veteran who is permanently and totally disabled because of disabilities which were incurred during military service. Also eligible is the surviving spouse or child of a veteran whose death was caused by a service-connected disability. Persons eligible under this program are provided with medical care identical to that furnished to the military retiree and his dependents and survivors under the Civilian Health and Medical Program of the Uniformed Services (CHAMPUS). The reimbursement claims made by eligible participants are handled by the Mutual Omaha Insurance Co., the Fiscal Agent for Texas. For inpahient care in a civilian hospital, an eligible person must pay 25 percent of the total cost, and CHAMPVA will pay the remaining 75 percent. There is an annual outpatient deductible amount of $50 for one person and $100 per family. After the deductible is met, CHAMPVA will provide reimbursement of 75 percent of the total cost of outpatient care, including drugs and medicines.

Any person who meets the basic requirements may apply for Veterans Administration eligibility by contacting their local Veterans Service Officer. An application form must be completed and sent to the nearest VA hospital or clinic. Each eligible person will be furnished with evidence showing their entitlement to participate in the CHAMPVA medical care program, along with instructions on how and when to file claims for reimbursement.

WASHINGTON
"As it looks from here"
OMAR BURLINGTON
Congressman
17th District

WASHINGTON, D. C. — On March 23, 1972, we described in this space an arrangement with the government of Turkey, whereby that government was to control the cultivation and production of poppies.

Turkey and Iran were supposed at that time to be the principal source of the illegal hard narcotics into the United States.

A new government came to power a few months ago, pledged to allow freedom for Turkish farmers to return to poppy growing. For America it could well mean a new upturn in the availability of illicit narcotics. It was a brief but promising experiment in restraint. According to official records, illegal heroin in this country dropped to almost one-half of the supply prior to 1972. The effect in less than a year was to double the price and considerably reduce the number of hard drug addicts in our population.

The ban on the growing of poppies in Turkey was imposed under heavy American pressure and a subsidy of nearly $36 million which was supposed to help approximately 100,000 Turkish farmers convert to the growing of such crops as wheat, barley, and sugar beets. There were complaints among the farmers who apparently were not receiving very much of the American money. The dissatisfaction was bitter and it brought to power a new government in elections held last October.

There is apparently little that we can do about the situation. Seemingly, it was not just a matter of money. The old government was accused of being dependent on the United States and made it a national issue. Strangely enough, it seems that Turkey has no major drug problem of its own and the people ask the natural question: Why should they sacrifice because another country has a problem?

The Turks' new prime minister is promising that the new poppy harvest will be subject to strict controls in order to assure that the opium is used for legal pharmaceutical purposes. This may be all well and good for their relations with those who suffer from their production. But, on the basis of past experience, no one could guarantee that the lethal end product of the innocent poppy will not again find its way to our city streets after being smuggled through Syria and Lebanon and refined in clandestine plants in France.

The United States has an elaborate setup with the French government to clamp down on illicit narcotics refineries but there are big questions as to how effective it really is. To stop the planting and cultivation of the poppy, except for providing legal supplies, is a good theory, but as long as it is lucrative for the criminals it seems our best hope is to expand our enforcement capabilities against the smugglers and to raise the penalties for violators. The arrest and prosecution of the street pusher is only treating the symptoms. For each pusher taken out of circulation, two more will take his place if the drugs are available. The organizers of the smuggling operation should be made to know that when they are caught they will not soon be back in business.

Older Texans-State Resource

COLLEGE STATION — May marks the 12th national observance of Older Americans Month, and one authority on aging in Texas says older people in the state are an "untapped resource."

She's Mrs. Vivian Blair, family life education—aging—specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Citing resources of Texas' 992,059 residents over 65, the specialist named "time, experience, wisdom and judgment among resources some younger—and some older—people have not accepted as fact yet. They do not recognize what our aging population has to offer," she said.

"Time—something the older Texan has much of—ranks high on the list of resources—and it can be used for personal, neighborhood or community benefit, as many older Texans are proving," Mrs. Blair noted.

She explained that many older Texans are involved in personal activities, such as reading, exercise, art work, gardening or cooking—while others visit shut-ins or read to the blind in their neighborhoods. Community activities reflect an increasing involvement of older Texans among volunteer workers, the specialist said. They work in community hospitals, libraries, schools or museums.

"Other valuable resources, especially those of experience, wisdom and judgment, are gained from long, useful lives—and these can be shared with younger people in the community for mutual benefit," Mrs. Blair explained.

Let 'Sam' Do It

FELKER Sam Parks who has lived in Haskell for quite a number of years. He is a barber, could he be the man?

"Yes, I can see that you wear your hair in a beetle fashion and you certainly could not be looking for a barber by the name of Sam."

"In that case, let's try Sam Herren. He has been here a long time and he keeps up with the weather, gauges the rainfall and etc. No, I will admit that he hasn't been over worked this year making rainfall reports. You are quite sure he is not the Sam you are looking for?"

"OK, we do have another Sam who lives here. His name is Sam Crume and he is office deputy for the County Sheriff. Oh, the least you can have to do with the Sheriff's department the better off you think you will be? Sorry I mentioned it."

"In that case, that brings us to Sam Sharp. He is the minister of the First Christian Church in Haskell, could he be the Sam you are looking for?"

"You are already married and certainly are not looking for a preacher to get hitched again."

"The next Sam on our list would be Sam Johns who just recently moved here from Abilene. He is a pharmacist."

"Yes, it is apparent that you are in good health so you are probably not looking for a pharmacist by the name of Sam."

"Well, now, we do have a young fellow who lives here by the name of Sam Powell. His Dad is one of the owners of the Haskell Livestock Auction. Perhaps he is the Sam you want."

"You would certainly like to buy some choice T-Bone steaks but your ready cash is just not up to it at this time."

"That brings us to Sam Johnston who lives in Haskell County alright but in the town of O'Brien. Could they have told you he lived in Haskell County instead of the town of Haskell? You are sure that he lives in the town."

"You say that all of this makes you want to say, 'What the Sam Hill is going on?'"

Please don't use that expression here, Mr. Jones, because I am sure that we used to have a fellow here by the name of Sam Hill."

"Yes, we do have an unusual number of Sams living in Haskell, but it is a good old American name. Why, the best coon dog I ever owned was named Sam. Just wish that you could give me a little bit more information concerning this Sam you are looking for."

"You do believe that you recall someone saying that the Sam you are looking for has something to do with the School System. Just wish that you had told me that to begin with because it certainly does simplify the matter. That would be Kenneth Sams. Spelled with an 'S' and he is the new superintendent of schools. He and his family haven't moved to Haskell yet but we are looking forward to their arrival. Glad that we figured out who the Sam is that you are looking for.

By the way, if it isn't imperative that you speak to him, you might write a letter addressed in care of Postmaster, Sam Rosser."

"Yes, I will admit that Denton, Texas only had one Sam that gained a wide reputation, but Mr. Jones that was a long time ago. The country has settled up a lot since then and he probably caused more trouble than all our Sams combined."

duction was 153.9 million lbs., grease basis, down 8 percent from 1972.

Farm-facts
A Weekly Report Of Agri-Business News
Compiled From Sources Of The Texas Department of Agriculture
John C. White, Commissioner

More About Shortages—High Plains Dry—REAP Is Back—Citrus Harvest Almost Aver—Mohair, Wool Production Down.

Shortages are the worry of farmers already worried with spring planting of crops; but the fuel shortage is reported bad in only a few Texas counties. Hartley, Wichita and Sherman counties reported tight diesel situations; and Lamb, Wichita, Hartley, Denton, Randall and Mitchell report tight gasoline supplies. High prices are the main concern of fertilizer users. Anhydrous ammonia was reported selling at around $180 a ton, ammonium nitrate $140, 32 percent nitrogen solution $135, and mixed fertilizer (12-12-12) $130 . . . Counties reporting short supplies of baling wire and twine expect to have the back orders filled by baling time. There were 105 counties reporting short supplies of baling wire, and 100 counties reporting short supplies of baling twine. In some places, wire averages $29 a bundle, and twine $26 a bundle.

Lack of moisture plagues the High Plains area, and hopes of subsoil moisture for dryland cotton planting are dim. Dryland wheat is in bad condition except in the eastern part of the Northern High Plains where rain has revived wheat crops. Despite an expected increase of about 10 percent in cotton acreage on the High Plains, the 1974 cotton crop is not expected to be as good as was the 1973 crop. Irrigated wheat is reported in good condition on the High Plains. Irrigated cotton has usually been about 60 percent of the total on the High Plains.

The 1973 Rural Environmental Assistance Program (REAP) has been reinstated, which means $225,500,000 is authorized for cost-share payments to the nation's farmers participating in approved conservation measures. Texas' share in the REAP funds is $19,330,000. Farmers may apply at their county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation (ASC) offices for more information about the program.

The grapefruit and Valencia orange harvest is almost over in the Valley. Grapefruit production was reported by the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service to be about 11 million boxes, 7 percent below last season's production. Early and mid-season oranges were estimated at 4.3 million boxes, 14 percent below last season; and Valencia oranges were estimated at 2.3 million boxes, down 4 percent. The United States grapefruit production was forecast at 64.1 million boxes, down two percent from last season; and the orange crop was expected to be 215 million boxes, down 4 percent from last season.

Mohair and wool production are other Texas crops showing decreases in 1973. Mohair production fell to 9,930,000 lbs., the lowest since 1925, according to the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service. And the 1973 clip was 3 percent less than in 1972. The average price for mohair was $1.87 per lb., highest since records began in 1910. Texas produces about 97 percent of the nation's mohair. The wool clip for 1973 totaled 26.4 million lbs., also the lowest since 1925. The 1973 production was 10 percent less than in 1972 and 13 percent less than in 1971. In the nation, the 1973 wool pro-

Mrs. John Teichelman and Mrs. Clarence Teichelman showed illustrations on the way different pockets were made and how they could be given the "tailor-made" look more easily.

Mrs. J. A. Hertel conducted the business meeting and Mrs. Eugene Teichelman led the T.H.D.A. prayer. Mrs. Leonard Kieke was elected as the club's nominee for the delegate to the State Convention at Amarillo in September.

Camp Offers New Experience

Sending a child to camp represents a major decision, Dr. Jennie C. Kitching points out. "Going to camp means the child is growing up and getting ready for a life of his own," the family life education specialist, Texas Agricultural Extension Service, the Texas A&M University System, said.

Reasons for sending a child to camp vary, but most feel camp offers a rewarding experience.

"If the camp is the right one for a child, he can have a happy time. He'll gain a sense of independence and a new awareness of comradeship with peers."

"In addition, the child learns new skills and may discover new strengths he never knew existed.

"He will be exposed to nature's beauties that surround almost every campsite — which may impress him and awaken new sensibilities."

Some parents push their children off to camp before they're ready to go—wanting them to have opportunities they themselves never had, the specialist continued.

Others keep their children home or say they don't believe in camp — even when the children want to go. This stems from the parents being unable to face an "empty nest"—a reminder that parents and children are always destined to part, she added.

Turning to preparation for camp, Dr. Kitching said a child is ready to go "when both he and his parents recognize this is what he wants—whether he says so or not—and when his parents feel comfortable about sending him away from home."

"Age for a first camping experience can vary from six to 12-years-old, depending on the child and family situation."

"For example, a seven-year-old who has several older brothers and sisters may cope with camp experiences at an earlier age than a friend who's an only child—and less at ease with other children."

It's just as important to send a child to the right camp as it is to send him at the right age, the specialist contended.

"Once again, parental feelings sometimes get in the way of selecting 'the most suitable' camp."

"They should remember the experience should be fun for the child—and not choose a camp just because it's nearby or it's where all his friends go. These factors are important and deserve consideration, but they are not the only criteria for camp selection.

"If parents choose a camp specializing in the child's weaknesses rather than his strengths—wanting it to bring about a miraculous change—it probably won't be a happy experience for the child."

"A youngster enjoys camp only if he feels comfortable there."

"In addition, if the camp has a wide enough range of activities for him to shine where he's able and accept others in which he's not so good—then it can be fun and contribute to his overall growth," she concluded.

Law Covers Farm Help
WASHINGTON—The new Fair Labor Standards Act (FLSA) amendments, effective May 1, brought to 538,000 the total number of farm workers covered by the minimum wage. Secretary of Labor Peter B. Brennan said.
Approximately 88,000 farm workers previously getting $1.30 an hour or less, had their pay raised to $1.60 an hour May 1. Future increases will be: $1.80 effective Jan. 1, 1975; $2.00 Jan. 1, 1976; $2.20, Jan. 1, 1977; and $2.30 Jan. 1, 1978.
The new wage rate applies to farm laborers working for employers who used more than 500 man-days of farm labor in any calendar quarter of the preceding year. "Man-day" means any day during which an employee performs agricultural labor for at least an hour.
The new amendments include in the 500 man-day count commuting hand harvest workers paid on a piece rate basis, who were formerly excluded from the count. However, these workers continue to be exempted from minimum wage requirements.
