

Nichols
Worth

By Nanalee Nichols

It has been an all-too-typical Tuesday. One of our employees had to have two teeth extracted and has understandably been off work. One of our older computers has been sickly, too. The mail is stacked up behind me and it is now nine o'clock at night and I find myself wondering why in the name of heaven I ever got into this business at all. Poor Thomas is at the back literally swivelling his chair between two computers, scanning negatives on one and line art on the other, there is a long way to go before we are ready to face Wednesday morning...which is no picnic either.

And as I sit here, head in hands taking long, deep breaths so I won't scream my eyes fell on a little clipping that I cut out of Publisher's Auxiliary in July of 1993. It's a poem by Bob Karolevitz, who is in the weekly business way up in South Dakota. Here it is.

Ode To A Weekly Newspaper Editor

I go to work on Tuesday morn,
Not rightly sure why I've been born
To be an editor endowed
With skills to serve the reading crowd.

I could have been an engineer
An astronaut devoid of fear
Or been a doc, a scapel whiz,
To take me where the money is.

Instead, I opted to become,
A writer: destined to succumb
To all the woes a weekly brings...
Like deadlines, debts and other things.

Like names misspelled, a jumbled quote,
A guy incensed because I wrote,
A piece that went against his grain,
(Is that what caused my stomach pain?)

A cancelled ad at paste-up time;
An obit late with words sublime,
And when I'm working on the run
A caller wonders if I've done
A feature on the spud he's raised.
He says I would be quite amazed
To see how big the thing has grown
(I finally got him off the phone)

That's when I learn, to my dismay,
It's gonna be a hellish day.
I find my waxer on the fritz,
And then my main computer quits.

With lots of legals yet to set,
The serviceman is hard to get,
He comes at last, and when he starts,
he says he'll have to order parts.

But praise the Lord, by lucky quirk,
He finds a way to make it work.
Now everything will be alright...
Except...I have to work all night.

As press day dawns, with bleary eyes,
I say a prayer unto the skies,
Then roar off to the printing plant
I've proved again I won't say "Can't".

I grab the first run off the press;
I must admit I'm under stress.
It's too late now; I scan it quick
There's gotta be some nits to pick!

Oh joy supreme, I didn't fail--
Another issue in the mail!
I'll know soon what folks have read,
But first I'll stagger off to bed.

I'm sure a typo (maybe three)
Will fill some critic full of glee but I don't care; tis'worth it all,
To get a complimentary call.

I could have worked at Pizza Hut,
Sold shoes or Peas or Used Cars,
But...
Despite the weekly misery,
There is no other job for me:
To heed the journalist muse,
To be the bearer of the news!

After reading that tongue-in-cheek poem over once more all is well...because I know even though I have the author's problems multiplied by five papers instead of just one...there isn't any other job I love so well as this one. So, thanks to Bob Karolevitz, a man I've never met, for giving me that extra boost to quit feeling sorry for myself and just get on with it!

City Of Bogata Will Buy Dump Truck

When the Bogata City Council met Monday, October 10, 1994, at city hall there were three council members, W.T. Harbison, Buck Ramsey, Donald Ray O'Donnell, Mayor Mildred Eudy, City Secretary, Anita Couch, and Dr. E. E. Brooks present.

The meeting was called to order at 5:00 p.m. Buck Ramsey gave the invocation.

Minutes from the previous meeting were read and approved, bills needing to be paid were approved, and final bills were approved.

The annexation of the Haynes property southeast of town was discussed.

Dr. Brooks and the council resolved the business regarding Bogata Clinic.

A resolution was considered to establish fair market values for sewer easement in accordance with 1992 TCDP. This was tabled until Gray Traylor and Associates can meet with city. There was more discussion on buying a dump truck. It was decided that the truck will be bought, and that whoever goes to purchase one will carry a check from the city so that they can conclude the purchase on the spot and bring the truck home instead of having to make two trips. They will first check with Texas Surplus for a place to make the purchase.

New business included the enforcement of ordinance #92-05, property clean up. The subject of this discussion was the Tip-Top lot. A letter was to be sent to the owner.

It was decided to renew CD#4928. A resolution was made to support the Green Carpet Route Highway Project.

The council meeting adjourned at 7:00 P.M.

Don't miss the fun.

This letter was sent to the parents of Bogata Elementary and Junior High Students. It should be of interest of each parent and grandparent, or child care individuals.

Dear Parents,
With winter coming on, I urge you to remember to check your child's head regularly for head lice. The children will begin to share coats and caps once again!

As usual, we do have a few children who have already been treated at home, and some that will be treated in the weeks to come. There are many new treatments for head lice that will be available through your local drug-gist or pharmacies at discount stores. Some of the brands are listed below. None of these require a prescription, and there are many generic brands which can be a great deal cheaper.

R&C Shampoo, RID Shampoo, NIX Shampoo, and NIX Creme Rinse are a few of the product names.

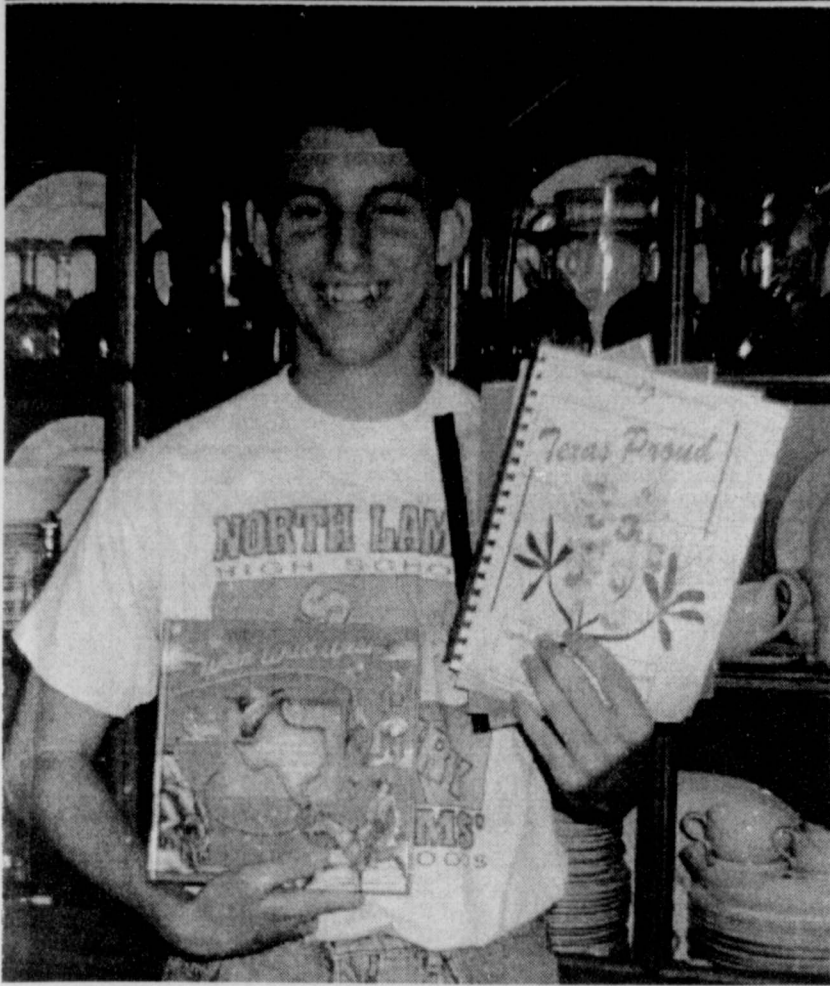

To control head lice, you must follow the directions on the medication that you use exactly as stated on the package. All the shampoos are applied to dry hair.

To avoid reinfection, these steps are important: Completely change undergarments, clothes and night wear daily. Wash all clothes in hot water! Change bedding every day. Tell children not to use or borrowed combs or brushes or to wear anyone else's clothes. Wash combs and brushes. Inspect all family members regularly for any new lice infestation. Lice are transferred from one person to another by direct contact with an infested person's head, hair, and by contact with lice infested clothing, pillows, bedding, brushes, combs, hats, caps and other similar articles.

Since lice seem to prefer the cleanest heads, to have head lice is not a disgrace; however, to keep them is. If there is anything that the school can do to help or if you have a question, do not hesitate to call.

The school district will periodically have a nurse to check all students for head lice.

Thank you,
Bill Mabry,
Principal Bogata Elementary-Jr.

Country Cooking

By Liz Irwin

In Lamar County, October is just considered 4-H month. The first week in October is designated National 4-H Week through out the nation. All 4-H clubs decorate store fronts, schools, hold parades and other activities, have their yearly achievement banquets and many other activities in support of their 4-H program. Also during the month, Texas 4-Hers get the chance to visit the State Fair of Texas, some will exhibit animals, while others display their talents in other areas, such as cooking, sewing or some craft area. Lamar County also has a Pumpkin Festival in October and area 4-Hers get to show their skills in the Foods and Nutrition Project. The Lamar County 4-H Food Show is coming up on October 29 and will be held in the Chisum High School Cafeteria. For the past few years, Chisum High School has been nice enough to allow the food show to be held there and by the time some of the Chisum 4-H leaders and kids get through with the cafeteria, it is a sight to behold. They outdo themselves year after year.

This week, I decided to feature one of our up and coming Lamar County 4-Hers as Cook of the Week. Not only is it a 4-H'er, but it is a male 4-H'er, and a very good cook I might add.

Chad Johnston is the 15 year old grandson of Peggy and Hubert Johnston of Blossom. Chad has been a member of the Lamar County 4-H for 9 years and a very active one also. He has been involved not only in the Foods and Nutrition, but the Fashion Review, Swine Project, a member of the Dairy Judging Team, he also does Recreation and been a member of the Share-the-Fun Skit, has attended various camps held at the county, district and state level, attended District and State Round-up for several years and has been involved in many other aspects of the 4-H program in the county.

Chad has also held most of the offices in the Blossom Prairie 4-H Club and is currently a County officer on the County Council.

He is a freshman at Prairiland High School and plans to attend either Texas Tech or Texas A & M when he graduates and go into some ag related field.

He is also a member of the Church of Christ in Linden and his hobbies include running, basketball and fishing. He enjoys cooking and likes to experiment with different foods. He joined 4-H out of curiosity and because a friend asked him to come to a meeting and he hasn't missed a food show since then, 9 years ago.

Chad decided to prepare Mother's Cinnamon Rolls this year. He is a 2nd year Senior and the judges like to see the older 4-Hers venture out and try different and more complicated dishes and he has never made yeast bread before.

He is also sharing his recipe for Grandpa's Beans which he used in the 1991 Food Show. The Quick Fudge Recipe won 2nd place at the Red River Valley Fair this year, while his Turtle's Recipe won 1st place in the 10-16 year old division. The Bread Pudding is delicious and the Fresh Fruit Tart is a fruit pizza dish and he used it in the 1992 4-H Food Show and went on to the District Food Show.

We hope you enjoy this week's column and we will see you in the kitchen!

Roy Marris would like a recipe for old-time sausage seasoning mix. If you hve such a recipe please send it to: Roy Marris, Rt. 1, Box 361, Bogata, TX 75417 or call 903-632-5324.

Old Hinson Cemetery

At Rosalie Is In Dire Need Of Attention

by Jack Dodd
The Old Hinson Cemetery in the Rosalie area is in dire need of attention. A lady and her husband from New Mexico were looking for her Grandmother and Grandfather's graves. We looked at the Smith Cemetery, the Bogata Cemetery, and finally the Hinson Cemetery for her kin.

The Hinson Cemetery is a mess. There are quite a few gravesites scattered around an area that is hard to tell how big due to the brush. Mrs. Lucy Bell Holder tells me that there are two Confederate graves in the area. Those who were buried there were pioneers of the area, and in some part were responsible for the good life we enjoy today. They are due a more dignified resting place than the mess they now have.

Saturday, October 15, is the date this all changes. All interested persons will meet at 9:00 a.m. at the cemetery. We already have two bush hogs, but what we need are chainsaws, clippers and people to pile brush. About 4 hours with 10 or 12 people will work wonders. Maps to the cemetery will be given out at the Roaslie Store.

Let's honor those who went before us and established a community for us long before our time. Meet you at the Hinson Cemetery October 15th.

REBEL SPORTS REPORT

Rebels Savaged By Bulldogs

By Tammie Case
It was a very bad night for the Rivercrest Rebels Friday when they went up against the Cooper Bulldogs.

The Dogs were undefeated in their season and were set to remain that way. The Rebels were looking for a long awaited win.

The Rebel defense was unable to stop the Dog offense and Cooper back Jacob Toon, as Cooper was able to score 22 points in the first quarter alone.

The Rebel offense was kept off balance by the Cooper defense, as they were never able to find scoring territory. In fact, the Rebel offense only had 5 first downs and 127 total yards the entire night.

Before time could run out the Bulldogs would score a total of 47 points, with 427 total yards.

The rebels had good defensive plays made by: Alvin Savage, Mitch Ellis, Josh Belcher, Clint Franks, Jason Giles, Jay Hancock, Juan Torres and Tee Green.

The Rebels will host Honey Grove Friday, with play beginning at 7:30.

Due to injury in the Cooper game, Tee Green may be out when the Rebels meet the Hornets.

Seventh Grade Rebs Show Improvement

by Tammie Case
The seventh grade Rebels showed a big improvement on the field against the Cooper Bulldogs, even though they took the loss. The final score was Rebels 0 and Cooper 24.

The Rebel offense had a hard time breaking through the Bulldog defense and were unable to find the end zone. Quarterback Cody Wolfe, tailback J.C. King, and fullback Paul Billingsley worked hard for the Rebels but the defense was too strong.

The Rebel defense had their work cut out for them from the beginning. The defense settled down after the first half and kept the Cooper Bulldogs from completely running away with the game. Key defense plays were made by Josh Jones, Ryan Case, Mitch Jean, Matt Simmons, Sam Stanley and Brandon Bell. Bell will be out for the game against Honey Grove due to injury.

The Rebels will take on Honey Grove Thursday at Honey Grove. The seventh grade will begin play at 5:00.

Go Rebels!

Eighth Grade Rebels Lose To Cooper

by Tammie Case
The eighth grade Rebels played ball with the Cooper Bulldogs Thursday night and were four points shy of tying the game when time ran out.

The first half found the Rebel defense giving up one TD but stopping the two point conversion. The Rebel offense had a hard time finding the end zone but were making some outstanding runs.

The second half began with a fired up Rebel offense. John Ross put the Rebels on the board with a hard fought run. On a quarterback keeper, Chad Holland went in for the two point conversion, which put the Rebs on top 8 to 6.

The Bulldog offense was determined not to be out done and marched down the field to add six to their score. This was to be the last scoring for the Dogs as the Rebel defense held tight.

When time expired the Dogs were on top 12 to 8, but the Rebs never gave up the fight.

Key plays were made by: John Ross, Will Noey, Aaron Martin, Coleman Brown, and Chad Holland. The Rebels will take on Honey Grove at Honey Grove, Thursday at 6:00. The boys would like to encourage everyone to come out and watch them.

Rivercrest Jr. Varsity Lose To Cooper

By Tammie Case
The Rivercrest Jr. Varsity found their match Thursday when they went up against the Bulldogs of Cooper.

The Rebs had their first defeat of the season with a loss of 32 to 12 to the Dogs.

Due to injuries and House Bill 72 the Jr. Varsity squad is down to only three on the side line. All of these young men played hard but the Bulldogs were ready for them.

Mistakes of interceptions and fumbles hurt the young Rebs and Cooper took quick advantage of them.

The Rebels had key plays made by: Jody Nolen, Clint Gage, Justin Smith, and Jody Grey.

There will not be a Jr. Varsity game this Thursday.

Groundbreaking Ceremony Held For Bogata Seniors Apartments

Friday, October 7, 1994, the official groundbreaking ceremonies were held on the site of the Bogata Seniors Apartments. These apartments are to be located on Highway 271 South less than a mile from town. They will be managed by Hamilton Properties Corporation. The group is also doing the construction.

According to a literature distributed by The Hamilton Group: the apartments will offer 24 homes to qualified applicants. There will be twenty one bedroom and 4 two bedroom apartments with two fully equipped handicapped units. The buildings are positioned on a site in a manner to afford easy access from

The apartment community will offer a social recreation building which houses the community room, kitchen, laundry room and manager's office. Outdoor recreation areas are provided with such activities as shuffleboard, with seating benches in adjacent areas. The apartment community is an equal Housing Opportunity complex which also meets the requirements of the Fair Housing Act of 1988.

New Sign, Logo To Be Unveiled At LaRue Ford

Farm and industrial equipment giant Ford New Holland is changing its name to New Holland, according to Bill LaRue, owner of LaRue Ford Tractor in Paris, Texas.

According to Mr. LaRue, the new sign denoting this name change will be erected this week.

"While the sign may be new, the commitment to our customers is stronger than ever," Bill LaRue said. "We'll continue to be the place for dependable Ford and New Holland farm equipment."

In 1986, Sperry New Holland was purchased by Ford Motor Company to create Ford New Holland. In 1991, it merged with FiatAgri to form a worldwide company called New Holland. Ford New Holland remains the North American operating division until January, 1995.

LaRue Ford Tractor was established in 1965 and specializes in Ford and New Holland farm equipment, such as tractors, hay baling equipment and more. It is part of New Holland's network of more than 1,400 dealers throughout North America.

Bill LaRue says that New Holland's success has been based on the same principles that have kept customers coming back to LaRue Ford Tractor year after year.

"The key is to always make your customer's jobs easier," he said. "You do that by providing quality, not only in products, but also in parts and service support. When a customer drives off the lot with a new product, our commitment is a part of that package. We're not about to change that attitude."

New Holland's North American headquarters is in New Holland, PA, the home of the company since it was founded in 1895.

Talco Elementary To Be Commended At Conference

The Division of Accelerated Instruction is working with the Association for Compensatory Educators of Texas (ACET) in presenting their annual conference.

One of the highlights of the conference will be the commendation of campuses where 65% or more of the students receiving Chapter 1 services passed all tests taken on the Texas Assessment of Academic Skills (TAAS). On the basis of this criterion, Talco Elementary will be one of the 81 Texas campuses receiving commendations for their achievement with students served by the Chapter 1 program.

Sincere congratulations are offered to the instructional leaders, classroom teachers, parents, and community partners who truly accelerated learning for students who participated in the Chapter 1 program. Campuses such as this one are actualizing the vision of excellence and equity for all students.

Criminal Justice System Works

By Jack Herrington
Red River County Attorney

The criminal justice system has worked. Justice has been served. After a trial before their peers, James Henderson and Willie Pondexter, Jr. have been sentenced to death for the murder and robbery of Martha Lennox, and Reginald Reeves was sentenced to death for the aggravated rape and strangulation of Jenny Lynn Weeks, a 14-year-old girl.

The death penalty is provided for in our law. It is necessary as a self defense for our society. I have and will continue to prosecute violent offenders who decide that human life has no value to them. I hope these death sentences will send a message to those who contemplate murder in Red River County.

The trials for these three defendants were costly. Fortunately for Red River County, over $200,000 will be received from the old water district and $100,000 from the Lennox Foundation. This excess of $300,000 will more than cover all the costs of these trials. I hope each of you thinks the taking of human lives is worth the cost. I feel sure the families of Martha Lennox and Jenny Weeks thank you for your support of our criminal prosecution of these murderers. If each of you could have seen the face of Jenny Weeks' father when the verdict was returned, you would know that it was a job that had to be done. He will not ever see his daughter graduate from high school or walk her down the aisle in marriage. But some peace can come to him as a result of the sentence handed down last week. Justice has been served.

The third defendant in the Lennox case, Ricky Bell, is scheduled for trial on November 15, 1994.

Annual Doll Show And Sale To Be Held In Texarkana Oct. 15th

Young-at-heart ladies, from 8 to 80-plus, who live in the Northeast Texas-Arkansas-Oklahoma-Louisiana area, meet once a month to "play" dolls, talk about dolls, and sell their dolls and related items.

This year the doll club will sponsor its 10th Annual Doll Show and Sale on October 15th at the YWCA Building, 3410 Magnolia, Texarkana, TX. An impressive variety of dolls, toys and related items will be displayed and offered for sale. Unusual dolls will be shown and awarded ribbons by judges.

Admission will be $2.00 for adults. Children 12 and under will be admitted free but must be accompanied by an adult.

At the club meetings, all dolls are appreciated, from homemade cloth dolls to rare antique French Fashion dolls. Each month a different type doll is presented with a talk on its history and its place in history.

The club has one member who attends and reports from the International Barbie Convention each year and another one who attended the Nationwide Terri Lee Doll Convention and brought the club a great report. The Terri Lee doll was last produced in 1962 and has a tremendous following by Baby Boomers, their mothers and grandmothers! Other members prefer compositions, hard plastics, vinyls, modern artist dolls, antique bisques, as well as miniatures and doll houses.

The club boasts doll artists who make and sell lovely porcelain dolls and one member who constructs and furnishes doll houses to the minute detail of a cat asleep in the attic window.

Most important, the ladies, young and old, enjoy camaraderie and fellowship from a hobby that bridges the generation gap and has given members a whole new "family" of friends. One member stated that doll collecting is a link of open communication with her teen-aged daughter. There are several mother-daughter members.

The Northeast Texas Past and Future Doll Club is a non-profit organization interested in furthering the preservation and appreciation of the historical value of dolls and is pleased to sponsor the doll show and sale for all to enjoy.

Life is a wave, which in no two consecutive moments of its existence is composed of the same particles.

From TCMH Paramedic To Physician

In an ideal world, the brightest and best students from rural America would always come back home after they've completed their education-back home to live among loved ones and invest their skills in the future of their home community.

The opportunity to "come home" hasn't worked out for very many, but George Robert Smith Jr., M.D. is one of the lucky ones.

The 33 year old doctor, son of George and Jean Smith of Bogata, has completed his medical training, residency and even taught other resident doctors, and is now "home" to practice medicine.

This summer, Dr. Ronald Van Buskirk invited him to practice internal medicine together with him at the Mt. Pleasant Clinic.

"Internal medicine includes adults and adolescents over 12," Smith said, "and covers pulmonary and endocrine systems, gastrointestinal disorders, hypertension, heart problems, rheumatology and infectious diseases."

How did he get where he is today? "Originally, I thought I might want to be a Physicist," Smith expalined. "someone talked me into going to EMT school at Texarkana."

Smith then worked his way through his degree in biochemistry and zoology at east Texas State University by serving as a paramedic at Titus County Memorial Hospital.

Victor Wells, assistant chief for County Emergency Medical Services, remembers working closely with Smith back then.

"We got lots of excellent hands-on experience doing patient care in the ER, Wells said. "Bobby was a quick learner, and he was real good to share what he knew with others."

At that time emergency medical technicians and paramedics were hired to work in the emergency room as technicians.

"I liked it here so much I decided to go into medicine," Smith said.

He finished in the top fourth of his class at University of Texas South-west Medical School in Dallas, then did his residency at Presbyterian Hospital in Dallas. Smith served as chief medical resident his third year, the highest honor a resident can earn, and accepted an invitation to serve on the faculty at the Presbyterian Hospital Medical residency Program.

"I got lots of exposure to critical care medicine, which is what I really enjoy," Smith said. "About 45 percent of the things I did were intensive care." Smith will be available for consults in the intensive care unit and other nursing units at Titus county Memorial Hospital but expects his primary emphasis here to be on private practice.

Dr. Smith and his wife, Lisa Thompson, are both graduates of Rivercrest High School. With their three children, they now make their home in Mt. Pleasant.

800,00 Acres Of Texas Land Needed For Warblers

by Bob Stallman, President, Texas Farm Bureau

With the enthusiastic cheerleading of some environmental groups, U.S. Fish and Wildlife wants 800,000 acres of 33 central Texas Counties declared as critical habitat for the Golden Cheeked Warbler.

Proponents of this plan describe it as a reasonable approach. Why, it won't be much of a bother at all. That is, of course, unless you happen to own the property where the songbird makes its home; or unless your job depends on a plant being built in an area with critical habitat; or unless your city's tax base is diminished by critical habitat. Suddenly, the impact seems a little more severe.

Virtually every state wide office holder in Texas has joined in Bipartisan opposition to this example of outrageous enforcement of the Endangered Species Act. Attorney General Dan Morales threatened the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service with a lawsuit, saying, "The endangered Species act has been recently employed in ways that appear to defy congressional intent. Sound governmental Policy and Basic common sense."

"We are hearing more these days of the argument that all wildlife is a public resource and owned by the public. Environmental groups claim to be the caretakers of this resource on behalf of the public, but deny any responsibility of ownership. Indeed, it is always the relatively small number of property owners that must assume the cost and responsibility for protecting an endangered species.

If the public "Owns" and shares responsibility for wildlife resources, does that mean that farmers and ranchers should be compensated for the damage that wildlife does to their growing crops and livestock? We won't hold our breath on that one.

The environmentalists and the Federal Government have been trying to play down the actual impact of the Endangered Species Act on landowners. Environmental groups are eager to cite that only one case has been prosecuted in Texas. A half truth is a dangerous thing. There is more to this than actual prosecution. Threat of fines and prosecution has happened dozens of times.

For example, rancher Margaret Rodgers in Williamson County was threatened with a $25,000.00 fine for clearing a fence row without a permit. That action, and the mere presence of endangered species habitat, has drastically reduced the value of her land.

How about Margaret Rector of Travis County? The 15 acres she bought in 1973 as a retirement investment was at one time valued at more than $900,000. Enter U.S. Fish and Wildlife, designating the area as habitat for the warbler. The property is now valued at $30,000. Of course, who would want property that cannot be cleared or developed? The owners sole remaining "Right" is to pay the taxes.

Even though these people have not been "Prosecuted" you can hardly say they are unaffected by the endangered species act.

Lets take a quick look outside Texas borders. An immigrant farmer in California was arrested and his tractor confiscated for plowing his field. The field was habitat for the listed Kangaroo Rat.

Montana Rancher, John Schuler shot and killed a charging grizzly bear that almost certainly would have killed him had he not fired. Even self defense, it seems is no defense. Mr. Schuler's legal troubles are not over.

I have a thick and growing file in my office detailing these cases. No, we don't really care. That only one case has been prosecuted in this state. The lives and rights of people are being trampled by the mad rush to save critters and plants.

Lately, environmental groups have suggested that landowners should join with them in promoting land purchases by the Texas Parks and Wildlife department. As long as Parks and Wildlife is obtaining the land from a willing seller without threat of government restrictions due to the Endangered Species Act, that's the landowner's business.

Still, we must ask, "do Texans really want to live in a state that is government owned, like much of the west?" There is no indication that Texas Parks and Wildlife can manage vast acreages for critical habitat or, for that matter, would be better stewards of the land than farmers or ranchers. Frankly, at this point, there seems to be little money available for such grandiose schemes.

Moreover, governments do not pay taxes. This land would come off the tax rolls and burden local governments and school districts. This probably means higher taxes on property that is still on the tax rolls. We will be forced to pay higher taxes, or the state will have to increase funding to these local school districts.

The Endangered species act, as presently enforced, is counter productive. It makes landowners victims of the process. They need to be partners. When that happens, we can set some realistic goals.

One positive way to address the Endangered Species problem could be the establishment of a critical Habitat Reserve Program, patterned after the successful conservation reserve program. In the CRP, environmentally sensitive lands have been voluntarily set aside, and landowners compensated for keeping those acres out of production.

I believe we can treat Endangered species habitat the same way. If the environmental community wants to talk about that, we are ready.

At a minimum, we need to begin assessing the damage of environmental regulation to private property rights and economic activity. If there is a legitimate and reasonable need for the regulation, compensation to property owners must be part of the solution.

Improving Your Child's Grades

by Dr. Lou Ann Mock

(Houston)-The first milestone of the new school year has arrived--the report card. If grades need a little work, parental support can make a difference.

"Providing structure and expressing interest may be the keys to improving a child's grades," said Dr. Lou Ann Mock, a child psychologist at Baylor College of Medicine in Houston.

"Rather than punish a child after the first report card, parents might want to take a more positive attitude of 'how can we work together to fix this problem?'"

The first step is to talk with the teacher, and then begin to implement some change at home.

One essential at home is adequate study space with good lighting and few distractions.

"A desk in a room is fine if it isn't covered with clothes and belongings," Mock said. "Many times the dining room or kitchen table works well and makes parental supervision a little easier."

Mock also encourages parents to set a specific time in the evening for studies. "Allow some time for outside play or an after-school snack, but make television off limits until after homework time," she said.

It might be necessary to sit with a young child just starting a homework routine, but parents should pull back as soon as possible so the child can learn to work independently.

"Let your child know you have other responsibilities to take care of, but check in occasionally," Mock said. "This provides structure, but keeps you from hovering over your child."

If grades are suffering because a child claims to have no homework, Mock suggests implementing a daily assignment sheet initiated by the teacher. This system allows parents to monitor assignments and reward their child for completing assigned work.

"A minimal reward for remembering assignments four nights out of five puts the focus on the positive, not the negative," Mock said.

There are also times when a child will need help with new concepts. In families where homework has been a previous source of conflict, Mock suggests using a tag team approach with parents taking turns working with the child. Another option, she says is to hire a high school student or someone else as a tutor.

And if grades do not improve? "Meet with the teacher again, and make sure you are not expecting more than the child can deliver," she said. "Helping a child learn to put forth his or her best effort may be more important than a grade on a report card."

Daphne School Reunion Held

The fourth annual Daphne School Reunion was held Saturday, October 8th at the community center in Bridges Chapel. Smiles, laughter, reminiscing, and eating provided release from daily stresses. Old friendships were renewed and new acquaintances made with the realization that most days spent at Daphne School were happy ones.

Former teachers present were Nell Joyce and Eldon Black.

Traveling the greatest distance was Robbie Gene King of Post.

May Shurbit of Mt Pleasant and Son Trial of Denton were the oldest students present.

Attending for the first time were William Louie Smith and wife Nancy of Cedar Creek Lake; Jimmy, Celia and Heather Lynn Craddock, Lone Star; Jo Mills, Talco; Son Trail, Denton; and A.J. Hightower, Mt. Vernon.

Nell Joyce served as Master of Ceremonies. She called for the recognition of former students with each student introducing family members present and giving a short summary of their life. She closed with a minute of silent prayer.

Martha Cates announced that there was enough money for the 1995 reunion and there was no need to take an extra offering. The reunion for 1995 will be the second Saturday in October. Martha Cates said the blessing before the noon meal.

Those attending were: William Louie Smith and wife Nancy of Cedar Creek Lake; Jimmy, Celia, and Heather Lynn Craddock, Loyd and Jane Craddock, Lone Star; J. C. Johnson, Troup; Ray and Margaret Shurbit, Coskville; Eldon and Al-larea Black, Sulphur Springs; Julia McGraw, Tyler; Otis H. Slaughter Jr., Mt. EIA Is Leading Killer In The Horse Industry

Listed are facts regarding EIA, Equine Infectious Anemia, a deadly disease among equines. These facts are provided by the U.S.D.A. For more information on the disease, contact your local U.S.D.A. office.

Official Test. The agar gel immunodiffusion test, also known as the Coggins test, the Competitive Enzyme-Linked Immunosorbent Assay test and other USDA licensed tests approved by the commission are the official tests for equine infectious anemia (EIA) in horses, asses, mules, ponies, zebras and any other equine in Texas.

Authorization to conduct test. Only United States Department of Agriculture approved laboratories are allowed to run the AGID and CELISA tests and all tests will be official. Only test samples from accredited veterinarians or other TAHC authorized personnel accompanied by a completed VS Form 10-11 can be accepted for official testing.

Official Identification of Equine Tested for EIA. All official blood tests must be accompanied by a completed VS Form 10-11 (Equine Infectious Anemia Laboratory Test) listing the description of the equine to include the following: age, breed, color, sex, animal's name and all distinctive markings (i.e., color patterns, brands, tattoos, scars or blemishes.) In the absence of any distinctive color markings or any form of visible permanent identification (brands, tattoos or scars), the animal must be identified by indicating the location of all hair whorls, vortices or "cow licks" with an "X" on the illustration provided on the VS Form 10-11. It must list owner's name, address, the animal's home premise and county, the name and address of the authorized individual collecting the test sample, and laboratory and individual conducting the test. The EIA test document shall list one horse only.

Reactor. A reactor is any equine which discloses a positive reaction to the official test. The individual collecting the test sample must notify the animal's owner of the quarantine within 48 hours after receiving the results.

Retest of reactors. Equine which have been disclosed as reactors may be retested prior to branding provided:

(1) Owners or their agents initiate a request to the TAHC Area Director of the area where the horse is located.

(2) Retests are conducted within 30 days after the date of the original test; and,

(3) Blood samples for retests are collected by the person who collected the sample for the first test or by TAHC personnel, and the blood samples are submitted to the Texas Veterinary Medical Diagnostic Laboratory for testing; and,

(4) The individual collecting the retest sample is provided documentation that the animal being retested is the same as the one shown positive on the initial test and can verify the retested equine as being the same as shown on the original test document; and,

(5) The positive animal must be held under quarantine along with all other equine on the premise.

Official identification of reactors. A reactor to the official test must be permanently identified using the National Uniform Tag Code number assigned by the USDA to the state in which the reactor was tested followed by the letter "A". (the code for Texas is 74A.) The reactor identification must be permanently applied by a representative of the Texas Animal Health Commission who must use for the purpose of identification, a hot iron brand or freeze-marking brand. The brand must be not less than two inches high and shall be applied to the left shoulder or left side of the neck of the reactor. Reactors must be branded within ten days of the date the laboratory completes the test unless the equine is destroyed. Any equine destroyed prior to branding must be described in a written statement by the accredited veterinarian or other authorized personnel certifying to the destruction. This certification must be submitted to the Texas Animal Health Commission promptly.

Quarantine. Any equine animal found to be a reactor to the official test will be quarantined by a representative of the Texas Animal Health Commission to the premises of its home, farm, ranch or stable until natural death, disposition by euthanasia, slaughter or disposition to a Texas Animal Health Commission approved, diagnostic or research facility. The quarantine shall restrict the infected equine, all other equine on the premise, and all equine epidemiologically determined to have been exposed to an EIA positive animal to isolation at least 200 yards away from equine on adjacent premises.

Movement of Reactors. Following official identification, the reactor must be accompanied by a VS Form 1-27 permit issued by an accredited veterinarian or other authorized state or federal personnel when moved from its home premises either:

(1) Directly to a livestock market for sale directly to slaughter provided the reactor horse is quarantined at the market in isolation from other horses, or

(2) Directly to a slaughter plant; or

(3) Directly to an approved diagnostic or research facility.

Requirements for Testing Equine on Quarantined Premises. All equine determined to have been on the same premise with an EIA positive horse at the time the positive horse was bled shall be tested by an Accredited Veterinarian at owner's expense or by Commission personnel. Nursing foals are exempt from testing.

Requirements for Testing Equine Exposed to Infection. All equine epidemiologically determined to have been exposed to an EIA positive animal shall be quarantined and tested by an Accredited Veterinarian at owner's expense or by Commission personnel. Nursing foals are exempt from testing.

Release of EIA Quarantine. The EIA quarantine may be released by the Texas Animal Health Commission after all quarantined equine test negative at least 60 days following identification and removal of the last EIA positive equine as set out in Subsections (f) and (h). Epidemiological data may be considered in the release of the quarantine.

Time To Plant Winter Pastures

Winter pastures provide some of the highest quality forages that we grow. They include small grains, ryegrass, and legumes. Winter pastures can provide grazing from November through June by using different plants, planting methods, and planting dates.

Seed quality and rates are an important part of having a successful winter pasture program. Good seed is always a good buy. Planting non-stated varieties has risk associated with it. Planting a name variety will help insure that you can obtain the best forage possible.

Planting rates are also an important decision in planting winter pastures. Too little seed and we are disappointed in our forage supply. Planting excess seed is a safeguard but is hard on the pocketbook. The suggested planting rates for various crops are listed below:

Small Grains (rye, wheat, triticale, oats and barley).

Small grains should be planted at a rate of 100 lbs. per acre. Several small grains can be mixed together but the total seeding rate per acre should equal 100 pounds. Small grains planted on prepared seedbeds or disked into sod are usually planted the latter part of September. Sod-seeded small grains are usually planted in October after warm season grasses have stopped growing.

Ryegrass planting rates vary according to different uses. Ryegrass planted with small grains needs to be planted at 20 lbs. per acre. Ryegrass grown with legumes is planted at a rate of 15-25 lbs. seed per acre.

Ryegrass grown by itself can be planted at rates from 20 to 60 lbs. per acre. Ryegrass planted on a prepared seedbed may be planted heavy and fertilized similarly to small grains for maximum early forage.

Ryegrass planted on prepared seedbed may be planted the last of September and the first part of October for early forage production. Ryegrass-clover mixture is usually planted in October and November. A better stand is obtained when the grass sod is short and the soil scratched with a disk or other type of equipment.

Legume Seeding Rates:
Arrowleaf: 8-10 lbs. per acre.
White clover: 3-4 lbs. per acre.
Crimson: 16-20 lbs. per acre.
Subterrian: 16-20 lbs. per acre.
R. H. Rose clover: 12-16 lbs. per acre.

Vetch: 15-20 lbs. per acre.
Red clovers: 10-20 lbs. per acre.

The suggested planting rates for legumes will provide a good stand if everything is right. Otherwise, these rates will provide a reduced stand that should increase with reseeding in future years. Ryegrass planted with legumes provides a variety in the diet, helps reduce potential bloat and provides earlier grazing when fertilized in the fall.

Now is an excellent time to plan for winter pastures. Prices can be obtained for seed, and comparison can be made to find the best seed for dollar spent. Many times the price of seed may effect which variety you plant.

Fireman Visits Bogata Third Grade

The third grade at Bogata Elementary enjoyed a presentation made by Bogata Volunteer fireman, Charles Don Lewis on Tuesday, October 4, in conjunction with National Fire Prevention Week.

He showed the students some of the equipment used by the firemen. The students enjoyed getting to see and touch the equipment that he brought.

The visit was beneficial to the students because they reviewed the safety rules in case of a house fire. They also reviewed the rules of Stop, Drop, and Roll in case of a clothing fire. Another important point that was covered was to call 911 in case of any emergency.

A few of the responsibilities of a volunteer fireman were discussed as well as the requirements for volunteer and professional firemen.

An enjoyable time was had by all of the students as well as a great learning experience.
